There is no tonic like it. It is an anchor of hope to the physician and patient. This is the testimony of all who have used or prescribed it.

Beware of counterfeits and those cheap decoctions called Buchu, most of which are prepared by self-styled doctors, from deleterious ingredients, and offered for sale at "less price" and "larger bottles," etc. They are valuable and frequently injurious. Ask for Helmbold's. Take no other.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1872.

The Legislature.

The fact is becoming more and more evident that the Democracy, despairing of electing their candidate for Governor and having no hope of controlling the State Senate, are endeavoring to control the House by concentrated effort, their last resort. We know of one town in this vicinity where they have already deposited money to be used in securing a Democratic Representative, and there are parties in other places with whom they are endeavoring to negotiate. Had every Republican town in the State sent Republican Representatives last year, the State would not have passed into Democratic hands. Let the experience of the past year teach our friends caution. Thus far the nominees presented for the suffrage of Republican voters, the candidates for Governor, Railroad Commissioner, Councillors, Senators and County officers, are every way worthy of support. The nominations have been fitly made. Within the next three weeks the battle will have been actually fought, converts made, the lukewarm quickened, and the closing week of the campaign will be spent in making Representative nominations. And there hinges the success of all—the control of the House. The next legislature will choose a United States Senator. It is the most important object in this contest of 1872. Place your strongest men in nomination—the best men who will accept. The Republican party wants men of the highest character to represent it in the House. If there are men desirous of nomination who cannot command the full strength of the party, it is their duty to give way to those who can be chosen. If they fail to see the propriety of this, it is the duty of Republican voters having the best interests of the cause at heart to select other men. It is time that personal considerations should be abandoned. The Senator to be chosen is to be a Republican or a Democrat. Let Republican success be not imperilled by doubtful or unfortunate nominations. If the Democracy should control the next legislature, John G. Sinclair or Harry Bingham would be chosen Senator. Both these men were bitter copperheads throughout the rebellion. The cries of "revolution! revolution!" heard on the floor of the House of Representatives at Concord when it was proposed to allow the soldiers in the field to vote, proceeded from Sinclair and his followers. They were faithful allies of rebellion, consistent in opposing every plan which would help the cause of their country. They seek to profit now by dissension among Republicans. We hear encouraging news from various towns where our friends have harmonized to beat the common enemy. Let the good work go on. Forget personal differences, put forward your most popular and best men and the coming victory will lack nothing in its completeness.

COL. JOHN W. FORNEY resigned the office of Collector of the Port of Philadelphia last week, it is said for the following reasons:—

While he was collector of the port, if he wrote an article in favor of President Grant's administration, some "super-serviceable knave" would haste to exclaim that the colonel was paid for his praises of power; and if he ventured to denounce some local politician or to refuse to join the scandal against a statesman like Colonel McClure, an older and a better Republican than many who had been hunting him down, he would be characterized as an ingrate to that same power. Many persons suppose Colonel Forney's resignation means opposition to General Grant. The President has no more grateful or earnest friend than Colonel Forney, and General Grant knows it. But he is at the same time a friend of Sumner—a friend of more than twenty years' standing—and of others who do not favor the President's renomination. This fact was known to the President when Colonel Forney was appointed collector. His great desire is to unite the Republican party of Pennsylvania, and to this end he will work steadily on his return to his editorial duties. He feels that it is time to cry "Halt!" once more to the desperate men who are trying to use the name of General Grant to keep them in or help them to offices. He believes in the conciliation of the old dissatisfied anti-slavery leaders of the country. He pleads for good relations between Grant and Sumner, between Grant and Greeley, between Grant and Fenton, and insists that what Mr. Lincoln did with the men dissatisfied with his administration General Grant ought to do with the men dissatisfied with his.

If this statement is correct, Col. Forney has acted wisely; and President Grant's over-zealous friends will do well to display equal wisdom and take part in the good work which may bring harmony to the party in New York, Pennsylvania and elsewhere.

Political.

The Congressional committees in New York and New Orleans have finished their investigations in those cities.

Senator Wilson has been personally assured by the President that the general order and all other abuses lately brought to light in the New York custom-house shall be promptly corrected and removed, and that the administration will spare no effort to secure an honest and efficient service.

Senators Wilson and Nye and Gen. Sickles are to take the stump in New Hampshire.

The Republicans of Concord opened the political campaign with a grand rally at Phœnix Hall, Saturday evening. The crowd in attendance was immense, hundreds finding it impossible to gain admission to the hall, and the galleries being literally packed with ladies. Gen Harriman made a rousing speech and was followed by Gen. Hite of New York. A Concord dispatch says even the Democracy are inclined to admit the fact of a coming Republican victory.

Vice President Colfax has written another letter favoring President Grant's renomination and declaring that he is not a candidate for President. He says he will accept a renomination for Vice President if it is tendered him.

One year's Democratic misrule in West Virgina shows an increase of $223,737 in expenditures over the previous year, when a Republican administration had control.

LONDON NEWSPAPERS still discuss the Alabama claims. The Times says it is morally certain that the attempt to settle the claims before the Geneva board of arbitration will be a failure. We must, therefore, make efforts to prevent recrimination. If we are successful, the time is possibly near when more dexterous negotiations may settle all differences.

The Daily Telegraph asserts that the treaty of Washington is regarded by Americans as one of unconditional surrender and shameful confessions on the part of England. Its terms, if the indirect claims are admitted, are such as a victor might impose. The pretensions of the United States are intolerabl yabsurd.

THE SPRINGFIELD REPUBLICAN, the ablest edited paper in New England, has a new dress and by the expenditure of $25,000 has greatly improved mechanically. It is printed on a Four Cylinder Rotary Hoe press, which has just been built for it by the famous American printing press makers, and is capable of ten thousand impressions an hour. Every fresh enterprise in its history has been generously recognized by the public; and, though it leads its location, and outstrips its field, and through generous expenditure and low prices it is left with a smaller ratio of profit than enterprises of its class generally expect and receive, its conductors are content with the various forms of the public's appreciation, and are moved alike by their own ambition and the popular recognition of its results, to continued and additional improvements. The new press, with its rapid execution, was rendered important if not necessary by the desirability of keeping the pages of the paper open until the latest hours of the night, and then of distributing it to the public with almost an immediate promptness.

THE NEW YORK RING were in feverish anticipation on Saturday when the reform grand jury presented a large bundle of indictments. The foreman stated that New York had lost at least $20,000,000 through the corruption of parties indicted. There were five indictments against Mayor Hall for corruptly neglecting to audit certain claims against the city. He was bailed in the sum of $2000 and the trial ordered for February 19th. Peter B. Sweeney's bail was fixed at $10,000. Five indictments were found against Tweed.

A COMMITTEE OF THE FRENCH ASSEMBLY has asked the United States to furnish certain evidence relating to the sale of arms to the French government during the late war. Remington & Sons, agents of the French government, bought 50,000 Springfield muskets, 14,577 Remington carbines and 17,500,000 Spencer cartridges, paying for all $1,280,000. Numerous contracts for arms were made through the consul-general at New York, and he has lately been tried for fraud in connection therewith.

THE RAILROAD BLOCKADE in the West is becoming very serious in its results. Passengers on the delayed trains are not sufficiently supplied with provisions, and a great deal of sickness and suffering is reported.

BRIGHAM YOUNG has been quite ill for the past three days, and it is said his strength is failing rapidly.

THE CHECK-LISTS. — Bingham and Sinclair say the Democrats have the control of forty-four check-lists this year, which last year were in the hands of Republicans, and boast that they expect to gain one thousand votes by this means. Such a result can only be attained by the grossest fraud, unfairness, and partiality, in excluding from the lists Republicans entitled to vote, and inserting therein the names of Democrats who have no such right. And there can be no doubt that it is the deliberate purpose of the rebel sympathizers everywhere to resort to any and every means, however foul and fraudulent, to carry the election and place Bingham or Sinclair in the United States Senate for the next six years. Let our friends watch the check-lists carefully, insist upon their rights, and resist the machinations of rebel sympathizing selectmen. Eternal vigilence is the price of even a pretense of decent fairness in the conduct of the next election where Democrats have the check lists.—Monitor.

CHIVALRY—A New Orleans dispatch states that several duels have originated from the testimony of Capt. Scott before the Congressional Committee, who swore to bribing certain officials. Scott has challenged Senator Campbell, and they will fight with double-barreled shot guns. Lucien Adams challenged Scott, and they will fight with swords. Police Superintendent Badger has challenged Carter. A Mr. Master was shot on a steamer Saturday by one Wilson during a political dispute.

—The President has appointed Sayes J. Bowen, ex-mayor of Washington, minister to Ecuador.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

We notice in one of our exchanges this week the statement of Des. John Hodgkins, of South Jefferson, Me., whose son was cured of incipient consumption by the use of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. We refer to this at this time as tending to corroborate the statement we made last week in relation to this Liniment as applied to consumption.

If Congress had employed as much scientific skill in the arrangement of its "Reconstruction Policy" at the close, as the War Department did in the beginning of the war, in arranging for the manufacture of what was called Sheridan's Cavalry Conditon Powders for the use of the Cavalry horses, no doubt the Union would have been restored long ago.—Exchange.

OLD PREJUDICES ARE DYING OUT.—New facts are killing them. The idea that invalids weakened by disease can be relieved by prostrating them with destructive drugs, is no longer entertained except by monomaniacs. Ever since the introduction of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS it has been obvious that their regulating and invigorating properties are all-sufficient for the cure of chronic indigestion, rheumatism, constipation, diarrhœa, nervous affections, and malarious fevers, and they are now the standard remedy for these complaints in every section of the Union.

MERITED DISTINCTION.—The well-known Groton Junction, on the great thoroughfare of the Northern Lines to Boston, has ceased to be. With a large and increasing population, proud as well as prosperous, its citizens, in mass meeting assembled, have voted to change the name of their town to "AYER"—after one of the best known men in America, Dr. J. C. AYER, of Lowell—and the Legislature of Massachusetts has enacted that decision into law. We commend their choice, for not only is the name short and distinctive, but Dr. AYER'S Medicines have made it gratefully known to the ends of the earth. Probably no living man has carried relief to such countless multitudes of the sick as he, and this high honor, from his neighbors, tells the estimation in which he is held by those who know him.—Bristol Times.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

All the Year Round,

And in all parts of the world, the elements of disease are present in the air, the soil and the water, in a greater or less degree, and therefore the Great Vegetable Antidote to these invisible enemies of health, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is invaluable as a household medicine at all seasons and in every latitude. At no period of the year is a regulating and corrective medicine more needed than toward the close of winter, when the sun and rain are beginning to break up the winter blockade, and from the softening soil arises that terrible miasma, which weighs like an incubus upon the vital machinery, and depresses the animal spirits. It is then that the seeds of intermittent and remittent fevers, of rheumatism and rheumatic gout, of obstinate stomach complaints, of disorders of the liver and bowels, and a whole host of pulmonary and nervous complaints are sown.

The best, the surest way to prevent this disastrous seeding is to invigorate and refresh the system with a course of the Bitters. If this precaution be taken now, there will be no danger of the miasmatic germs taking roots in the fluids and tissues of the body, and bringing forth terrible fruit in the spring. Now is the time for prevention. Remember that vigor is the only safeguard against the virus of disease, and that Hostetter's Bitters is the purest, the safest, the most powerful and perfect invigorant ever administered, either as protective medicine or a remedy. A change of season approaches which almost always proves more or less disastrous to persons of a weak, nervous organization. Brace up at once with the leading Tonic of the age. Purge from the blood all morbid matter, strengthen the nerves, and regulate and purify the secretions with the Vegetable Elixir, which combines the juices of the finest medicinal roots, herbs and barks, with the most wholesome of all diffusive stimulants.

—The engineer on the night train between Bangor and Portland, G. W. Rogers of Brunswick, had a singular experience a short time ago. He was in his room asleep at the Bangor House, some time in the afternoon, and dreamed that one of the forward trucks of his engine was cracked. When he awoke he had a premonition lest his dream might prove true, and thought he would go down to see that everything was right. On examining the engine at the engine house, he found the truck precisely in the same condition as he had seen it in his dream, and another engine had to be substituted, delaying the night express out of Bangor about an hour.

—Hon. Galusha A. Grow, formerly Speaker of the national House of Representatives, has become president of the Houston and Great Northern Railroad, destined to connect the Texas seaboard with New York, by way of Fulton, Arkansas and Cairo, Illinois. His home is Houston.

—Rev. Hugh Miller Thompson, who has recently been called to Christ Church on Fifth avenue, New York, at a salary of $10,000, was formerly a table waiter at a boarding house in Cleveland, O. Another proof of the old adage "a patient waiter is no loser."

YEAS AND NEIGHS.—If horses could makes themselves understood in human language, they would signify by a universal "Yea," their assent to the statement that the MUSTANG LINIMENT is the best remedy extant for all these external ailments, and by a most emphatic "Neigh!" show their displeasure at every attempt to use any other preparation in its stead. Ever since its introduction at St. Louis, at the close of the Mexican War, in 1849, it has proved a signal blessing to horse and man—curing, with absolute certainty and wonderful despatch, such equine diseases as spavin, ringbone, poll evil, scratches, hoofail, &c., and relieving and finally removing the painful affections which attack the muscles, sinews and external glands of human beings. It is a fact beyond contradiction that for all injuries or complaints of man or quadrupeds to which an external remedy is applicable, the MUSTANG LINIMENT is preferable to every other.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Our Schools.

Messrs. Editors:—"X" is right in thinking that "the average schoolboy" is not at all awed by the examining Committee; and although there are a few honorable exceptions, as a general rule while the girls are studying the boys are engaged in everything except study. 'Tis the "average school-boy's" misfortune, I suppose, that his mental machinery will seldom work well until it is generously lubricated with "oil of birch;" and experience in examining schools has taught Committees that if they wish a question answered well they should address it to the girls and not attempt to "gather figs from thorns, or grapes from thistles."

While much has been said and written concerning our schools, it seems that only the Grammar and High schools are referred to, while the Primary and Intermediate departments are forgotten. People seem to overlook the fact that the pupils of the higher schools are prepared therefor by the teachers of primary and intermediate schools; and so the lower schools are patronized by the few parents who notice them at all, while the Committee blandly acquiesce in whatever may be said of the "little schools," that being the easiest way of dismissing the subject. In view of this, I warmly second X's proposition to appoint a few ladies on the Primary School Committee. The most laborious part of teaching falls to the Primary school teacher; but who cares to visit a school of that grade? And so the poor teacher is left to do as she can, with no encouragement except what can be gathered from the knowledge that she is doing her duty faithfully.

What is needed is a board of interested Committee for the schools of the lower grades; and as gentlemen seldom have much time to visit any schools, the little time at their command for that purpose is devoted to the Grammar and High Schools; so I think earnest, interested, intelligent ladies should be appointed to visit and examine Primary Schools, to gain an insight into each teacher's method of instructing, to point out any error in either discipline or teaching that any teacher may have fallen into, and if one teacher has a mode superior to that of others, to recommend it to their notice. When we have such a board of Committee I think that we shall bid farewell to prepared "examinations," as the pupils of each school will be up to the standard of good scholarship; and the "terrible Examination Day" will be robbed of its terrors, if a lady whose face is an index of the good-will towards the scholars with which her heart overflows, presides, instead of the "gents," who nearly always feel glad when the examination is over, so that they can go back to the business which was left so reluctantly from a sense of duty to the schools in their charge. New Publications.

The New Hampshire Register and Political Manual for 1872 has been published by McFarland and Jenks, Concord, with the completeness and compactness characteristic of the series hitherto. It is not only indispensable to every son of New Hampshire who wishes to keep well-informed as to his State, but it comprises a carefully selected array of facts which will make it of general value to the citizen and the business man. These books are sold at the low price of twenty-five cents each.

We have on our table the Illustrated Catalogue of flower and vegetable seeds for 1872, issued by Briggs & Brother, of Rochester, N. Y. It is a volume of nearly one hundred and fifty pages, printed on heavy tinted paper, in the high style of the printer's art now prevalent. While the printing and the descriptive matter are very fine and peculiarly attractive, it is the profuse and elegant illustrations that enrich the book. The engravings represent flowers, fruit and vegetables. Some of these are printed in colors, and others are fine specimens of engraving rarely seen.

The Ohio State Journal, one of the ablest of live Republican papers, is out in a new dress and advocates the nomination of Hon. William Dennison of Ohio for Vice-President. We are not a denizen of Ohio but would not object to voting for such an excellent man as the State Journal's candidate.

The British Quarterly Review, (Am. rep.,) for January, has the following list of contents: Lanfrey's Napoleon the First, Beethoven, An English Interior in the Seventeenth Century, Catullus and his Translators, Mahomet, The Speaker's Commentary, The Working of the Education Act, Last Words on the Ballot Question, Contemporary Literature. $4 per year; Leonard Scott Pub. Co., 140 Fulton St., N. Y.

The New York Herald Almanac and Financial and Commercial Register, for 1872, surpasses every work under the name of Almanac ever heretofore published. It is a book of over 225 pages, each replete with most interesting and valuable information, and unattainable in any other single work. Besides a most carefully prepared digest of all the matters of which Almanacs are usually made up, the specialities of the Herald Almanac may be briefly enumerated as follows:—Its list of Missing Heirs, its Mariners' Guide, New Cautionary Weather Signals established by the Department at Washington for the benefit of our merchant marine and naval service—with well executed cuts of the signals, its Agricultural Statistics, Astronomical and Mean Time Tables, Chronological and Necrological Records, and Record of Memorable Events. It is an indispensable requirement in every hotel, library, work-shop, club, reading-room and household throughout the country. Only 25 cents. Sold by all Stationers and Newsdealers.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are so we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE GREATEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country, and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

Its is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

Morning Chronicle.

A HORSE MADE DRUNK.—The Poughkeepsie Eagle says: If we may believe a report in the Rondout Freeman, a disgraceful affair occurred at Saugerties on Esopus creek, on Saturday, January 17. It was a horse race for a purse of $200. The Messrs. Pulz entered a sorrel mare, and the Messrs. Washburn entered a new horse, recently purchased by them in New York city, and it was alleged that he was able to trot a mile in 2:35. Six or seven hundred people were present, including prominent horsemen from Ulster, Greene and Duchess counties. The course was one mile, and the race was to be best three in five. Mr. Pulz's mare appeared to be in fine condition, and her beautiful actions and winning ways made her the favorite.

At 3 P. M. Mr Washburn appeared with one horse, and all eyes were concentrated upon him, and he was generally admired. J. Conover, of Catskill, and F. Fiero, of Madalin, Duchess county, were appointed judges, and the word was given. The first heat was won by the mare easily, "Mr. Washburn, (says the Freeman reporter,) evidently holding his horse in because he had struck his heels all the way down the course and had broken one of his traces." Before they stated for the second heat the noble animal was dosed with brandy, and no doubt when he came to the score the liquid made him crazy. Twice on the first quarter he broke badly and the mare shot ahead. The now demoralized horse, filled with Ulster county chain-lightning out of his master's bottle, vainly endeavored to win the heat, but could not; rum had done its work. When he came back he looked weary and worn.

Again the deadly bottle was brought out, and again the brandy was poured down the poor dumb creature's throat, and he was brought to for the third heat. Both animals started off at a fearful rate, and went thundering down the course, the horse in advance. Between the first and second quarter they both broke badly, but the mare got down to work again. Not so with the horse. The vile stuff which had been forced into him was having its effect. His eyes flashed with unusual brightness and every nerve was strung. "Mr. Washburn, (says the Freeman Reporter) is a powerful man, and pulled and sawed all he could, but the horse would not stop." It was soon evident that he was running away. He narrowly escaped running into a three-quarter pole, but about fifty yards from there he struck a trot and exhibited a wonderful burst of speed. He came up the home stretch ahead of the mare, and within a few feet of the judges' stand again broke into a wild run.

A thrill of horror ran through the crowd. The now drunken and abused animal was dashing away with uncontrollable speed. The sleigh which he was dragging struck a bank, and Washburn, the driver, was hurled out upon the ice. Still the drunken horse kept on. Down the creek he thundered toward the dam, the spectators stand ing and looking in breathless silence, horrified at the sight. All thought the animal had gone over the dam on to the rocks forty feet below. There was a rush for the bridge, when the worst was discovered. He had escaped the dam, but rushed to the paper mill. A rope and boat were secured and a number of people, at the risk of their own lives, succeeded in getting him out. Luckily he was not much injured and the race was decided in favor of the Pulz.

WHO ARE ARISTOCRATS. — Twenty years ago this one made candles and butter, another butchered, another carried on a distillery, another was a contractor on canals, others were merchants and mechanics. They are acquainted with both ends of society, as their children will be after them, though it will not do to say so out loud. For often you will find these toiling worms hatch butterflies—and they live about a year. Death brings a division of property, and, it brings new financiers. The old gentleman is discharged; the young gent takes revenues and begins to travel—toward poverty, which he reaches before death, or his children do, if he does not, so that, in fact, though there is a sort of mesoyed rank, it is not hereditary, it is accessible to all. The father grubs and grows rich. His children strut and use the money. The children in turn inherit pride, and go shiftless to poverty. Next, their children, re-invigorated by fresh plebian blood, and by the smell of the clod come up again. Thus society, like a tree, draws its sap from the earth, changes it into seed and blossoms, spreads them around in great glory, sheds them to fall to earth again, to mingle with the soil and at length to re-appear in new dress, and fresh garniture.—Home Journal.

—A young man in Vermont was much addicted to reading in bed by the light of a kerosene lamp, and persisted in the habit notwithstanding the advice of his friends and the warnings of the terrible accidents which occur almost daily. On retiring one evening recently it appears that he set the lamp too near the edge of the bed. As he did not come down to breakfast the next morning his mother became anxious and rapped on his chamber door. Receiving no answer she entered the room, when her worst fears were realized. During the night the lamp had tipped over upon the bed and completely ruined a patchwork quilt made by her when only eleven weeks old. The only article on the bed unburned was her drowsy son.

—A Montreal dispatch states that England has ordered eight regiments of troops to Canada.

—In Philadelphia the deaths by small-pox last week were 183.

The ingredients may be obtained from any druggist. A copy sent free to all applicants who need it. Address Dr. O. PHELPS BROWN, 21 Grand Street, Jersey City, N. J.

CURE FOR
FEMALE WEAKNESS.
The Proprietor of this valuable Medicine, while suffering from loss of health some twenty years ago, received an Indian recipe, from which she prepared some for her own use, which resulted in a cure. Many of her friends have used it with equally gratifying success, and have urged her to introduce it to the public. She has consented, for the relief of suffering humanity to do so, and feels confident it will prove one of the richest blessings to her sex. This is an internal remedy—entirely vegetable—will not injure the most delicate constitution, but is congenial to nature, as evidenced by its surprising properties. Its effects are wonderful in the Relief and Cure of the following diseases:—Prolapsus Uteri, Nervous Debility, Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of Heart, Depression of Spirits, Irregularities, Change of Life, Whites, Tropical Affections, Biliousness, Inflammation of the Kidneys, &c. Prepared and sold by MRS. LINUS BELCHER, Randolph, Mass. Send for Circular. Sold by all Drug Gists, at $1.00 per bottle.

STAGNATION in the blood tends to produce nine-tenths of the diseases "flesh is heir to." This, however, is obviated, WINSOR'S DEMULCENT, by invigorating the system, by administering LATHAM'S CATHARTIC EXTRACT.

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!
DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS,
Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.
WHAT ARE THEY!
THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Root and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.
For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.
DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.
They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.
FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.
PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.
FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. Send for a circular.
They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawf&b15

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,
For all the purposes of a Family Physic,
CURING
Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood,
Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

—It takes only 1200 dollars' worth of lace to trim a velvet cloak properly, and yet men grumble at female extravagance in dress.

—M. Rouher, formerly Minister of State under Napoleon, has been elected to the French assembly from the island of Corsica.

—You may think yourself able to handle an axe easily, but if you try to lick one on a cold morning you will certainly get worsted.

—Greece has just had a census and counts up 1,457,894 souls, an increase of 132,515 within ten years. Athens has a population of 44.510.

—The editor of the Utica Bee, being in jail for libel, improves the shining hours by getting up a column of "jail personals." This is making himself to "hum."

—The report that Duke Alexis has married Mademoiselle Jonkofsky, the maid of honor to whom he is said to have long been attached, is credited, and creates considerable confusion in official circles in St. Petersburg.

—London was first lightened with gas on the 28th of January, 1807, by a German named Winsor. Sir Walter Scott observes in his diary in 1806, "There is a madman in London who is trying to light the city with smoke."

—Some time ago we had an account of the explosion of a barrel of flour, which had been packed while damp. A mince pie, surcharged with steam, and with no vent in the crust, exploded in Shekopee (Minn.) recently, fatally scalding a young child. What will "go off" next?

—A maiden lady of Guilford, N. Y., of good character, liberal education and rare accomplishments is laboring under a most singular hallucination. Imagining she is engaged to be married, though she has never seen her intended, she makes extended journeys to see or meet her betrothed. Failing once, nothing discouraged, she starts off again.

—A Buffalo man proposes a plan for propelling canal boats, in which power is not attached to the boat, but the entire body of water is moved, and the current thus created is used as the propelling power. The plan embraces a wall laid in the centre of the canal its entire length, dividing it into two equal channels. At the head of each level is placed an immersed wheel of peculiar construction, which is moved by a stationary engine, and the action of which is to throw the water from one of the channels into the other. A current is thus created from the machinery in one channel and toward it in the other.

FACES ON THE WALL.

BY HARRIET BEECHER STOWE.

AUTHOR OF "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN," "MY WIFE AND I," ETC.

Once there was a very good little girl, who, by reason of her goodness knew where to find strawberries in the winter. In the same way less perfect people, blessed by the generous fairies of memory and imagination, may sit, as I do now, in the midst of falling leaves and whistling winds, and call back the green grasses and the summer sun. I see yonder in the glen, the darling of our house, the gold gleam in her brown hair, a chain of daisies in her hand, and in her eyes the roguish meditation of a kitten, weary for an instant only of its play, and thinking style of another spring. Thrown back upon the velvet grass, she is not resting, only pausing from her bright glances to the tips of her tiny fingers she is wide awake.

But now the merry play is over, and our pet nestles yonder on the sofa cushion, tired at last in earnest. Slowly the lids fall, and the lingering smile dies out; but the flush in cheek and lip remains, like the glow after sunset. The gathered buttercups and daisies are loosely held by the fair little hand; no shadows, even of dream-land, disturb the sweet brow's perfect peace. She is fast asleep.

In other words, two chromos hung upon the wall, bewitching child-heads, in which every mother sees something of her own dear ones, never grown old, and never lost to her, however time or death may have dealt with them.

Nothing pleases more at first sight or gives pleasure longer than poetical pictures of children. "The little child" whom Jesus sets in the midst of every family is a joy that grows not old and fades not.

"Age cannot wither, custom cannot stale
Its infinite variety."

For this reason a happy picture of a child brings an enjoyment more lasting than any other, because it is a subject of which no one ever tires.

But these pictures, besides their constant charm for grown folks, are such as children can understand and love. Our little "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," would give many a pleasant hour of companionable amusement and intercourse to the little people akin to them in age. The pictures that children's eyes rest on as they are dropping off to sleep, or as they awake in the morning, seem to them like living friends. All sorts of childish dreams and fancies make of the pictured face a real companion. Not only in the parlor and sitting-room would they be an attractive and fitting embellishment, but they are a charming pair for the adornment of a nursery.

Undoubtedly these two pictures are portraits. There is a realistic faithfulness and truth about them that forbids the idea of their being fancy heads. They will remind many parents of little ones either here or in heaven. Dickens says of his portraiture of little Nell that he has had letters from the farthest region of the earth speaking of children who resembled her—so dear, and so early taken! He who paints one child well, paints thousands, and speaks to the tenderest feelings of innumerable hearts.

Of course there is a pleasure in possessing an original painting; but when the question lies between an original at five hundred dollars and a chromo which can scarcely be distinguished from it, at ten dollars—particularly when one has not the five hundred to spare—the choice is not very difficult. As to these two exquisite chromos, only a critical examination can distinguish between the copies and the originals, which sold for many hundreds—which is certainly more than can be said of the best copies of most pictures painted by the best artists.

Blessings upon the chromo-lithography, by which the successful painting of a master can be reproduced indefinitely, and can enter thousands of homes with its educating, quickening, reforming influences!

It is not alone into the dwellings of the great and wealthy that we follow this pretty pair with anticipations of delight. We see them in the cottages of the poor, in the log cabin of the backwoodsman, brightening the toil of the hard-worked wife and mother, and receiving the almost adoring wonder of children who have never seen pictures before.

God bless the darlings—send the little comforters fast and far!

The charming pair of oil chromos, "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," of whose real beauty and attractiveness Mrs. Stowe's graceful sketch can give but an imperfect idea—so pleasing are they to all who love art or children—have always sold in the picture stores for $10, and the original publisher has never been able to supply the great demand for them even at that price. And yet, although thousands of them have been sold in America at that high rate, they are now within the reach of all, for they are to every subscriber to THE CHRISTIAN UNION, an unsectarian, literary, religious and domestic weekly newspaper, edited by HENRY WARD BEECHER.

The pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished to Mr. Beecher's publishers at a rate entirely exceptional. The subjects are LIFE-SIZE.

As to the CHRISTIAN UNION, the great success of that paper has been a marvel in the history of journalism, and the scholarly and critical New York Nation calls it "not only the ablest and best, but also the most popular of American religious periodicals."

This paper, hereafter will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, a decided advantage possessed by no other religious weekly published. It contains contributions from eminent writers of all denominations, and has matter of interest for every member of the household, young and old. For the year 1872, Mrs. HARRIET BECHER STOWE will write exclusively for the CHRISTIAN UNION.

It has something for every member of the household—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, ALL find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles, discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects; much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems, Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones; one of the chief attractions being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

The terms of subscription to this paper are: For one year ONLY $3.00. This will entitle the subscriber to the paper and to the above pair of beautiful Oil Chromos, THE CHRISTIAN UNION, Illustrated Holiday Number, (28 p. p.) will be sent FREE to all who now subscribe for the year 1872.

Send money in postal orders, drafts, or registered letters direct to the Publishers.

SPECIMEN COPIES of the paper will be mailed FREE of postage to any address on receipt of six cents by J. R. FORD & Co., Publishers, 27 Park Place, New York. For full particulars, see advertisement in the next column, headed "Why?"

WHY?

What is the reason that the Literary, Religious, and Domestic Weekly, started two years ago, namely,

THE CHRISTIAN UNION,

should have so suddenly achieved a success that makes all newspaper men wonder?

Reasons Why!

1st. HENRY WARD BEECHER is its Editor, of whom the Chicago Interior said "Probably no man on this continent sways so many minds, or is doing so much to shape religious thought for the next half century." His vigorous pen in Editorials and Star Papers, and Mr. Ellinwood's famed verbatim reports of his helpful Lecture-Room Talk in Plymouth Church, are an attraction to thousands of readers, who always want to know what he thinks on religious themes and the topics of the times. He is also assisted by an able editorial staff.

2d. It Is Unsectarian in Religion, Independent in Political Discussion, and devoted to Morals, Reform, Home and Foreign Missionary and Church matters and the world at large, Literature, Science, Art, Music, Agriculture, Trade, Finance, etc., etc., with contributions from eminent writers of all denominations, in all parts of the country.

3d. IT HAS SOMETHING FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE HOUSEHOLD—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, all find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects, much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones; one of the chief attraction being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

4th. It Admits no Medical or other possibly objectionable advertisements nor anything to offend the purest and most fastidious, and is therefore a favorite family paper.

5th. ITS FORM TWENTY-FOUR PAGES. Large Quarto, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, is so convenient for reading, binding, and preservation as to be a great special merit in its favor, apart from its superior literary attraction.

6th. A superb WORK OF ART IS GIVEN AWAY TO EVERY SUBSCRIBER AND THE SUBSCRIPTION PRICE IS

Only Three Dollars per Year.

SPECIAL
Attractions for 1872!

GIVEN AWAY!

1. TWO CHARMING AND POPULAR WORKS OF ART.

"WIDE AWAKE & FAST ASLEEP."

Two Exquisite French Oil Chromos, the subjects of which are Life Size, and cannot fail to please all who love art or children,

Are GIVEN AWAY to every subscriber for 1872, whether it be a New Subscription or a Renewal! These Chromos are no cheap colored prints, but are splendid copies of Oil Paintings, by an eminent English artist, fully equal for their size (13½x19½) to any chromo ever published. The subjects are life size. The pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished at a rate entirely exceptional. So that, although thousands of them have been sold in America at $10, and still are and will be sold at that price by the picture trade generally, they can be given to subscribers.

A MOSAIC.

WHAT THE PRESS SAYS:

Two very good chromos are "Wide Awake" and "Fast Asleep," [1] which have few rivals in the market for attractiveness [2]—fresh, sweet and blooming child-face [3] executed with true French skill [4]. We have rarely seen anything prettier than the two pictures, which, [5] both in color and sentiment are really beautiful [6]—worthy of a place in costly homes [7]. Unlike nine pictures out of ten that cost a good deal more, one can look at them day after day and not tire of them [8]. We have often stopped amid the bustle of Broadway to look at them, and never without feeling happier and better [7]. They cannot fail to please all who love art or children [8].

[1] Independent, N. Y. [2] Evening Mail, N. Y. [3] Aldine, N. Y. [4] Springfield Republican. [5] Advance, Chicago. [6] Harper's Weekly, N. Y. [7] Illustrated Christian Weekly, N. Y. [8] Christian at Work, N. Y.

A subscriber writes to the Publishers:

"The chromos far surpass in beauty and style anything that I expected. A Neighbor of mine bought the same Chromos in New York a few months ago, and paid ten dollars for them. Please accept my thanks for them."

2. En largement and Change of Form. After the first of January, the paper will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four large quarto pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the sides,—a decided advantage in convenience for reading possessed by no other religious weekly published.

3. Mrs. Harriet B. Stowe Will Write Exclusively for the CHRISTIAN UNION during the year 1872, with the exception of one short story all ready engaged for another periodical.

4. THE ILLUSTRATED HOLIDAY NUMBER —OF— The Christian Union, (28 pages) will be sent FREE to all who NOW subscribe for the year 1872.

The Terms of Subscription ARE AS FOLLOWS:

ONE YEAR ONLY $3.00.

This will entitle the subscriber to the paper by mail and to the above pair of beautiful Oil Chromos, deliverable at the publication office. If the subscriber will add ten cents [$3 10] for expenses of wrapping, mailing, etc., the CHROMOS will be sent free, by mail; and if the subscriber prefers to send still 25 cents more, or $3.35 altogether, the copies so mailed will be strongly mounted on card-board, sized and varnished, all ready for framing. This is the method we recommended as the most satisfactory and the one which nearly all our subscribers order.

Send money in postal orders, drafts, or registered letters, direct to the Publishers, and you will receive your papers immediately and regularly. The Chromos will be mailed as rapidly as possible to subscribers in the order of their names on the subscription list.

MANHOOD

IN THE

Young and Rising Generation.

The vegetable powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show their baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body, too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwardly upon themselves.

If the patient be a female the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it is fed on. The energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain. The parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

TRY HELMBOLD'S
EXTRACT BUCHU

For Weakness Arising from Excesses or Early Indiscretion,

attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such Patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for fear of themselves; no repose of matter, no earnestness, no speculation, but a hurried transition from one question to another.

THESE SYMPTOMS, IF ALLOWED TO GO ON—WHICH THIS MEDICINE INVARIABLY REMOVES — SOON FOLLOW LOSS OF POWER, PATUITY AND EPILEPTIC FITS, IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients. Reason has for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths of Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibitions appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute; neither mirth nor grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.

"With woful measures wan despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguile."

While we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences.

Political.

Walcott Hamlin of Dover will speak at Raymond on Thursday next, and at Hampstead on Friday. General Hitt and Captain Bartlett of Manchester will address the citizens of Washington on Thursday next, and will be at Fisherville on Friday, and at Pittsfield on Saturday. Governor Harriman and Hon. Samuel Upton will speak at Manchester on Saturday evening.

Hon. Richard D. Hubbard, Democratic candidate for Governor of Connecticut, has been a political dodger in times past, and now his Republican opponents call him "slippery Dick."

Governor Read of Florida has been impeached, and Mr. Day, a Virginian and a Republican, appointed governor.

The House of Representatives has voted to place tea and coffee on the free list. This will tend to reduce the revenue $19,000,000 per annum.

The "liberal" Republican National Convention to meet at Cincinnati has been postponed to June 20th, there being an increasing pressure for the defeat of President Grant before the regular convention at Philadelphia, June 4th.

They had an election for city officers in Salt Lake City on Monday. The "Liberals" worked hard to defeat the Mormon ticket but didn't succeed. The Mormon women and girls went to the polls and nearly every mother's daughter of them voted for (and elected) the Mormon ticket. There were more votes cast by the feminines than by the masculines.

The Democrats of the 3d ward in Concord endeavored to carry the ward by attempting to import enough "colonists" to make it Democratic. They have lodged these voters for five months and more in an out of the way farm house, but kept very "dark" until recently when they became so anxious for a good laugh over the Republicans that they began to boast of their intentions of controlling the ward. They laugh on the other sides of their mouths now, for the "out of the way farm house" is located in the 4th ward where the Republicans have 200 majority! Sharp fellows, these Democrats!

The Concord Monitor denies the falsehood started by the Littleton Republic that Hon. E. H. Rollins would not engage in the present campaign until it was agreed that he should succeed Hon. James W. Patterson in the U. S. Senate. No such agreement was made. Senator Patterson's friends will warmly urge his re-election when the proper time comes, and we presume Messrs. Rollins, Stevens, Harriman and Tappan will enter the canvass. Just now these gentlemen are laboring for a grand Republican triumph and the Senatorial question is not under discussion in Republican ranks,—though all are determined that New Hampshire shall never be misrepresented in the Senate by either of those blatant friends of rebellion, Sinclair and Bingham.

Hon. F. H. Evans, a Republican member of the Pennsylvania Senate, died on the 11th. This ties the Senate again.

WELL PUT.—A subscriber in Boston closes a business letter to the Concord Monitor with the following, which is exceedingly well put:

Although it is eighteen years since I struggled in almost hand-to-hand fight with the corrupt Democracy of the old Granite State, I yet have the same lively interest in the campaigns of the Republicans, who wrested the State from the control of the old treasonable proslavery party, and carried it most honorably and triumphantly through the Democratic rebellion, while most of the leaders of the old Democratic party were secretly and clandestinely aiding and abetting their brother conspirators of the South, and counseling their young deluded followers to turn their backs upon their beloved State and country in the hour of extremest peril, and flee to the woods and to Canada, like sneaks and cowards, if not traitors. All these sneaks will be back upon you on the Ides of March, and your Sinclairs and Westons, and their tools, are already prowling about Boston for aid, in money, rum, votes and repeaters, to crush you if possible. "A word to the wise is sufficient." Be up and at them.

ON SUNDAY, three employes of the Erie Railroad at the Susquehanna, Pennsylvania, Railroad station, finding a negro boy asleep in one of the company's buildings, poured kerosene oil over his legs and set it on fire. Then they threw water on the fire only to intensify it. The boy was horribly and fatally burned.

EIGHT JURORS have been empanelled for the trial of Stokes.

State News.

A new saw mill, which cuts ten thousand feet of lumber daily, has lately been set at work in Epping.

Two depots are to be built at Wolfeborough, one at the village and the other in Mill Village.

Subscriptions to the Peterborough Railroad have reached $75,000, and it is confidently expected that the whole amount of $250,000 will soon be taken.

The streams are very low in Coos county, and in many places water is obtained with difficulty in sufficient quantities for stock and household use.

The winter session of the supreme judicial court was begun last week at Colebrook. The grand jury returned bills of indictment against the members of four boards of selectmen of the town of Columbia for appropriating to their own use the funds belonging to the town. It is alleged that the money was taken in various sums, beginning in 1867 and ending in March, 1869, the whole amounting to $16,500. It is also alleged that the fraud was concealed by false statements in the annual reports of the selectmen. Eight persons who had served as selectmen were indicted, and they were ordered to give bonds in $2000 each on each indictment for their appearance at the next term of the court at Lancaster in April next, when the case will be tried. Columbia is a small town of 752 inhabitants, and the valuation of the property of the town is only $202,640.

New Publications.

Ballou's Magazine for March is issued, and as usual contains sea yarns and adventures, love stories, historical tales and poetry. The magazine contains 100 pages of reading matter, yet is but $1.50 per year and the publishers give good premiums for clubs of subscribers. Send for a list. Thomes & Talbot, 63 Congress Street, Boston.

Church's Musical Visitor for February has reached our table, and is certainly the best and handsomest number yet issued. The frontispiece is a handsome full-page portrait of Christina Nilsson. The departments of musical, dramatic and art news are fresh and full. Its musical contents embrace "White sails, waft me away," a beautiful ballad by the author of "Leaf by leaf the roses fall;" Chopin's waltz., Op. 64, No. 2, and the "Overture Medley." $1 per annum; John Church & Co., 66 West Fourth street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

THE FAMINE in Persia continues.

MULE ARTILLERY.—Out on a certain western fort, some time ago, the major conceived the idea that artillery might be used effectively in fighting with the Indians by dispensing with gun-carriages and fastening the cannon upon backs of mules. So he explained his views to the commandant, and it was determined to try the experiment. A howitzer was selected and strapped upon an ambulance mule, with the muzzle pointed toward the tail.

When they had secured the gun and loaded it with ball cartridge, they led that calm and steadfast mule out on the bluff and set up a target in the middle of the river to practice at. The rear of mule was turned toward the target, and he was backed gently up to the edge of the bluff. The officers stood around in a semicircle, while the major went up and inserted a time-fuse in the touch-hole of the howitzer. When the fuse was ready, the major lit it and retired.

In a minute or two the hitherto unruffled mule heard the fizzing back there on his neck, and it made him uneasy. He reached his neck around to ascertain what was going on, and, as he did so, his body turned and the howitzer began to sweep around the horizon. The mule at last became excited, and his curiosity grew more and more intense, and in a second or two he was standing with his four legs in a bunch, making six revolutions a minute, and the howitzer, understand, threatening sudden death to every man within half a mile.

The commandant was observed to climb suddenly up a tree; the lieutenants were seen sliding over the bluff into the river, as if they didn't care at all about the high price of uniforms; the adjutant made good time toward the fort; the sergeant began to throw up breastworks with his bayonet, and the major rolled over on the ground and groaned. In two or three minutes there was a puff of smoke, a dull thud, and the mule,—oh! where was he?

A solitary jackass might have been seen turning successive back-somersaults over the bluff, only to rest at anchor, finally, with his howitzer at the bottom of the river, while the ball went off toward the fort, hit the chimney in the major's quarters, rattled the adobe bricks down into the parlor, and frightened the major's wife into convulsions. They do not allude to it now, and no report of the results of the experiment was ever sent to the War Department. —John Phœnix.

—The New Testament revisers will be but about six years longer at their work, being engaged now on the second chapter of Luke.

—Dr. Rosenzweig has been transferred from Sing Sing to Auburn, where he is employed in the kitchen dispensing to his fellow-convicts the juicy saltfish and ambrosial hash.

PRIMERS AND POLITICS.—The Laconia Democrat, rebuking Republican orators and journals for occasionally alluding to the fact that Democracy and Ignorance are twins, thinks the argument "scarcely needs refutation," but says:

"Just for the notion of it, we will offer the town of Barnstead which is pretty Democratic at March meeting, as being as far advanced under our common school system as any Republican town having the same opportunities. The children in that town are as generally educated—are as far advanced in study, as in any town not having high schools and academies—and are as well behaved, as moral and religious, as those of any town in the State."

All this we cheerfully grant—nay, we rejoice in it; for just look at the election returns of Barnstead for the past five or six years, and see what those good schools are doing for its politics. We will drop the year 1870 out of the account, as a third party, represented by Mr. Flint, polled a large vote that year. Here are the returns for all the other years since 1866:

1866, Democratic majority,	256
1867, Democratic majority,	223
1868, Democratic majority,	222
1869, Democratic majority,	192
1871, Democratic majority,	175

Thus it will be seen that the good schooling given to the boys of Barnstead has slowly but steadily decreased the Democratic majority in that town, and will in time make it Republican.—Monitor.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

We notice in one of our exchanges this week the statement of Dea. John Hodgkins, of South Jefferson, Me., whose son was cured of incipient consumption by the use of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. We refer to this at this time as tending to corroborate the statement we made last week in relation to this Liniment as applied to consumption.

If Congress had employed as much scientific skill in the arrangement of its "Reconstruction Policy" at the close, as the War Department did in the beginning of the war, in arranging for the manufacture of what was called Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders for the use of the Cavalry horses, no doubt the Union would have been restored long ago.—Exchange.

OLD PREJUDICES ARE DYING OUT.—New facts are killing them. The idea that invalids weakened by disease can be relieved by prostrating them with destructive drugs, is no longer entertained except by monomaniacs. Ever since the introduction of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS it has been obvious that their regulating and invigorating properties are all-sufficient for the cure of chronic indigestion, rheumatism, constipation, diarrhœa, nervous affections, and malarious fevers, and they are now the standard remedy for these complaints in every section of the Union.

WHAT IS VEGETINE?—It is a compound extracted from barks, roots and herbs. It is Nature's Remedy. It is perfectly harmless from any bad effect upon the system. It is nourishing and strengthening. It acts directly upon the blood. It quiets the nervous system. It gives you good, sweet sleep at night. It is a great panacea for our aged fathers and mothers; for it gives them strength, quiets their nerves, and gives them Nature's sweet sleep—as has been proved by many an aged person. It is the great Blood Purifier. It is a soothing remedy for our children. It has relieved and cured thousands. It is very pleasant to take; every child likes it. It relieves and cures all diseases originating from impure blood. Try the VEGETINE. Give it fair trial for your complaints; then you will say to your friend, neighbor and acquaintance, "Try it; it has cured me."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

All the Year Round,

And in all parts of the world, the elements of disease are present in the air, the soil and the water, in a greater or less degree, and therefore the Great Vegetable Antidote to these invisible enemies of health, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is invaluable as a household medicine at all seasons and in every latitude. At no period of the year is a regulative and corrective medicine more needed than toward the close of winter, when the sun and rain are beginning to break up the winter blockade, and from the softening soil arises that terrible miasma, which weighs like an incubus upon the vital machinery, and depresses the animal spirits. It is then that the seeds of intermittent and remittent fevers, of rheumatism and rheumatic gout, of obstinate stomach complaints, of disorders of the liver and bowels, and a whole host of pulmonary and nervous complaints are sown.

The best, the surest way to prevent this disastrous seeding is to invigorate and refresh the system with a course of the Bitters. If this precaution be taken now, there will be no danger of the miasmatic germs taking roots in the fluids and tissues of the body, and bringing forth terrible fruit in the spring. Now is the time for prevention. Remember that vigor is the only safeguard against the virus of disease, and that Hostetter's Bitters is the purest, the safest, the most powerful and perfect invigorant ever administered, either as protective medicine or a remedy. A change of season approaches which almost always proves more or less disastrous to persons of a weak, nervous organization. Brace up at once with the leading Tonic of the age. Purge from the blood all morbid matter, strengthen the nerves, and regulate and purify the secretions with the Vegetable Elixir, which combines the juices of the finest medicinal roots, herbs and barks, with the most wholesome of all diffusive stimulants.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Our Schools.

Messrs. Editors:—It is with serious misgivings that I commence a third communication on the subject of "our schools;" for tho' you have kindly given much space in your columns to the discussion of the school question, and notwithstanding the number and tone of the articles sent to the CHRONICLE shows that there is a wide spread conviction among our citizens that our schools are not at all what they may and should be, yet the gentleman who assumes that he has ability to edit all the papers of both political parties in southern New Hampshire, besides managing the affairs of the U. S. Treasury and maintaining a general supervision over a few railroads, has kindly informed your correspondents that they may "put up their pens." This gracious permission, from such a source, I fear should be taken as a command; hence my misgivings about writing. If the Democratic editor does not approve of any more being said on the subject, who then will dare speak? [That will be a capital conundrum to give out at the next school "exhibition."] But some of us, who pay what is demanded for our children's schooling and are not unwilling to pay more if their school privileges can be improved, may still dare to write, even though the editor who is so perfectly willing to regulate all things does not wish to have anything more said on the subject.

"A" agrees with me that "the average school-boy" is not generally a very reverential being, and seems to have a much higher opinion of the girls; as to the latter, "A" is just like "X;" for I have thought more of the girls than of the boys, and liked them a great deal better, for the last twenty-five years. Still, I do not wholly despise the "average school-boy;" I was an average school-boy myself; in fact, I was one of the averagest school-boys that ever was. Not but what I was a good boy, as boys go; a bad boy could never have developed into the worthy and respectable citizen who pens this; but circumstances were against me. It was on my slate that caricatures of the teacher were more often found than were sums; it was my desk that regularly drew down upon its occupant the rebukes of "the Committee" for its whittled-to-pieces and generally demoralized condition; and it was on the ceiling over my desk that "spit-balls" were always to be found in constellations, each spit-ball showing the largest size and most perfect condition of chewed-upedness known to school-boy manufacture. "A" will readily imagine how much undeserved damage my reputation must have suffered from such unfortunate circumstances, and will sympathize with me accordingly.

But I suppose all this discussion of school management is useless, and I don't know but what we may as well accept the permission of the Democratic editor and "put up our pens." Our schools are not what they should be,—not what the same teachers could make them under better management; if they were, there would be fewer private schools in the city and fewer children sent out of town to be educated; but this city is "conservative," and there will be no improvement,—if there is, I shall be much astonished. My first communication was written in opposition to useless "School Exhibitions" and sham "Examinations;" and having had the pleasure of finding my views endorsed by every one who has written on the subject at all, I take my leave of the school question. X.

Laconics.

St. Valentine's Day.

The orders of Lieut. Comdr. Anthony are revoked and he remains here.

Dearborn S. F. Engine Co., No. 1, announce their fourth annual Ball to take place Feb. 21st, (Washington's Birthday eve,) in Congress Hall. They propose to provide their visitors with a good dance and a good supper, for only $1 each. Gilbert's band will furnish music—good music, too. See adv't.

M. A. Safford, Esq., of Kittery, will deliver the next lecture in the High School course in that town, on Monday evening, Feb. 19; subject, "Naples." Prof. Taylor of Bowdoin College will deliver the last lecture of the course.

Lynn and Newburyport both think that they should have a director in the board of the Eastern Railroad.

Hon. E. H. Rollins, chairman of the Republican State Committee, was in this city, Monday evening, in consultation with the executive committees of the various wards. Mr. Rollins brings good tidings and says there is every indication of a grand Republican victory in March. The State canvass is nearly completed, a few small places remaining to be heard from. Warren Brown, Esq., Republican candidate for Senator in this district, was also present and gave great encouragement for large gains in the southerly part of the district. It has been decided to hold rallies at the Temple March 5th and 11th, and efforts are being made to secure addresses by Senator Patterson, Senator Nye of Nevada, Gen. Daniel E. Sickles of New York and Gen. Kilpatrick of New Jersey.

The Eastern Railroad stockholders who are dissatisfied with the ticket for Directors selected by the committee appointed at the recent meeting have put forward the following ticket in opposition:—Franklin Haven, Samuel Hooper, Boston; John L. Woolridge, Lynn; Otis P. Lord, Salem; William Curtis, Newburyport; George L. Treadwell, Ichabod Goodwin, Portsmouth. The regular ticket, previously published, is as follows:—Samuel Hooper, Franklin Haven, Thornton K. Lothrop and Benjamin F. Stevens, of Boston; Ichabod Goodwin, of Portsmouth; Henry L. Williams and Otis P. Lord, of Salem. The adjourned meeting for the choice of Directors will be held at the Meonian, Boston, at 11 o'clock, to-morrow (Thursday) forenoon.

We hear that one hundred workmen are to be employed at the Navy Yard this week — seventy-five from New Hampshire and twenty-five from Maine. Frank Jones' Wart places the number at one hundred and forty-seven, but as it knows as little of the proceedings of the Navy Department as of the Treasury Department, its guess work is overdone. Commandant Pennock some time ago requested certain work to be done which will require a very large extra force several months to complete. We hope the Navy Department will give the necessary order soon.

A house from Greenland was dragged through Islington and other streets, Tuesday, breaking large branches from valuable shade trees. Is there no escape from such outrages—no protection from mutilation of property which beautifies our city?

We advise all who can to invest twenty-five cents in the G. A. R. entertainment at their Hall on Market St., this evening. It is a repetition by request of the last week's excellent performances, "His Last Legs" and "The Original John Schmidt," Mr. John Burns appearing in both plays.

The Concord Railroad authorities are endeavoring to secure the river front of Noble's Island, by taking possession as authorized by the law passed last June. The owners of the Island will contest it.

We heard a Republican say a short time ago that there were more Democrats proffering their votes for a consideration in this vicinity this year than he ever knew before in a campaign within twenty years. Our Democratic cotemporary, who would like to have Mr. Leslie's position in the Custom House, but could not pass a successful examination for the office before a civil service commission, confirms the statement. He says there are "seven or eight hundred who are waiting to be bought." As there are not ten hundred Democratic voters in this city, it will be seen that under the lead of such poor trash as the Portsmouth member of the Democratic State Committee (the self same "editor") the Democratic party hereabouts is getting fearfully demoralized. Those "seven or eight hundred" will not be bought—if for no other reason than that there is no especial need of their votes, and they might want to throw Billy in for dead weight, which would make any decent man refuse to negotiate.

Kittery Town Hall.

Messrs. Editors:—The time is rapidly approaching, when our citizens will meet again for the election of town officers and the transaction of such business as will be for the interests of the town. Politics has ruled in the past, and I suppose always will in the future, in State and Presidential elections; but it does seem to me that in town affairs party should be laid aside, and that Republicans and Democrats; should move steadily forward, shoulder to shoulder, for the good of the whole. There should not be any Tammany Rings in either party. In a small community like ours, what is the interest of one should be the interest of the whole. There are no wealthy ones among us, or rich corporations to swerve us from the path of right for their own benefit; we are all laboring men, either on the farm or in the workshops, and as such have one common interest.

One of the most important questions that will come before us at our approaching town meeting, is that in reference to a Town Hall and its location. That we need one, no one will deny. Our Town Hall is now on trucks, first at the Point, and then at the Foreside; but while some would locate it just to suit their own convenience, others, with a more liberal spirit, would build it where it would not only convenience our citizens for all public occasions but be a source of revenue for the town. Then again, some would like to build a temporary affair, a sort of a public barn; while others, having an eye to the future as well as the present wants of the community, would build a commodious and substantial edifice, creditable to the town and sufficient for a future generation. The object of this communication is to set the people of Kittery thinking upon the subject, so that if possible we may come together in a spirit of harmony and mutual concession. I shall consider, in a future communication, the kind of a building needed, its location and the means of erecting it. TOWN HALL.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price—and most of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model, does now decide the style to be the in this country, and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

CATARRH
Cannot be cured by snuffs, washes or local applications. It is a weakness of the constitution, developing itself in the nasal organ first, afterwards extending to throat and lungs, ending generally in consumption, if not checked by proper remedies. Pain in head, back, loins, and weakness of kidneys, are its attendant diseases. More people have Catarrh than any other disease. It is easily cured. Thousands of cases, some of twenty-five years' standing, have been entirely cured in New Hampshire the past two years by the Constitutional Catarrh Remedy. Certificates to back the above sent free upon application to LITTLEFIELD & HAYES, proprietors and druggists, Dover, N. H. Price, $1 per bottle.

CURE FOR
FEMALE WEAKNESS.
The Proprietor of this valuable Medicine, while suffering from loss of health some twenty years ago, received from an Indian recipe, which she prepared some for her own use, which resulted in a cure. Many of her friends have used it with equally gratifying success, and have urged her to introduce it to the public. She has consented, for the relief of suffering humanity to do so, and feels confident it will prove one of the richest blessings to her sex. This is an internal remedy—entirely vegetable—will not injure the most delicate constitution, is agreeable to taste, and supporters are not used under any consideration, nor the application of Caustic. It will eradicate all Female Complaints, which from custom, are great suffering. Its renovating effects are extraordinary, without a change in diet, as hundreds will testify. Three bottles will convince the most skeptical of its surprising powers. Its effects are wonderful in the Relief and Cure of the following diseases:—Prolapsus Uteri, Nervous Debility, Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of Heart, Depression of Spirits, Irregularities, Change of Life, Whites, Dropsical Affections, Bilious Fever, Inflammation of the Kidneys, &c. Prepared and sold by MRS. LINUS BELCHER, Randolph, Mass. Send for Circular. Sold by all DrugIsts, at $1.00 per bottle.

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!
DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS.
Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.
WHAT ARE THEY!
THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,
Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Rootand Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.
For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.
DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.
They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.
FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.
PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.
FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. Send for a circular.
They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Viscera of Organs.

A LECTURE ON RATTLESNAKES. — Two miles out on our road back we found Straddlebug sitting like a statue, gazing at something in the road just ahead of him. "Come here, General Bradley," he called, "I want to introduce you to one of the inhabitants of this delightful country," at the same time pointing to a monster rattlesnake coiled in the center of the trail. "I have been plaguing him," continued old Straddle, "and he is a game fellow. See," he added, holding out his saber toward the reptile.

Quickly the snake raised his crest, and sprang his full length, falling within two feet of the legs of old Straddle's horse. "Look out there, or he'll bite you," cried General Bradley. "Not a bit of it," replied Straddle; "the fact is, General, I have been studying this specimen of the natural productions of the country for more than an hour, and I have found out, first, that he will not bite unless coiled; second, that he can only jump the length of himself when coiled." He then made the snake coil up again and strike two or three times.

"He ain't much of a traveller, either," said old Straddle, whipping the reptile when stretched out and making it run as fast as it could. "He coils tail first," added the experimenter, making him coil, "and, like an honest fellow, gives fair warning before he strikes, which is more than some of our own kind do, General; besides, I don't believe he'd strike in the dark at all. You will readily observe," continued old Straddle, growing facetious, "difference between the natures of the snakes and a dog; a dog shakes his tail to show you he is pleased; the snake shakes his tail to show you he is mad. Look at that eye, sir; I have looked a mutineer in the eye and disarmed him; but I would not like to look that fellow steadily in the face for the space of five seconds."

The snake was coiled, his body resting on his tail, and his head raised to the height of a foot, and his neck proudly curved. His eyes shone like two little diamonds, and his yellow skin glistened in the sun. The spots on his back seemed ever changing from dark brown to a bright red copper color. "Come," said old Straddle, "I'll bet there's not a man in the crowd can shoot him in the head." [It is said to be almost impossible to shoot the head off a rattlesnake. The hunters declare that their sensitiveness is so great that that they can feel the wind of a coming bullet, and dodge it. Be this as it may, I have seen men who could hit a bull's eye or drive a nail at 100 yards that could not shoot a snake in the head.]

Several revolvers were leveled and discharged at him, but the snake remained unharmed. A soldier then dismounted, and taking a carbine, at the fourth shot nearly severed the body of the reptile. "Foul!" cried out Straddle; "you hit him on the body; but take off the rattles, the game is yours." The man did as he was bid, and there were eleven rattles and a button.—Philadelphia Press correspondence.

A SAGACIOUS DOG.—Recently a dog belonging to a gentleman of this city, was observed by his master to be approaching him with something in his mouth, which he laid upon the ground and endeavored to attract attention to the same. The gentleman, thinking it a bit of leather or some article which the dog was playing with, took no notice of it and passed on. The animal repeated his movements, and again laid the parcel at the feet of his master, who was induced to pick it up, when to his astonishment he found it to be his own pocket book, which he had dropped without perceiving the loss. The sagacious dog had found and safely restored his owner's money.—Lynn Reporter.

—The legislature of Minnesota visited the asylum for the dumb at Fairibault recently, and received the following curious and rather ludicrous address:

"For you are the men to furnish the means to help the man that built the mill that ground the feed that fed the horse that drew the cart that dumped the dirt that Paddy shoveled to build the road for palace cars to go upon. These are the men that make our laws, and furnish the means to build a house to cover our heads, that warm our toes, that fill our mouths, that give us food that feeds the mind, that makes us men and women strong, to lean upon; we bid you welcome and for aye shall strive your kindness to repay."

—Baby stories are getting to be rather common, it must be admitted; but it may be interesting to know that an Iowa woman has just been favored with triplets, one of which is crowned with black hair, the second with auburn, and the third red.

—Dr. Mary Walker, who insists upon having the Dr. written before her name by the reporters, declares that she "never was Mrs. and never will be." In this all mankind, we believe, have cheerfully agreed to let her have her way.

—It is said that the Japanese embassy will be obliged to return to San Francisco and take a steamer by the way of Panama, there seeming to be no present prospect of raising the snow blockade on the Union Pacific Railroad.

FACES ON THE WALL.

BY HARRIET BEECHER STOWE.

AUTHOR OF "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN," "MY WIFE AND I," ETC.

Oncethere was a very good little girl, who, by reason of her goodness, knew where to find strawberries in the winter. In the same way less perfect people, blessed by the generous fairies of memory and imagination, may sit, as I do now, in the midst of falling leaves and whistling winds, and call back the green grasses and the summer sun. I see yonder in the garden, the darling of our house, the gold gleam in her brown hair, a chain of daisies in her hand, and in her eyes the roguish meditation of a kitten, wearyfor an instant only of its play, and thinking slyly of another spring. Thrown back upon the velvet grass, she is not resting, only pausing from her brisk glances to the tips of her tiny fingers she is wide awake.

But now themerry play is over, and our pet nestles yonder on the sofa cushion, tired at last in earnest. Slowly the lids fall, and the lingering smile dies out; but the flush in cheek and lip remains, like the glow after sunset. The gathered hedgerows and daisies are coarsely held by the fair little hand; no shadows, even of dream-land, disturb the sweet brow's perfect place. She is fast asleep.

In other words, two chromos hang upon the wall, bewitching childhoods, in which every mother sees something of her own dear ones, never grown old, and never lost to her, however time or death may have dealt with them.

Nothing pleases more at first sight or gives pleasure longer than poetical pictures of children. "The little child" whom Jesus sets in the midst of every family is a joy that grows not old and fades not.

"Age cannotwither, custom cannot stale
Its infinite variety."

For this reasona happy picture of a child brings an enjoyment more lasting than any other, because it is a subject of which no one ever tires.

But these pictures, besides their constant charm for grown folks, are such as children can understand and love. Our little "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," would give many a pleasant hour of companionable amusement and intercourse to the little people akin to them in age. The pictures that children's eyes rest on as they are dropping off to sleep, or as they awake in the morning, seem to them like living friends. All sorts of childish dreams and fancies make of the pictured face a real companion. Not only in the parlor and sitting-room would they be an attractive and fitting embellishment, but they are a charming pair for the adornment of a nursery.

Undoubtedly these two pictures are portraits. There is a realistic faithfulness and truth about them that forbids the idea of their being fancy heads. They will remind many parents of little ones either here or in heaven. Dickens says of his portraiture of little Nell that he has had letters from the farthest region of the earth speaking of children who resembled her—so dear, and so early taken! He who paints one child well, paints thousands, and speaks to the tenderest feelings of innumerable hearts.

Of course there is a pleasure in possessing an original painting; but when the question lies between an original at five hundred dollars and a chromo which can scarcely be distinguished from it, at ten dollars—particularly when one has not the five hundred to spare—the choice is not very difficult. As to these two exquisite chromos, only a critical examination can distinguish between the copies and the originals, which sold for many hundreds—which is certainly more than can be said of the best copies of most pictures painted by the best artists.

Blessings upon the chromo-lithography, by which the successful painting of a master can be reproduced indefinitely, and can enter thousands of homes with its educating, quickening, reforming influences!

It is not alone into the dwellings of the great and wealthy that we follow this pretty pair with anticipations of delight. We see them in the cottages of the poor, in the log cabin of the barkwoodsman, brightening the toil of the hard-worked wife and mother, and receiving the almost adoring wonder of children who have never seen pictures before.

God bless the darlings—send the little comforters fast and far!

The charming pair of oil chromos, "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," of whose real beauty and attractiveness Mrs. Stowe's graceful sketch can give but an imperfect idea—so pleasing are they to all who love art or children—have always sold in the picture stores for $10, and the original publisher has never been able to supply the great demand for them even at that price. And yet, although thousands of them have been sold in America at that high rate, they are now within the reach of all, for they are to every subscriber to THE CHRISTIAN UNION, an unsectarian, literary, religious and domestic weekly newspaper, edited by HENRY WARD BEECHER.

The pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished to Mr. Beecher's subscribers at a rate entirely exceptional. The subjects are LIFE-SIZE.

As to the CHRISTIAN UNION, the great success of that paper has been a marvel in the history of journalism, and the scholarly and critical New York Nation calls it "not only the ablest and best, but also the most popular of American religious periodicals."

This paper, hereafter will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, a decided advantage possessed by no other religious weekly published. It contains contributions from eminent writers of all denominations, and has matter of interest for every member of the household, young and old. For the year 1872, MRS. HARRIET BEECHER STOWE will write exclusively for the CHRISTIAN UNION.

It has something for every member of the household—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, all find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles, discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects; much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems, Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones, one of the chief attractions being MRS. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

The terms of subscription to this paper are: For one year ONLY $3.00. This will entitle the subscriber to the paper and to the above pair of beautiful Oil Chromos. THE CHRISTIAN UNION, Illustrated Holiday Number, (28 p. p.) will be sent FREE to all who now subscribe for the year 1872.

Send money in postal orders, drafts, or registered letters direct to the Publishers.

SPECIMEN COPIES of the paper will be mailed FREE of postage to any address on receipt of six cents by J. B. FORD & Co., Publishers, 27 Park Place, New York. For full particulars, See advertisement in the next column, headed "Why?"

WHY?

What is the reason that the Literary, Religious, and Domestic Weekly, started two years ago, namely,

THE CHRISTIAN UNION,

should have so suddenly achieved a success that makes all newspaper men wonder?

Reasons Why!

1st. HENRY WARD BEECHER is its Editor, of whom the Chicago Interior said "Probably no man on this continent sways so many minds, or is doing so much to shape religious thought for the next half century." His weekly page in Editorials and Star Papers, and Mr. Ellinwood's famed verbatim reports of his helpful Lecture-Room Talk in Plymouth Church, are an attraction to thousands of readers, who always want to know what he thinks on religious themes and the topics of the times. He is also assisted by an able editorial staff.

2d. It Is Unsectarian in Religion, independent in Political Discussion, and devoted to Morals, Reform, Home and Foreign News—both of Church matters and the world at large, Literature, Science, Art, Music, Agriculture, Trade, Finance, etc., etc., with contributions from eminent writers of all denominations—in all parts of the country.

3d. IT HAS SOMETHING FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE HOUSEHOLD—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, all find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects, much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones; one of its chief attraction being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

4th. It Admits no Medical or other possibly objectionable advertisements nor anything to offend the purest and most fastidious, and is therefore a favorite family paper.

5th. ITS FORM TWENTY-FOUR PAGES. Large Quarto, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, is so convenient for reading, binding, and preservation as to be a great special merit in its favor, apart from its superior literary attraction.

6th. A superb WORK OF ART IS GIVEN AWAY TO EVERY SUBSCRIBER AND THE SUBSCRIPTION PRICE IS

Only Three Dollars per Year.

SPECIAL

Attractions for 1872!

The subjects are life size. The pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished at a rate entirely exceptional. So that, although thousands of them have been sold in America at $10, and still are and will be sold at that price by the picture trade generally, they can be given to subscribers.

A MOSAIC.

WHAT THE PRESS SAYS:

Two very good chromos are "Wide Awake" and "Fast Asleep," [1] which have few rivals in the market for attractiveness [2]—fresh, sweet and blooming child-face [3] executed with true French skill [4]. We have rarely seen anything prettier than the two pictures, which, [5] both in color and sentiment are really beautiful [6]—worthy of a place in costly homes [7]. Unlike nine pictures out of ten that cost a good deal more, one can look at them day after day and not tire of them [8]. We have often stopped amid the bustle of Broadway to look at them, and never without feeling happier and better [7]. They cannot fail to please all who love art or children [8].

A subscriber writes to the Publishers:

"The chromos far surpass in beauty and style anything that I expected. A Neighbor of mine bought the same Chromos in New York a few months ago, and paid ten dollars for them. Please accept my thanks for them."

2 En largement and Change of Form. After the first of January, the paper will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four large quarto pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the sides,—a decided advantage in convenience for reading possessed by no other religious weekly published.

3. Mrs. Harriet B. Stowe Will Write Exclusively for the CHRISTIAN UNION during the year 1872, with the exception of one short story all ready engaged for another periodical.

MANHOOD

IN THE

Young and Rising Generation.

The vegetable powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show their baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body, too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwardly upon themselves.

If the patient be a female the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! Increase of appetite has grown by what it is fed on. The energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain. The parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

TRY HELMBOLD'S

EXTRACT BUCHU

For Weakness Arising from Excesses or Early Indiscretion,

attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such Patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for fear of themselves; no repose of matter, no earnestness, no speculation, but a hurried transition from one question to another.

THESE SYMPTOMS, IF ALLOWED TO GO ON—WHICH THIS MEDICINE INVARIABLY REMOVES — SOON FOLLOW LOSS OF POWER, FATUITY AND EPILEPTIC FITS, IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients. Reason has for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths of Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibitions appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute; neither mirth nor grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.

"With woful measures wan despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguile."

While we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1872.

THE ALABAMA CLAIMS.—An attempt has been made to bring the subject of the Alabama claims before the British House of Lords for debate. Baron Redesdale proposed to the government the following question:—

If A and B, partners, sue C for fraud, and defendant C proves that B, one of the plaintiffs, acted with him in committing fraud, whether such proof would not be a complete answer, and debar all damages?

Applying this to the questions at issue with the United States, he argued that the North and South were now partners in the Alabama claims. If the law in the case of persons was good, it ought to hold in regard to nations. Earl Granville said that the discussion of the treaty of Washington at the present juncture was undesirable, and declined to answer the question put by Lord Redesdale. Several lords expressed regret that Parliament was the only place where the treaty could not be mentioned. They declared that the government ought to publish the English case and other documents connected with the Alabama claims, and give the British people the opportunity of enjoying the advantages which Americans possessed for the discussion of the pending issues. Lord Granville again declined to reply, but said if a motion was made for the promulgation of the English case it would be laid before the house. The motion was accordingly made and adopted.

The Anglo-American Association adopted a resolution that it would not publicly discuss the Alabama difficulty while there was a hope of its being settled in a friendly spirit.

The President has sent to the Senate a copy of the United States statement of the case before the Geneva tribunal of arbitration.

A London special of Feb. 14th, says that no English Government continuing negotiations in regard to the Treaty of Washington, as the case now stands, could hold office twenty-four hours. This is absolutely certain, and cannot be stated too emphatically. Should the Government go out on this last issue their successors, from the nature of the case, would be equally prevented from continuing the negotiations. Therefore, arbitration is ended, and the opportunity for accommodation will be lost unless some mutual understanding, modifying the point of indirect losses, is arrived at. The English Government having positively refused to pay the gross sum for all damages, a proposition of that nature cannot now be advanced; but should the American Government renew its own proposition, made on March 8, 1870, in the protocol, it could be arranged on the basis that England pay the highest sum named by America—thirty million dollars in gold.

Mr. Thornton, the British Minister at Washington, apprehends no difficulty between the United States and Great Britain. He believes that everything will be satisfactorily adjusted.

EX-CONGRESSMAN STOKES has been convicted of receiving $10,000 for engineering the passage of the bill through Congress to pay for the services of a company of scouts in Tennessee, represented as comprising 102 men, when there were not over 30. This was the second trial, the indictment being based on the act of Congress of 1853, which provides that any Congressman acting as an agent for the claimants and receiving compensation thereof, shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor, punishable by fine or imprisonment. Stokes' two accomplices turned State's evidence and will escape. Nine letters from Stokes to the parties in Tennessee, and full of the most direct and damaging confessions, were put in by Strochmeyer, one of his partners in the fraud, showing that Stokes and Powell not only aided in presenting the claims at the department but in their fabrication, and knew from the outset that they were fraudulent. The evidence was so conclusive that Stokes's counsel submitted the case without argument. Imprisonment in the penitentiary will probably be imposed.

STATE AID TO RELIGION IN NEW YORK.—Statistics just gathered by the council of political reform show that out of seventy-three private charitable institutions located in New York city, under control of religious denominations, receiving public aid to the aggregate amount of $688,084, fifty-five are Roman Catholic, to whom the appropriations amount to the enormous proportion of $641,433, leaving only about $47,000 to the Protestant institutions, of which the Protestant Episcopal receive the largest share, namely, $20,516. It also appears that out of the one hundred and sixteen private charitable institutions in other cities of the State, under control of religious denominations and receiving State aid, one hundred and ten Roman Catholic obtain as appropriation $240,332 of the whole amount—$250,054—leaving to the Protestant institutions about $10,000, of which the Baptists obtained the largest share—$7211. In New York city one hundred and twelve Roman Catholic church schools, with 52,000 pupils, are aided by the State, while of the Protestant sects there are only sixteen schools, with about 6000 pupils, thus aided, of which the Episcopal embrace 4650. One Catholic institution, the Protectory for Destitute Children, obtained last year $240,000 from the State.

Political.

Judge Van Trump of the Ku-Klux committee has completed his report upon the investigations into State affairs in South Carolina. He does not deny the existence and outrages of the order, but charges the responsibility of its establishment upon the corrupt State government, which made self-protection a necessity.

The St. Louis Republican (Democratic), in defending its pet project, "passivism," from the attacks of the Bourbon press, says that the platform of passivism "is not simple opposition to President Grant," but rather "opposition to the dominant party—and so extreme an opposition to that party as to be Democratic in its spirit, texture and words." These admissions show that this Missouri movement is not leveled solely against the present Administration, but proposes to undermine the foundations of the Republican party. How large a proportion of the Republican party will take stock in "passivism?"

FEARFUL MASSACRE.—A Lisbon dispatch says Rio Janerio dates to Jan. 22 are at hand. A recent outbreak of fanaticism in the town of Zundel, in the Argentine States, resulted in a fearful massacre. The Gauchos, excited to by a frenzy man named Salune, made attack on the foreigners in the place. The latter, taken by surprise, were unable to defend themselves and before the authorities could stop the slaughter, 36 were killed. The assassins were then attacked by the troops. They fled, but were pursued, and 16 were shot, and 24 taken prisoners.

REV. DR. W. A. CUMMINGS, of South Carolina, will lecture in Tremont Temple, Boston, on Monday evening next, on the Ku-Klux Klan of the South. He will appear in the disguise which they use, give the constitution, by-laws and oaths of the klan, a full description of their methods of attack, and of the atrocious crimes they commit upon Republicans and freedmen.

PURE MILK is so scarce in Boston that an association has been formed having for its object the supplying of its members with that article at a reasonable price. Rev. Edward Everett Hale was chairman at the first meeting.

STOKES, the murderer of James Fisk, Jr., has succeeded in filling the jury to try the legality of the grand jury which indicted him.

A MATTER OF COURSE.—We read that "the foreign element in Illinois is organizing in opposition to the new liquor law, which makes the liquor-sellers and the proprietors of shops where liquor is sold responsible for the damage done by intoxicated persons." It is needless to say that the foreign element is unanimously Democratic. But we suppose if our Temperance friends were in Illinois, they would throw their votes indirectly with that same foreign element, to punish the Republican party for not executing the law as well as passing it, or some other fancied grievance. Seriously, Temperance men, do you need to be reminded that the Democratic party, with its paupers, roughs, and drunkards, is everywhere and always the Rum party, and that all the practical temperance there is in politics is, and always has been, in the Republican party?—Monitor.

—An amusing story is told of the gentleman who is to be chief marshal of the procession of Irish societies on St. Patrick's day, Mr. John T. Bamrick. At a late hour on the night the selection was made, a self-constituted delegation crossed Charles River to Charlestown, where Mr. Bamrick lives, for the purpose of congratulating that gentleman upon the honor done to him, and, of course, without the least idea of obtaining something substantial in the way of entertainment. Arriving at Mr. Bamrick's residence they found the house closed for the night, but they rang the door-bell, shouted in the yard, and made considerable noise, until the window was raised and a voice proceeding from a projected head inquired the cause of the disturbance. "Mr. Bamrick," said the spokesman of the party, "we have come to tell you that you are this night chosen chief marshal of St. Patrick's day." "AM I?" said Mr. Bamrick, and the window went down with a slam, leaving the volunteer committee to consider whether they had made much out of their journey after all.—Boston Advertiser.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

PRO BONO PUBLICO, is a motto "more honored in the breach than in the observance," but attached to Holloway's Pills and Ointment it is significant of their value throughout the civilized world. For the cure of asthma, coughs, colds, cutaneous eruptions, and bankrupt constitutions, they are the sheet anchor of the sick.

We notice in one of our exchanges this week the statement of Drs. John Hodgkins, of South Jefferson, Me., whose son was cured of incipient consumption by the use of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. We refer to this at this time as tending to corroborate the statement we made last week in relation to this Liniment as applied to consumption.

If Congress had employed as much scientific skill in the arrangement of its "Reconstruction Policy" at the close, as the War Department did in the beginning of the war, in arranging for the manufacture of what was called Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders for the use of the Cavalry horses, no doubt the Union would have been restored long ago.—Exchange.

OLD PREJUDICES ARE DYING OUT.—New facts are killing them. The idea that invalids weakened by disease can be relieved by prostrating them with destructive drugs, is no longer entertained except by monomaniacs. Ever since the introduction of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS it has been obvious that their regulating and invigorating properties are all-sufficient for the cure of chronic indigestion, rheumatism, constipation, diarrhœa, nervous affections, and malarious fevers, and they are now the standard remedy for these complaints in every section of the Union.

YEAS AND NEIGHS.—If horses could makes themselves understood in human language, they would signify by a universal "Yea," their assent to the statement that the MUSTANG LINIMENT is the best remedy extant for all these external ailments, and by a most emphatic "Neigh!" show their displeasure at every attempt to use any other preparation in its stead. Ever since its introduction at St. Louis, at the close of the Mexican War, in 1849, it has proved a signal blessing to horse and man—curing, with absolute certainty and wonderful despatch, such equine diseases as spavin, ringbone, poll evil, scratches, hoofail, &c., and relieving and finally removing the painful affections which attack the muscles, sinews and external glands of human beings. It is a fact beyond contradiction that for all injuries or complaints of man or quadrupeds to which an external remedy is applicable, the MUSTANG LINIMENT is preferable to every other.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

All the Year Round,

And in all parts of the world, the elements of disease are present in the air, the soil and the water, in a greater or less degree, and therefore the Great Vegetable Antidote to these invisible enemies of health, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is invaluable as a household medicine at all seasons and in every latitude. At no period of the year is a regulating and corrective medicine more needed than toward the close of winter, when the sun and rain are beginning to break up the winter blockade, and from the softening soil arises that terrible miasma, which weighs like an incubus upon the vital machinery, and depresses the animal spirits. It is then that the seeds of intermittent and remittent fevers, of rheumatism and rheumatic gout, of obstinate stomach complaints, of disorders of the liver and bowels, and a whole host of pulmonary and nervous complaints are sown.

The best, the surest way to prevent this disastrous seeding is to invigorate and refresh the system with a course of the Bitters. If this precaution be taken now, there will be no danger of the miasmatic germs taking roots in the fluids and tissues of the body, and bringing forth terrible fruit in the spring. Now is the time for prevention. Remember that vigor is the only safeguard against the virus of disease, and that Hostetter's Bitters is the purest, the safest, the most powerful and perfect invigorant ever administered, either as protective medicine or a remedy. A change of season approaches which almost always proves more or less disastrous to persons of a weak, nervous organization. Brace up at once with the leading Tonic of the age. Purge from the blood all morbid matter, strengthen the nerves, and regulate and purify the secretions with the Vegetable Elixir, which combines the juices of the finest medicinal roots, herbs and barks, with the most wholesome of all diffusive stimulants.

On Tuesday evening, Feb. 13, at about 8 o'clock, a small house and barn on Brau Boat Harbor Road, Kittery Point, Me., were burned, probably by an incendiary, as the house was unoccupied. The buildings belonged to Mr. George Bowdoin of York, Me.; loss $700; insured in the Union Co. of Bangor for $400. The light from this fire was made the occasion of an attempt to get up an alarm in this city, but the attempt failed.

Mr. A. Pearson, who has taught music in Portsmouth for the last eighteen years, faithfully and successfully, still offers his services as teacher of Organ, Pianoforte, Harmony and Vocalization, according to the most approved methods. Mr. Pearson's reputation as a thorough and painstaking instructor has been so well established among patrons and pupils during his long practice in his profession here, that any commendation from us would be superfluous.

Tuesday, Feb. 27, is assigned for hearing the petitioners for the consolidation of the Eastern and Boston & Maine Railroads, by the Committee on Railways of the Massachusetts legislature.

Schooner Osier, Captain Lane, sailed from this port, Tuesday, Feb. 13th, and returned next day with a cargo of haddock which at 4 cts. per lb. brought $473. The entire cargo was sent to Boston. The Osier carries ten men, and if our information as above is correct they made a very good day's work; four cents per lb. seems to be an unusually high price for fresh haddock, but the Lenten season may account for it.

By particular request of many citizens, Prof. Martyn will repeat the grand concert which created so great a sensation last week, on Monday evening next, Feb. 19, at the Temple, with an entire change of programme. The Temple will scarce hold the many who wish to see and hear Mr. and Mrs. Martyn.

Mark Scott, a boy employed at Marvin Bros. & Bartlett's cod liver oil factory, had a narrow escape Wednesday. A large bottle fell from the fourth story window of the adjoining building, striking the rim of his hat and smashing to atoms at his feet.

Our local Democratic cotemporary, referring to the meeting of the Chairman of the Republican State Committee with the Portsmouth Ward Committees on Monday evening, the 12th, says "rumor says that it was a council of war indeed, and that all attempts to bring about harmony and peace were futile. Curiously enough, the diurnal organ of ex-office-holders did not mention Mr. Rollins' visit." If "rumor" says the council was one of war, then rumor "calmly lies," as the meeting was not only enthusiastic but entirely harmonious; and if William means that long-legged name to indicate the CHRONICLE, he does just as rumor does—for we published an account of Mr. Rollins' visit and its object on the morning after he was here.

"Don't find so much local news in the paper as I like—don't seem to be so lively as 'tis sometimes; what's the matter, lately?" That was the way a subscriber saluted us one morning recently; and we now answer him,—that we are very sorry, but don't see how it can be helped unless somebody (our querist, for instance,) will exhibit a little enterprise—commit a burglary or an aggravated assault or something, in which event Judge Page will make things "lively" enough to suit him and we shall have great pleasure in giving him an extended notice in our columns. We counsel no wrong-doing; but if anybody around here has already formed a resolution to break into a bank, we beg leave to suggest that delays are dangerous and procrastination is the thief of time.

A LEARNED COUNSEL.—Shortly after Iowa was admitted into the Union, Congress organized the United States District Court for the State. The first appointees, both Judge and District Attorney, were at the time of their appointment remarkably "innocent of the law"—the first being a recent importation from the Old Dominion, who a long since was called to appear before a higher tribunal, and the latter, one who has since become one of the ablest and most successful practitioners in the State.

Soon after the organization of the Court, an old settler was indicted for selling liquor to the Indians, and on his trial, which took place on the 8th of January, was defended by old Gil F—in a speech which some of those who heard it ought to embalm in the editor's Drawer of Harper. In summing up, old Gil—who carries the most sarcastic tongue in his head that ever crossed the Father of Waters—repeatedly alluded to the District Attorney as "my learned friend, the Attorney for the Government," and the latter, construing the phrase as reflecting on his professional acquirements, called old Gil to order several times, and finally asked the Court to protect him from the insults of the counsel. Whereupon the Judge straightened himself up and remarked that he didn't see any occasion for so much sarcasm.

"But, your Honor," said the defendant's counsel, "I am not aware that I have used any sarcastic language toward my learned friend, the Attorney for the Government."

"There," broke out the Judge, "that's just it. You are continually ringing the changes on your learned friend, and I see no occasion for it."

"But, your Honor," says Gil, "I do not mean to be sarcastic. When I speak of my learned friend, the Attorney for the Government, I mean in sober truth precisely what I say;" and opening the statute organizing the Court, he read that "some person learned in the law shall be appointed Judge, and that some other person learned in the law shall be appointed District Attorney."

"So your Honor will perceive," he continued, "that my learned friend, the Attorney for the Government is learned, not simply in the sense in which my brethren of the bar are learned, but he is made learned by express Act of Congress."

The Attorney for the Government subsided, and the Judge settled so far down in his seat that he disappeared from sight, and old Gil's client thereafter sold whiskey to the Indians without the fear of prosecution before his eyes.

SOLIDIFICATION OF BLOOD IN THE BODY, that is, the conversion of blood into the solid parts of the body goes on only during sleep. The chief end, indeed, and object and intention of sleep, would seem to be the final assimilation of our food—this solidification of blood into the several parts of the body. The accomplishment of this miraculous change seems to have required the perfect concentration of all the energies of the system upon itself. It seems to have required that the attention, if I may speak so, of the brain and nervous system should not be distracted by any other object. It seems to have required that everything, both within and without the body, should be hushed into profound repose during the accomplishment of this mighty wonder, in order that nothing might disturb or interfere with the exquisite and miraculous process employed to effect it. To this end, the portals of sensation are closed—the eye sees not, the ears hear not, the skin feels not, the very breathing is scarcely audible, the pulsation of the heart scarcely perceptible; all the living energies are now concentrated into the greatest possible intensity, like rays of light into a focus; and directed, with almost complete exclusiveness, toward this simple object.

In the day, therefore, we make blood; in the night, that blood is converted into solid matter. In the day, we garner up the building materials; in the night, we repair the building. The hour of rising, therefore, ought to be at the hour at which our physical strength is the greatest; and with healthy persons this is the case. The languor which perfectly healthy persons feel in the morning arises from the process of repairing not having been fully accomplished; the building not having been repaired, and therefore its strength has not been restored. The apparent additional strength which is felt, during the day, after eating, is only apparent; it is merely excitement.

THE BROCK SWINDLE.—Mr. Henry J. Brock, the head of the Boston commercial agency which swindled so many of its employes a few weeks ago, has published a statement in the Advertiser to the effect that his intentions were perfectly honorable, but that his failure was caused by circumstances over which he had no control. When he discovered that the end was near, he concluded to visit his family in Canada, where he now is. He is willing to return to Boston if his presence will be of benefit to his creditors. According to his statement his failure does not appear to have been inconsistent with honest intentions at the start, but rather to have resulted from an attempt to do too large a business on a limited capital, while the necessity for deserting his clerks, leaving them unpaid and without money enough to reach their homes, was dishonorable.

—The question of etiquette which has arisen in Salt Lake City is an amusing one. Brigham Young sent an invitation to the members of the embassy to call on him, but this invitation was declined, because "Japanese etiquette required Mr. Young to call on them first." This places the Mormon prophet in a painful dilemma, inasmuch as he is a prisoner under charge of murder, and guarded in his own house by the United States marshal.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are so new we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds the sewing done in this country, and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.
N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

Morning Chronicle.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?—Charles—and Harry——stood chatting in the corner of a ball room.

"So, Charlie," said the latter, "your little Ellen got safe to New York; I saw her there last week, looking like a beauty."

"I dare say," returned Charles, "for I hear Osborne is so happy in his new possession that he spares no expense to set her off to the best advantage."

"'Tis true enough, and I sometimes wonder how you made up your mind to part with her."

"Oh! I'm going to be married, you know, and young ladies don't tolerate any rivals near the throne. In fact, I expect to find happiness enough at home."

"Ah! very fine; but I should not wonder if, before long, you were for getting your beauty back again."

"May be," said Charles, shrugging his shoulders; "nous verrons."

And so they separated—while a lovely girl, who had approached behind, unseen, and had been an involuntary listener, hastily retreated. The next morning produced the following correspondence:

No. 1. I take an early opportunity to request that our engagement may be considered at an end from this time. Your principles would destroy all chance of happiness with you, even if the insulting manner in which you allowed yourself to refer to our connection were not sufficient to produce the resolution I have communicated. JULIA.

No. 2. I am entirely at a loss to comprehend the meaning of your note, and until you can give me a clear idea of what I am accused it is impossible for me to defend myself. I await your reply. CHARLES.

No. 3. You ask my meaning. Ah! Charles, you add hypocrisy to your faults. If your conscience does not accuse you, perhaps it may be enough to mention to you the name Osborne. JULIA.

No. 4. I am more than ever puzzled. I never spoke to Mr. Osborne but once, and that was when I sold him my yacht. Pray let me know what you mean. CHARLES.

No. 5. Your yacht? and her name Ellen? Oh! dearest Charles! what a fool I have been! Come to me, directly; and I'll tell you—I can't write it. Your own JULIA.

—A woman in Michigan lately deserted her family and went to Detroit, where she took service as a common domestic in a respectable family. She had had a cheerful home, kind husband, three children, and was herself above reproach. After a long search she was discovered. On being asked for an explanation of her behavior, she freely gave it. She dreaded her carelessness and extravagance would bring her family to poverty, and resolved, by going away, to relieve her husband and children from the chance of such a misfortune. It is said there exists no ground for this self-accusation, and that there has never been the least question of the lady's soundness of mind. She was persuaded to go home, but not to abandon her strange idea.

—A ship-captain at Charleston lodged two of his crew in the detective office, so that they would be at hand at his departure. The tars did not want to go to sea in the vessel, and resorted to a method which turned the captain's device against him. They were put in one of the cells of the office and succeeded in barring the door inside, so that it could not be opened on the day when the vessel was ready to sail. The consequence was she had to go without them. When they go', so pressed by hunger that they could not endure it any longer, they unbarred the door and were released, as they could not be held any longer.

—The recent attempt to arouse the ignorant natives in China against the missionaries, by disseminating the report that they were distributing "poison," seems to have overshot the mark. Even the most ignorant of the populace are shrewd enough to see that the foreigners are their true friends. Their argument is, "We want no war with foreigners, for ever since foreigners imported rice into China we have had cheap rice and no famine." And again; "yes, all foreigners are bad, and inclined to ruin China; and our Emperor and most of his officials are foreigners, too."

—A party of young Florentines were discussing at a restaurant the trick of sword-swallowing, which they had just seen performed at a theatre by a Chinese juggler. One of them thought it very simple, and to illustrate, put a fork down his throat. The instrument slipped from his hands, and in spite of the frantic attempts of his friends to pull it out, down it went to his stomach, where it remained at last accounts. He was taken to the hospital of St. Maria, and he become at once the most interesting patient within its walls.

—Some four hundred workmen who applied to a sub contractor on the Vineyard Sound Railway in response to an advertisement in a Boston paper, for fifty men, were informed that he only wanted four. He finally hired nine and the 391 unsuccessful ones are somewhat excited over the fellow's conduct.

—A Southern Democratic paper heads the bill to secure equal privileges for colored people with white people in all public places, thus: "A bill to promote and induce the killing of negroes." No wonder there are Ku-Klux in sections where such newspapers flourish.

—A banquet in honor of the Japanese embassy was given at Salt Lake City Tuesday evening.

—The British and American mixed commission has adjourned until March 20.

CATARRH
Cannot be cured by snuffs, washes or local applications. It is a weakness of the constitution, developing itself in the nasal organ first, afterwards extending to throat and lungs, ending generally in Consumption, if not checked by proper remedies. Pains in head, back, loins, and weakness of kidneys, are its attendant diseases. More people have Catarrh than any other disease. It is easily cured. Thousands of cases, some of twenty-five years' standing, have been entirely cured in New Hampshire the past two years by the Constitutional Catarrh Remedy. Certificates to back the above can be seen upon application to LITTLEFIELD & HAYES, proprietors and druggists, Manchester, N. H. Price, $1 per bottle.

Epilepsy or Fits.
A SURE CURE for this distressing complaint is now made known in a Treatise (of 48 octavo pages) on Fevers and Native Herbal Preparations, published by Dr. O. PHELPS BROWN. This discovery by him was discovered by him in such a providential manner that he cannot conscientiously refuse to make it known, as it has cured everybody who has used it for Fits, never having failed in a single case. The ingredients may be obtained from any druggist. A copy sent free to all applicants by mail. Address Dr. O. PHELPS BROWN, 76 Grand Street, Jersey City, N. J.

CURE FOR
FEMALE WEAKNESS.
The Proprietor of this valuable Medicine, while suffering from ill-health for upwards of twenty years, received an Indian recipe, from which she prepared some for her own use, which resulted in a cure. Many of her friends have used it with equally gratifying success, and have urged her to introduce it to the public. She has consented, for the relief of suffering humanity to do so, and feels confident it will prove one of the richest blessings to her sex. This is an internal remedy—entirely vegetable—will not injure the most delicate constitution, but is compact and portable, as supporters are not used under any consideration, nor the application of Caustic. It will eradicate all Humors, and Liver and Bowels, in most cases, of great suffering. Its renovating effects are extraordinary, without a change in diet, as hundreds will testify. Three bottles will convince the most skeptical of its surprising properties. Its effects are wonderful in the Relief and Cure of the following diseases: Prolapsus or Falling of the Womb, Debility, Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of Heart, Depression of Spirits, Irregularity of the Menses, Pain in the Side, Dropsical Affections, Biliousness, Inflammation of the Kidneys, &c. Prepared and sold by MRS. LINUS BELLER, Randolph, Mass. Send for Circular. Sold by all Druggists, at $1.00 per bottle.

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!
DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS.
Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.
WHAT ARE THEY!
THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Root and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.
For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.
DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.
They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.
FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.
PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.
FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. Send for a circular.
They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. Iyrdawfob

The Chronicle.

A BRUTAL FATHER.—The Memphis Appeal tells the following story of neglect and brutality: A person who farms it for a living, some distance from the city, rode in a spring wagon into town recently bringing with him a little son. After figuring around for an hour or two, doing worldly business, he pulled up in front of a grocery in the suburbs and went in to refresh and comfort himself, leaving the boy to take care of the horse. The man met some companions indoors with whom he set about becoming convivial, as is the custom of those who congregate in suburban groceries. Time sped on, and the boy in the wagon became numbed with the cold and fell into a stupor. The "lines" dropped from his fingers, and the horse walked off. When it was time to disperse from the grocery, the excellent father and feeling parent could find neither wagon nor boy. He spent the whole evening looking for them in the city, and was going home in a half-crazed state, when he met his trusty colored man riding in for a doctor, saying the boy "Tommy was frozen to death." The horse had walked home, and the stiff child was found still sitting in his seat.

—In a civil suit in the Albany circuit court, a few days ago, on the plaintiff taking the stand, it was stated that he was the person employed at Troy to remove small-pox cases to the pest-house. One of the jurors, who had been looking very sharply at him, opened wide his mouth at this statement, and, with a suppressed ejaculation of surprise and horror, forgot the proprieties of the occasion, jumped from his seat and hurriedly left the court-room, amid the laughter of the court. There being no jury present the case was put over the term.

—An Englishman has invented a new method of lighting houses with coal oil, being simply to have an oil-tank at the top of the house, with pipes to convey the non-explosive to all the lamps about the building. It is suggested that one effect of this plan will be to reduce the number of widows and orphans, as the whole family would go together in case of an explosion.

—The fact that over six hundred personal applications, mostly by girls between fifteen and twenty, were made in one afternoon lately at the Grand Opera House, New York, to fill places in the ballet of a new spectacular play, is noted as an evidence of a fearful lack of employment among the girls of that city.

—Somebody has invented a bunghole for beer barrels to prevent revenue frauds. There is but one sort of hole that will effectually prevent frauds and that was invented when the first man was buried.

FACES ON THE WALL.

BY HARRIET BEECHER STOWE,
AUTHOR OF "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN," "MY WIFE AND I," ETC.

Once there was a very good little girl, who, by reason of her goodness, knew where to find strawberries in the winter. In the same way less perfect people, blessed by the generous fairies of memory and imagination, may sit, as I do now, in the midst of falling leaves and whistling winds, and call back the green grasses and the summer sun. I see yonder in the glen, the darling of our house, the gold gleam in her brown hair, a chain of daisies in her hand, and in her eyes the roguish meditation of a kitten, weary for an instant only of its play, and thinking style of another spring. Thrown back upon the velvet grass, she is not resting, only pausing from her bright glances to the tips of her tiny fingers she is wide awake.

But now the merry play is over, and our pet nestles yonder on the sofa cushion, tired at last in earnest. Slowly the tide fall, and the lingering smile dies out; but the flush in cheek and lip remains, like the glow after sunset. The gathered buttercups and daisies are loosely held by the fair little hand; no shadows, even of dream-land, disturb the sweet brow's perfect peace. She is fast asleep.

In other words, two chromos hang upon the wall, bewitching child-heads, in which every mother sees something of her own dear ones, never grown old, and never lost to her, however time or death may have dealt with them.

Nothing pleases more at first sight or gives pleasure longer than poetical pictures of children. "The little child" whom Jesus sets in the midst of every family is a joy that grows not old and fades not.

"Age cannot wither, custom cannot stale
Its infinite variety."

For this reason a happy picture of a child brings an enjoyment more lasting than any other, because it is a subject of which no one ever tires.

But these pictures, besides their constant charm for grown folks, are such as children can understand and love. Our little "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep" would give many a pleasant hour of companionable amusement and intercourse to the little people akin to them in age. The pictures that children's eyes rest on as they are dropping off to sleep, or as they awake in the morning, seem to them like living friends. All sorts of childish dreams and fancies make of the pictured face a real companion. Not only in the parlor and sitting-room would they be an attractive and fitting embellishment, but they are a charming pair for the adornment of a nursery.

Undoubtedly these two pictures are portraits. There is a realistic faithfulness and truth about them that forbids the idea of their being fancy heads. They will remind many parents of little ones either here or in heaven. Dickens says of his portraiture of little Nell that he has had letters from the farthest region of the earth speaking of children who resembled her—so dear, and so early taken! He who paints one child well, paints thousands, and speaks to the tenderest feelings of innumerable hearts.

Of course there is a pleasure in possessing an original painting; but when the question lies between an original at five hundred dollars and a chromo which can scarcely be distinguished from it, at ten dollars—particularly when one has not the five hundred to spare—the choice is not very difficult. As to these two exquisite chromos, only a critical examination can distinguish between the copies and the originals, which sold for many hundreds—which is certainly more than can be said of the best copies of most pictures painted by the best artists.

Blessings upon the chromo-lithography, by which the successful painting of a master can be reproduced indefinitely, and can enter thousands of homes with its educating, quickening, reforming influences!

It is not alone into the dwellings of the great and wealthy that we follow this pretty pair with anticipations of delight. We see them in the cottages of the poor, in the log cabin of the backwoodsman, brightening the toil of the hard-worked wife and mother, and receiving the almost adoring wonder of children who have never seen pictures before.

God bless the darlings—send the little comforters fast and far!

The charming pair of oil chromos, "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," of whose real beauty and attractiveness Mrs. Stowe's grace'ul sketch can give but an imperfect idea—so pleasing are they to all who love art or children—have always sold in the picture stores for $10, and the original publisher has never been able to supply the great demand for them even at that price. And yet, although thousands of them have been sold in America at that high rate, they are now within the reach of all, for they are to every subscriber to THE CHRISTIAN UNION, an unsectarian, literary, religious and domestic weekly newspaper, edited by HENRY WARD BEECHER.

The pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished to Mr. Beecher's publishers at a rate entirely exceptional. The subjects are LIFE-SIZE.

As to the CHRISTIAN UNION, the great success of that paper has been a marvel in the history of journalism, and the scholarly and critical New York Nation calls it "not only the ablest and best, but also the most popular of American religious periodicals."

This paper, hereafter will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, a decided advantage possessed by no other religious weekly published. It contains contributions from eminent writers of all denominations, and has matter of interest for every member of the household, young and old. For the year 1872, Mrs. HARRIET BEECHER STOWE will write exclusively for the CHRISTIAN UNION.

It has something for every member of the household—father, mother, boys and girls, youngmen and young women, all find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles, discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects; much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems, Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones, one of the chief attractions being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

The terms of subscription to this paper are: For one year ONLY $3.00. This will entitle the subscriber to the paper and to the above pair of beautiful Oil Chromos. THE CHRISTIAN UNION, Illustrated Holiday Number, (32 p. p.) will be sent FREE to all who now subscribe for the year 1872.

Send money in postal orders, drafts, or registered letters direct to the Publishers.

SPECIMEN COPIES of the paper will be mailed FREE of postage to any address on receipt of six cents by J. B. Ford & Co., Publishers, 27 Park Place, New York. For full particulars, see advertisement in the next column, headed "Why?"

WHY?
What is the reason that the Literary, Religious, and Domestic Weekly, started two years ago, namely,
THE CHRISTIAN UNION,
should have so suddenly achieved a success that makes all newspaper men wonder?
Reasons Why!
1st. HENRY WARD BEECHER is its Editor, of whom the Chicago Interior said "Probably no man on this continent sways so many minds, or is doing so much to shape religious thought for the next half century." His vigorous pen in Editorials and Star Papers, and Mr. Ellinwood's famed verbatim reports of his helpful Lecture-Room Talk in Plymouth Church, are an attraction to thousands of readers, who always want to know what he thinks on religious themes and the topics of the times. He is also assisted by an able editorial staff.
2d. It Is Unsectarian in Religion, Independent in Political Discussion, and devoted to Morals, Reform, Home and Foreign News—both in church matters and the world at large, Literature, Science, Art, Music, Agriculture, Trade, Finance, etc., etc., with contributions from eminent writers of all denominations—in all parts of the country.
3d. IT HAS SOMETHING FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE HOUSEHOLD—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, all find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects, much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems, Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones, one of the chief attractions being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.
4th. It Admits no Medical or other possibly objectionable advertisements nor anything to offend the purest and most fastidious, and is therefore a favorite family paper.
5th. ITS FORM TWENTY-FOUR PAGES. Large Quarto, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, is so convenient for reading, binding, and preservation as to be a great special merit in its favor, apart from its superior literary attraction.
6th. A superb WORK OF ART IS GIVEN AWAY TO EVERY SUBSCRIBER AND THE SUBSCRIPTION PRICE IS
Only Three Dollars per Year.
SPECIAL
Attractions for 1872!
GIVEN AWAY!
1. TWO CHARMING AND POPULAR WORKS OF ART.
"WIDE AWAKE & FAST ASLEEP."
Two Exquisite French Oil Chromos, the subjects of which are Life Size, and cannot fail to please all who love art or children.
Are GIVEN AWAY to every subscriber for 1872, whether it be a New Subscription or a Renewal! These Chromos are no cheap colored prints, but are splendid copies of Oil Paintings, by an eminent English artist, fully equal for their size (15x12) to any chromo ever published. The subjects are life size, and they, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished at a rate entirely exceptional. So that, although thousands of them have been sold in America at $10, and still are and will be sold at that price by the picture trade generally, they can be given to subscribers.
A MOSAIC.
WHAT THE PRESS SAYS:
Two very good chromos are "Wide Awake" and "Fast Asleep," [1] which have few rivals in the market for attractiveness [2]—fresh, sweet and blooming child-face [3] executed with true French skill [4]. We have rarely seen anything prettier than the two pictures, which, [5] both in color and sentiment are really beautiful [6]—worthy of a place in costly homes [7]. Unlike nine pictures out of ten that cost a good deal more, one can look at them day after day and not tire of them [8]. We have often stopped amid the bustle of Broadway to look at them, and never without feeling happier and better [7]. They cannot fail to please all who love art or children [8].

MANHOOD
IN THE
Young and Rising Generation.
The vegetable powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show their baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body, too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwardly upon themselves.
If the patient be a female the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it is fed on. The energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain. The parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.
TRY HELMBOLD'S
EXTRACT BUCHU
For Weakness Arising from Excesses or Early Indiscretion,
attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such Patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for fear of themselves; no repose of matter, no earnestness, no speculation, but a hurried transition from one question to another.
THESE SYMPTOMS, IF ALLOWED TO GO ON—WHICH THIS MEDICINE INVARIABLY REMOVES — SOON FOLLOW LOSS OF POWER, FATUITY AND EPILEPTIC FITS, IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.
During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients. Reason has for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.
Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths of Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibitions appear. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute; neither mirth nor grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.
"With woful measures wan despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguile."
While we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1872.

WASHINGTON MATTERS.—In the Senate, Feb. 14, the Indian appropriation bill, with amendments, was reported. There was a very long discussion upon the resolution for an investigation concerning the alleged furnishing of arms to the French government. Senator Wilson, chairman of the committee on military affairs, explained that a large quantity of arms was sold by authority of Congress between 1865 and 1871, but never knowingly to an agent of France. No action was taken upon the resolution.

In the House, appropriations of $100,000 for an addition to the Indianapolis post-office, of $300,000 for a custom-house at Hartford, and of $300,000 for site for government buildings in Cincinnati, were made. The army appropriation bill of $29,548,797, was reported; of this amount, $12,000,000 are for the pay of the army and the payment of discharged soldiers; $120,000 for sea-coast cannon and carriages, etc.; $150,000 for the manufacture of arms at the national armory.

The naval appropriation bill was considered in committee of the whole. Mr. Banks of Massachusetts paid a high compliment to the navy and expressed the belief that the Secretary would reestablish the navy in the affections of the people. He condemned the system of bureaucracy and favoritism which until recently prevailed in the Navy Department, and read from a letter of the commander of the Kearsarge complaining of the system, and saying he had ceased to expect any attention to be paid to any request, chiefly because those who controlled affairs could not forget that he had sunk the Alabama. The present Secretary of the Navy, however, was for breaking up the bureau system.

Mr. Hibbard of New Hampshire moved an amendment providing against the employment of laborers in the navy yards for political motives and against their being subjected to political influence.

Mr. Butler of Massachusetts moved as a substitute for the Hibbard amendment a provision that mechanics and laboring men at the navy yards be selected by the heads of the various mechanical departments in the yards, without the interference of any naval officer. After discussion the substitute was adopted.

Mr. Cox of New York moved to amend the substitute by inserting Hibbard's amendment, slightly modified, and it was agreed to.

The House committee on naval affairs having agreed to report a bill for the construction of ten iron-clad steamships at a cost of three millions, Secretary Robeson and General Butler appeared before the committee on appropriations Wednesday, urging the necessary appropriations.

Secretary Robeson appeared before the House committee on appropriations in defence of the charges made in the debate on the naval appropriation bill that he had sold large amounts of the public property of whose proceeds he had made no return. He showed that the entire sales of ships and stores during his administration had amounted to only $219,000, and that every dollar of this sum had been promptly and properly paid into the Treasury.

A TERRIBLE STORM is reported from the West. A depatch from Sioux City, Iowa, says a fearful storm raged in that section on Monday afternoon and night. The mercury dropped 40 degrees in two hours. The wind blew a hurricane, accompanied by a blinding snow storm. Samuel Ellison, who was 11 miles out from the city, left for home at 4 o'clock P. M. with a team, and his body was found five miles out, next morning, frozen to death. Other deaths from the storm are reported, but there are no particulars. The trains on the Illinois Central Railroad are all snowed in. The weather is intensely cold. The thermometer was 18 degrees below. Owing to the prostration of the telegraph nothing further has been heard in relation to the reported freezing of Spotted Tail and his band, but the report is generally credited at Cincinati. A St. Paul (Minn.) dispatch says the severest storm of wind and snow this winter occurred there on Monday night. The mercury remained below zero all day, and the velocity of the wind was twenty miles an hour. The railroads west of that place are all blockaded. It is feared that the Canadian surveying party under Colonel McVale, numbering about twenty-five, which left Duluth in open boats for the north of Lake Superior about a month ago, have perished. They were last heard from January 24, making for Isle Royal. The lake was full of ice and a storm then prevailing.

THE SNOW BLOCKADE.—The Union Pacific Railroad furnish a statement of the difficulties encountered this winter, in which they say that the ranche men, who have lived on the mountains for the last twenty-five years, say that nothing like the present winter has occurred in that time, considering the depth of the snow, the duration of the intense cold or violence and frequency of the storms. For such a winter the road was not prepared, but after an examination of the situation of the road, it is thought that the road can, during next season, be prepared to pass trains promply during any future winter of even greater severity. Until the weather shall change and these storms cease, it is their expectation to run trains over the road by preceding them by a snow train and also with a train of provisions and coal sufficient for thirty days' supply By this means they expect to get trains through in ten or fifteen days, depending, of course, on the frequence and violence of the storms. No trains will be sent out without this supply. The road is now open from Omaha to Laramie, 572 miles, and from Washaki to Ogden, 228 miles. The obstructions are between Laramie and Washaki, embracing the division of the Central, being only 179 miles. There are now seven westward bound passenger trains detained near Separation, 29 miles from the western boundary of the blockade, and two east-bound passenger trains at Green River waiting until the westward bound trains shall pass the blockade. At various points along the road are about 800 westward bound cars of freight, and about 200 cars of eastward bound.

Political.

The West Virginia Constitutional Convention has adopted a bill defining the qualification of voters, which gives all citizens the right of suffrage with the ballot system of voting.

The Republican caucus of the Maine Legislature, on the 14th, unanimously endorsed Grant and Colfax as the first choice of the party in Maine, for President and Vice President.

THE QUEER TRIAL of the legality of the grand jury which indicted Stokes began in New York on the 14th. Unsuccessful efforts were made to stay proceedings and to quash the indictment. The case of the defence was presented and the examination of witnesses began. Stokes' lawyers, after finishing the trial of the grand jury, will gravely assure the petit jurors who will try the case that Fiskwas killed by a bullet from his own pistol. The ball that wounded him in the arm fits Stokes' pistol; that in the district-attorney's office, supposed to be the one that killed Fisk, does not. So says one of Stokes' lawyers.

MUCH NAMED.—The Boston Advertiser, in its report of the Boston & Albany Railroad Company's meeting, says, "the first eight named gentlemen were declared elected" as directors.

QUICK WORK.—The assassin of Lord Mayo, late governor-general of British India, has been tried, convicted, and sentenced to be hanged.

THE GRAND ECONOMY OF THE DEMOCRACY.—We have charged that the expenses of the State administration of the year now current, extending from June last, will be $25,000 in excess of last year's expenditures; that the Democracy, with their "grand economy," will expend that sum over the "great extravagance" of the Republican administration of Gov. Stearns.

We could not then give the exact figures, but now we have a six months' statement, and the result is an excess of $16,000 in six months, or at the rate of $32,000 a year. And the bills don't begin to be all paid that were contracted in that time.

Here are the figures:

From June to November the expenditures by the Treasurer's books, are	$84,964.88
Against the year preceding	68 342.09
Making an excess of	$16,622.79

Will the Union go again to Mr. Goodale for authority, and say it knows the books show a less expenditure? If the books do so show, the Treasurer don't report so for the first six months, and we regard Col. Cogswell as an honest man.

Let the Union come out and defend its party from the charge of squandering the people's money!—Mirror.

FUN IN A COURT ROOM.—On Wednesday the County Court room at White Plains, New York, was thrown into consternation by the advent of Jacob Tenler, a Peekskill Quaker, who marched in with his hat on and took a seat within the bar. Smith Reynolds, the court officer, who was at his post and sober, ordered Jacob to doff his hat. Jacob refused. Reynolds then knocked Jacob's hat off with his pole. The owner picked up his hat and put it on again. Reynolds collared him and forced him outside the railing. Jacob got his arms around a post and hugged it like a bear, yelling "Shoo Fly" at the top of his voice. Jacob was too much for Reynolds, who called for assistance. Supposing it was either a crazy or a drunken man, half a dozen officers went to Reynolds's aid, and after a severe tussle the old Quaker was ejected.

Jacob then went to Sheriff Brundage and demanded that his rights should be respected. The country, he said, was gone to the devil if a gentleman was to be treated in such a manner. The Sheriff told him to go up if he was a Quaker, and put on half a dozen hats if he liked.

Jacob thereupon tried it again, and Reynolds attempted to put him out. Jacob leaned against the wall and began to claw cat-fashion. Jacob's hat was knocked off some ten or fifteen times. The Quaker then mounted a bench and challenged the whole court to a knock down fight, offering to clean out the room for a small consideration. Reynolds, Harvey, Schofield, William Sillwell, and two or three other officers, went for him, and undertook to put him out again; but Jacob had his Quaker up, and instead of putting him out he put them out and locked the door. Jacob then went to Judge Gifford and asked permission to wear his hat. Permission was given. Jacob eulogistically said that they tried to make him take off his hat in Congress, a few weeks ago, but they failed, and he guessed he wasn't going to let a one-horse crowd around a country court-house perform a feat which they were unable to achieve in Washington.

THE WEATHER ON THE COAST.—Notwithstanding the pleasant weather of the past few days, our fishermen have been unable to reach the fishing grounds by reason of the heavy sea upon the bar. The storms which have been expending their force upon our shores, make the waters upon our coast exceedingly turbulent; and their roar is like unto that of Niagara, and at nightfall can be heard at a long distance from this city.—Newburyport Herald.

—A cautious old bachelor, who is aware that the present year is leap-year, says: "If you meet a young lady who is not very shy, you had better be a little shy yourself."

BUSINESS NOTICES.

PRO BONO PUBLICO, is a motto "more honored in the breach than in the observance," but attached to Holloway's Pills and Ointment it is significant of their value throughout the civilized world. For the cure of asthma, coughs, colds, cutaneous eruptions, and bankrupt constitutions, they are the sheet anchor of the sick.

We notice in one of our exchanges this week the statement of Dea. John Hodgkins, of South Jefferson, Me., whose son was cured of incipient consumption by the use of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. We refer to this at this time as tending to corroborate the statement we made last week in relation to this Liniment as applied to consumption.

If Congress had employed as much scientific skill in the arrangement of its "Reconstruction Policy" at the close, as the War Department did in the beginning of the war, in arranging for the manufacture of what was called Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders for the use of the Cavalry horses, no doubt the Union would have been restored long ago.—Exchange.

OLD PREJUDICES ARE DYING OUT.—New facts are killing them. The idea that invalids weakened by disease can be relieved by prostrating them with destructive drugs, is no longer entertained except by mesmerizers. Ever since the introduction of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS it has been obvious that their regulating and invigorating properties are all-sufficient for the cure of chronic indigestion, rheumatism, constipation, diarrhœa, nervous affections, and malarious fevers, and they are now the standard remedy for these complaints in every section of the Union.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

All the Year Round,

And in all parts of the world, the elements of disease are present in the air, the soil and the water, in a greater or less degree, and therefore the Great Vegetable Antidote to these invisible enemies of health, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is invaluable as a household medicine at all seasons and in every latitude. At no period of the year is a regulating and corrective medicine more needed than toward the close of winter, when the sun and rain are beginning to break up the winter blockade, and from the softening soil arises that terrible miasma, which weighs like an incubus upon the vital machinery, and depresses the animal spirits. It is then that the seeds of intermittent and remittent fevers, of rheumatism and rheumatic gout, of obstinate stomach complaints, of disorders of the liver and bowels, and a whole host of pulmonary and nervous complaints are sown.

The best, the surest way to prevent this disastrous seeding is to invigorate and refresh the system with a course of the Bitters. If this precaution be taken now, there will be no danger of the miasmatic germs taking roots in the fluids and tissues of the body, and bringing forth terrible fruit in the spring. Now is the time for prevention. Remember that vigor is the only safeguard against the virus of disease, and that Hostetter's Bitters is the purest, the safest, the most powerful and perfect invigorant ever administered, either as protective medicine or a remedy. A change of season approaches which almost always proves more or less disastrous to persons of a weak, nervous organization. Brace up at once with the leading Tonic of the age. Purge from the blood all morbid matter, strengthen the nerves, and regulate and purify the secretions with the Vegetable Elixir, which combines the juices of the finest medicinal roots, herbs and barks, with the most wholesome of all diffusive stimulants.

—The Cleveland Leader published "Bill Day in the House" as a head line to one of its Congressional reports, and was immediately called upon by Wm. Day, the city tax collector, who wanted to "smash" every editor in the office, and refused to be comforted.

—Ayer's tobacco factory at Sacramento, McLean county, Ohio, was burned, with 60,000 pounds of tobacco, recently. One Clark, who was arrested as the incendiary, was taken from his guards by masked men and found dead the next morning under a tree.

—Two men employed at a hardware store were engaged in putting up a stove for a lady. During a heavy lift one of them told the other to "spit on his hands," when both were nonplussed by the lady hastily exclaiming, "O, don't do that; here's a spittoon."

CAUTION.

THE immense demand for HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT, has tempted unprincipled parties to counterfeit these valuable medicines.

In order to protect the public and ourselves, we have issued a new "Trade Mark," consisting of an Egyptian circle of a serpent, with the letter H in the centre. Every box of genuine HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT will have this trade mark on it; none are genuine without it.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood,

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Laconics.

For sale—seven or eight hundred copperhead voters in this city; that is what the Democratic organ intimates. The same 'authority' claims that all the men hereabouts who are destitute of political principle will vote with the Democratic party this year,—which is doubtless true, as they have always done so in years past.

Many persons will be pleased to learn that the gentlemen who so successfully conducted the Masonic Ball last year—the most brilliant and enjoyable affair of the kind that has taken place in this city for many years—are taking the names of all brethern of the mystic tie who desire to attend another such Ball this year, and propose to get up one which shall if possible surpass the last.

Bidwell & Wilkinson's Dramatic Company had a large audience at the Temple, Thursday evening; and a new play, "The Pretty Panther," was presented in a manner to give general satisfaction. Dollie Bidwell of course taking the leading lady's part, and being well supported by the company. This evening Dollie will appear as Amry in "Little Barefoot," Charlie Wilkinson taking the character of Jemmy,—the performance to conclude with the farce of the "Limerick Boy." The entertainment afforded Thursday evening was such as to keep up the high character for good acting which the company has long enjoyed in this city.

Sagamore S. F. Engine Co., No. 2, with their honorary members and a large number of invited guests, including the Mayor, City Clerk, other members of the City Government and representatives of all the other fire companies, on Wednesday evening sat down to one of the clam chowders which the company are famous for getting up. The chowder was of course excellent; Sagamore's caterers and cooks have not yet managed to provide an inferior entertainment; and after the savory mess had been duly honored, lively and entertaining speeches were made by Mayor Walker, Hon. M. Bofford, Aldermen Marvin and Giddings, William H. Hackett, Esq., Chief Engineer Moore, U. S. N., Asst. Engineers Betton and Morrill of the Fire Department, and others. The company broke up shortly before midnight, after an evening of the pleasantest social enjoyment.

Kittery.

The sixth and closing lecture of the People's Lyceum will be delivered by Dr. George B. Loring of Salem, this (Friday) evening; subject, "American Society."

The Universatist Ladies' Aid Society realized upwards of $50 by their entertainment at Armory Hall Tuesday evening, which was a much larger sum than the most sanguine among them had anticipated. A fine and commodious parsonage is to be erected by the Universalists the coming summer. Their pastor elect, Rev. Alfred Day of Canton, N. Y., is spending the present month among his future charge. That "every laudable enterprise will find its friends," the success which has followed the building up of the Universalist Society in this place has forcibly demonstrated.

The erection of a Town Hall is the all absorbing topic of conversation among the people at the present time. The information promised on that subject by a correspondent of the CHRONICLE is looked for with much interest. *

THE EASTERN RAILROAD MEETING in the Melonaon at Boston, on Thursday, was attended by nearly a thousand persons, including a few lady stockholders. Eight or ten tickets were in circulation, variously headed "Railroad ticket," "Independent ticket," "Stockholders' ticket," "Reform ticket," (all Massachusetts men on the latter,) "Eastern Railroad, 1872," and one with no heading. President Brown called the meeting to order, and a motion was made to proceed to the election of Directors. A lively time ensued, and the claims of Lynn to be represented on the Board were warmly urged; Lynn politics were also discussed. Hon. Chas. L. Woodbury defended the old Board of Directors. John M. Clarke moved the previous question on the motion to proceed to a vote and appoint a committee of five to receive, sort and count votes. The President appointed the following committee: F. W. Choate, Charles Levi Woodbury, John B. Alley, John M. Clarke and Dr. Robert W. Harper. The voting then proceeded, the polls closing at 2 o'clock, P. M. At a late hour the counters had not got half through their duty, and the meeting adjourned to Monday, Feb. 19.

—The members of the party of the right in the French assembly have adopted a resolution declaring their unwillingness to fuse with the Orleanists of that body.

The Amoskeag Veterans of Manchester will celebrate their next anniversary in that city on the 22d instant. In the forenoon there will be a meeting of the members for the choice of officers, and there will be a grand ball in the evening at Smyth's Hall. Hall's band of Boston is engaged for the occasion. In the course of the evening the battalion and their invited guests will partake of a supper at the City Hotel. The battallion, which was established in 1855, to perpetuate the deeds and memory of the military heroes of the Revolution, has recently been re-organized and placed upon a permanent and substantial basis. A new and very beautiful uniform of the Continental pattern has been procured, and many new members have joined the corps, among whom are His Excellency Governor Weston; Hon. E. A. Straw, the Republican candidate for Governor; Hon. P. C. Cheney, Mayor of Manchester, and Phineas Adams, Esq., Agent of the Stark mills. Many distinguished military gentlemen and civilians belonging to various cities in this State, Massachusetts, Connecticut and elsewhere, will be present at the anniversary of the corps.

The frame of the mammoth addition to the Kearsarge House, at North Conway, is up, and the excavation on Sunset Bank for the station of the Great Falls & Conway Road is more than half out. The earth from thence is put into the lofty embankment which stretches across the intervale parallel to the main road, and within a few hundred feet of it. This bank makes an unsightly feature in the famous North Conway landscape.

—Mrs. Partington mentions the case of a minister who had "served the Lord for thirty years, first as a circus rider, then as a locust preacher, and at last as an exhauster."

—In a French court recently, as a witness was about to give his testimony, the advocate remarked: "I wish to remark to the court that this witness is entitled to entire confidence, as he has not had time to consult his lawyer."

—A section in the new Civil Code of California is so cleverly worded by the Revision Commissioners as to constitute a very sweeping divorce law. It reads: "All marriages of white persons, and negroes or mulattoes are illegal and void." The Indians and Heathen Chinee are the only persons legally married, according to that code.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are so new we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country, and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

UNDERDRAINING.

The drains may usually be best made at a general depth of four feet, and at intervals of 40 feet. The best direction for them to follow is straight down the steepest slope of the land—not obliquely down. It may be necessary to deviate a little from this course in order to preserve a tolerable uniformity of direction—that is, to make the lines as nearly parallel as a due observance of the steepest fall will allow. It is in deciding to what extent on irregular land the direct fall and the parallelism of the lines shall give way to each other that the greatest need for skilled superintendence exists. The parallel lines are the cheapest, and the direct descent is the best, yet, on land which does not slope regularly, it is impossible to follow both requirements, and the compromise between the two must be made with some judgement. However, the books of instruction are tolerably explicit on this point, and there is no difficulty in the matter that may not be overcome by an intelligent farmer. It takes about 1000 feet of tiles to drain an acre, and the ditching will not vary much from 60 rods to the acre. If the cost of the tile, including transportation, is $25 per 1000, and the cost of ditching, tile-laying and back-filling is 50 cents per rod, the cost will be from $50 to $60 per acre, a small allowance being made for the extra cost of large tiles for main drain—an item which will vary, of course, with the varying irregularity of the land. On land of uniform slope the work should be done without difficulty and without unusual cost. Any drains not more than 1000 feet in length may be laid entirely with 1 1-4 inch tiles, if collars are used, or 1 1-2 inch tiles without collars. The sizes required for mains may be regulated by the following schedule: 2000 feet of lateral drains may be received by 2 1-4 inch mains, and these will answer until the drains supplying them amount to say 7000 feet in length. Between 7000 feet and 20,000 feet 3 1-2 inch tiles should be used. The drainage of 100 acres will not require an outlet of more than eight inches diameter. Large tiles are more costly in proportion to their size than smaller ones, and it is folly to order larger ones than are required. This is often done by men who think that if a small tile is good a large one is better—a fallacy, because it is best to concentrate the flow within a small pipe to increase its force and enable it to sweep away any obstructions; large pipes may be silted up under a flow of water that would keep a smaller one entirely clear. Draining has been rendered cheaper and better by recent inventions.—N. Y. Evening Post.

Apropos to this subject, we here give place to the following report of a very interesting and important discussion at a recent meeting of the Kensington Farmers' Club:

Mr. S. Green said he laid tile two years ago; it made the ground dry much earlier in the spring. Put thatch on the tile. Said Mr. Cheswell laid tile in the centre of the street at the Mills village, and improved it very much.

Mr. W. N. Shaw said H. F. French laid tile 6 feet deep and 33 apart in a piece of clay land in Exeter, and it never did any good, but on land near where water run on from higher ground it improved the land very much. He had tried subsoiling, but it did no good.

Mr. T. K. Mace said hard pine boards had been used instead of tile, the edges set six inches apart on the ground and nailed together at the top.

Mr. L. B. Brown thought the cost of the tile was but a small part of the expense of draining land.

Mr. C. W. Foss said land surrounded by higher ground had been drained by digging into the hillside, which let the water off.

Mr. J. W. Brown laid tile ten years ago; raised good corn and wheat on this land where it would not grow before; grass grew better and the quality improved very much. If willow trees are near tile the small roots run in at the joints of the tile and fill it up completely. Tile should be laid at least two and a half feet deep to be out of the reach of the roots of grass and weeds.

Mr. Warren Brown, of Hampton Falls, remarked that the subject of draining was of much importance. Said there were many ways to drain an estate; a heavy mortgage, bad habits and mismanagement would generally drain a place pretty effectually. But the most profitable way, and the one he would recommend, was to dig and lay tile in wet land. Low lands are rich from the wash of higher ground, but will not produce profitably until the water coming from springs can be carried off in drains. Open drains are the simplest and the least satisfactory. He had taken pains to draw in one hundred loads to fill up a single ditch. It is much trouble to mow and rake about open ditches. Then the banks will often cave in and stop the water, and grass, weeds, sticks and leaves collect and fill up the drain. Began with stone drains, but they are not sure.

Did not think stone should be used where tile can be obtained, and if there is any other place where small stones can be put to get them out of the way. Tile take less digging and will last a lifetime. Laid horse-shoe tile in 1852, and they are open now. There is great ignorance respecting the operations of tile. He thought tile reduced or lowered the water level, and water comes up and runs in through the joints mostly, though tile will fill if both ends are stopped up tight. Tarred paper is used to lay over the joints of tile to keep out sand.

Has used 15,000 tile. On three acres tiled land he cut seven tons of hay in a year, where the water used to be over the tops of his boots, and the land worth as near nothing as it could be,—a nice place for snakes and frogs, and so near filled with old roots, stumps and logs that his man thought the devil must have broken his apron strings somewhere there. Can now mow with horses on that piece as well as any place.

Said thistles sometimes come in after draining, but die out after a few years. They leave the soil in good condition, so that after all they are rather a benefit to the land. Wet seasons kill out thistles. Drained land is porous and not affected by drought. If outlet is good, three or four inches fall to the hundred feet will do, though the more fall the better. Has never used cellar tile, but thinks he should like them best; some of them are three feet long, other pieces are shorter, made of cement with collars to fit round the joints to keep them in place.

Grasses will not live with their roots in water any more than a man with his feet in water. Said Miller of Portsmouth drained forty acres of the meanest kind of wet land and made it like a garden—made a fortune out of it. Had some faith in John Godfrey's way of finding springs, said Godfrey could tell where to dig for springs; not could not tell exactly how deep below the surface they would be found. The hard-pan in land if once dug through never becomes solid again. A board may be laid under tile where it is soft or sandy.

Put a screen over the outlet of tile, and even then small frogs will get in and grow and have to be taken out. Where a number of branches meet put in a keg, that the operations of each division may be watched. Begin at the highest point to lay tile. If there is no spring at upper end, put a stone against the end of the tile. Tile may be used to drain cellars. Two courses were put down in a street in Exeter, one in each wheel track. Worked well.

Many took the trouble to fill up wet places; he thought that in most cases it would be better to lower the water by draining. Many pieces of land have wet corners or wet spots in them that by draining can be made like other parts, and can be worked on at the same time. Drains laid three feet deep may be thirty feet apart. Three-inch tile is too large for branches; like the 1 1-2 inch for many purposes. These last cost $18 or $20 per thousand; three-inch tile cost $30 per thousand; they make better tile at Exeter than formerly; three-inch tile carry twice as much water as two-inch.

CURE FOR FEMALE WEAKNESS.

The Proprietor of this valuable Medicine, while suffering from loss of health some twenty years ago, was given an Indian receipt, from which she prepared some for her own use, which resulted in a cure. Many of her friends have used it with equally gratifying success, and have urged her to introduce it to the public. She has consented, for the relief of suffering humanity to do so, and feels confident it will prove one of the richest blessings to her sex. This is an internal remedy—entirely vegetable—will not injure the most delicate constitution, and is equally safe. No supporters are not used under any consideration, nor the application of Caustic. It will eradicate all Humors which is one cause of the great amount of great suffering. Its renovating effects are extraordinary, without a change in diet, as hundreds will testify. Three bottles will convince the most skeptical of its surprising operation. Its effects are wonderful in the Relief and Cure of the following diseases:—Prolapsus Uteri, Nervous Debility, Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of Heart, Depression of Spirits, Irregularities, Change of Life, Whites, Dropical Affections, Schiroomus, Inflammation of the Kidneys, &c. Prepared and sold by MRS. LINUS BELCHER, Randolph, Mass. Send for Circular. Sold by all Druggists, at $1.50 per bottle.

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!
DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sore Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawfeb18

SOUTH BERWICK HEARING.

(Argument of Counsel before the Judiciary Committee of the Maine Legislature.)

An order having been introduced into the House by the member from South Berwick, and passed, requiring the Judiciary Committee to inquire into the expediency of enacting laws compelling railroad corporations to locate their road in conformity to the terms of their charter, a hearing was held on Monday evening when Mr. Butler of Biddeford and Mr. Baker of Augusta appeared for the motion, and Mr. Yeaton of South Berwick, counsel for the Boston & Maine railroad, in opposition. As the opening argument of Mr. Butler relates the basis of and necessity for the motion, and is more or less concerning interests in York County we give the same:

May it please the honorable chairman and this committee:—When the counsel for the Boston & Maine corporation last week appeared before you at a hearing assigned us, and claimed that the order before you was a direct thrust at his corporation, and asked for a postponement in order that he might prepare himself to defend his clients, I was not a little surprised,—surprised not at the alert vigilance of the counsel, but that he or they should voluntarily place themselves in the position of criminals before your honorable body and before the bar of public opinion. We ask no special legislation, only a general act affecting all future railroads and equally applicable to all. Why, then, this vehement opposition on the part of the Boston & Maine? If it has violated no law, if it has conformed to the terms of its charter, if it has not been dragging our citizens to jail without the authority of law, the statutory provision asked for cannot be tortured into meaning harm to them. And I claim your consideration, that the fact that the Boston & Maine appear here in opposition to this general provision, lends strong color to the belief that they have located their road without the authority of law, and that they are aware of their wrong.

As they thus force us into an examination of their acts, you will see how far we are compelled to review them. We disclaim the assertion of the counsel that hostility to his road instigated the order, at the same time that we state frankly that the situation of their mislocation gave rise to the order. And, pray, can harm or irrelevancy be tortured from the admitted fact? What is the history and progress of our laws but their growth arising from the real or apprehended necessity as circumstances may develop? If there is no necessity that our motion should prevail, we trust it may receive its quietus here and now.

Our present statute requires that in all petitions for a railroad charter the termini shall be given, and also the names of the towns along the route, except that the road shall be located substantially according to the description in the charter. Unquestionably the provision requiring the names of towns to be mentioned in the petition was designed by the legislature to be equivalent to confining grants to the location specified in the terms of the charter, but they failed to say so, except that it should be "substantially located," &c., and how the Courts will decide the matter cannot be shown by any of us.

The Massachusetts Supreme Court decided in the case of Commonwealth vs. Fitchburg Railroad Company that the company were not obliged to locate their road through towns in the order mentioned in the charter they passing through those towns, since it did not say "thence to Sudbury, thence to Stow," &c. That decision, were it based upon our laws, would be conclusive of the construction of the Courts upon the location of the Boston & Maine, since their act of extension says "thence through South Berwick, North Berwick, if necessary, Wells," &c., and legislation would not be required. But unfortunately for us that decision was made under the Mass. law which say, "Every charter shall confine the road within the limits indicated by the notice," and "shall specify the several cities and towns through which the same may pass." We have no such law in Maine, and because we have none we make the present motion.

(To an interruption by the counsel—) I know, gentlemen, that the legislature cannot exercise judicial functions, nor can they pass upon the construction of laws save on their passage through the legislature; but, notwithstanding the assertion of the industrious counsel of the Boston & Maine, that you are not supposed to exercise a judicial discrimination, it is evident that you are called upon to decide whether, in your judgment the present laws upon our statute are sufficient for specified purposes, in order that you may decide whether proposed laws should pass. Because of that, may it please the committee, I ask your attention to the terms of the act for the extension of the Boston & Maine railroad; and because you are not sitting as a Court I cite the circum-

FACES ON THE WALL.

BY HARRIET BEECHER STOWE.

AUTHOR OF "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN," "MY WIFE AND I," ETC.

Once there was a very good little girl, who, by reason of her goodness, knew where to find strawberries in the winter. In the same way less perfect people, blessed by the generous fairies of memory and imagination, may sit, as I do now, in the midst of falling leaves and whistling winds, and call back the green grasses and the summer sun. I see yonder in the glen, the darling of our house, the gold gleam in her brown hair, a chain of daisies in her hand, and in her eyes the roguish meditation of a kitten, weary for an instant only of its play, and thinking slyly of another spring. Thrown back upon the velvet grass, she is not resting, only pausing from her bright gladness to the tips of her tiny fingers she is wide awake.

But now the merry play is over, and our pet nestles yonder on the sofa cushion, tired at last in earnest. Slowly the tide fall, and the lingering smile dies out; but the flush in cheek and lip remains, like the glow after sunset. The gathered buttercups and daisies are loosely held by the fair little hand; no shadows, even of dream-land, disturb the sweet brow's perfect peace. She is fast asleep.

In other words, two chromos hang upon the wall, bewitching child-heads, in which every mother sees something of her own dear ones, never grown old, and never lost to her, however time or death may have dealt with them.

Nothing pleases more at first sight or gives pleasure longer than poetical pictures of children. "The little child" whom Jesus sets in the midst of every family is a joy that grows not old and fades not.

"Age cannot wither, custom cannot stale
Its infinite variety."

For this reason a happy picture of a child brings an enjoyment more lasting than any other, because it is a subject of which no one ever tires.

But these pictures, besides their constant charm for grown folks, are such as children can understand and love. Our little "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," would give many a pleasant hour of companionable amusement and intercourse to the little people akin to them in age. The pictures that children's eyes rest on as they are dropping off to sleep, or as they awake in the morning, seem to them like living friends. All sorts of childish dreams and fancies make of the pictured face a real companion. Not only in the parlor and sitting-room would they be an attractive and fitting embellishment, but they are a charming pair for the adornment of a nursery.

Undoubtedly these two pictures are portraits. There is a realistic faithfulness and truth about them that forbids the idea of their being fancy heads. They will remind many parents of little ones either here or in heaven. Dickens says of his portraiture of little Nell that he has had letters from the farthest region of the earth speaking of children who resembled her—so dear, and so early taken! He who paints one child well, paints thousands, and speaks to the tenderest feelings of innumerable hearts.

Of course there is a pleasure in possessing an original painting; but when the question lies between an original at five hundred dollars and a chromo which can scarcely be distinguished from it, at ten dollars—particularly when one has not the five hundred to spare—the choice is not very difficult. As to these two exquisite chromos, only a critical examination can distinguish between the copies and the originals, which sold for many hundreds—which is certainly more than can be said of the best copies of most pictures painted by the best artists.

Blessings upon the chromo-lithography, by which the successful painting of a master can be reproduced indefinitely, and can enter thousands of homes with its educating, quickening, reforming influences!

It is not alone into the dwellings of the great and wealthy that we follow this pretty pair with anticipations of delight. We see them in the cottages of the poor, in the log cabin of the backwoodsman, brightening the toil of the hard-worked wife and mother, and receiving the almost adoring wonder of children who have never seen pictures before.

God bless the darlings—send the little comforters fast and far!

The charming pair of oil chromos, "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," of whose real beauty and attractiveness Mrs. Stowe's graceful sketch can give but an imperfect idea—so pleasing are they to all who love art or children—have always sold in the picture stores for $10, and the original publisher has never been able to supply the great demand for them even at that price. And yet, although thousands of them have been sold in America at that high rate, they are now within the reach of all, for they are to every subscriber to THE CHRISTIAN UNION, an unsectarian, literary, religious and domestic weekly newspaper, edited by HENRY WARD BEECHER.

The pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished to Mr. Beecher's publishers at a rate entirely exceptional. The subjects are LIFE-SIZE.

As to the CHRISTIAN UNION, the great success of that paper has been a marvel in the history of journalism, and the scholarly and critical New York Nation calls it "not only the ablest and best, but also the most popular of American religious periodicals."

This paper, hereafter will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, a decided advantage possessed by no other religious weekly published. It contains contributions from eminent writers of all denominations, and has matter of interest for every member of the household, young and old. For the year 1872, Mrs. HARRIET BEECHER STOWE will write exclusively for the CHRISTIAN UNION.

It has something for every member of the household—father, mother, boys and girls, youngmen and young women, ALL find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles, discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects; much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems, Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones, one of the chief attractions being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

The terms of subscription to this paper are: For one year ONLY $3.00. This will entitle the subscriber to the paper and to the above pair of beautiful Oil Chromos, THE CHRISTIAN UNION, Illustrated Holiday Number, (88 p. p.) will be sent FREE to all who now subscribe for the year 1872.

WHY?

What is the reason that the Literary, Religious, and Domestic Weekly, started two years ago, namely,

THE CHRISTIAN UNION,

should have so suddenly achieved a success that makes all newspaper men wonder?

Reasons Why!

1st. HENRY WARD BEECHER is its Editor, of whom the Chicago Interior said "Probably no man on this continent sways so many minds, or is doing so much to shape religious thought for the next half century." His vigorous pen in Editorials and Star Papers, and Mr. Ellinwood's famed verbatim reports of his helpful Lecture-Room Talk in Plymouth Church, are an attraction to thousands of readers, who always want to know what he thinks on religious themes and the topics of the times. He is also assisted by an able editorial staff.

2d. It Is Unsectarian in Religion, Independent in Political Discussion, and devoted to Morals, Reform, Home and Foreign News—both of Church matters and the world at large, Literature, Science, Art, Music, Agriculture, Trade, Finance, etc., etc., with contributions from eminent writers of all denominations—in all parts of the country.

3d. IT HAS SOMETHING FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE HOUSEHOLD—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, all find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects, much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones; one of its chief attraction being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

4th. It Admits no Medical or other possibly objectionable advertisements nor anything to offend the purest and most fastidious, and is therefore a favorite family paper.

5th. ITS FORM TWENTY-FOUR PAGES. Large Quarto, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, is so convenient for reading, binding, and preservation as to be a great special merit in its favor, apart from its superior literary attraction.

6th. A superb WORK OF ART IS GIVEN AWAY TO EVERY SUBSCRIBER AND THE SUBSCRIPTION PRICE IS

Only Three Dollars per Year.

SPECIAL

Attractions for 1872!

GIVEN AWAY!

1. TWO CHARMING AND POPULAR WORKS OF ART.

"WIDE AWAKE & FAST ASLEEP."

Two Exquisite French Oil Chromos, the subjects of which are Life Size, and cannot fail to please all who love art or children,

Are GIVEN AWAY to every subscriber for 1872, whether it be a New Subscription or a Renewal! These Chromos are no cheap colored prints, but are splendid copies of Oil Paintings, by an eminent English artist, fully equal for their size (13x19) to any chromo ever published. The subjects are LIFE SIZE. The pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished at a rate entirely exceptional. So that, although thousands of them have been sold in America at $10, and still are and will be sold at that price by the picture trade generally, they can be given to subscribers.

A MOSAIC.

WHAT THE PRESS SAYS:

Two very good chromos are "Wide Awake" and "Fast Asleep," [1] which have few rivals in the market for attractiveness [2]—fresh, sweet and blooming child-face [3] executed with true French skill [4]. We have rarely seen anything prettier than the two pictures, which, [5] both in color and sentiment are really beautiful [6]—worthy of a place in costly homes [7]. Unlike nine pictures out of ten that cost a good deal more, one can look at them day after day and not tire of them [8]. We have often stopped amid the bustle of Broadway to look at them, and never without feeling happier and better [7]. They cannot fail to please all who love art or children [8].

A subscriber writes to the Publishers:

"The chromos far surpass in beauty and style anything that I expected. A Neighbor of mine bought the same Chromos in New York a few months ago, and paid ten dollars for them. Please accept my thanks for them."

2. Enlargement and Change of Form. After the first of January, the paper will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four large quarto pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the sides,—a decided advantage in convenience for reading possessed by no other religious weekly published.

3. Mrs. Harriet B. Stowe Will Write Exclusively for the CHRISTIAN UNION during the year 1872, with the exception of one short story all ready engaged for another periodical.

4. THE ILLUSTRATED HOLIDAY NUMBER — OF — The Christian Union, (28 pages) will be sent to all who NOW subscribe for the year 1872.

The Terms of Subscription ARE AS FOLLOWS:

If the subscriber will add ten cents [$3.10] for expenses of wrapping, mailing, etc., the CHROMOS will be sent free, by mail; and if the subscriber prefers to send still 25 cents more, or $3.35 altogether, the copies so mailed will be strongly mounted on card-board, sized and varnished, all ready for framing. This is the method we recommended as the most satisfactory and the one which nearly all our subscribers order.

Send money in postal orders, drafts, or registered letters, direct to the Publishers, and you will receive your papers immediately and regularly. The Chromos will be mailed as rapidly as possible to subscribers in the order of their names on the subscription list.

MANHOOD

IN THE

Young and Rising Generation.

The vegetable powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show their baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body, too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwardly upon themselves.

If the patient be a female the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it is fed on. The energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain. The parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

TRY HELMBOLD'S

EXTRACT BUCHU

For Weakness Arising from Excesses or Early Indiscretion,

attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such Patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for fear of themselves; no repose of matter, no earnestness, no speculation, but a hurried transition from one question to another.

THESE SYMPTOMS, IF ALLOWED TO GO ON—WHICH THIS MEDICINE INVARIABLY REMOVES—SOON FOLLOW LOSS OF POWER, FATUITY AND EPILEPTIC FITS, IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients. Reason has for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths of Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibitions appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute; neither mirth nor grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.

"With woful measures wan despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguile."

While we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences.

The Eastern Railroad Meeting

At Boston, Thursday, developed the fact that both parties desiring to control the Road had convinced themselves that their triumph was necessary for the interests of the Road. A few gentlemen indulged in personalities, which the meeting was indisposed to listen to. A strong movement for a change of management was made in which the owners of about 2000 shares in this vicinity engaged. Though unsuccessful they can hardly be very much disappointed, the Board of Directors for 1872 being strengthened by the election of two new members who are practical business men. We deem it particularly fortunate for the Road that the city of Lynn is given a voice and vote in the councils of the Board. Much unnecessary fault finding with the past management was indulged in, although there was sufficient neglect on the part of a few to create a strong feeling for a change. Change has been made and yet the plans and contracts made (and creditably made) by the old Board will be carried out, and the Eastern is to profit largely by the immense trade secured in connection with the European and North American Railway. The partially explanatory remarks made by Thornton K. Lothrop, Esq., convinced many of the stockholders that their want of faith had been fed as much by suspicion as fact. The statement that the passage of the January dividend was due only to the Revere disaster served to cause a better feeling among stockholders, who individually still insist that the faithful Superintendent against whom not a word of disapprobation was uttered, shall be unfettered and responsible, that the Road may receive the benefit of his experience in the utmost details of the duties devolving upon him. We trust that on the recurrence of another year's annual meeting, the action of the new Board of Directors will have disarmed all opposition and that it will be found that the interests of the stockholders and the public have been scrupulously cared for and the affairs of the Road wisely administered.

LOOK AT THE EVIDENCE.—"Remember the gigantic outrage of 1868, when an honestly elected Democratic Governor was "counted out" through the manipulations of the Radical State Committee, as more than one exultant Radical strategist has openly boasted since."—The People.

"Mark now, how plain a tale shall put you down." In March, 1868, the Democratic towns of this State cast one vote to every 4 7-100 of their population; while the Republican towns cast one vote to every 4 32 100 of their population. Thus it will be seen that the Democratic towns cast a small fraction more votes, according to their population, than the Republican. If fraud was committed, which side would this indicate it to be on?

But here is still stronger evidence. On the first day of April, 1868—only a fortnight after the election referred to—the Selectmen throughout the State made returns of the ratable polls in all the towns and wards. A comparison of these with the official returns of the vote shows that the Republican towns cast 970 votes for every 1000 ratable polls; while the Democratic towns cast 1030 votes for every 1000 ratable polls! Where was the fraud?

It will be time enough for Democratic newspapers to talk about Republicans cheating, when they have explained how a town can cast more votes than the number of its ratable polls.—Monitor.

As the explanation asked for by the Monitor might be an embarrassing one for our Democratic friends to give, we will save them trouble and "rise to explain" ourself. The only way yet discovered to enable a town to "cast more votes than the number of its ratable polls" is to appoint Democratic town officers to count the votes. The People's exhortation to the copperheads to "remember the outrage of 1868" is doubtless an official reminder from Bingham, Sinclair & Co. to the Democratic custodians of the forty-four check-lists which passed from Republican hands last year, to count vigorously, after the manner of Democratic vote counters in general when counting Democratic votes, that the boast of the copperhead leaders that their party will "gain one thousand votes" from having the control of those check-lists may not be in vain.

"The Lake Company."

The copperhead papers of this State have been teeming with denunciations of Mr. Straw, holding him up to their ignorant readers as the agent of the Lake Company and therefore as the enemy of the working man. Now, the "agent of the Lake Company" is the enemy of the working man, certainly, for he is a bitter copperhead—Josiah B. French of Lowell, who has held the position since the death of the late James Bell. The Amoskeag Company, of which the next Governor of New Hampshire is agent, is not and never has been in any manner connected with the "Lake Company," which latter, under the management of its Democratic agent, has according to the copperhead press been such a gigantic engine of oppression to the farmer and working man. The Democrats, in assailing Mr. Straw for being the agent of a company with which he never had any connection, doubtless hoped to make political capital in two ways,—by creating an unfounded prejudice against Mr. Straw and at the same time hiding from view the Democratic origin of the offences which the Democrats themselves charge against the Lake Company. If the copperhead defamers of Mr. Straw knew anything about the Lake Co., they lied in making the statement that Mr. Straw was its agent; and the other horn of the dilemma is little more creditable to them, for if they did not know anything about the affairs of that company, their statements concerning it and Mr. Straw's assumed connection with it show as total a disregard of truth and as much petty malice as though they had really known what they were talking about.

Political.

At a meeting of the Democratic members of the Maryland Legislature, Senator Hamilton, Congressmen Merrick and Ritchie advised the party to remain inactive.

O'Donovan Rossa's protest against allowing Boss Tweed to take a seat in the New York legislature proves repeating, false registration and illegal voting. In one district Tweed had 331 votes, where the whole male and female population is only 396; in another Tweed had 324 votes, where the total male population was only 249; another district gave Tweed 298 votes, where there were but 283 males: and in the fourteenth district, which recorded a unanimous vote of 672 for Tweed, there were only 219 of the male population, and even the fraudulent registration only had 324 names down. That shows up the Democratic "secret of carrying elections" which gave the State of New York to Seymour and Blair, exactly as the Republican press used to show it up, and in defence of which secret their copperhead cotemporaries made such a gallant fight. How things are changed; Boss Tweed can be criticised without raising a Democratic outcry of "liar" and "slanderer" against the Republican critic, now.

The naval appropriation bill passed the House of Representatives on Thursday.

ILL-TREATMENT BY A CONDUCTOR, is thus described by a Kentucky paper:

'Your fare if you please, madam,' said the conductor to an elderly lady who had got aboard at a way station. The elderly lady looked up, and, drawing forth a letter, spoke with a voice that was shrill: 'Two of Mr.——'s children is dead, and they're writ to me to come to buryin', to-day. Isn't it terrible?' The conductor looked as shocked as possible, and expressed sympathy. 'And,' continued the old lady, 'I want you to let me ride free.' 'I can't let you ride free unless you have a pass,' returned the conductor, mildly. 'Not to go to a funeral?' said the old lady. 'No, madam,' replied the conductor; 'I'm sorry to say that the rules of the road are very strict, and I am not allowed to discriminate.' 'Well, I think you oughtn't to charge folks for going to a funeral,' persisted the old lady. 'If we let every body going to funerals ride free,' again spoke the conductor, 'it wouldn't pay. Besides, it would be encouraging the funeral business in a way that would cast a gloom over the entire country. Your fare is a dollar and a half, madam.' 'Well,' retorted the old lady, drawing out a well filled purse, 'I think you might let me go free,' specially as I'm going to a double funeral. Mr.——'s children is both dead, and they'll be buried in the same grave, I reckon. Oh! it's a terrible blow!' And the old lady, wiping her eyes, paid her fare. As the conductor moved on, she turned to a passenger and remarked, with some indignation, 'These railroaders is the most unfeelin' folks I ever seed.'

—A Michigan newspaper office has a curious visitor in the shape of a tom cat, which finds its way outside of the skylight every cold morning as soon as the stove begins to warm the glass, and then gravely slides down, repeating the exercise for some time, with as much composure as a litte boy coasting.

—Speaking of ear-rings, the Louisville Courier-Journal suggests to the ladies that if they desire to make these articles useful, they can wear a good-sized valise in one ear and a handsome, capacious lunch-basket in the other. —The counsel of the murderer Foster have argued before the full bench their motion for a new trial. The court reserved its decision. It seems now that Foster's intention in sunshing Mr. Putnam's head to a jelly was merely to maim him and teach him not to speak to a gentleman in liquor. That death resulted was due simply to a fact in physiology for which Foster was not responsible. If Mr. Putnam's skull had been an inch or two thicker he would not have died.—N. Y. Tribune.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

PRO BONO PUBLICO, is a motto "more honored in the breach than in the observance," but attached to Holloway's Pills and Ointment it is significant of their value throughout the civilized world. For the cure of asthma, coughs, colds, cutaneous eruptions, and bankrupt constitutions, they are the sheet anchor of the sick.

We notice in one of our exchanges this week the statement of Dea. John Hodgkins, of South Jefferson, Me., whose son was cured of incipient consumption by the use of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. We refer to this at this time as tending to corroborate the statement we made last week in relation to this Liniment as applied to consumption.

If Congress had employed as much scientific skill in the arrangement of its "Reconstruction Policy" at the close, as the War Department did in the beginning of the war, in arranging for the manufacture of what was called Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders for the use of the Cavalry horses, no doubt the Union would have been rustored long ago.—Exchange.

OLD PREJUDICES ARE DYING OUT.—New facts are killing them. The idea that invalids weakened by disease can be relieved by prostrating them with destructive drugs, is no longer entertained except by monomaniacs. Ever since the introduction of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS it has been obvious that their regulating and invigorating properties are all-sufficient for the cure of chronic indigestion, rheumatism, constipation, diarrhœa, nervous affections, and malarious fevers, and they are now the standard remedy for these complaints in every section of the Union.

YEAS AND NEIGHS.—If horses could makes themselves understood in human language, they would signify by a universal "Yea," their assent to the statement that the MUSTANG LINIMENT is the best remedy extant for all these external ailments, and by a most emphatic "Neigh!" show their displeasure at every attempt to use any other preparation in its stead. Ever since its introduction at St. Louis, at the close of the Mexican War, in 1849, it has proved a signal blessing to horse and man—curing, with absolute certainty and wonderful despatch, such equine diseases as spavin, ringbone, poll evil, scratches, hoofsil, &c., and relieving and finally removing the painful affections which attack the muscles, sinews and external glands of human beings. It is a fact beyond contradiction that for all injuries or complaints of man or quadrupeds to which an external remedy is applicable, the MUSTANG LINIMENT is preferable to every other.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

All the Year Round,

And in all parts of the world, the elements of disease are present in the air, the soil and the water, in a greater or less degree, and therefore the Great Vegetable Antidote to these invisible enemies of health, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is invaluable as a household medicine at all seasons and in every latitude. At no period of the year is a regulating and corrective medicine more needed than toward the close of winter, when the sun and rain are beginning to break up the winter blockade, and from the softening soil arises that terrible miasma, which weighs like an incubus upon the vital machinery, and depresses the animal spirits. It is then that the seeds of intermittent and remittent fevers, of rheumatism and rheumatic gout, of obstinate stomach complaints, of disorders of the liver and bowels, and a whole host of pulmonary and nervous complaints are sown.

The best, the surest way to prevent this disastrous seeding is to invigorate and refresh the system with a course of the Bitters. If this precaution be taken now, there will be no danger of the miasmatic germs taking roots in the fluids and tissues of the body, and bringing forth terrible fruit in the spring. Now is the time for prevention. Remember that vigor is the only safeguard against the virus of disease, and that Hostetter's Bitters is the purest, the safest, the most powerful and perfect invigorant ever administered, either as protective medicine or a remedy. A change of season approaches which almost always proves more or less disastrous to persons of a weak, nervous organization. Brace up at once with the leading Tonic of the age. Purge from the blood all morbid matter, strengthen the nerves, and regulate and purify the secretions with the Vegetable Elixir, which combines the juices of the finest medicinal roots, herbs and barks, with the most wholesome of all diffusive stimulants.

Last chance to see Bidwell & Wilkinson at the Temple, to-night. Mr. Wilkinson intends leaving at the close of the season having been on the boards twenty one years. Mrs. Bidwell plays "Kathleen" in "Peep O' Day." Good houses have attended the performances here and "Peep O' Day" will probably draw as well as its predecessors.

The last lecture before the People's Lyceum at Kittery will be delivered Feb. 23d, by Dr. Geo. B. Loring; Subject, "American Society."

At the meeting of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, it was voted that Howard Street be extended on a line beginning at the northerly corner of Howard and Washington Streets and running westerly to Pleasant Street to a point on land of heirs of Leonard Cotton thirty feet westerly of southerly corner of said land of said heirs, adding to the highway all the land lying south of said highway, at a cost of $150.

The Republican head-quarters, entrance on Daniel Street, are open every evening.

At the semi annual meeting of the Portsmouth Savings Bank, held on Wednesday, Feb. 14, John S. Pray was chosen a Trustee, to fill the vacancy in the Board made by the death of the late Stephen H. Simes, who had been a member for forty years. From the report of the Treasurer we find this old institution is in a very flourishing condition: the deposits on the 17th of January amounted to $1,676,834.53; the 97th dividend, declared that day, is $39,552.27; the surplus for the last six months is $17,539.59; the surplus for 3 1-2 years is $101,702,06; the increase of deposits during the past year has been $204,718.14.

The price of gas to consumers in this city is said to have been reduced from five and one-tenth to four and eight-tenths mills per cubic foot, with the usual 16 2-3 per cent. reduction for prompt payment—making the cost four mills per foot, net.

We regret to learn that Mr. Morris Kichler has been obliged to abandon his business as a merchant tailor on account of illness. ers and substituting a new dress which of itself is an invitation to readers to subscribe and to advertisers to advertise. The Journal is 82 years old and thrifty; we wish it abundant old age even to the present age of the GAZETTE, 116 years, and hope that at that time it will be more prosperous than ever.

The Bishop of New Hampshire is expected in town to-day, and will officiate to-morrow in St. John's church.

The following item we take from the Journal:—

....E. F. Sise & Co., have sold schooner M. Lovell, of this port, to parties at Deer Island, on private terms.

....The Cutts mansion next east of the Rockingham House has been purchased by Dr. J. W. Parsons, of this city.

....Brevet Lieut. Col. G. Frank Towle, of this city, lately on duty at Milwaukee, has been transferred to Newport Barracks, and assigned to service as Post Adjutant.

Mr. William W. Cotton has purchased the premises next west of the residence of John P. Hart, Esq., on Islington Street, and will immediately erect thereon a home which will be occupied by himself.

Commander C. C. Carpenter has purchased the house on Middle Street owned by John Jenness, Esq, of New York, for a permanent residence. Mr. Jenness and family will leave for an extended tour through Europe.

....Mr. William W. Henderson, of No 6 Daniel Street, has purchased the stock of dry goods of his father George Henderson, adjoining, and contemplates merging both stores by taking away the partition, and otherwise greatly improving the premises. Mr. George Henderson will retire from active business.

—The other evening a gentleman gave a boot-black a five-dollar piece mistaking it in the dusk for a cent. The boy discovered the error at once, and what did the noble little fellow do? Quietly put it in his pocket and say nothing? No; spurred by a better impulse he called all his comrades and generously spent every penny of it in peanuts and lemon beer.

—A young lady who had been taking quinine in large quantities became so impregnated with iron that one cold evening, when her lover kissed her at the door, he had the same experience that small boys do who approach their mouths to lamp posts, and before he could separate his lips from hers, was caught by his ought-to-be mother-in-law. Moral—don't take quinine.

—A Recorder in Cohoes, N. Y., attempted to eject a man from his own seat in the Catholic Church. Not succeeding by personal violence, he went to his office and made out a warrant of arrest, which was served by the police. Now the Recorder is to be put on trial, charged with assault, and with false imprisonment, with damages at $2500, and is likely to be fined in addition for disturbing religious services.

—The five lovers of a Springfield (Mass.) girl, each of whom she had taught to think he was the favored one, discovering that their love was a joint stock concern, recently met at the house of the fair one, and with one accord dropping on their knees, offered their hearts and hands. The tableau was an effective one, but the young lady refused them one and all.

—Mrs. Stanton tells of some church ladies who picked up a "poor little orphan boy" and educated him for the ministry. They paid his tuition, and he gave great promise, and when he graduated they bought him some nice clothes, and were all on tiptoe of expectation to hear his first sermon. Imagine their consternation when, on gravely announcing his text, he quoted this from St. Paul, "Let the women keep silence in the church."

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

— OF —

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country, and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

stances under which that act was obtained.

All but one of the numerous petitions in aid of that act were from my county. A large number, and the largest one from my city, petitioned directly, in words, for an "extension from South Berwick Junction," while the others prayed for an extension southeasterly of the P. S. & P. R. R., an exact equivalent. I have all the originals with me and will produce them if the opposing counsel denies my statement. Furthermore, it was universally talked, believed and understood among the petitioners and in the legislature, that an act was wanted for an extension of their road from South Berwick Junction southeasterly of the P. S. & P., and it was written as plain as the English language need make it—that it was to be an extension and not are version. And if the B. & Maine did not honestly intend so to locate their road, they obtained their chartered extension under false pretenses! For they have located their road commencing at a point in Berwick one hundred rods from our own town line, and thence to North Berwick.

Mr. PIKE of the committee. Do you mean to say, Mr. Butler, that they do not pass through any part of the town of South Berwick?

Mr. BUTLER. I mean to say that they not only do not touch an inch of South Berwick, but that they begin their extension one hundred rods from our town line, and thence continually diverge, going constantly from it, at the farther point being three miles from the town line, neither running "thence through South Berwick" nor "substantially" near it. I mean further to say, that they do this greatly and ruinously to our damage, as well as in contravention of the terms of their grant, for which and to correct which we do not have any sure remedy at law, nor any sufficient remedy.

Allow me to read that part of the act:

"* * * * is authorized to extend its railroad from some convenient point on its present road in South Berwick within this State, thence through the towns of South Berwick, North Berwick if necessary, Wells," &c. The counsel stated at the adjourned hearing that the authority for their location which ignores South Berwick, was found in the "act." Then it must mean that the words "if necessary" gave them the option of passing through South Berwick or North Berwick. What if the act had read, "extend their road from Boston passing through Somerville, thence through the towns of Malden, Reading and Andover, Lawrence if necessary, Haverhill," &c., would any sane man have said that the words "if necessary" gave them the right to ignore the towns of Somerville, Malden, Reading and Andover, and take some other route to get to Lawrence? Out upon the ignoramuses who would thus murder the King's English! They knew too well the grammatical construction of language, and if they had asked for authority to ingore South Berwick as they have done, they would have said "thence through South Berwick or North Berwick if necessary." But they said no such thing and it is not so written in the act!

Now, gentleman, from the fact that they have located contrary to such constructions, and that they have appeared here to plead their justification as against the motion, I ask you if reasonable doubts do not exist to justify a general law more explicit than any we now have? And in making your decision I ask you, while bearing in mind the language of universal English decisions, that "these grants [to railways] being in derogation of common right, are to receive a reasonably strict and guarded construction," to also bear in mind that all these decisions were made and based upon statute law, of which we have so little bearing upon the subject of deviation. While the tribunal of last resort has stated [Jackson v. Lamphire 3 Pet. 280] the principle that "in grants by the public nothing passes by implication," and by the courts of many States, our own among the number, that in the construction of delegated powers, "if doubts remain they are to be solved against the powers claimed," a powerful and overbearing corporation is exercising the right of eminent domain which you never granted, and appropriating the lands and homesteads of our citizens in contempt of the sovereignty of the State.

"Why don't you go to the Courts?" inquires the counsel. We can do that and sue out a writ of quo warranto, and we are dependent upon one man and one alone of all the State, to prosecute it, according to the whims, caprices, willingness or unwillingness of the hour, detaining us with the law's cruel delay until Chancery has another case of Jarndyce against Jarndyce. An unfortunate injunction has been obtained from the Court by the exparte representations of this corporation, enjoining our good citizens from defending their property from the wanton assaults of foreign capitalists. Where can we obtain an adequate remedy? In the courts we may file a petition to have the injunction dissolved. Yes, we may, but the process is long, costly, and, in the absence of specific law, doubtful at the best. We have not the means to fight a gigantic corporation that may appeal to the U. S. Courts and get a decision in twenty-five years, the first year's cost eating up all our little property. We have chosen a more expeditious and less costly appeal—and appeal to you, gentlemen, authorized and required to protect us by law, thinking that you will bear in mind that when one citizens' rights are invaded, the State is invaded; for then one man is the State, one man is the nation.

"Go to the Courts," says the Attorney. That sounds like the impudence—let me correct that word and say impudence—of the attorney who, while the County Attorney of York, is also the attorney of the Boston & Maine R. R.,—the only legal advocate the County of York has—who advises his new love to cease settling amicably by taking bonds of lands damaged and to doom the owners before the County Commissioners, whose only legal adviser he also is. Yes, "Go to the Courts," but to what courts in York county can we go where the Boston & Maine Company are not ahead of us by virtue of their attorney being the County Attorney?

Gentlemen, may it please you to grant me pardon in this opening for its length. While my learned brother associate will so sum up the testimony that you will not be weary in your seats, we are prepared to introduce testimony to support the statements I have made.

Maps were presented showing the location, and Mr. Burleigh, the representative from South Berwick, explained the business of the town and injury likely to arise, after which the committee decided, as the Boston & Maine admitted the substantial statements of the counsel in regard to location, that further testimony was unnecessary. Mr. Yeaton then followed in opposition in a long speech well defending the B. & M., after which Mr. Baker ably closed the case. As the result of the committee's deliberations the next day a bill for a better remedy substantially as prayed for, was unanimously ordered to be reported, Mr. Smith of Saco alone dissenting.—Biddeford Journal.

—A correspondent of the Richmond Dispatch complains that it does not often publish poetry. That journal replies—"We publish all the good poetry we see."

CURE FOR
FEMALE WEAKNESS.
The Proprietor of this valuable Medicine, while suffering from loss of health some twenty years ago, received an Indian recipe, from which she prepared some for her own use, which resulted in a cure. Many of her friends have used it with equally gratifying success, and have urged her to introduce it to the public. She has consented, for the relief of suffering humanity to do so, and feels confident it will prove one of the richest blessings to her sex. This is an internal remedy—entirely vegetable—will not injure the most delicate constitution, is congenial to nature, as supporters are not used under any consideration, nor the application of Caustics. It will relieve all Humors, which is one cause, in many cases, of great suffering. Its renovating effects are extraordinary, without the change of diet, and it will not salivate. Three bottles will convince the most skeptical of its surprising properties. Its effects are wonderful in the Relief and Cure of the following diseases:—Prolapsus Uteri, Nervous Debility, Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of Heart, Depression of Spirits, Irregularities, Change of Life, Whites, Tropical Affections, Biliousness, Inflammation of the Kidneys, &c. Prepared and sold by MRS. LINUS BEACHER, Randolph, Mass. Send for Circular. Sold by all Druggists, at $1.00 per bottle.

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!
DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS.
Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.
WHAT ARE THEY!
THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.
For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Stomach, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.
DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.
They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.
FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.
PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.
FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. Send for a circular.
They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawf6b15

THE ENGLISH CASE.— The case submitted to the general board of arbitration by the counsel of Great Britain in regard to the Alabama claims was laid before Parliament, and the published document is divided into ten parts.

Part first remarks that no definite or complete statement of American claims has ever been furnished. The treaty of Washington and previous correspondence will supply, however, a general definition of the demand made by the United States. Rule two of article six of the treaty of Washington is quoted as follows:

A neutral government is bound not to permit or suffer either belligerent to make use of its forts or waters as a base of naval operations against the other, or for the purpose of renewal or augmentation of military supplies or arms or recommitment of men. This rule is interpreted as prohibiting supplies of war and vessels from neutral ports, but as not prohibitory of the sale of arms or munitions of war in the ordinary course of commerce: The claims submitted are for charges growing out of the acts of vessels, respecting which the United States allege that Great Britain failed in her international duty. The tribunal must determine the question of the failure of the duty. If it decides there was such failure then it must award gross sum for damages, or define a limit of liability for the guidance of the assessors of said damages. The circumstances of the sailing of the Alabama, Florida, Georgia and Shenandoah were materially dissimilar, but Great Britain maintains that in respect to none of them has she failed in her international obligations, or rendered herself justly liable.

Part second gives the history of the civil war in the United States, showing that the course of England and maritime powers was one of vigilant and scrupulous neutrality.

Part third makes a statement of international rights and duties, of the laws of England bearing thereon and of the faithful execution thereof by Great Britain during the war. It also gives a detailed account of the action of Minister Adams and Earl Russell to prevent the departure of rebel cruisers.

Parth fourth shows the limits of the powers possessed by the British government to prevent such departures.

Part fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth respectively present in detail facts relative to the steamers Florida, Alabama, Georgia and Shenandoah.

Part ninth sets forth that the steamers Georgia and Shenandoah were never equipped for war in British dominions. Her Majesty's government was only informed respecting these vessels after their departure. The Alabama and Florida even did not receive their armaments in British dominions. The peculiar circumstances of the Alabama's escape are recited, and England's vigilant endeavors to prevent her sailing, as well as America's failure in her attempt to capture her, are insisted upon.

Part tenth complains of the disadvantages under which Great Britian labors in meeting an unprecedented case.

The document concludes as follows:

While England regrets the departure of rebel cruisers from her ports she cannot acknowledge the justice of the claims against her for pecuniary damages for their acts. The United States must solidly establish the fact of England's negligence. England is ready to accept the award of the tribunal of arbitration, whether favorable or unfavorable. She desires only that it shall be just.

A DIFFICULT CONUNDRUM. — Lord Redesdale proposes to the British Government the following conundrum:

"If A and B partners, sue C for fraud, and the defendant C proves that B, one of the plaintiffs, acted with him in committing the fraud, whether such proof would not be a complete answer and debar all damages?"

This sort of thing can't be grappled all at once, and while the British Government is working it out, the New York Commercial has got the following one for Lord Redesdale:

"If a strife arose between the head and tail of the American Eagle, and so much of this here bird's backbone as naturally appertained to the tail 'got a p' against the balance of the backbone, wouldn't the fact that it was obliged to 'get down' again, though at a considerable sacrifice of pin feathers, be proof positive that the bird hadn't divided into one-half turkey buzzard and one-half alligator, but on the contrary was as ever E pluribus unum, one and inseparable, the same old American Eagle still?"

—Dr. George B. Loring of Salem was chosen president of the agricultural convention which met in Washington, Thursday.

FACES ON THE WALL.

BY HARRIET BRECHER STOWE.

AUTHOR OF "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN," "MY WIFE AND I," ETC.

Once there was a very good little girl, who, by reason of her goodness, knew where to find strawberries in the winter. In the same way less perfect people, blessed by the generous fairies of memory and imagination, may sit, as I do now, in the midst of falling leaves and whistling winds, and call back the green grasses and the summer sun. I see yonder in the glen, the darling of our house, the gold gleam in her brown hair, a chain of daisies in her hand, and in her eyes the roguish meditation of a kitten, weary for an instant only of its play, and thinking slyly of another spring. Thrown back upon the velvet grass, she is not resting, only pausing from her bright glances to the tips of her tiny fingers she is wide awake.

But now the merry play is over, and our pet sees her yonder on the sofa cushion, tired at last in earnest. Slowly the lids fall, and the lingering smile dies out; but the flush in cheek and lip remains, like the glow after sunset. The gathered buttercups and daisies are loosely held by the fair little hand; no shadows, even of dream-land, disturb the sweet brow's perfect peace. She is fast asleep.

In other words, two chromos hang upon the wall, bewitching child-heads, in which every mother sees something of her own dear ones, never grown old, and never lost to her, however time or death may have dealt with them.

Nothing pleases more at first sight or gives pleasure longer than poetical pictures of childrens. "The little child" whom Jesus sets in the midst of every family is a joy that grows not old and fades not.

"Age cannot wither, custom cannot stale
Its infinite variety."

For this reason a happy picture of a child brings an enjoyment more lasting than any other, because it is a subject of which no one ever tires.

But these pictures, besides their constant charm for grown folks, are such as children can understand and love. Our little "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," would give many a pleasant hour of companionable amusement and intercourse to the little people akin to them in age. The pictures that children's eyes rest on as they are dropping off to sleep, or as they awake in the morning, seem to them like living friends. All sorts of childish dreams and fancies make of the pictured face a real companion. Not only in the parlor and sitting-room would they be an attractive and fitting embellishment, but they are a charming pair for the adornment of a nursery.

Undoubtedly these two pictures are portraits. There is a realistic faithfulness and truth about them that forbids the idea of their being fancy heads. They will remind many parents of little ones either here or in heaven. Dickens says of his portraiture of little Nell that he has had letters from the farthest region of the earth speaking of children who resembled her—so dear, and so early taken!. He who paints one child well, paints thousands, and speaks to the tenderest feelings of innumerable hearts.

Of course there is a pleasure in possessing an original painting; but when the question lies between an original at five hundred dollars and a chromo which can scarcely be distinguished from it, at ten dollars—particularly when one has not the five hundred to spare—the choice is not very difficult. As to these two exquisite chromos, only a critical examination can distinguish between the copies and the originals, which sold for many hundreds—which is certainly more than can be said of the best copies of most pictures painted by the best artists.

Blessings upon the chrome-lithography, by which the successful painting of a master can be reproduced indefinitely, and can enter thousands of homes with its adoring, quickening, reforming influences!

It is not alone into the dwellings of the great and wealthy that we follow this pretty pair with anticipations of delight. We see them in the cottages of the poor, in the log cabin of the backwoodman, brightening the toil of the hard-worked wife and mother, and receiving the almost adoring wonder of children who have never seen pictures before.

God bless the darlings—send the little comforters fast and far!

The charming pair of oil chromos, "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," of whom real beauty and attractiveness Mrs. Stowe's graceful sketch can give but an imperfect idea—so pleasing are they to all who love art or children—have always sold in the picture stores for $30, and the original publisher has never been able to supply the great demand for them even at that price. And yet, although thousands of them have been sold in America at that high rate, they are now within the reach of all, for they are to every subscriber to THE CHRISTIAN UNION, an unsectarian, literary, religious and domestic weekly newspaper, edited by HENRY WARD BECCHER.

The pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished to Mr. Beecher's publishers at a rate entirely exceptional. The subjects are LIFE-SIZE.

As to the CHRISTIAN UNION, the great success of that paper has been a marvel in the history of journalism, and the scholarly and critical New York Nation calls it "not only the ablest and best, but also the most popular of American religious periodicals."

This paper, hereafter will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, a decided advantage possessed by no other religious weekly published. It contains contributions from eminent writers of all denominations, and has matter of interest for every member of the household, young and old. For the year 1872, Mrs. HARRIET BRECHER STOWE will write exclusively for the CHRISTIAN UNION.

It has something for every member of the household—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, ALL find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles, discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects; much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems, Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones, one of the chief attractions being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

The terms of subscription to this paper are: For one year ONLY $3.00. This will entitle the subscriber to the paper and to the above pair of beautiful Oil Chromos, THE CHRISTIAN UNION, Illustrated Holiday Number, (28 p p.) will be sent FREE to all who now subscribe for the year 1872.

Send money in postal orders, drafts, or registered letters direct to the Publishers.

SPECIMEN COPIES of the paper will be mailed FREE of postage to any address on receipt of six cents by J. B. Ford & Co., Publishers, 27 Park Place, New York. For full particulars, See advertisement in the next column, headed "Why?"

WHY?

What is the reason that the Literary, Religious, and Domestic Weekly, started two years ago, namely,

THE CHRISTIAN UNION,

should have so suddenly achieved a success that makes all newspaper men wonder?

Reasons Why!

1st. HENRY WARD BEECHER is its Editor, of whom the Chicago Interior said "Probably no man on this continent sways so many minds, or is doing so much to shape religious thought for the next half century." His vigorous pen in Editorials and Star Papers, and Mr. Ellinwood's famed verbatim reports of his helpful Lecture-Room Talks in Plymouth Church, are an attraction to thousands of readers, who always want to know what he thinks on religious themes and the topics of the times. He is also assisted by an able editorial staff.

2d. It Is Unsectarian in Religion, Independent in Political Discussion, and devoted to Morals, Reform, Home and Foreign News—both of Church matters and the world at large, Literature, Science, Art, Music, Agriculture, Trade, Finance, etc., etc., with contributions from eminent writers of all denominations—in all parts of the country.

3d. IT HAS SOMETHING FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE HOUSEHOLD—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, all find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects, much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems, Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones, one of its chief attraction being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

4th. It Admits no Medical or other possibly objectionable advertisements nor anything to offend the purest and most fastidious, and is therefore a favorite family paper.

5th. ITS FORM TWENTY-FOUR PAGES. Large Quarto, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, is so convenient for reading, binding, and preservation as to be a great special merit in its favor, apart from its superior literary attraction.

6th. A superb WORK OF ART IS GIVEN AWAY TO EVERY SUBSCRIBER AND THE SUBSCRIPTION PRICE IS

Only Three Dollars per Year.

SPECIAL

Attractions for 1872!

GIVEN AWAY!

1. TWO CHARMING AND POPULAR WORKS OF ART.

"WIDE AWAKE & FAST ASLEEP,"

Two Exquisite French Oil Chromos, the subjects of which are Life Size, and cannot fail to please all who love art or children,

Are GIVEN AWAY to every subscriber for 1872, whether it be a New Subscription or a Renewal! These Chromos are no cheap colored prints, but are splendid copies of Oil Paintings, by an eminent English artist, fully equal for their size (13x12½) to any chromo ever published. The subjects are life size. The pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished at a rate entirely exceptional. So that, although thousands of them have been sold in America at $10, and still are and will be sold at that price by the picture trade generally, they can be given to subscribers.

A MOSAIC.

WHAT THE PRESS SAYS!

Two very good chromos are "Wide Awake" and "Fast Asleep," [1] which have few rivals in the market for attractiveness [2]—fresh, sweet and blooming child-face [3] executed with true French skill [4]. We have rarely seen anything prettier than the two pictures, which, [5] both in color and sentiment are really beautiful [6]—worthy of a place in costly homes [7]. Unlike nine pictures out of ten that cost a good deal more, one can look at them day after day and not tire of them [8]. We have often stopped amid the bustle of Broadway to look at them, and never without feeling happier and better [9]. They cannot fail to please all who love art or children [10].

A subscriber writes to the Publishers:

"The chromos far surpass in beauty and style anything that I expected. A Neighbor of mine bought the same Chromos in New York a few months ago, and paid twice as much for them. Please accept my thanks for them."

2 Enlargement and Change of Form. After the first of January, the paper will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four large quarto pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the sides,—a decided advantage in convenience for reading possessed by no other religious weekly published.

3. Mrs. Harriet B. Stowe Will Write Exclusively for the CHRISTIAN UNION during the year 1872, with the exception of one short story all ready engaged for another periodical.

MANHOOD

IN THE

Young and Rising Generation.

The vegetable powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show their baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body, too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwardly upon themselves.

If the patient be a female the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it is fed on. The energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain. The parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

For Weakness Arising from Excesses or Early Indiscretion,

attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such Patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for fear of themselves; no repose of matter, no earnestness, no speculation, but a hurried transition from one question to another.

THESE SYMPTOMS, IF ALLOWED TO GO ON—WHICH THIS MEDICINE INVARIABLY REMOVES — SOON FOLLOW LOSS OF POWER, FATUITY AND EPILEPTIC FITS, IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients. Reason has for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths of Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibitions appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute; neither mirth nor grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.

"With woful measures wan despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguile."

While we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences.

Beware of counterfeits and those cheap decoctions called Buchu, most of which are prepared by self-styled doctors, from deleterious ingredients, and offered for sale at "less price" and "larger bottles," etc. They are invariably bad and frequently injurious. Ask for Helmbold's. Take no other.

Is It Patriotism?

President Grant's re-nomination is bitterly opposed by some of the ablest men in the Republican ranks, as well as by the whole ex-rebel party of the North and South. The opposition of the party which inaugurated and upheld the war of disunion is a source of strength rather than weakness to the President;—if he had not deserved the hatred of the men who carried on the slaveholder's rebellion, he would be unworthy the confidence of those who believe that liberty and the Union were worth preserving, even though the divine right of trafficing in human flesh was overthrown in so doing. The shouts of the Democracy will not frighten the supporters of President Grant into withdrawing his name from before the Republican National Convention any more than they frightened Gen. Grant from the battlefields of the South. But the personal enemies (Republican ones, we mean) of the President are ceaseless in their efforts to displace him from the confidence of the majority of the people of the country, and to effect this have been bringing charge after charge of wrong doing against him—as fast as one is disposed of and shown to be groundless another being brought forward.

There was rascality in the New York custom house; an investigation was demanded by Republican Congressmen, which demand was all right and should have been made many years earlier, for the New York custom house has sadly needed purifying for twenty years past; but the manifest object of the movers of the investigation was not so much to reform abuses as to virtually put the President on trial for complicity in them, and to have the country adjudge him guilty until he could prove himself innocent. No sooner had it become evident that the testimony offered (much of it from the mouths of men who confessed themselves either thieves and therefore unworthy of belief, or else ex-office holders who showed a bitter animus against the administration which had decapitated them) would utterly fail to sustain the charge that the President had been concerned in or had profited by the custom house "irregularities," than the investigation lost all its interest and a new plan of attack was devised.

Prominent among these Republican assailants is Senator Sumner, whose life-long record of devotion to the cause of liberty and daring opposition to the encroachments of the Democratic slave power gives force to his assaults, and adds weight to his accusations, which the copperhead press all over the country eagerly lay before their readers, though the copperhead press was not always so willing to follow Mr. Sumner's lead or to endorse his statements. His last movement has been to arraign the administration for a breach,—not only of neutrality and good faith, in knowingly selling materials of war to French agents, while France was at war with Germany and America was at peace with both countries, but of honesty, in pocketing a portion of the proceeds. His resolution of enquiry no honest Republican would object to, though it does seem that Mr. Sumner might have chosen a more propitious time to introduce it than the present, when the most important equity suit the world ever knew of is in progress before the Geneva tribunal, in which suit it is of the last importance that our country, as the complainant, should appear with clean hands. Still, were there proofs that his charges were true, or even reasonable grounds of probability for believing so, he might well have made them at this juncture, for expediency should ever give way to justice; but we can only marvel that he should be willing to cast suspicion not only on the administration and through it on the Republican party, but on the national honor as well, when from his own showing in the long preamble with which he prefaced his resolution for an enquiry, he has nothing to go upon but newspaper reports,—for Mr. Sumner knows as well as any man living that "inaccuracies" will get into the newspapers, having himself been lied about for twenty years by his present followers, the Democratic press.

It is hard to believe that Mr. Sumner is actuated by other than patriotic motives, or what he believes to be such; but it is equally as hard not to believe that he is to a certain extent influenced by personal dislike of the President. All great men have failings — and Charles Sumner is a great man if one ever lived; we do not consider that President Sumner could be any greater man than Charles Sumner, the reformer and liberator, is now; but great men have failings and are not exempt from making mistakes; the President smokes, drew forth the opposition of the united Republican press by his persistence in the San Domingo scheme, and was held responsible for the removal of Mr. Sumner from the chairmanship of the Senatorial committee on foreign relations; a Republican Senator who voted against Andy Johnson's conviction, and thereby cast the only shadow on an otherwise stainless record, it is said voted so through jealousy of Mr. Sumner; the Democratic Congressmen from New Hampshire recently furnished 100,000 franked envelopes for the purpose of assisting their party by defrauding the revenue, and voted against amnesty because they preferred the southern rebels should remain as they are than to have the negroes granted civil rights; and it is possible that Mr. Sumner may unknowingly be influenced in his repeated attacks upon the President by a motive which he would not acknowledge to himself.

But whatever the motives of Mr. Sumner and the other Republican assailants of the administration, their assaults have hitherto proved harmless; the closest investigations have only exposed the groundlessness of the charges brought; and the Congressional friends of the administration, who opposed the inquiry (or rather the manner of making the inquiry) into the New York custom house affairs, have apparently become satisfied that the easiest way to refute all slanders is to grant every investigation demanded, and to have each as full and searching as possible. Their action and Mr. Sumner's preamble have destroyed the efficacy of the last assault, and the question now is, "What next?"

Political.

The large number of Republicans in New Hampshire who are desirous of serving their fellow-citizens as Selectmen or Representatives in the Legislature should bear in mind that the utmost union is an indispensable condition to their success at a future time. Hence, men who this year fail of nomination in town caucuses, but who may have their wishes gratified at another time, should do all in their power in behalf of every suitable nominee. Their own future success depends upon fidelity to the Republican cause. Defeat in the State this year carries with it defeat in the towns next; and any Republican who takes offence because his competitor in caucus has obtained the nomination, and makes mischief on town-meeting day, is damaging his own prospects, if not indeed utterly destroying all chances of future preferment. "A word to the wise is sufficient."

A dispatch from Washington, to the New York Times says: "The opposition press of New Hampshire teems with re-vamped and revived lies long ago exploded, about the immense defalcations among the officers of the Government. These statements are so ridiculously false that it would seem absurd to refute them; but being constantly reiterated they doubtless find some believers. Senator Patterson is preparing a crushing statement, based on the record of the Treasurer, with which he will nail these perpetrators to the wall when he opens the campaign this week. The showing of the administration grows grander with every month, especially in its financial policy."

The original "Veteran Observer" has come to the political surface once more with his powers of prevision apparently unimpaired. He says the Democracy will talk about nominating Trumbull of Illinois, Brown of Missouri, or Scott, the railroad King, but in due time Hendricks, or Pendleton, or Hancock, or Packer, or some man of that ilk will appear on the stage as the "real old Dr. Townsend" with his sarsaparilla remedy.

The Republicans of Somersworth were addressed by Messrs. Walcott Hamlin and A. F. Stevens on the 13th. Somersworth Republicans promise 300 majority for Straw. Last year Pike had 27.

The copperhead papers have for some time past been claiming that since 1865 an immense amount of naval material has been sold by the navy department and the proceeds not accounted for, the Democrats asserting that the money was stolen by the parties in power. The sums thus abstracted vary in different accounts, some of the copperhead papers putting it at $150,000,000, while Representative Beck, of Kentucky, from his place in Congress, has reduced the sum to $100,000,000. As the entire sales of condemned naval materials since March 4, 1869, amount to but $927,696.55, the copperhead administration of Andy Johnson must have made money pretty fast while they were at it.

—The Radicals are sorely troubled because the Democratic members of Congress from this State take the liberty to frank documents and speeches to their constituents. Hence they howl about the "abuse of the franking privilege."—Concord People.

Our copperhead cotemporary is mistaken; it is not the Republicans who are troubled because of that same wholesale "franking" by the copperhead Representatives; it is the copperheads who are troubled because the Republicans have found out to what an extent it is being carried on by the men who have "howled" so loudly against it. The Republicans do however consider it a little odd that the people at large should be obliged to pay all the postage for all the copperhead Granite Clubs and committees in the State, and that the copperhead papers filled with agonized "howls" about the "abuse of the franking privilege" by Republican Congressmen should be "franked" all over the State by copperhead ones. That distribution among the unterrified of a hundred thousand "franked envelopes" is the most brilliant scheme for supplementing the party funds by defrauding the postal department that has yet been brought to light, and shows that the New Hampshire copperheads are worthy followers of their great exemplar, Tammany, in other ways besides the vigorous counting of votes.

—Our friend Jacob Drew, Esq., recently received as boarder at the stone mansion on Silver street, the Democratic Town Clerk of the Democratic town of Middleton, put there by the Democratic Collector for non-payment of taxes.—Dover Enquirer.

—Nine wholesale stores in Toronto, Canada, were burned on Wednesday night. The total loss is estimated at $500,000.

—Beacon Park, Brighton, has been purchased by Jordan, Marsh & Co., of Boston, for $160,000.

OLD PREJUDICES ARE DYING OUT.—New facts are killing them. The idea that invalids weakened by disease can be relieved by prostrating them with destructive drugs, is no longer entertained except by monomaniacs. Ever since the introduction of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS it has been obvious that their regulating and invigorating properties are all-sufficient for the cure of chronic indigestion, rheumatism, constipation, diarrhœa, nervous affections, and malarious fevers, and they are now the standard remedy for these complaints in every section of the Union.

YEAS AND NEIGHS.—If horses could makes themselves understood in human language, they would signify by a universal "Yea," their assent to the statement that the MUSTANG LINIMENT is the best remedy extant for all these external ailments, and by a most emphatic "Neigh!" show their displeasure at every attempt to use any other preparation in its stead. Ever since its introduction at St. Louis, at the close of the Mexican War, in 1849, it has proved a signal blessing to horse and man—curing, with absolute certainty and wonderful despatch, such equine diseases as spavin, ringbone, poll evil, scratches, hoof-ail, &c., and relieving and finally removing the painful affections which attack the muscles, sinews and external glands of human beings. It is a fact beyond contradiction that for all injuries or complaints of man or quadrupeds to which an external remedy is applicable, the MUSTANG LINIMENT is preferable to every other.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

All the Year Round,

And in all parts of the world, the elements of disease are present in the air, the soil and the water, in a greater or less degree, and therefore the Great Vegetable Antidote to these invisible enemies of health, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is invaluable as a household medicine at all seasons and in every latitude. At no period of the year is a regulating and corrective medicine more needed than toward the close of winter, when the sun and rain are beginning to break up the winter blockade, and from the softening soil arises that terrible miasma, which weighs like an incubus upon the vital machinery, and depresses the animal spirits. It is then that the seeds of intermittent and remittent fevers, of rheumatism and rheumatic gout, of obstinate stomach complaints, of disorders of the liver and bowels, and a whole host of pulmonary and nervous complaints are sown.

The best, the surest way to prevent this disastrous seeding is to invigorate and refresh the system with a course of the Bitters. If this precaution be taken now, there will be no danger of the miasmatic germs taking roots in the fluids and tissues of the body, and bringing forth terrible fruit in the spring. Now is the time for prevention. Remember that vigor is the only safeguard against the miasm. Add that Hostetter's Bitters is the purest, the safest, the most powerful and perfect invigorant ever administered, either as protective medicine or a remedy. A change of season approaches which almost always proves more or less disastrous to persons of a weak, nervous organization. Brace up at once with the leading Tonic of the age. Purge from the blood all morbid matter, strengthen the nerves, and regulate and purify the secretions with the Vegetable Elixir, which combines the juices of the finest medicinal roots, herbs and barks, with the most wholesome of all diffusive stimulants.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

PRO BONO PUBLICO, is a motto "more honored in the breach than in the observance," but attached to Holloway's Pills and Ointment it is significant of their value throughout the civilized world. For the cure of asthma, coughs, colds, cutaneous eruptions, and bankrupt constitutions, they are the sheet anchor of the sick.

We understand that the whooping-cough is quite prevalent in the towns around us; but that no cases have proved fatal. Some families use nothing but Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. Our Doctor, however, says a little ipiac, to produce vomiting, would be an advantage.

There are more than one thousand different kinds of pills in the United States. Some of them are worthless and injurious, others are good and beneficial. Old Dr. Parsons invented the best anti-bilious pill we ever saw or heard of. They are now sold under the name of Parsons' Purgative Pills.

SUICIDE COMMITTED, as the result of an inactive state of liver and stomach, producing headache, obtuse intellect, dullness, despondency, dementia, and finally insanity, is no uncommon occurrence. All these disagreeable symptoms and bad feelings are most certainly dispelled by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It revitalizes and builds up the whole system. A little book on chronic diseases sent free. Address R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y. Golden Medical Discovery sold by all Druggists. 577.

BEAUTY'S BEST AUXILIARY.—Ask the belle of the season what appointment of her toilet-table holds the highest place in her esteem, and she will reply, without a moment's reflection, HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM. Nothing, she is thoroughly aware, contributes so powerfully to enhance her charms and render her irresistible as that most delightful and healthy auxiliary of Beauty. By using it ladies are enabled, long after they have passed the meridian of life, to preserve the youthful bloom and purity of their complexions, and where Nature has denied that superlative attraction, the Balm fully compensates for her deficiencies.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Laconics.

Mr. Nathaniel F. Pinder has opened a Provision Store at No. 100 Market Street, and will be pleased to furnish meats, vegetables, etc., to any who may favor him with a call. The new store is neatly fitted up and will be a great convenience to residents at the North End.

"The types" sometimes say queer things, and the pen sometimes writes them. Our neighbor the Journal, in its last issue, referred to Mr. A. Pearson as "one of our largest established musicians." Persons sufficiently acquainted with our Portsmouth music teachers to make a fair guess at the avivrdupois of each, will be in doubt whether to charge that "largest" to the types, the pen or the humerous propensities of the Journal's "local."

Mr. J. Mahlon Bickford of Newcastle has been appointed foreman of laborers in Steam Engineering Department at the Navy Yard, in place of Mr. James A. Waterhouse, who has been appointed foreman of laborers in Yards & Docks Department.

The fourth annual Ball of Dearborn S. F. Engine Co., No. 1, at Congress Hall on Wednesday evening, Feb. 21, promises to be a brilliant and successful affair. The members of the company intend to leave nothing undone which they can do to insure the pleasure of all attending, and the price of tickets,—only a dollar, including a supper at the engine house,—is so low as to warrant them in anticipating that all issued will be taken up. We understand that the Hall is to be handsomely decorated; Chandler's celebrated Quadrille Band, of Portland, Me., will furnish first-class music for the occasion. For list of floor managers and other particulars, see advertisement.

The Eastern Railroad company has 111 passenger cars and manufacture three per month. They have in use constantly 108 of these cars—a larger number than any other Railroad having a terminus in Boston.

One of our citizens was astonished in Salem, Friday, by being accosted and requested to cease smoking in the streets, by a policeman! He left in the next train, fearful of being arrested on a charge of witchcraft.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Martyn, assisted by Mr. Frank Burnham, cornet soloist, give another choice entertainment of select music at the Temple, this evening. Mrs. Martyn will repeat "Sherman's March to the Sea," her rendition of which at the former concert created so much enthusiasm. The Marine Band will be present and perform the overtures to William Tell and Fra Diavolo, and Mr. Martyn will play several brilliant concert pieces for the piano. Tickets 35 cents; concert commences at 8 o'clock.

It is reported that Mr. Thomas Neil has purchased the picturesque little cottage of Mr. J. F. Shores, on Middle Street, on private terms for a residence. It was planned and built by the artist, Samuel P. Long, Esq., and is one of the most beautiful estates in the city.

We are informed that it is proposed to organize a Portsmouth Jubilee Chorus Society, to visit Boston in June next, and join in Mr. Gilmore's grand International Peace Jubilee.

The Assessors' Committee on Abatement of Taxes, meet each Tuesday evening at the City Treasurer's room.

Portsmouth Music Society meets next Wednesday at Mr. Tilton's room.

Orders have been issued at the Navy Department for the immediate employment of a large number of workmen at this Navy Yard for the purpose of tearing the unfinished hull of the "Illinois" to pieces. This vessel is one of a class ordered built during the rebellion, when Florida oak could not be had. It was found necessary to use unseasoned white oak instead. The collapse of the rebellion rendered its completion unnecessary. The vessel is now much decayed and it is proposed to use her knees and the timbers remaining sound in the reconstruction of the U. S. S. "Marion." After the "Illinois" is removed a keel will probably be laid for a vessel to be built under the proposed appropriation for ten sloops of war.

A stickler for the motto "encourage your own" desires us to ask how much money was spent for the benefit of Boston merchants, which should have been distributed among our own, during the Eastern Railroad stockholders' meetings in Boston! He says those who spend their money in Boston are the first to complain of Portsmouth as a "one horse town."

State News.

Dr. W. G. Perry, of Exeter, has a horse that cannot be beaten for sagacity, considering he is not "trained." A short time since the doctor was called to visit a patient in Stratham. The time was evening, and the night bitter cold. Hitching his horse to a spike in the shed, the doctor went into the house and was gone about an hour. Coming out he found his horse waiting for him at the front door. The horse had walked up street and down street, about forty rods each way, and finally stopped in front of the house waiting for his master. This is a literal fact.

The store of Mr. John C. Leavitt in Effingham was recently burned with its entire contents. Loss $6000; insured $3000. It is the third time Mr. Leavitt has been burned out.

The Great Falls Journal say it is reported that the P., G. F. & C. R. R. Co. are to build depots at Great Falls, Salmon Falls, on the Berwick side, South Berwick and Brock's crossing.

On the 9th, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Gilman B. Hoyt, at Exeter, was visited by a number of their friends and neighbors, to the number of fifty or sixty, who were most hospitably received, and who made merry the evening by dancing, feasting and a general jollification. Several handsome presents were given the surprised couple.

Noon's woolen mills at Peterborough, were destroyed by fire Friday. Mrs. Eben Upton, an employee of the mill, perished in the flames. The fire was caused by spontaneous combustion. Insured $2000 on mill and contents; loss much larger.

The Great Falls Journal says deers are plenty in the vicinity of Madison, on the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway Railroad. Eighteen have been killed there this season.

A HINT TO THE ENEMY.—The chairman of the Democratic State Committee has sent out a circular letter (which we have already printed from "advance sheets"), warning and entreating the poor men of that party, not to yield to pecuniary temptations, which it intimates will be set before them on election day, to desert the Democratic ticket. When we reflect upon the mournful state of thing which that letter suggests, our humanity gets the better of our politics, and we are willing to give the Democratic leaders a hint which, if acted upon, will certainly prove valuable. It is this: So shape your party policy that this tendency will be to raise poor men out of their poverty, and thus place them above the paltry temptation you say will be offered them, instead of making plank after plank in your platforms such as, if you were in power, would reduce all our poor laboring men to the level of the toiling millions of Europe's peasants. Encourage temperance, both by your personal example and by spurning the powerful aid which the groggeries have always given you and which you have always courted. Encourage manhood, by recognizing it and acknowledging its rights, under whatever form or color it appears. Encourage American industry, by dropping at once your destructive and suicidal free-trade doctrines, which you know would ruin American mechanics directly and American farmers indirectly, and which you know you have adopted merely for the sake of opposing the policy of the Republican party. Do these things, and kindred things which these will suggest, and you will soon find the poor and degraded voters of your party becoming comfortable and respected, able to "stand erect as God made them to stand" without a lamp-post to cling to, and able to spurn all bribes, from whatever source they may come.—Monitor.

ELOPEMENT.—A young lady living in North Berwick had a husband selected for her by her parents. The would-be husband had lived in the family three years. The young lady had promised to marry another lover. Her parents set the wedding day for the daughter and the man of their choice for Feb. 7th. The daughter anticipated the affair by leaving home and marrying the man she loved on the 5th, returning in time to notify her friends that the contemplated wedding was abandoned as she already had a husband. The scene closes with the foiled papa in a rage and victory for the right. Served the old gentleman right for hisinterference, the disappointed young man ditto for wishing to force a lady to marry him who didn't want to, and the fortunate husband likewise for being sufficiently sensible to select such a woman for his wife. No moral attached.

New Publications.

Almost every family has a canary bird or some pet of the bird kind. A little book of 72 pages by Charles Reiche of Germany, entitled The Bird Fancier's Companion, published by Charles Reiche & Bro., New York and Boston, will prove a valuable handbook for all such people. It contains the information required for the proper care of all European and American cage birds in health and sickness.

The Song Messenger for February has the usual amount of miscellaneous matter, four pieces of original music and an excellent article on the "Encore Fiend" of the concert room, in which that individual is consigned to the warm place in which so many thousands of people have so many times wished him. Root & Cady, publishers, Chicago, Ill.

ACCIDENT.—At Berwick on the 13th, Mr. Jacob G. Wentworth of Sanford, Me., while attempting to unyoke oxen from a sled, was thrown down. The oxen ran, he was doubled up in front of the sled and injured horribly, dying a few hours afterwards.

—Sandown, N. H., cheerfully announces the fact that it is without minister, lawyer or doctor.—Boston Post.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices —and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds the sewing done in this country, and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is lighter speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

A NABOB'S VISIT TO NEW YORK.—In Nevada there used to be current the story of and adventure of two of her nabobs, which may or may not have occurred. I give it for what it is worth:

Colonel Jim had seen somewhat of the world, and knew more or less its ways; but Colonel Jack was from the back settlements of the States, had led a life of arduous toil, and had never seen a city.

These two, blessed with sudden wealth, projected a visit to New York—Colonel Jack to see the sights, and Colonel Jim to guard his unsophistication from misfortune. They reached San Francisco in the night and sailed in the morning. Arriving in New York Colonel Jack said:

"I've heard tell of carriages all my life, and now I mean to have a ride in one; I don't care what it costs. Come along."

They stepped on the sidewalk and Colonel Jim called a stylish barouche. But Colonel Jack said:

"No, sir! None of your cheap John turnouts for me. I'm here to have a good time, and money ain't any object. I mean to have the nobbiest rig that's going. Now, here comes the very trick. Stop that yaller one with the pictures on it—don't you fret—I'll stand all the expense myself."

So Colonel Jim stopped an empty omnibus and they got in. Said Colonel Jack:

"Ain't it gay though? Oh! no, I reckon not. Cushions, windows and pictures till you can't rest. What would the boys say if they could see us entting a swell like this in New York? By George! I wish they could see us."

Then he put his head out of the window, and shouted to the driver:

"Say, Johnny, this suits me!—suits you're truly, you bet, you! I want this shebang all day. I'm on it, old man! Let 'em out! Make 'em go. We'll make it all right to you, sonny!"

The driver passed his hand through the strap-hole, and tapped for his fee—it was before the gang came into common use. Colonel Jack took the hand and shook it cordially. He said:

"You twig me, old pard! All right between gents. Smell of that, and see how you like it."

And he put a twenty dollar piece in the driver's hand. After a moment the driver said he could not make change.

"Bother the change! Ride out. Put it in your pocket.

Then to Colonel Jim, with a sounding slap on his thigh.

"Ain't it style, though? Hanged if I don't hire this thing every day for a week.

The omnibus stopped and a young lady got in. Colonel Jack started for a moment, then nudged Colonel Jim with his elbow.

"Don't say a word, he whispered. "Let her ride, if she wants to. Gracious, there's room enough."

The young lady got out her portemonnaie, and handed her fare to Colonel Jack.

"What's this for?" he said.

"Give it to the driver, please."

"Take back your money, madame. We can't allow it. You are welcome to a ride here as long as you please, but the shebang is chartered; we shan't let you pay a cent."

The girl shrank into a corner bewildered. An old lady with a basket climbed in, and proffered her fare.

"Excuse me," said Colonel Jack. "You are perfectly welcome here, madame, but we can't allow you to pay. Set right down there mum, and don't you feel the least uneasy. Make yourself as free as if you were in your own turn-out."

Within two minutes three gentlemen, two fat women, and a couple of children entered.

"Come right along, friends," said Colonel Jack; "don't mind us. This is a free turn-out." Then he whispered to Colonel Jim, "New York ain't no social place, I don't reckon it ain't no name for it."

He resisted every effort to pass fares to the driver, and made everybody cordially welcome. The situation dawned on the people, and they pocketed their money, and delivered themselves up to covert enjoyment of the episode. Half a dozen more passengers entered.

"Oh, there is plenty of room," said Colonel Jack. "Walk right in and make yourself at home. A blow-out ain't worth anything as a blow-out unless a body has company." Then a whisper to Colonel Jim, "But ain't these New Yorkers friendly? And ain't they cool about it too? Icebergs ain't anywhere. I reckon they'd tackle a hearse, if it was goin their way."

More passengers got in; more yet, and still more. Both seats were filled, and a file of men were standing up holding on to the cleats overhead. Parties with baskets and bundles were climbing up on the roof. Half-suppressed laughter rippled up from all sides.

"Well, for clear out-and-out cheek, if this don't tang anything that ever I saw, I'm as injun," whispered Colonel Jack.

A Chinaman crowded his way in.

"I weaken!" said Colonel Jack. "Hold on, driver! Keep your seats, ladies and gents. Just make yourselves free—everything's paid for. Driver, rustle these folks around as long as they've a mind to go—friends of ours, you know. Take them everywhere; and if you want any more money come to St. Nicholas and we'll make it all right. Pleasant ride to you, ladies and gents; go it just as long as you please—it shan't cost you a cent."

The two comrades go out, and Colonel Jack said:

"Jimmy it's the sociablest place I ever saw. The Chinamen waltzed in as comfortable as anybody. If we'd staid awhile I reckon we'd had some niggers. By George we'll have to barricade our doors to-night or some of these ducks will be trying to sleep with us."—From "Roughing it," by Mark Twain.

Cannot be cured by snuffs, washes or local applications. It is a weakness of the constitution, developing itself in the nasal organ first, afterwards extending to throat and lungs, ending generally in Consumption, if not checked by proper remedies. Pains in head, back, loins, and weakness of kidneys, are its attendant diseases. More people have Catarrh than any other disease. It is easily cured. Epilepsy or Fits.

A SURE CURE for this distressing complaint is now made known in a Treatise (of 48 octavo pages) on Epilepsy, and Native Herbs and Preparations, published by Dr. O. PHELPS BROWN. The prescription was discovered by him in such a providential manner that he feels constrained gratuitously refuse to make it known, as it has cured everybody who has used it for Fits, never having failed in a single case. CURE FOR

FEMALE WEAKNESS.

The Proprietor of this valuable Medicine, while suffering from loss of health some twenty years ago, received from an Indian sachem, from which she prepared some for her own use, which resulted in a cure. Many of her friends have used it with equally great success, and have urged her to introduce it to the public. She has consented, for the relief of suffering humanity to do so, and feels confident that it will prove one of the richest blessings to her sex. This is an internal remedy—entirely vegetable—will not injure the most delicate constitution, but is compatible to restore to supporters are not used under any consideration, nor the application of Caustic. It will eradicate all Humors, which is one cause of the great amount of great suffering. Its renovating effects are extraordinary, without a change in diet, as hundreds will testify. Three bottles will convince the most skeptical of its surprising properties. Its effects are wonderful in the Relief and Cure of the following diseases:—Prolapsus Uteri, Nervous Debility, Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of Heart, Depression of Spirits, Irregularities, Change of Life, Whites, Dropical Affections, Bilious Fever, Inflammation of the Kidneys, &c. Prepared and sold by MRS. LEUCR BELCHER, Randolph, Mass. Send for Circular. Sold by all Drug Gists, at $1.00 per bottle.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cures of the worst forms of complaints which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the virulent humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ or organs, whose action they derange, and whose disease they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear. Such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Side and Back, Female and Menstrual Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhea arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Constipation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawfebl6

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes it to fall off prematurely, and either effects unsightliness and suggests to be gone. Dr. Ayer's consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the glossy and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

DAUGHTERS. — An old gentleman, who ought to be seated astride the topmost ridge of Mt. Shasta, with a similar mountain pendant from either foot, writes to a literary paper that he has a daughter. We are delighted that this antique malefactor is blessed with progeny; that daughter will be a comfort to him when he gets along in years. We have ourselves wished for a daughter to support. But we wander.

This relic of a vanished age continues that his daugter is very fond of gentlemen's society. That is precisely the species of illness that would probably afflict our daughter, if we had a daughter to feed. We once knew a man whose daughter was so extremely fond of the society of gentlemen that her parent caught her one day hanging on the arm of a wooden Indian, and had to wean her from this singular partiality by means of an axe-handle. But to resume.

This hoary inquisitor goes on to explain that the gentlemen of whose society his daughter is mainly fond are, he has reason to believe, addicted to the consumption of cigars and the vice of billiards. It is probable. If any young woman shall ever secure the advantages of having us as a parent to buy her clothes, it is reasonable to apprehend that she will favor the same low class of gentlemen; they mostly do.

But the aged parent would like to know what he would best do about it. There are several methods of reform. Probably the most obvious and effectual is to kill her, take off her skin and hang her up to dry. The final disposition of the body is not important. In the process of the centuries we shall ever confer upon some comely damsel the honor of being daughter to us, and be responsible for her bills, it is to be presumed that we shall adopt this method.

Another way is to restrain her of her liberty by putting her into an abandoned well and dumping some tons of gravel atop of her. This plan is highly spoken of, and commends itself strongly to the judgment. Or the old gentleman may bind her ankles to an anvil and upset her out of a boat. It would be needless to point out the advantages of this plan. Finally, if he is too tender-hearted and affectionate to adopt any of the foregoing methods, let him lay her —properly chloroformed—under the upturned root of a mighty oak, and severing the trunk, let back the mountain of earth into its appointed place. With so great a variety of methods from which to choose, this anxious old gentleman ought not to be very long in solving the problem to which he has set his intellect.
—San Francisco News Letter.

—The heirs of Betsy Williams, a lineal descendant of Roger Williams, who died recently in Providence, leaving the larger part of her property, estimated at $2,000,000, to the municipal authorities there, say she was of unsound mind at the time of her decease, and are on the eve of entering a suit for recovery of the property in the courts in that city, as several of them have taken up their residende there. The old lady was very penurious and never wrote to relatives, declaring paper, envelopes and postage would ruin her. She lived on the plainest of food, and had it not been for the care of relatives would have starved herself to death. Her peculiarities were many. She was a monomaniac on the subject of cleanliness, and made visitors take off their shoes in the hall. It was her fixed opinion that the two greatest men who ever lived were George Washington and Roger Williams. Her house was covered with portraits of the latter, and no visiter must presume to wear his hat or sit down in the presence of the likeness of the deceased Roger. She had a singular religious belief, and had a little altar, on which were placed daily after breakfast three inverted cups, which she called the "Trinity of Holy Tea Leaves," and every morning it was her practice to spend an hour consulting these oracles.

"TRUTH STRANGER THAN FICTION."—We are informed that there is a widow woman now living in town who in her younger days resided in Nova Scotia, where her father kept a lighthouse. One day, during a violent gale, a vessel was driven on shore, and out of her entire crew, a young lad alone was saved. Her father took charge of and adopted him as his son, and in due course of time he fell in love with the daughter. A lover's quarrel occurred, as it oftentimes will during courtships, and he, feeling considerably vexed, went away to sea. The family moved to Gloucester, and the daughter married one of our fishermen, who was lost on Georges. Two years after this event who should arrive in town but her first lover, whom she had not heard from since he went away. He learned that she was in town, and after renewing the acquaintance, they were married. Being tired of going to sea, he followed fishing, and last season was among those who lost their lives on these treacherous fishing grounds.—Gloucester Advertiser.

BY HARRIET BEECHER STOWE.

AUTHOR OF "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN," "MY WIFE AND I," ETC.

Once there was a very good little girl, who, by reason of her goodness knew where to find strawberries in the winter. In the same way less perfect people, blessed by the generous fairies of memory and imagination, may sit, as I do now, in the midst of falling leaves and whistling winds, and call back the green grasses and the summer sun. I see yonder in the glen, the darting of our house, the gold gleam in her brown hair, a chain of daisies in her hand, and in her eyes the roguish meditation of a kitten, weary for an instant only of its play, and thinking slyly of another spring. Thrown back upon the velvet grass, she is not resting, only pausing from her bright glances to the tips of her tiny fingers she is wide awake.

But now the merry play is over, and our pet nestles yonder on the sofa cushion, tired at last in earnest. Slowly the lids fall, and the lingering smile dies out; but the flush in cheek and lip remains, like the glow after sunset. The gathered buttercups and daisies are loosely held by the fair little hand; no shadows, even of dream-land, disturb the sweet brow's perfect peace. She is fast asleep.

In other words, two chromos hang upon the wall, bewitching child-heads, to which every mother sees some thing of her own dear ones, never grown old, and never lost to her, however time or death may have dealt with them.

Nothing pleases more at first sight or gives pleasure longer than poetical pictures of children. "The little child" whom Jesus sets in the midst of every family is a joy that grows not old and fades not.

"Age cannot wither, custom cannot stale
Its infinite variety."

For this reason a happy picture of a child brings an enjoyment more lasting than any other, because it is a subject of which no one ever tires.

But these pictures, besides their constant charm for grown folks, are such as children can understand and love. Our little "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," would give many a pleasant hour of companionable amusement and intercourse to the little people akin to them in age. The pictures that children's eyes rest on as they are dropping off to sleep or as they awake in the morning, seem to them like living friends. All sorts of childish dreams and fancies make of the pictured face a real companion. Not only in the parlor and sitting-room would they be an attractive and filling embellishment, but they are a charming pair for the adornment of a nursery.

Undoubtedly these two pictures are portraits. There is a realistic faithfulness and truth about them that forbids the idea of their being fancy heads. They will remind many parents of little ones either here or in heaven. Dickens says of his portraiture of little Nell that he has had letters from the farthest region of the earth speaking of children who resembled her—so dear, and so early taken! He who paints one child well, paints thousands, and speaks to the tenderest feelings of innumerable hearts.

Of course there is a pleasure in possessing an original painting; but when the question lies between an original at five hundred dollars and a chromo which can scarcely be distinguished from it, at ten dollars—particularly when one has not the five hundred to spare—the choice is not very difficult. As to these two exquisite chromos, only a critical examination can distinguish between the copies and the originals, which sold for many hundreds—which is certainly more than can be said of the best copies of most pictures painted by the best artists.

Blessings upon the chromo-lithography, by which the successful painting of a master can be reproduced indefinitely and can enter thousands of homes with its educating, quickening, reforming influences!

It is not alone into the dwellings of the great and wealthy that we follow this pretty pair with anxious fancies of delight. We see them in the cottages of the poor, in the log cabin of the backwoodsman, brightening the toil of the hard-worked wife and mother, and receiving the almost adoring wonder of children who have never seen pictures before.

God bless the darlings—send the little comforters fast and far!

The charming pair of oil chromos, "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," of whose real beauty and attractiveness Mrs. Stowe's graceful sketch can give but an imperfect idea—so pleasing are they to all who love art or children—have always sold in the picture stores for $10, and the original publisher has never been able to supply the great demand for them even at that price. And yet, although thousands of them have been sold in America at that high rate, they are now within the reach of all, for they are to every subscriber to THE CHRISTIAN UNION, an unsectarian, literary, religious and domestic weekly newspaper, edited by HENRY WARD BEECHER.

The pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished to Mr. Beecher's publishers at a rate entirely exceptional. The subjects are LIFE-SIZE.

As to the CHRISTIAN UNION, the great success of that paper has been a marvel in the history of journalism, and the scholarly and critical New York Nation calls it "not only the ablest and best, but also the most popular of American religious periodicals."

This paper, hereafter will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, a decided advantage possessed by no other religious weekly published. It contains contributions from eminent writers of all denominations, and has matter of interest for every member of the household, young and old. For the year 1872, MRS. HARRIET BEECHER STOWE will write exclusively for the CHRISTIAN UNION.

It has something for every member of the household—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, ALL find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles, discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects; much matter of a bolder and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems, Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones; one of the chief attractions being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

The terms of subscription to this paper are: For one year ONLY $3.00. This will entitle the subscriber to the paper and to the above pair of beautiful Oil Chromos, THE CHRISTIAN UNION, Illustrated Holiday Number, (28 p. p.) will be sent FREE to all who now subscribe for the year 1872.

WHY?

What is the reason that the Literary, Religious, and Domestic Weekly, started two years ago, namely,

THE CHRISTIAN UNION,

should have so suddenly achieved a success that makes all newspaper men wonder?

Reasons Why!

1st. HENRY WARD BEECHER is its Editor, of whom the Chicago Interior said: "Probably no man on this continent sways so many minds, or is doing so much to shape religious thought for the next half century." His vigorous pen in Editorials and Star Papers, and Mr. Hillsmouth's famed verbatim reports of his helpful Lecture-Room Talk in Plymouth Church, are an attraction to thousands of readers, who always want to know what he thinks on religious themes and the topics of the times. He is also assisted by an able editorial staff.

2d. It Is Unsectarian in Religion, Independent in Political Discussion, and devoted to Morals, Reform, Home and Foreign News—both of Church matters and the world at large, Literature, Science, Art, Music, Agriculture, Trade, Finance, etc., etc., with contributions from eminent writers of all denominations—in all parts of the country.

3d. IT HAS SOMETHING FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE HOUSEHOLD—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, all find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects, much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems, Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones; one of its chief attraction being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

4th. It Admits no Medical or other possibly objectionable advertisements nor anything to offend the purest and most fastidious, and is therefore a favorite family paper.

5th. ITS FORM TWENTY-FOUR PAGES. Large Quarto, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, is so convenient for reading, binding, and preservation as to be a great special merit in its favor, apart from its superior literary attraction.

6th. A superb WORK OF ART IS GIVEN AWAY TO EVERY SUBSCRIBER AND THE SUBSCRIPTION PRICE IS

Only Three Dollars per Year.

SPECIAL

Attractions for 1872!

GIVEN AWAY!

The subjects are life size. For the pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished at a rate entirely exceptional. So that, although thousands of them have been sold in America at $10, and still are and will be sold at that price by the picture trade generally, they can be given to subscribers.

A MOSAIC.

WHAT THE PRESS SAYS:

Two very good chromos are "Wide Awake" and "Fast Asleep," (1) which have few rivals in the market for attractiveness [2]—fresh, sweet and blooming child-face [3] executed with true French skill [4]. We have rarely seen anything prettier than the two pictures, which, [5] both in color and sentiment are really beautiful [6]—worthy of a place in costly homes [7]. Unlike nine pictures out of ten that cost a good deal more, one can look at them day after day and not tire of them [8]. We have often stopped amid the bustle of Broadway to look at them, and never without feeling happier and better [7]. They cannot fail to please all who love art or children [8].

A subscriber writes to the Publishers:

"The chromos far surpass in beauty and style anything that I expected. A Neighbor of mine bought the same Chromos in New York a few months ago, and paid ten dollars for them. Please accept my thanks for them."

2. Enlargement and Change of Form. After the first of January, the paper will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four large quarto pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the sides,—a decided advantage in convenience for reading possessed by no other religious weekly published.

3. Mrs. Harriet B. Stowe Will Write Exclusively for the CHRISTIAN UNION during the year 1872, with the exception of one short story all ready engaged for another periodical.

4. THE ILLUSTRATED HOLIDAY NUMBER —OF— The Christian Union, (28 pages) will be sent

MANHOOD

IN THE

Young and Rising Generation.

The vegetable powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show their baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body, too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwardly upon themselves.

If the patient be a female the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it is fed on. The energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain. The parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

TRY HELMBOLD'S

EXTRACT BUCHU

For Weakness Arising from Excesses or Early Indiscretion,

attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such Patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for fear of themselves; no repose of matter, no earnestness, no speculation, but a hurried transition from one question to another.

THESE SYMPTOMS, IF ALLOWED TO GO ON—WHICH THIS MEDICINE INVARIABLY REMOVES — SOON FOLLOW LOSS OF POWER, FATUITY AND EPILEPTIC FITS, IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients. Reason has for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths of Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibitions appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute; neither mirth nor grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.

"With woful measures wan despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguile."

While we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1872.

The Prospect.

Cheering news comes to us from all portions of the State, showing that the Republicans are shoulder to shoulder in the present campaign, moving steadily on the enemy's works. A letter from a shrewd Republican who resides in Rochester assures us of a heavy gain in that town. We are glad to hear also from other sources that the Temperance men, fearing the repeal of the prohibitory liquor law should the Democrats control the legislature, are wheeling into line with their old friends and the vote for the temperance candidate for Governor will be small. Many of the Labor Reformers are gravitating towards Weston, going where they belong. This simplifies the contest. There will hardly be 1000 scattering votes, as things look now, and in that contingency Hon. E. A. Straw will be chosen Governor by 2000 majority or more.

Democratic Practice.

Messrs. Ellery A. Hibbard and Hosea W. Parker, Democrats, who were accidentally elected to Congress from this State last year, voted against taking off the duties on coffee and tea recently. Such regard have these Democratic "friends of the workingmen" for the poor!

Political.

Speaking of the wretched failure of the charge of corruption against the administration in connection with the sale of arms to the French, the New York Herald says Senator Sumner's bomb burst between his legs!

The liberal Republican convention will meet at Cincinnati in May, after all. Trumbull of Illinois is the most prominent man named for President among the liberals.

The Cincinnati Commercial says that Senator Patterson is one of the most accomplished, pure and trustworthy men in Congress.

The Senate committee have decided adversely to the claims of Gen. Joseph C. Abbott to a seat from North Carolina. Two members of the committee did not concur with the majority.

The German Republican committee in New York has elected a new executive committee, and resolved that while adhering to the national nominations of the republican party, they will act in municipal affairs with any party honestly working for reform.

The California assembly, which is republican, by a vote of 54 to 17, passed a resolution asking Congress to permit the levying of a special mining tax on the Chinese; and the Senate, which is democratic, has passed the same resolution to be engrossed.

Senator Patterson has arrived home from Washington, and will immediately take the stump.

The French Catholic Fair at Manchester closed on Saturday. It was announced that a handsome rosewood cane with a gold head would be presented to the candidate for Governor who received the largest number of tickets, the price of which was ten cents each. There was a sharp contest which was between the friends of Gov. Weston and Hon. E. A. Straw. The friends of Mr. Straw won by over 800 majority. The profits on the cane were about $650. The profits of the fair will amount to nearly $3500.

Large Republican meetings were held at Pittsfield and Weare, Saturday evening.

The New Hampshire men at Washington, D. C., had another rally on Saturday evening, when it was announced that every voter would report at the home polls in March. Gen. Natt Head, Messrs. E. Riddle and Aaron Young, who are in attendance upon the Agricultural Convention, Hon. J. H. Ela and Hon. L. H. Chandler addressed the meeting.

THE KU-KLUX.—The joint select Congressional committee report the condition of affairs in the late insurrectionary States. The evidence taken in Washington and South Carolina is submitted, as is also the report of the subcommittee to digest the reports of the executive officers of the States. Testimony taken in other States is yet unprepared and will be submitted in a supplementary report. The committee say inquiry has been made into the commission of outrages, execution of the laws, bad legislation, official incompetency, corruption, &c. There is a remarkable concurrence of testimony that the courts and juries administer justice between man and man in all ordinary cases, but the evidence is equally decisive that redress cannot be obtained against those who commit crimes in disguise and at night. The reasons assigned are that indentification is almost impossible; and when this is attempted the combinations and oaths of the order come in and release the culprit by perjury either on the witness stand or in the jury box, and that the terror inspired by their acts as well as public sentiment in their favor in many localities paralyzes the arm of the civil power. Numerous complaints are made of the incapacity of inferior magistrates, and in several States governors are charged with abuse of their pardoning power.

The commitee trace, as far as able, the origin, extent, purposes and mode of operation of the Ku-Klux Klan, the time of whose organization is fixed in 1866, and the testimony in reference to which covers 1400 pages. The report of the sub-committee of the elections in Louisiana and the contested election cases in 1868 show that the object of the Ku-Klux was to oppose and reject the principles of the radical party. The newly made voters of the South at the close of the war, it is testified, were kindly disposed toward their former masters, and the feeling between them even yet seems to be one of confidence in all other than their political relations. The refusal of their former masters to participate in political reconstruction necessarily left the negroes to be influenced by others. Many of them were elected to office and entered it with honest intention to do their duty, but they were unfitted for its discharge. Thro' their instrumentality many unworthy white men, having obtained their confidence, also procured public position in the legislative bodies. This mixture of ignorant but honest men with better educated knaves gave an opportunity for corruption, and this opportunity has developed a state of demoralization on this subject, which accounts for many of the wrongs of which the people justly complain. It is apparent at the same time that the demoralization is not confined to race, nativity or political creed, but presents specimens alike in the negro, carpet-bagger and white native citizens of both parties.

These remarks are not applicable to all the reconstructed States, but they are to several of them. Taking South Carolina as an illustration—and it is certainly as bad in these respects as any of the States—and there can be no doubt that venality and corruption in the legislature prevail largely. We point to the results of opinion in South Carolina in the fact that the negroes in the nine counties in that State in which Ku-Klux violence prevailed to such an extent as to call for a suspension of the writ of habeas corpus in them, are much more intelligent than in any other part of the State. The fact that they are so demonstrates that it requires the strong arm of the government to protect its citizens. The strong feeling which led to the rebellion cannot be expected to subside at once, nor in years. It required full 40 years to develope disaffection into sedition and sedition into treason. Should we not be patient, if in less than 10 years, we have a fair prospect of seeing so many who were armed enemies becoming obedient citizens? But while we invoke this forbearance and conciliation, let it be understood that less than obedience to the government we cannot accept. Appealing for patience and forbearance in the North, we would also appeal to the good sense of the southern men if they sincerely desire to accomplish political reforms through a change in the negro vote. If their theory is true that he votes solidly now with the republican party and is kept there by his ignorance and by deception, all that is necessary to keep him there is to keep by their countenance the Ku-Klux organization.

The law of 1871 has been effective in suppressing for the present, to a great extent, the operations of disguised men in North and South Carolina. Bills also have been found by grand juries in Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi, but comparatively few, if any of the defendants in the last named States have yet been tried. The apparent cessation of operations should not lead to the conclusion that the community would be safe if protective measures were withdrawn. These should be continued until there remains no doubt of their actual suppression. The results of suspending the writ of habeas corpus in South Carolina show that where the membership, mysteries and power of the organization have been concealed, this is the most and perhaps the only effective remedy for its suppression. And in view of its cessation and resumption of hostilities, at different times, of its extent and power, and that in several of the States where it exists the courts have not yet held terms at which cases could be tried, we recommend that the power conferred upon the President by the fourth section of that act be extended until the end of the next session of Congress; also, in view of the large number of indictments found in several courts under this act, which yet remain untried, and of the evident encouragement derived from the belief that the present United States courts cannot possibly reach them within any reasonable time, we recommend such an increase of the judiciary of the United States by districts and circuits in the States shown to be affected by these disorders, as in the judgment of Congress will secure speedy justice to be administered and leave no hope of immunity to criminals by the laws' delay.

The continuance of disabilities is the only cause not yet considered. No man under disabilities has avowed himself as either committing or encouraging outrages for that reason, and no member of the organization has justified their acts on that ground. It is one of the pretexts made by those who were willing to urge any plausible excuse for outrages which admit of none. But to remove the alleged impediments to local government, encountered by the existence of disabilities to hold office, and being satisfied that there should be a general removal of them, with proper conditions and exceptions, we recommend the passage of the law for that purpose, agreeing in the recommendations made by the President to exclude from its benefits any great criminals, distinguished above all others, for the part they took in opposition to the government. In this connection we wish to say that as a disregard of the law has been an evil so largely complained of and so widely extended in the late insurrectionary States, no encouragement should be given to those who have accepted office in defiance of the existence of constitutional disabilities, or have elected to office men whom they knew to be excluded by them.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

PRO BONO PUBLICO, is a motto "more honored in the breach than in the observance," but attached to Holloway's Pills and Ointment it is significant of their value throughout the civilized world. For the cure of asthma, coughs, colds, cutaneous eruptions, and bankrupt constitutions, they are the sheet anchor of the sick.

OLD PREJUDICES ARE DYING OUT.—New facts are killing them. The idea that invalids weakened by disease can be relieved by prostrating them with destructive drugs, is no longer entertained except by monomaniacs. Ever since the introduction of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS it has been obvious that their regulating and invigorating properties are all-sufficient for the cure of chronic indigestion, rheumatism, constipation, diarrhœa, nervous affections, and malarious fevers, and they are now the standard remedy for these complaints in every section of the Union.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

All the Year Round,

And in all parts of the world, the elements of disease are present in the air, the soil and the water, in a greater or less degree, and therefore the Great Vegetable Antidote to these invisible enemies of health, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is invaluable as a household medicine at all seasons and in every latitude. At no period of the year is regulating and corrective medicine more needed than toward the close of winter, when the sun and rain are beginning to break up the winter blockade, and from the softening soil arises that terrible miasma, which weighs like an incubus upon the vital machinery, and depresses the animal spirits. It is then that the seeds of intermittent and remittent fevers, of rheumatism and rheumatic gout, of obstinate stomach complaints, of disorders of the liver and bowels, and a whole host of pulmonary and nervous complaints are sown.

The best, the surest way to prevent this disastrous seeding is to invigorate and refresh the system with a course of the Bitters. If this precaution be taken now, there will be no danger of the miasmatic germs taking roots in the fluids and tissues of the body, and bringing forth terrible fruit in the spring. Now is the time for prevention. Remember that vigor is the only safeguard against the virus of disease, and that Hostetter's Bitters is the purest, the safest, the most powerful and perfect invigorant ever administered, either as protective medicine or a remedy. A change of season approaches which almost always proves more or less disastrous to persons of a weak, nervous organization. Brace up at once with the leading Tonic of the age. Purge from the blood all morbid matter, strengthen the nerves, and regulate and purify the secretions with the Vegetable Elixir, which combines the juices of the finest medicinal roots, herbs and barks, with the most wholesome of all diffusive stimulants.

We understand that the whooping-cough is quite prevalent in the towns around us; but that no cases have proved fatal. Some families use nothing but Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. Our Doctor, however, says a little ipicac, to produce vomiting, would be an advantage.

There are more than one thousand different kinds of pills in the United States. Some of them are worthless and injurious, others are good and beneficial. Old Dr. Parsons invented the best anti-bilious pill we ever saw or heard of. They are now sold under the name of Parsons' Purgative Pills.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

An Artful Dodge.

When the Democratic minority in the legislature, last June, had succeeded in securing a bare majority by the purchase of the Labor Reformers, it became necessary, to promote the success of the copperhead schemes for gerrymandering Republican cities so that they should elect Democratic delegations to the legislature in future, to send home a number of Republican representatives. This city had eight Republican representatives, and it was decided to unseat two, one each from Wards One and Two. To give a slight color of decency to this outrage, a committee of Democrats (including a man who is claimed by his party to be one of the city's best friends, several liquor dealers and at least two men who at that time had seven years' unpaid taxes standing against them on the city books) went to Concord for the purposes of testifying that Wards One and Two were deficient in the number of ratable polls required for four representatives each; the copperheads carried their point, of course, (the Democratic committee being so earnest in their work that men now living—including at least one present subscriber of the GAZETTE—were sworn to as being dead, though the names of Ex-Gov. Goodwin, Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett and Col. Peirce were not stricken from the list of ratable polls as at first proposed, "as it was not found necessary,") for with that party might has always made right; and two Republican representatives were unseated,—the influence of this city in the councils of the State of course being seriously diminished by that action.

But the gerrymander did not work; the proposed boundary lines for the wards, resembling in their eccentricity Virginia fences demoralized by an earthquake, and the adoption of which would have ensured the returning of a copperhead delegation to the legislature from this city in spite of its handsome Republican majority of voters, were not adopted. Had the wards been gerrymandered as proposed, the Democratic foglers would have been all right; no future canvass of the newly-arranged wards would have brought home to them the scoundrelism they were guilty of in unseating the two representatives on what they knew to be false pretences. But the ward boundaries were not altered, which left the copper wire pullers in a bad position; however, a lie once told is to be "stuck to," according to Democratic morality, so the local mouthpiece of that party has at reasonable intervals during the past year reaffirmed that Wards One and Two have not ratable polls enough for four representatives each, and a few weeks since stated that so firmly were the copperheads convinced of that fact that but three candidates would be nominated by the Democrats in each of those wards! Wonderful magnanimity! Did they have a majority in those wards, such action would show that the Democrats believed what they said concerning the number of ratable polls; but as they are in a hopeless minority and their nomination of one or twenty candidates would have no influence whatever on the number of representatives elected, it must be regarded as an attempt to secure a character for political honesty at as extremely cheap rate. But it will deceive no one.

The canvass of the two wards named has been completed, every name concerning which there was the least doubt being rigidly excluded, and the result shows that each ward is entitled to four Representatives, beyond the questioning of any honest man or party. But honesty cannot be charged against the Democratic party; and one leading man of that party—probably the ablest organizer and wire-puller they have in this city—openly boasts that nothing can give Wards One and Two more than six votes in the organization of the House, as the copperhead Clerk, acting under the orders of Bingham, Sinclair & Co., will refuse to call the names of more than that number, the Democracy not caring a snap whether the two wards are entitled to eight votes or not, if they can only manage to keep two of them out.

"What are you going to do about it?" The conundrum is too difficult—we give it up; but the exposure of every additional scheme of trickery and fraud by which the copperheads hope to ensure the success of their partizan schemes, should act as an additional incentive to the Republicans to spare no honorable means of swelling the vote of the party throughout the State, as well as to put them more than ever on their guard against the artful dodging of their opponents, whose record of the past year only furnishes fresh evidence that if law and right stand in the way of their partizan plans then law and right will be kicked aside or trampled under foot, if the Democracy have power to do it.

Laconics.

We have seen a fine specimen of Western Corn, raised by Mr. Joshua S. Moses, son of Mr. William Moses of this city, who has located himself at Lee Centre, Lee Co., Illinois, as teacher in winter and farmer in summer. He took up a tract of new land a year ago, built a house, and last season (for the first crop) raised six hundred bushels of corn and cut twenty-five tons of hay, with the aid of a pair of horses.

The Six Jolly Associates have their regular weekly assembly at Irving Hall, this evening. Turner's full band (five pieces) will furnish music.

We learn on the authority of "the boys" that a flock of robins have wintered in Hall's pasture, near Sagamore Creek, this season, having been seen on numerous occasions.

On Thursday, Mr. George R. Stone left Lynn on the Pullman morning train and on arriving in this city ascertained that he had lost $100. He telegraphed back to Lynn immediately but did not recover the money. He thinks he dropped it in the Lynn depot.

Schooner Queen of the Bay, 17 tons new measurement, Capt. Samuel Short, from Newburyport, winter fishing out of Portsmouth, with a crew of 15 men, has stocked $2200 since Nov. 15, 1871, the men sharing $340 each. On Tuesday, they landed 13,000 lbs. cod, which with a haul of two days previous, gave the men $80 each for four days' labor. The Nettie Adams on Thursday took 9000 pounds cod. The fishing was excellent, the wherries bringing in from 800 to 1500 lbs each.

A Washington dispatch says that one of the new steam sloops to be constructed at this Navy Yard will cost $600,000.

On Monday evening two marines were driving down Congress Street at a furious rate when their team came in collision with another, upset and injured one of them severely. The team belonged to E. H. Balch and was but slightly damaged.

Rye.

We learn that the body of Mr. J. Rienzi Jenness arrived on Wednesday from Washington, and was conveyed to the Ocean House at Rye Beach. It will lie in state in the Rotunda of the Hotel for several days, and an opportunity to see the remains will be afforded the friends of the deceased. Mr. Jenness leaves a wife and three children to mourn his loss.

Rye is to have a sensation next Friday evening, in the shape of a debate on "Woman's Rights," between the Supt. School Committee and a lady school teacher from Manchester. The latter is to bring the former to account for his want of faith in Madame Woodhull & Co.

Rye, like several other towns in this vicinity, is possessed of a desire to have a new Town Hall.

Dr. John W. Parsons of Portsmouth delivered his interesting lecture on "Health and Disease," to a large audience in the town of his nativity, Rye, on the evening of the 16th.

The new Second Advent Church is to be completed as soon as possible, and will probably be opened for religious services by May or June. H.

Eastern R. R. Meeting.

The stockholders re-assembled in the Meionaon, Boston, on Monday, and the committee on counting votes announced the result as follows:—

Whole number of shares voted on	20,155

Franklin Haven of Boston	19,605
John Wooldredge of Lynn	16,660
Thornton K. Lothrop of Boston	16,500
Henry L. Williams of Salem	15,828
Ichabod Goodwin of Portsmouth	14,883

John Brown of Boston	53
George P. Clapp of Boston	42

Offers to vote by different persons on 1710 shares were rejected by the Committee. The ballots cast for Frank Jones of Portsmouth were rejected by the Committee, as it appeared that Mr. Jones was not a stockholder in the Eastern Railroad, and therefore ineligible to the office of Director by the by-laws of the Company.

The report was adopted and it was unanimously voted that the Directors, if they deem it expedient, may lease or otherwise aid, as authorized by statutes, in the construction and operation of any branch or connecting railroads.

Resolutions of thanks to President Browne, who retires after fourteen years' service, and to Director Bates, were passed and the meeting adjourned sine die.

Morning Chronicle.

State News.

Eight years ago four persons in Raymond were keeping bills of mortality. Since then all have died.

The first session of the legislature held in Concord was in 1782, the year before the Revolutionary war closed. The place was the North church. Hon. John Dudley of Raymond was Speaker of the House. The session lasted but fifteen days. The village of Concord was not large then and had but little more than 1000 inhabitants. It was made the State capital in 1808. Then the population was more than 2000. The old State House was built in 1816; population then about 2500. Now it is 12,240.

The new Methodist church at Newmarket was dedicated on Thursday. Rev. Fales H. Newhall, D. D., of Lynn, Mass., preached the sermon. The building is a handsome structure, of Gothic style, 86 feet long and 60 feet wide, with a tower 130 feet high, and has seating accommodations for about 600 people. The entire cost of the building and organ is $27,000. The pastor, Rev. T. L. Flood, superintended the building of the edifice.

In Gorham there are four Democratic brothers whose combined weight is just two pounds over a thousand.

Alton folks can't strike water at less than seventy feet depth, the place being located over the bed of an ancient lake.

Mr. Winslow H. Gilman of Farmington has invented a shoe pattern cut from a whole piece of leather and having but one seam. It saves ten cents on every pair.

At the Supreme Court sitting in Colebrook Oliver Frost sued Henry M. Leavitt, a Deputy Sheriff, for arresting him, with other Frenchmen, on the night of the 24th of July, 1870, the date of the great fire in Colebrook. Frost alleged that the arrest was made without due process of law or a warrant and that he and the others were not accorded food or rest. A verdict of $20 was returned in favor of the plaintiff.

THE STORM IN THE WEST.—A Sioux City despatch says that a letter received from Colonel N. S. Porter, an old and respected citizen of Ponca, Dixon county, Nebraska, says ten men, in addition to two before reported, were frozen to death or missing in Dixon county and in Winnebago, Indian Territory. The bodies of some of them have not been recovered, but the missing men have undoubtedly all perished. The people living near the head of Logan and South Creeks, obtained fire-wood of the Winnebago agency, and on Monday morning, the weather being very pleasant, a party were engaged in cutting a supply to last the balance of the winter when the storm suddenly came upon them. Seven are dead or missing. A man named Austin, his son and a boy named Collins were overtaken by the storm near Ponca. All three were frozen to death. Several other deaths have been reported, but no particulars have been obtained. The suddenness of the storm is unparalleled, and was more severe by the reason of the snow being damp when the storm commenced and afterward freezing. Several men who were out in the storm say the snow and ice was positively six inches in thickness all over their heads, and it was with great difficulty they could keep an opening through which to breathe. The loss of stock in the State is very heavy and will probable reach several hundred head. It is feared that the worst is not yet known and that more deaths have occurred.

MR. CHARLES F. STORER, a well known builder belonging in Chelsea, was killed Saturday evening by Mr. Azro B. Bartholomew. The men had been quarreling for a year over a widow, Mrs. Susan D. Gilbert, and Storer had many times laid in waiting on the steps of her residence until late at night to prevent Bartholomew seeing her. The latter entered the house Saturday evening while drunk. Storer went in a few minutes after and in a quarrel threw Bartholomew. He then started for the street but was followed and stabbed with a knife by Bartholomew, dying immediately. He leaves a wife and four daughters. Bartholomew is a widower, 61 years of age, a machinist by trade, and was formerly a Boston policeman.

RAILROADS. — The Union Pacific Railroad from Omaha on the Mississippi river to San Francisco, California, is some more than 1700 miles, and cost about $30,000,000. The Northern Pacific Railroad, from Lake Superior to Columbia river, Oregon, now being built, will be more than 1700 miles long and it is calculated its cost, with rolling stock, will be $100,000,000.

CATARRH
Cannot be cured by snuffs, washes or local applications. It is a disease of the entire constitution, developing itself in the nasal organ first, afterwards extending to throat and lungs, ending generally in Consumption, if not checked by proper treatment. Pain in head, back, loins, and weakness of kidneys, are its attendant diseases. More people have Catarrh than any other disease. Hundreds can testify. Thousands of men, some of twenty-five years' standing, have been entirely cured in New Hampshire the past two years by the Peabody Medicines. Pamphlets containing testimonials to back the above sent free upon application to LITTLEFIELD & HAYES, proprietors and druggists, Manchester, N. H. Price, $1 per bottle.

LEPTANDRIN.
Epilepsy or Fits.
A SURE CURE for this distressing complaint is now made known in a Treatise (of 48 octavo pages) on Foreign and Native Herbal Preparations, published by Dr. O. PHELPS BROWN. The prescription was discovered by him in such a providential manner that he cannot conscientiously refuse to make it known, as he has cured every body who has used it for Fits, never having failed in a single case. The ingredients may be obtained from any druggist. A copy sent free to all applicants by mail. Address Dr O. PHELPS BROWN, 21 Grand Street, Jersey City, N. J.

CURE FOR
FEMALE WEAKNESS.
The Proprietor of this valuable Medicine, while suffering from loss of health some twenty years ago, received an Indian recipe, from which she prepared some for her own use, which resulted in a cure. Many of her friends have used it with equally gratifying success, and have urged her to introduce it to the public. She has, therefore, for the relief of suffering humanity to do so, and feels confident it will prove one of the richest blessings to the sick. This is an internal remedy—entirely vegetable—will not injure the most delicate constitution, but is congenial to nature, as supporters are not used in any case whatever, nor the application of Caustic. It will eradicate all Humors, which is one cause, in many cases, of great suffering. Its renovating effects are extraordinary, without a change in diet, as hundreds will testify. Three bottles will convince the most skeptical of its surprising properties. Its effects are wonderful in the Relief and Cure of the following diseases:—Prolapsus Uteri, Nervous Debility, Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of Heart, Nervous and Spinal Irregularities, Change of Life, Whites, Dropsical Affections, Biliousness, Inflammation of the Kidneys, &c. Prepared and sold by MRS. LINUS BELCHER, Randolph, Mass. Send for Circular. Sold by all Druggists, at $1.00 per bottle.

AYER'S
SARSAPARILLA,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always distressing and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of those same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa, Gravel from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country, and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is lighter speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.
Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes it to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it its features to their original softness and agreeable expression.
As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

PENSIONS. — Mr. Sessions of New York some time ago offered a bill in the U. S. House of Representatives to increase the pensions of the following classes of pensioners, viz: Those who have lost total eyesight, those who have lost both legs, those who have lost both arms, and those who have lost one leg and one arm. These unfortunates now receive but $25 a month, and Mr. Sessions' bill proposes to increase the amount to $50 a month. The Committee on Pensions are now considering the bill, and should not hesitate about reporting it, as the number of cases to be benefitted is very small. The increase proposed will not take more than $15,000 from the Treasury, in addition to what is now paid for pensions. Of the navy pensioners, there is but one who would be benefitted by the increase.

The Committee on Revolutionary Pensions and Pensions of the War of 1812 has had a number of bills referred, but have not acted upon any, nor will they report to the House until after they shall have considered a general bill in relation to these pensioners. They will probably report a bill striking out all limitations and giving pensions to all who served for any length of time in the war of 1812. The majority of the Committee say they cannot appreciate the logic that deprives a man of pension who served fifty-eight or fifty-nine days or less and gives it to one who served sixty days. They contend that all were willing to serve sixty days, if the Government had need of their services for that time.

A CHARITABLE WORLD. — It is a temptation to a temperate man to become a sot, to hear what talent, what versatility, what genius is almost always attributed to a moderately-bright man who is habitually drunk. Such a mechanic, such a mathematician, such a poet he would be, if he were only sober; and then he is sure to be the most generous, magnanimous, friendly soul, conscientiously honorable, if he were not so conscientiously drunk. I suppose it is now notorious that the most brilliant and promising men have been lost in the world in this way. It is sometimes almost painful to think what a surplus of talent and genius there would be in the world if the habit of intoxication should suddenly cease; and what a slim chance there would be for the plodding people who have always had tolerably good habits. The fear is only mitigated by the observation that the reputation of a person for great talent sometimes ceases with his reformation.

It is believed by some that the maidens who would make the best wives never marry, but remain free, to bless the world with their impartial sweetness and make it generally habitable. This is one of the mysteries of Providence, and New England life. It seems a pity, at first sight, that all those who become poor wives have the matrimonial chance, and that they are deprived of the reputation of these who would be good wives were they not set apart for the high and perpetual office of priestesses of society. There is no beauty like that which was spoiled by an accident, no accomplishments and graces are so to be envied as those that circumstances rudely hindered the development of. All of which shows what a charitable and good-tempered world it is, notwithstanding its reputation for cynicism and detraction.—Charles Dudley Warner, in Scribner's for March.

—Those cannibals don't belong to Barnum. He has merely hired them of the king of the Fejee Islands for three years, giving bonds and security for their return at the expiration of that time. They are captives taken in battle, and are to be killed and eaten as soon as they get back, but Barnum says he intends to forfeit his bond and keep them. The Louisville Courier-Journal says if does he ought to be prosecuted for obtaining provisions under false pretences.

FACES ON THE WALL.

BY HARRIET BEECHER STOWE.

AUTHOR OF "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN," "MY WIFE AND I," ETC.

Once there was a very good little girl, who, by reason of her goodness knew where to find strawberries in the winter. In the way lies a perfect people, blessed by the generous fairies of memory and imagination, may sit, as I do now, in the midst of falling leaves and whistling winds, and call back the green grasses and the summer sun. I see yonder in the glen, the darling of our house, the gold gleam in her brown hair, a chain of daisies in her hand, and in her eyes the roguish meditation of a kitten, weary for an instant only of its play, and thinking slyly of another spring. Thrown back upon the velvet grass, she is not resting, only pausing from her bright glances to the tips of her tiny fingers she is wide awake.

But now the merry play is over, and our pet sees lies yonder on the sofa cushion, tired at last in earnest. Slowly the lids fall, and the lingering smile dies out; but the flush in cheek and lip remains, like the glow after sunset. The gathered buttercups and daisies are loosely held by the fair little hand; no shadows, even of dream-land, disturb the sweet brow's perfect peace. She is fast asleep.

In other words, two chromos hang upon the wall, bewitching child-heads, to which every mother sees some hint of her own dear ones, never grown old, and never lost to her, however time or death may have dealt with them.

Nothing pleases more at first sight or gives pleasure longer than poetical pictures of children. "The little child" whom Jesus sets in the midst of every family is a joy that grows not old and fades not.

"Age cannot wither, custom cannot stale
Its infinite variety."

For this reason a happy picture of a child brings an enjoyment more lasting than any other, because it is a subject of which no one ever tires.

But these pictures, besides their constant charm for grown folks, are such as children can understand and love. Our little "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," would give many a pleasant hour of companionable amusement and intercourse to the little people akin to them in age. The pictures that children's eyes rest on as they are dropping off to sleep, or as they awake in the morning, seem to them like living friends. All sorts of childish dreams and fancies make of the pictured face a real companion. Not only in the parlor and sitting-room would they be an attractive and fitting embellishment, but they are a charming pair for the adornment of a nursery.

Undoubtedly these two pictures are portraits. There is a realistic faithfulness and truth about them that forbids the idea of their being fancy heads. They will remind many parents of little ones either here or in heaven. Dickens says of his portraiture of little Nell that he has had letters from the farthest region of the earth speaking of children who resembled her—so dear, and so early taken! He who paints one child well, paints thousands, and speaks to the tenderest feelings of innumerable hearts.

Of course there is a pleasure in possessing an original painting; but when the question lies between an original at five hundred dollars and a chromo which can scarcely be distinguished from it, at ten dollars—particularly when one has not the five hundred to spare—the choice is not very difficult. As to these two exquisite chromos, only a critical examination can distinguish between the copies and the originals, which sold for many hundreds—which is certainly more than can be said of the best copies of most pictures painted by the best artists.

Blessings upon the chromo-lithography, by which the successful painting of a master can be reproduced indefinitely, and can enter thousands of homes with its educating, quickening, reforming influences!

It is not alone into the dwellings of the great and wealthy that we follow this pretty pair with anticipations of delight. We see them in the cottages of the poor, in the log cabin of the barkwoodsman, brightening the toil of the hard-worked wife and mother, and receiving the almost adoring wonder of children who have never seen pictures before.

God bless the darlings—send the little comforters fast and far!

The charming pair of oil chromos, "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," of whose real beauty and attractiveness Mrs. Stowe's graceful sketch can give but an imperfect idea—so pleasing are they to all who love art or children—have always sold in the picture stores for $30, and the original publisher has never been able to supply the great demand for them even at that price. And yet, although thousands of them have been sold in America at that high rate, they are now within the reach of all, for they are to every subscriber to THE CHRISTIAN UNION, an unsectarian, literary, religious and domestic weekly newspaper, edited by HENRY WARD BEECHER.

The pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished to Mr. Beecher's publishers at a rate entirely exceptional. The subjects are LIFE-SIZE.

As to the CHRISTIAN UNION, the great success of that paper has been a marvel in the history of journalism, and the scholarly and critical New York Nation calls it "not only the ablest and best, but also the most popular of American religious periodicals."

This paper, hereafter will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, a decided advantage possessed by no other religious weekly published. It contains contributions from eminent writers of all denominations, and has matter of interest for every member of the household, young and old. For the year 1872, Mrs. HARRIET BEECHER STOWE will write exclusively for the CHRISTIAN UNION.

It has something for every member of the household—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, ALL find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles, discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects; much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems, Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones, one of the chief attractions being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

The terms of subscription to this paper are: For one year ONLY $3.00. This will entitle the subscriber to the paper and to the above pair of beautiful Oil Chromos, THE CHRISTIAN UNION, Illustrated Holiday Number, (28 p. p.) will be sent FREE to all who now subscribe for the year 1872.

Send money in postal orders, drafts, or registered letters direct to the Publishers.

SPECIMEN COPIES of the paper will be mailed FREE of postage to any address on receipt of six cents, by J. B. Ford & Co., Publishers, 27 Park Place, New York. For full particulars, see advertisement in the next column, headed "Why?"

WHY?

What is the reason that the Literary, Religious, and Domestic Weekly, started two years ago, namely,

THE CHRISTIAN UNION,

should have so suddenly achieved a success that makes all newspaper men wonder?

Reasons Why!

1st. HENRY WARD BEECHER is its Editor, of whom the Chicago Interior said "Probably no man on this continent sways so many minds, or is doing so much to shape religious thought for the next half century." His vigorous pen in Editorials and Star Papers, and Mr. Ellinwood's famed verbatim reports of his helpful Lecture-Room Talk in Plymouth Church, are an attraction to thousands of readers, who always want to know what he thinks on religious themes and the topics of the times. He is also assisted by an able editorial staff.

2d. It is Unsectarian in Religion, Independent in Political Discussion, and devoted to Morals, Reform, Home and Foreign News—both of Church matters and the world at large, Literature, Science, Art, Music, Agriculture, Trade, Finance, etc., etc., with contributions from eminent writers of all denominations—in all parts of the country.

3d. IT HAS SOMETHING FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE HOUSEHOLD—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, all find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects, much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones; one of its chief attraction being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

4th. It Admits no Medical or other possibly objectionable advertisements nor anything to offend the purest and most fastidious, and is therefore a favorite family paper.

5th. ITS FORM TWENTY-FOUR PAGES. Large Quarto, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, is so convenient for reading, binding, and preservation as to be a great special merit in its favor, apart from its superior literary attraction.

6th. A superb WORK OF ART IS GIVEN AWAY TO EVERY SUBSCRIBER AND THE SUBSCRIPTION PRICE IS

Only Three Dollars per Year.

SPECIAL

Attractions for 1872!

GIVEN AWAY!

The subjects are life size. The pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished at a rate entirely exceptional. So that, although thousands of them have been sold in America at $10, and still are and will be sold at that price by the picture trade generally, they can be given to subscribers.

A MOSAIC.

WHAT THE PRESS SAYS:

Two very good chromos are "Wide Awake" and "Fast Asleep," [1] which have few rivals in the market for attractiveness [2]—fresh, sweet and blooming child-face [3] executed with true French skill [4]. We have rarely seen anything prettier than the two pictures, which, [5] both in color and sentiment are really beautiful [6]—worthy of a place in costly homes [7]. Unlike nine pictures out of ten that cost a good deal more, one can look at them day after day and not tire of them [8]. We have often stopped amid the bustle of Broadway to look at them, and never without feeling happier and better [7]. They cannot fail to please all who love art or children [8].

A subscriber writes to the Publishers:

"The chromos far surpass in beauty and style anything that I expected. A Neighbor of mine bought the same Chromos in New York a few month ago, and paid ten dollars for them. Please accept my thanks for them."

2. Enlargement and Change of Form. After the first of January, the paper will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four large quarto pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the sides,—a decided advantage in convenience for reading possessed by no other religious weekly published.

3. Mrs. Harriet B. Stowe Will Write Exclusively for the CHRISTIAN UNION during the year 1872, with the exception of one short story all ready engaged for another periodical.

MANHOOD

IN THE

Young and Rising Generation.

The vegetable powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show their baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body, too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwardly upon themselves.

If the patient be a female the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! Increase of appetite has grown by what it is fed on. The energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain. The parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

TRY HELMBOLD'S

EXTRACT BUCHU

For Weakness Arising from Excesses or Early Indiscretion,

attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such Patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for fear of themselves; no repose of matter, no earnestness, no speculation, but a hurried transition from one question to another.

THESE SYMPTOMS, IF ALLOWED TO GO ON—WHICH THIS MEDICINE INVARIABLY REMOVES — SOON FOLLOW LOSS OF POWER, FATUITY AND EPILEPTIC FITS, IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients. Reason has for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths of Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibitions appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute; neither mirth nor grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.

"With woful measures wan despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguile."

While we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences.

The Daily Chronicle,

Portsmouth, N. H.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1872.

ANOTHER GRAND RALLY was held by the Manchester Republicans, Monday evening. Smyth's Hall was filled to overflowing to hear Senator Wilson. He spoke substantially as follows:—The policy by which the public domain was rescued from speculators and jobbers and consecrated to homesteads was one of the grandest results of the republican party. [Applause.] The policy of giving lands to railroads, which is now urged against us, was inaugurated by the Democratic party more than twenty years ago. The amount they gave before going out of power will to-day buy four times the amount that has been given since 1860. [Applause.] The land given to the Northern Pacific Railway is worth comparatively little now, and nothing when it was given. That given to the Southern Pacific Railroad is not worth five cents an acre. It is a poor, miserable, God-forsaken, barren portion of earth, and any of this land which was taken was not taken away from you, but it will be developed into small farms. The land was given to the great line of railway and it will be opened to New England.

New England's sons will build the cars and the engines and work and run the road, and millions of dollars will come to us because the road is built. And there is the question of taxation. In taxing incomes we exempted those who had but little, and so all through we endeavored to tax luxuries highest and the necessities of life lowest. When I visited the Old World last year I had not so much interest in the tariff, but I found that in England they were complaining because we paid labor so well in this country that their laborers left them and came here, and consequently their prices were going up. I told them I was glad of it, and that I could stand that if they could; and to-day the price of labor in the mills and on the farms in England is higher than it ever was before; and these men I met said it was largely due to the fact that labor is so highly paid in this country, and I thank God it is so. [Applause.]

I may refer incidentally to the men in New York who not only stole sixty or seventy millions of dollars, but also the city and the State and the Erie railroad, and these thieves and those whom they aided with money in campaigns, are accusing us of corruption. I am willing the Democrats should run after our thieves. A Republican thief is a worse thief, because he sins against more light [applause], for he has few examples, while the democrats furnish many. [Applause.] The War department since the start has paid out more than $1,000,000,000 to soldiers, and the amount lost by defalcation or stealing was less than $250,000. There has been counted in the Treasury department these eleven years fifty-five thousand millions of dollars by three or four hundred men or women, and we have lost only $54,000 or $55,000 by it. During Andrew Johnson's reign, when the Democrats got most of the offices, there were forty defaulting collectors; if their bondsmen did not pay it, the government lost $1,755,000.

There have been but four during Grant's administration and the amount did not exceed $150,000.

We have had five defalcations among pension agents. They were all brave soldiers and the government had been deceived. There were two defaulters at Baltimore. They were tried, convicted and sentenced. One, an army officer, was sent to prison for ten years; Tweed, Connolly, Garvey, Sweeney—not one of the New York thieves is in prison yet. The difference between us is that the Democratic party will not punish its thieves, and we do. [Loud applause.] Since Grant came in we have sentenced fifteen or twenty men, most of whom had stolen under Johnson's administration. I predict that not one of these New York thieves will ever get inside the penitentiary. I asked a leading Democrat in Congress if he believed they would be convicted and sentenced, and he gave it as his deliberate opinion that not one of them will. Referring to the New York custom-house, the Senator said that the President has directed Secretary Boutwell to devise a plan to take the place of the general order business, and so arrange the matter that nobody should make any money that the business interests might be benefitted.

In closing he related a conversation with a Democratic member of Congress, who said he was glad the Senator was coming to New Hampshire, for if his party should carry both New Hampshire and Connecticut they would lose their heads and nominate Breckenridge or Davis for President. He thought the Democrats would nominate a Democrat for president, and said the nomination of a Republican would practically disband their party, and lose them hundreds of thousands of votes. There were disaffected Republicans who had gone over to the Democrats, but they carried very little influence with them. There were some men about the country who thought they had great influence with certain classes—the prohibitionists, Germans, free-traders, protectionists and so on—but he believed that the people followed their own convictions and allowed no man to buy or sell them. He closed by urging all to work manfully and energetically for victory, and was loudly applauded when he had finished his argument.

Political.

The Newburyport Herald says the election in this State "is the most important of the year in proportion to the population and the wealth of those engaged therein."

Gen. T. M. Hite addressed the Republican club of Lancaster on Monday.

Sir Charles Dilke addressed his constituents at Chelsea, England, on the 19th. He attacked monarchy because of the evils it engendered. Never did the rich less understand the wants of the poor, and should they continue to ignore them grave results will follow. Alluding to the relations of England and the United States, he attributed the existing state of ill-feeling to the ignorance which prevailed in aristocratic circles of American institutions.

Mr. C. C. Fulton, the editor of the Baltimore American, who is a member of the National Republican Convention, and who enjoys the full confidence of Gen. Grant, has in his Friday's paper an article urging those holding offices to refrain from attending the Philadelphia Convention as delegates. He concludes by saying: "Of one thing we are certain. Office holders will please the President more by staying away than by attending, and the nomination will be more popular if not a single ballot is cast by an office holder."

Hon. Charles Hale of Boston has been confirmed by the United States Senate as assistant Secretary of State.

The House of Representatives voted on Monday to repeal the duties on tea and coffee; yeas 153, nays 38.

DR. TUTTLE says:—"It is unnecessary for me to enumerate the diseases for which the VEGETINE should be used. I know of no disease which will not admit of its use, with good results. Almost innumerable complaints are caused by poisonous secretions in the blood, which can be entirely expelled from the system by the use of the VEGETINE. When the blood is perfectly cleansed, the disease rapidly yields; all pains cease; healthy action is promptly restored, and the patient is cured." WeSd

BUSINESS NOTICES.

PRO BONO PUBLICO, is a motto "more honored in the breach than in the observance," but attached to Holloway's Pills and Ointment it is significant of their value throughout the civilized world. For the cure of asthma, coughs, colds, cutaneous eruptions, and bankrupt constitutions, they are the sheet anchor of the sick.

We understand that the whooping-cough is quite prevalent in the towns around us; but that no cases have proved fatal. Some families use nothing but Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. Our Doctor, however, says a little ipecac, to produce vomiting, would be an advantage.

There are more than one thousand different kinds of pills in the United States. Some of them are worthless and injurious, others are good and beneficial. Old Dr. Parsons invented the best anti-bilious pill we ever saw or heard of. They are now sold under the name of Parsons' Purgative Pills.

OLD PREJUDICES ARE DYING OUT.—New facts are killing them. The idea that invalids weakened by disease can be relieved by prostrating them with destructive drugs, is no longer entertained except by monomaniacs. Ever since the introduction of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS it has been obvious that their regulating and invigorating properties are all-sufficient for the cure of chronic indigestion, rheumatism, constipation, diarrhœa, nervous affections, and malarious fevers, and they are now the standard remedy for these complaints in every section of the Union.

BEAUTY'S BEST AUXILIARY.—Ask the belle of the season what appointment of her toilet-table holds the highest place in her esteem, and she will reply, without a moment's reflection, HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM. Nothing, she is thoroughly aware, contributes so powerfully to enhance her charms and render her irresistible as that most delightful and healthy auxiliary of Beauty. By using it ladies are enabled, long after they have passed the meridian of life, to preserve the youthful bloom and purity of their complexions, and where Nature has denied that superlative attraction, the Balm fully compensates for her deficiencies.

YEAS AND NEIGHS.—If horses could makes themselves understood in human language, they would signify by a universal "Yea," their assent to the statement that the MUSTANG LINIMENT is the best remedy extant for all these external ailments, and by a most emphatic "Neigh!" show their displeasure at every attempt to use any other preparation in its stead. Ever since its introduction at St. Louis, at the close of the Mexican War, in 1849, it has proved a signal blessing to horse and man—curing, with absolute certainty and wonderful despatch, such equine diseases as spavin, ringbone, poll evil, scratches, hoofail, &c., and relieving and finally removing the painful affections which attack the muscles, sinews and external glands of human beings. It is a fact beyond contradiction that for all injuries or complaints of man or quadrupeds to which an external remedy is applicable, the MUSTANG LINIMENT is preferable to every other.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

All the Year Round,

And in all parts of the world, the elements of disease are present in the air, the soil and the water, in a greater or less degree, and therefore the Great Vegetable Antidote to these invisible enemies of health, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is invaluable as a household medicine at all seasons and in every latitude. At no period of the year is a regulating and corrective medicine more needed than toward the close of winter, when the sun and rain are beginning to break up the winter blockade, and from the softening soil arises that terrible miasma, which weighs like an incubus upon the vital machinery, and depresses the animal spirits. It is then that the seeds of intermittent and remittent fevers, of rheumatism and rheumatic gout, of obstinate stomach complaints, of disorders of the liver and bowels, and a whole host of pulmonary and nervous complaints are sown.

The best, the surest way to prevent this disastrous seeding is to invigorate and refresh the system with a course of the Bitters. If this precaution be taken now, there will be no danger of the miasmatic germs taking roots in the fluids and tissues of the body, and bringing forth terrible fruit in the spring. Now is the time for prevention. Remember that vigor is the only safeguard against the virus of disease, and that Hostetter's Bitters is the purest, the safest, the most powerful and perfect invigorant ever administered, either as protective medicine or a remedy. A change of season approaches which almost always proves more or less disastrous to persons of a weak, nervous organization. Brace up at once with the leading Tonic of the age. Purge from the blood all morbid matter, strengthen the nerves, and regulate and purify the secretions with the Vegetable Elixir, which combines the juices of the finest medicinal roots, herbs and barks, with the most wholesome of all diffusive stimulants.

House for Sale.
A Card—David Rodrick.

James P. Bartlett, Esq., of this city, gave one of his inimitable readings, Monday evening, at Hyde Park, to a large and appreciative audience.

Those interested in the formation of a Jubilee Society in this city, are invited to meet at the rehearsal of the P. M. Society, at Mr. Tilton's room this Wednesday evening.

There is to be a ball at Armory Hall in Kittery, this evening; first-class music will be furnished, (Harlow's quadrille band of this city are to make it,) and an oyster supper will be served free to all who pay $1 each for a ticket to the Ball.

We regret to learn of the failing health of Rev. A. J. Patterson, the eloquent pastor of the First Universalist Church, Boston Highlands. For the past two Sundays he has been unable to occupy his pulpit, and at a meeting of the Society it has been unanimously voted to grant Mr. Patterson a leave of absence for six months, that he may have an opportunity for entire rest from parochial labors, his salary to be continued and the standing committee to supply the pulpit.

The Firemen's Ball at Congress Hall this evening, given by Dearborn S. F. Engine Co., No. 1, will doubtless be an enjoyable and well conducted affair, as all the entertainments managed by the various companies comprised in the Portsmouth Fire Department, have been. The Dearborns, having had their arrangements with a local quadrille band upset, have at much expense procured music from Portland, Me.,—Chandler's famous quadrille band; and as the price of tickets is placed at $1. including supper, there will probably be no room to spare on the floor of the Hall.

THE HUGE FARCE of trying the New York grand jury which dared indict Edward S. Stokes for killing James Fisk, Jr., goes on. Stokes was evidently indicted for man's-laughter rather than murder.

THORNTON K. LOTHROP, ESQ., now president of the Portland, Saco and Portsmouth, will probably be president of the Eastern Railroad temporarily.

THE TRAVELLERS INSURANCE COMPANY.—This company has recently issued its annual circular and statement, from which we gather the following interesting statistics. It issued 31,797 general accident policies last year, and the total number of accident policies written, up to Jan. 1, was 234,554. It has paid 14,248 claims of policy-holders for death or injury by accident, thus disbursing a sum nearly equal to seven hundred dollars a day for every secular day since the company began business, about eight years ago. It is the only company in America issuing yearly accident policies and is noted for energy and ability of management. The same company does a large and increasing business in regular life insurance, of the all cash, low premium plan. It issued 2,745 life policies last year; whole number written, 13,326. The cash assets of the company are now nearly two millions, giving a large surplus over capital, re-insurance, and all liabilities whatever. The company is managed by good men, and is every way entitled to confidence. Morse & Ilsley are the agents in Portsmouth.

EXPLAINING THE JOKES. — When Artemus Ward was lecturing in London, he one day roused and somewhat perplexed his heavy British audience by gravely offering, for a small extra consideration, to call around at the houses next day and explain the jokes of the evening. What the famous showman offered to do in jest the Labor Reform candidate for Councilor in the Second district has been actually doing in solemn earnest. A small hand-bill, called "The Plaindealer," made up of poor paper, poor printing, poor English, and poor lies, is "issued weekly by the N. H. Reform Committee;" and the candidate referred to has been travelling from house to house in Wolfeborough, peddling the precious document and kindly explaining the jokes. They need it.—Monitor.

—The lively young ladies of Southville, Ky., have celebrated leap year by a public sale of the bachelors and widowers of the town. Lawyer bachelors, evidently of an inferior grade, brought $5 a head; farmers were knocked off at $4.25 to $5.50; doctors were something of a drug in the market, but went at $5 each; bachelors with no particular profession or trade met with very little competition, the bidding was dull and the prices ranged from 75 cents to $1.05; widowers were run up to $1000, and found eager bidders.

—The tourist will soon find the Yosemite Valley an easily-accessible place. Next season visitors will be carried by mail within eight miles of the valley, either by the Mariposa or Coulterville route. The horseback ride is reduced to two and a half miles. The fare from San Francisco will be twenty-two dollars, and the time of the trip one day and a half.

Spiritualistic.

The Cincinnati Commercial prints a letter from Rev. Henry D. Moore, formerly pastor of the North Church in this city, and now of the Vine St. Congregational Church in Cincinnati. He says:

I should have great difficulty in denying the doctrine of spiritual agency and in the affairs of the world; and I am quite prepared to admit the facts, the phenomena of Spiritualism, as they are claimed to be manifested to and among the so-called Spiritualists, notwithstanding there may be much of deception and mere imitations of wonders. I claim also, that these phenomena are in entire agreement with the history and facts of spiritual agencies and influences, and manifested wonders, as recorded in the Sacred Scriptures of Divine Revelation; also, that they are in fulfillment of the prophecies, the warnings and threatenings of these Scriptures.

But there is, I also claim, the True and the False Spiritualism, and that the False is no less real than the True; and in its sphere, and for the accomplishment of its ends, is no less miraculous, wonderful and operative. I believe that this distinction is, in a general way, recognized among all Spiritualists; and I would fain believe that they, in large numbers, are ready to affirm the distinction with more of emphasis, and separate themselves from the False, and rejoice in and manifest the power and grace of the True. The True is the "power from on High," of which the Holy Ghost is the Divine and Infinite agency. The False is the power or wisdom from beneath, of which the "Prince of this world—the spirit that ruleth in the children of disobedience,"—is the source and the agency.

These distinctions, and personal and powerful agencies, are indentified in the whole course of Bible revelation, and have some degree of affirmation in all human experiences. No people in our communities ought to be more interested in the Bible history of spiritual personalities, powers and influences than the Spiritualists of to-day, whose numbers are augmented to millions; and none should be more concerned than they in distinguishing, on the highest authority, the authority of divine spiritual revelation between the True and the False. And even if Spiritualists—many of them, at least—do deny the divine authority of the Christian Revelation, still I claim that it is, even as they view it, the highest authority in determining classifying spiritual agencies, influences, and purposes that they can command.

In the scope of the divine Revelation in the Sacred Scriptures, Spiritualists will find all that they can ask, and infinitely more than they can exhaust. Away from the Bible, and denying its authority, they only drift in separation from the truth and from each other; but upon the divine foundations of the Infinite Father, who is manifested to us, and to all the generations, in Jesus the Christ, they will see true light and come into saving communion with holy love, and into unity with one another, and into fellowship with Jesus Christ, who saves to the uttermost, and who unites in closest and ineffable bonds the children of the true and holy faith.

This is what multitudes of the people are yearning for, and without any question the fault is not altogether theirs that they have not reached it. The reproaches which have been cast upon the Church of Jesus Christ and of the Holy Ghost, are not altogether groundless. The Church has not, it must be admitted, met the world with the rich supplies of spiritual grace, and beauty, and love, of which it is designed to be the medium.

And Spiritualists themselves, very many of them—dissatisfied with the segregating and oppositional tendencies of "Spiritualism," are yearning for unity sweeter influences, and more permanent and rewarding blessings; are turning wearied eyes from dark scenes, to see, if they may, the sunshine through the rifted clouds; are turning their ears, to hear, if they may, the music of heaven amid the discords of earth, and the confusion of tongues, and the strife of spirits. There are foundations on which they may rest; there is unity in which they may rejoice, even "the light of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ;" there is a temple in which they may worship, and a shrine at which they may bow, and realize in utterable experiences the Power from on High, manifested in personal purification and in exaltation to fellowship with God in Jesus Christ, who is Savior and King.

I have received several letters from persons unknown to me, expressing their views on the subject as presented in my sermons. From these I take the following, witholding the name of the writer, with whom I have no acquaintance beyond this letter:

"Sir—I can scarcely hope that you will receive with favor a communication from an avowed believer in the spiritual phenomena of the present day. Yet, I trust you will allow me to express the very great satisfaction I enjoyed in listening to your discourses on the subjects of 'Spiritualism;' and Power from on High;' and my most cordial assent to the views therein expressed. The truths presented are such as thousands in the church and out of it, all over the land, have been hungering and thirsting for these many years, but who have been deterred from seeking where they only could be found by the anathemas of the pulpits and the odium of popular sentiment. This has caused many to defy restraining influences, and to break forth into the alleys and byways in search of that consolation not supplied in more congenial spheres. Many have thus been driven to associate with scoffers and infidels, who have made this course on the part of the Churches their chief stock in trade to denounce the Bible, Christianity and all religious institutions; and this, too, with no small shadow of reason and plausibility, as I have no doubt you will admit.

Many thus associated have within themselves such evidence of spirit power that no amount of argument, denunciation, or ridicule can change them. If the Churches will take this subject up and give it a fair and honest investigation, which it is their privilege and duty to do, I think it would be found that the wonderful things related in the Scriptures have their counterpart in the phenomena of the present day. Instead of weakening the influence of the Church, it will be established upon a more sure basis than ever before, and one which will at once refute all the arguments and slanderous accusations brought against it by skeptics.

Respectfully yours, ——."

I give this letter as the expression of a thoughtful, candid, and evidently Christian believer in the phenomena of Spiritualism of the present day; and I have no doubt but it contains the sentiments of thousands upon thousands of them.

New Publications.

Godey's Lady's Book for March has a steel plate—"Cinderella," a colored fashion-plate, and a seasonable wood-cut—"Gathering Easter Eggs"—which will be appreciated by the juveniles. Nothing better in the display of fashions can be found in any magazine this month than Godey gives in his colored fashion-plate and extension sheet. Seventeen different styles are given. Besides the dresses, there are twenty-three designs of miscellaneous articles given—collars, basques, etc. etc. Numerous designs for fancy work are also given in the work department. For sale at the Congress Block book store.

The Edinburgh Review for Jan., (Am. Rep..) contains Yule's Edition of Marco Polo, Lace-making as Fine Art, Tyerman's Life of John Wesley, Tylor on Primitive Culture, Crowe and Cavalcaselle on the History of Painting, Railway Organization in the late War, Irish University Education, Grant's Central Provinces of India, Mr. Browning's Balaustion, and The Church, the Land, and the Liberals. Leonard Scott Pub. Co., 140 Fulton St., New York; $4 per year.

The March number of The Galaxy has a sketch, "The Colored Member," articles on "What shall we do with Corea?" and Pauperism in New York. General Custer begins a series of articles on life on the plains. "Fifteen Years a Shakeress" is continued. There are four chapters of Trollope's story. For sale by E. G. Adams.

Oliver Optic's Magazine for March has additional chapters of Oliver Optic's new story, Sea and Shore; of Elijah Kellogg's Whispering Pine, and of Mrs. Cheney's Sally Williams, the Mountain Girl, three fascinating stories as ever were written for boys or girls. We also find the opening chapters of a capital story by Mrs. S. B. C. Samuels; an illustrated story by Miss L. B. Humphrey, entitled Saved from the Street; one of George M. Baker's Humorous Dialogues; Gardening for March, by Aunt Carrie; entertaining Pigeon-hole Papers; Head Work; Letter Bag; Editorials, and Music. Add to these numerous excellent pictures scattered through the pages, some of them full page, and all attractive, and we have a Magazine that well deserves its reputation as the best Juvenile Periodical published. Published by Lee & Shepard, 149 Washington St., Boston, at $2.50 a year, in advance.

The March number of Scribner's is bright with picture, story, and poem. George Alfred Townsend gives us, in the leading article, a glimpse into that picturesque and romantic, but hitherto little known region, the "Cheaspeake Pêninsula," many of the accompanying illustrations being particularly bright and attractive. Bayard Taylor has an interesting article on The Heart of Arabia, with effective pictures; and Mr. Townsley contributes entertaining sketches of the celebrated artists, Page and Bierstadt, in his illustrated series of Living American Artists. The Cruise of the Balboa is a curious and graphic tale, founded upon fact; and from Susan Coolidge we have a tender little story, entitled In the Brook. The third of Warner's delicious Black-log Studies; Statistics of Statira, by Mrs Sherwood, and an article by Wm. O. Stoddard, throwing light, by means of the Suez Canal surveys, upon the Red Sea crossing of the Jews under Moses; President Samson's paper on The False Claim of Mormonism,—in which he denies that polygamy is justified by Asiatic or patriarchal custom, Mohammedan or Mosaic statutes,—all these are suggestive in different ways; but the article in the present number is likely to attract most attention is Col. Knox's account of That Grand Jury, of which he is a member, and which has achieved such distinction for its fearless action in the matter of the city frauds. He tells several amusing and pathetic incidents of the session, and indicates the ingenious manner in which witnesses were obtained to testify in the fraud cases. Mrs. Oliphant's "At His Gates," is continued with growing interest, and George Macdonald's Wilfrid Cumbermede is concluded. For sale by J. H. Foster.

We call the attention of our readers to the very remarkable series of papers, now running in Scribner's Monthly, entitled Back Log Studies, by Charles Dudley Warner. The critic of The New York Mail calls Warner Charles Lamb's New Rival, and says, Back-Log Studies, as renewed in the February number of Scribner's is the best thing he has written and the best thing in its way any American or English magazine has had for many a day. Mr. Warner is author of "My Summer in a Garden;" is one of the editors of the Hartford Courant, and a rising star in American Literature.

CATARRH

Cannot be cured by snuffs, washes or local applications. It is a weakness of the constitution, developing itself in the nasal organ first, afterwards extending to throat and lungs, ending generally in Consumption, if not checked by proper remedies. Pains in head, back, loins, and weakness of kidneys, are its attendant diseases. More people have Catarrh than any other disease. It is easily cured. Thousands of cases, some of twenty-five years' standing, have been entirely cured in New Hampshire the past two years by the Constitutional Catarrh Remedy. LEPTANDRIN.

Epilepsy or Fits.

A SURE CURE for this distressing complaint is now made known in a Treatise (of 48 octavo pages) on Foreign and Native Herbal Preparations, published by Dr. O. PHELPS BROWN. The prescription was discovered by him in such a providential manner that he cannot conscientiously refuse to make it known, as he has cured everybody who has used it for Fits, never having failed in a single case. The ingredients may be obtained from any druggist. A copy sent free to all applicants by mail. Address Dr O. PHELPS BROWN, 21 Grand Street, Jersey City, N. J.

CURE FOR

FEMALE WEAKNESS.

The Proprietor of this valuable Medicine, while suffering from loss of health some twenty years ago, received an Indian recipe, from which she prepared some for her own use, which resulted in a cure. Many of her friends have used it with equally gratifying success, and have urged her to introduce it to the public. She has consented, for the relief of suffering humanity to do so, and feels confident it will prove one of the richest blessings to the sex. This is a natural remedy—entirely vegetable—will not injure the most delicate constitution, but is congenial to nature, as sufferers are not used under any consideration, nor the slightest change in diet, as it will eradicate all Humors, which is one cause, in many cases, of great suffering. Its renovating effects are extraordinary, without a change in diet, as the results will testify. Three bottles will convince the most skeptical of its surprising properties. Its effects are wonderful in the Relief and Cure of the following diseases:—Prolapsus Uteri, Nervous Debility, Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of Heart, Depression of Spirits Irregularities, Change of Life, Whites, Propensities, Biliousness, Inflammation of the Kidneys, &c. Prepared and sold by MRS. LIZZIE BELCHER, Randolph, Mass. Send for Circular. Sold by all Druggists, at $1.00 per bottle.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When these are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, Blotches, Pimples, Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhea arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are so we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All of which are being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country, and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speed and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

A FLIRTATION WITH MISS SPOTTED TAIL.—A correspondent of the Ironton, Ohio, Register, who was with the Grand Duke and Sheridan on their recent raid among the buffaloes, describes Spotted Tail's family as follows:

Old Spotted Tail, Mrs. Spotted Tail and Miss Minnehaha Spotted Tail (I don't know whether that is her name or not, but will consider it so) dined with us that day. Miss M. is a charming young lady of about seventeen, with a dirty face partially concealed by an immense blush of vermillion on each cheek, and a line of the same down the top of her head. I sat next to her at the table, and performed such little delicate attentions as spreading her biscuits, showing her how to eat celery, teaching her that soup was not to be eaten with a tumbler, or coffee stirred with a knife, and gradually growing struck with the idea that such beauty as hers should not be destined to blush unseen, I sent an order to my tent for a large oval toilet glass, which I presented to her with a complimentary little speech, at which (the speech or glass I don't know, (she grinned and did not say nay.)

The old lady and gentleman were evidently as tickled as the daughter, and sat chattering away to each other like a couple of antiquated magpies, while the blushes of the damsel (even through her vermillion) suddenly gave Gen. P——— the idea that the old folks were engaged in an amusement popular in more civilized circles, known as match making. When he said that I began to get scared, and wanted to make known my utter innocence of any serious intention, but unfortunately was not well enough acquainted with the beautiful language of the Sioux to express myself. I only knew one word—washte-li, which means good—and this wasn't good by any means. I had no doubt that the old gentleman wanted to do me proud and make me, as he said "heap chief—heap brave," but then, you know—well, in short, I could not think of it. So we parted with a "how goo bye" from old Spot, and a handshake (nothing more, upon my word) from Mrs. T. and Miss T.

SOLID MEN OF BOSTON.—Twenty-seven years ago there was only one man in the city worth as much as $4,000,000, two worth $2,000,000 each, two $1,500,000 each, and six $1,000,000 each. All these men are now dead, and but one inherited property. Out of the nine men who were worth $500,000 each, one survives, and he obtained his fortune by marriage; and of the two hundred worth a round $100,000, only nine survive. The fortunes of almost every one of the parties have been lost or divided among their children. It was about a quarter of a century ago that the first attempt was made to classify the richest men of the city under the head of the "aristocracy;" and those who were worth at least $100,000 were denoted as "two-year-old aristocracy" and "yearlig aristocracy," the latter constituting that class which had plenty of money, but no manners nor brains. In those days men did not assume the characters of a colessal Dagon of rascality to get rich suddenly by stealing an entire savings bank, but their wealth came honestly. There is at the present time in Boston one man worth $18,000,000; another worth $8,000,000; a half dozen $5,000,000 each, and not a few one, two and three millionaries. The bible strongly reminds us that man "heapeth up riches, but can not tell who shall gather them." Perhaps the next generation of children heir apparent may either dig clams, if boys, or make cheap shirts, if girls.—Boston Cor. Chicago Journal.

—The brains of distinguished persons have been often found to exceed the average size, that of Cuvier weighing nearly sixty-five ounces, and usually quoted the largest on record. But here woman bears off the palm, as John Stewart Mill, in his late work, "The Subjection of Woman," states that the largest brain yet found is that of a woman, surpassing that of Cuvier.

—A Salem man went out to hunt. The non-explosive character of his caps led to an investigation, which disclosed the fact that he had left his box of caps on his sick wife's table, and put her box of pills in his pocket. Now, if his wife—pshaw! the supposition is absurd!

—A Lafayette sinner declared last Sunday while witnessing a baptism that he wouldn't be baptised on such a day for a fifty dollar bill, and a minute after was immersed to the neck for nothing, by the giving way of the ice. He was rescued with difficulty.

—If you want to talk heavy science says "protoxyd of hydrogen," instead of "ice." It sounds bigger, and not one man in a thousand will know what you mean.

—A Cincinnati despatch states that a portion of the ice gorge started on Friday night, sinking about fifty coal boats. Loss $150,000.

—The total number of deaths in Philadelphia last week was 486, a decrease of 24. The deaths from small-pox were 136, a decrease of 47.

FACES ON THE WALL.

BY HARRIET BEECHER STOWE.

AUTHOR OF "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN," "MY WIFE AND I," ETC.

Once there was a very good little girl, who, by reason of her goodness knew where to find strawberries in the winter. In the same way lese perfect people, blessed by the generous fairies of memory and imagination, may sit, as I do now, in the midst of falling leaves and whistling winds, and call back the green grasses and the summer sun. I see yonder in the glen, the darling of our house, the gold gleam in her brown hair, a chain of daisies in her hand, and in her eyes the roguish meditation of a kitten, weary for an instant only of its play, and thinking style of another spring. Thrown back upon the velvet grass, she is not resting, only pausing from her bright glances to the tips of her tiny fingers she is wide awake.

But now the merry play is over, and our pet needles yonder on a sofa cushion, tired at last in earnest. Slowly the lids fall, and the lingering smile dies out; but the flush in cheek and lip remains like the glow after sunset. The gathered buttercups and daisies are loosely held by the fair little hand; no shadows, even of dream-land, disturb the sweet brow's perfect peace. She is fast asleep.

In other words, two chromos hang upon the wall, bewitching child-heads, in which every mother sees some thing of her own dear ones, never grown old, and never lost to her, however time or death may have dealt with them.

Nothing pleases more at first sight or gives pleasure longer than poetical pictures of children. "The little child" whom Jesus sets in the midst of every family is a joy that grows not old and fades not.

"Age cannot wither, custom cannot stale
Its infinite variety."

For this reason a happy picture of a child brings an enjoyment more lasting than any other, because it is a subject of which no one ever tires.

But these pictures, besides their constant charm for grown folks, are such as children can understand and love. Our little "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," would give many a pleasant hour of companionable amusement and intercourse to the little people skin to them in age. The pictures that children's eyes rest on as they are dropping off to sleep, or as they awake in the morning, seem to them like living friends. All sorts of childish dreams and fancies make of the pictured face a real companion. Not only in the parlor and sitting-room would they be an attractive and fitting embellishment, but they are a charming pair for the adornment of a nursery.

Undoubtedly these two pictures are portraits. There is a realistic faithfulness and truth about them that forbids the idea of their being fancy heads. They will remind many parents of little ones either here or in heaven. Dickens says of his portraiture of little Nell that he has had letters from the farthest region of the earth speaking of children who resembled her—so dear, and so early taken! He who paints one child well, paints thousands, and speaks to the tenderest feelings of innumerable hearts.

Of course there is a pleasure in possessing an original painting; but when the question lies between an original at five hundred dollars and a chromo which can scarcely be distinguished from it, at the dollars—particularly when one has not the five hundred to spare—the choice is not very difficult. As to those two exquisite chromos, only a critical examination can distinguish between the copies and the originals, which sold for many hundreds—which is certainly more than can be said of the best copies of most pictures painted by the best artists.

Blessings upon the chromo-lithography, by which the successful painting of a master can be reproduced indefinitely, and can enter thousands of homes with its educating, quickening, reforming influences!

It is not alone into the dwellings of the great and wealthy that we follow this pretty pair with anticipations of delight. We see them in the cottages of the poor, in the log cabin of the backwoodsman, brightening the toil of the hard-worked wife and mother, and receiving the silent adoring wonder of children who have never seen pictures before.

God bless the darlings—send the little comforters fast and far!

The charming pair of oil chromos, "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," of whose real beauty and attractiveness Mrs. Stowe's graceful sketch can give but an imperfect idea—so pleasing are they to all who love art or children—have always sold in the picture stores for $10, and the original publisher has never been able to supply the great demand for them even at that price. And yet, although thousands of them have been sold in America at that high rate, they are now within the reach of all, for they are to every subscriber to THE CHRISTIAN UNION, an unsectarian, literary, religious and domestic weekly newspaper, edited by HENRY WARD BEECHER.

The pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished to Mr. Beecher's publishers at a rate entirely exceptional. The subjects are LIVE-SIZE.

As to the CHRISTIAN UNION, the great success of that paper has been a marvel in the history of journalism, and the scholarly and critical New York Nation calls it "not only the ablest and best, but also the most popular of American religious periodicals."

This paper, hereafter will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, a decided advantage possessed by no other religious weekly published. It contains contributions from eminent writers of all denominations, and has matter of interest for every member of the household, young and old. For the year 1872, Mrs. HARRIET BEECHER STOWE will write exclusively for the CHRISTIAN UNION.

It has something for every member of the household—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, ALL find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles, discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects; much matter of a high'nerv pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems, Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones, one of its chief attraction being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

WHY?

What is the reason that the Literary, Religious, and Domestic Weekly, started two years ago, namely,

THE CHRISTIAN UNION,

should have so suddenly achieved a success that makes all newspaper men wonder?

Reasons Why!

1st. HENRY WARD BEECHER is its Editor, of whom the Chicago Interior said "Probably no man on this continent sways so many minds, or is doing so much to shape religious thought for the next half century." His vigorous pen in Editorials and Star Papers, and Mr. Killingworth's famed verbatim reports of his helpful Lecture-Room Talk in Plymouth Church, are an attraction to thousands of readers, who always want to know what he thinks on religious themes and the topics of the times. He is also assisted by an able editorial staff.

2d. It Is Unsectarian in Religion, Independent in Political Discussion, and devoted to Morals, Reform, Home and Foreign News—both of Church matters and the world at large, Literature, Science, Art, Music, Agriculture, Trade, Finance, etc., etc., with contributions from eminent writers of all denominations—in all parts of the country.

3d. IT HAS SOMETHING FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE HOUSEHOLD—Father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, all find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects, much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones; one of its chief attraction being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

4th. It Admits no Medical or other possibly objectionable advertisements nor anything to offend the purest and most fastidious, and is therefore a favorite family paper.

5th. ITS FORM TWENTY-FOUR PAGES. Large Quarto, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, is so convenient for reading, binding, and preservation as to be a great special merit in its favor, apart from its superior literary, attraction.

6th. A superb WORK OF ART IS GIVEN AWAY TO EVERY SUBSCRIBER AND THE SUBSCRIPTION PRICE IS

Only Three Dollars per Year.

SPECIAL

Attractions for 1872!

GIVEN AWAY!

1. TWO CHARMING AND POPULAR WORKS OF ART.

"WIDE AWAKE & FAST ASLEEP."

Two Exquisite French Oil Chromos, the subjects of which are Life Size, and cannot fail to please all who love art or children,

Are GIVEN AWAY to every subscriber for 1872, whether it be a New Subscription or a Renewal! These Chromos are no cheap colored prints, but are splendid copies of Oil Paintings, by an eminent English artist, fully equal for their size (13x18½) to any chromo ever published. The subjects are life size. The pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished at a rate entirely exceptional. So that, although thousands of them have been sold in America at $10, and still are and will be sold at that price by the picture trade generally, they can be given to subscribers.

A MOSAIC.

WHAT THE PRESS SAYS:

Two very good chromos are "Wide Awake" and "Fast Asleep," [1] which have few rivals in the market for attractiveness [2]—fresh, sweet and blooming child-face [3] executed with true French skill [4]. We have rarely seen anything prettier than the two pictures, which, [5] both in color and sentiment are really beautiful [6]—worthy of a place in costly homes [7]. Unlike nine pictures out of ten that cost a good deal more, one can look at them day after day and not tire of them [8]. We have often stopped amid the bustle of Broadway to look at them, and never without feeling happier and better [7]. They cannot fail to please all who love art or children [8].

A subscriber writes to the Publishers:

"The chromos far surpass in beauty and style anything that I expected. A Neighbor of mine bought the same Chromos in New York a few months ago, and paid ten dollars for them. Please accept my thanks for them."

2. Enlargement and Change of Form. After the first of January, the paper will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four large quarto pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the sides,—a decided advantage in convenience for reading possessed by no other religious weekly published.

3. Mrs. Harriet B. Stowe

A RELIABLE TONIC.

Of all medicines that give strength and robustness to body and mind, DODD'S NERVINE bears the palm. Its sale is large and its popularity long established. Probably more families keep it on hand for every day use as a stimulant and corrective, than all other medicines now in store the public. It is pleasant to take as any wine. j24 4w

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1872.

Political.

When Gen. Grant became president a $100 United States bond was worth $82.72 in gold; it is now worth $101 in gold.

In Kentucky the old system of viva voce voting is still in vogue, the citizen mounting a block in presence of employers, neighbors and political and personal enemies, and calling the names of his candidates, while the clerk keeps tally. The security and freedom of the secret ballot is unknown. But Congress having provided that all elections for Representatives to Congress "shall be by written or printed ballot," the Kentucky Legislature is about to pass an act to carry out this requirement. The progressive element is desirous of having the principle extended to the State and municipal elections, but with little prospect of success.

The campaign on the part of the Republicans was opened at East Jaffrey on Tuesday evening. E. S. Stearns, Esq., made the opening address, and was followed by Ex-Gov. Harriman, who presented the issues of the coming election in a logical and convincing address of nearly one hour and a half.

The Boston News styles the Republican party a party that "promises and never fulfils." Our idea of the party is that it fulfils and never promises.

Mr. Colfax's notion of retiring from the Vice Presidency was due to an offer from Jay Cooke & Co., to become a grand advertiser of the Northern Pacific Railroad. They offered him $25,000 a year to lecture on the road throughout the country, besides all the proceeds of tickets for his lectures and compensation for his newspaper writings paid by publishers. When he had resolved to accept and declared that under no circumstances would he be a candidate for re-election, a nervous prostration came upon him, and he received notification from his physicians that any such long and fatiguing lecture trip as he contemplated would be at the risk of his health, and perhaps his life. He gave up the offer and is now in the field again to the disgust of Mr. Wilson and the others who had depended on his statements.

State News.

On the 12th, in Hill, a child of two years, son of Mr. Geo. Litchfield, was missed and on search was found in a well, the cover of which was off. The boy had apparently been killed by the fall.

On the 15th, in Stark, Mr. Charles Cole was found dead in the woods, having died while logging, from over-exertion, it would seem.

On the 17th, in Whitefield, Mr. Alfred Chandler, a resident of Bartlett, had his head caught between the bunters of the cars on Brown's lumber railroad while coupling, and was killed. He was aged thirty.

The extensive lumber manufactory of A. Low & G. Brown, situated in Wentworth, was burned on Monday. The fire caught from a spark from the engine under the shingles over the shingle mill. Loss $15,000; no insurance.

THE BOSTON TRANSCRIPT.—In another column may be found an advertisement giving the subscription terms of the Boston Daily Evening Transcript and Weekly Transcript, with a brief reference to what subscribers may confidently expect to find in the columns of either paper. The Transcript is an able and sparkling paper, and always attractive to the home circle, while well up in news, business matters and politics, and paying considerable attention to the farm and garden. The Transcript has just erected a splendid new building on Washington Street, and will now be able to issue a paper still more complete and valuable than heretofore. One of the editors is next thing to a son of Portsmouth, and New Hampshire affairs receive considerable attention in its columns. It is a significant fact, that the first number of the Daily Transcript was printed on a two-pull hand-press, by Mr. William H. Foster, of this city; while now two immense Hoe printing machines are required for its various editions. Whoever makes the acquaintance of the Transcript, will value it.

MR. TOURJEE has received offers from over eight thousand singers for the jubilee choruses, the Handel and Haydn leading the list. It would not be surprising if the list should be full before Saturday night.

—A bill has been presented in the federal council of Germany declaring that German shall be the official language in the conquered provinces of Alsace and Lorraine.

THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE of Newburyport have published a formal notice of suspension of the West male grammar school, in consequence of the city council ejecting it from city hall. The committee refuse to accept the building provided by the city, as unsuitable, and intend to hire a suitable room at the expense of the city. On the right of the committee to independent action in the matter the two parties divide, one claiming that it is a part of the committee's legitimate duty to provide schoolrooms which in their judgment are suitable; and the other holding that the city has entire control of the matter of location, and that the committee cannot bind the city by any contract for the payment of rent. Both parties are stubborn, and the courts will undoubtedly have to decide the question.

THE FISH TRADE.—At a meeting of the Fish and Salt Dealers Association in Boston last Thursday Mr. Henry Mayo is reported to have said that he had been in the business sixteen years and was familiar with the trade, and that from 400,000 to half a million kits were sold yearly, and not one in twenty that went out of Boston purporting to contain twenty-five pounds did contain over twenty pounds. Mr. Stowe said that Gloucester produced last year from the business $267 to each man, woman and child it contained, while the Newfoundland fisheries brought in only $10 apiece to each of its inhabitants.

THE PRESIDENT has sent the following nominations to the Senate: Ferrest Porter, associate-justice for Arizona Territory; James Atkins, collector of customs at Savannah; William B. Cushing and Arthur Yates, commanders in the navy; William W. Low and John H. Upshur, captains; Francis H. Delano, lieutenant; J. M. Bradford, retired list, to be captain.

THE HOUSE NAVAL COMMITTEE has agreed to report a bill giving the officers and seamen of the steamer Kearsarge prize money for destroying the Alabama, the same as if that vessel had been captured and brought in as a prize, instead of being sunk. About $190,000 is proposed to be appropriated for that purpose.

THERE IS MUCH ALARM in Paris over the discovery of the last conspiracy of the Bonapartists. The government has taken extraordinary public precautions.

The March number of the best magazine for the very young children, The Nursery, is ready, and the hundreds of little ones who know how good it is will be eager for it. To the rest we say, get some one to buy you a copy.

The Phrenological Journal for March has very instructive articles on Fish Culture in America, and Ague and Fever, and a long list of readable matter:—Attorney-General Williams; Expression; Harriet Hosmer; Our Horse-Cars; Will it Pay? Writing for the Press; The Arctic Regions; James Fisk, Jr.; Lord Brougham's Ghost; Rev. George H. Hepworth, etc., with fine portraits and numerous illustrations. Price $3 a year; S. R. Wells, 389 Broadway, N. Y.

The March number of Old and New, besides two chapters of each of the three serials now running in its pages, has a paper on "Washington and Grant," by Dr. George B. Loring, and a careful examination of the organization and aims of "The International," by C. F. Dunbar. C. C. S. contributes an article on "The Handwriting of Junius," and Edward A. Pollard one on "New Virginia's." "Spoons in Wherry," by M. Severence, and "Head I Win, Tail you Lose." are short stories. Hattie T. Griswold has something to say "Concerning Preachers." In the "Record of Progress" is something about the Peoples' Clubs which are becoming common in New England.

WINTER LIVING IN FLORIDA.—We get up in the morning and eat a few oranges by way of preparing an appetite for breakfast. Mrs. M. and L. take theirs in their rooms. I take mine under the trees. After breakfast, which consists usually of about fifteen dishes, more or less, oftenest more, we go out for a walk. We usually begin under an orange tree—we always end there. There are 30,000 trees, which accounts for it. At noon we have oranges again. They constitute the sixth course, each course having from one to thirty dishes. If they are not on the table we ask for them. We have never had to ask yet. They are both cooked and uncooked, skins on and off. After dinner we eat oranges under the trees. I forgot all about lunch. One day I counted eighteen dishes and two darkies; we had oranges, and had them again in the afternoon.—Letter to the Boston Journal.

—One hundred and ten indictments have been found in Jersey City against the members of the ring, who have been appropriating the public funds.

—The Baltimore health commissioner reports the small-pox an epidemic and fearfully increasing.

—A drought prevails in the region about Winchester, Va., unparalleled in the experience of the "oldest inhabitant." It is reported that there has been no considerable fall of rain or snow for nine months, and water has to be carried long distances.

—The life of Mr. P. S. Gilmore has been insured for the sum of $200,000, for the period of six months, for the benefit of the guarantors of the jubilee fund. Policies have been taken out in fifteen different offices.

—Woman-whipping is still indulged in by Delaware and Virginia, and the Senate of the latter State has recently refused, by a vote of 8 to 21, to repeal the law punishing feminine pickpockets with the lash.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

PRO BONO PUBLICO, is a motto "more honored in the breach than in the observance," but attached to Holloway's Pills and Ointment it is significant of their value throughout the civilized world. For the cure of asthma, coughs, colds, cutaneous eruptions, and bankrupt constitutions, they are the sheet anchor of the sick.

We understand that the whooping-cough is quite prevalent in the towns around us; but that no cases have proved fatal. Some families use nothing but Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. Our Doctor, however, says a little opiate, to produce vomiting, would be an advantage.

There are more than one thousand different kinds of pills in the United States. Some of them are worthless and injurious, others are good and beneficial. Old Dr. Parsons invented the best antibilious pill we ever saw or heard of. They are now sold under the name of Parsons' Purgative Pills.

OLD PREJUDICES ARE DYING OUT.—New facts are killing them. The idea that invalids weakened by disease can be relieved by prostrating them with destructive drugs, is no longer entertained except by monomaniacs. Ever since the introduction of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS it has been obvious that their regulating and invigorating properties are all-sufficient for the cure of chronic indigestion, rheumatism, constipation, diarrhœa, nervous affections, and malarious fevers, and they are now the standard remedy for these complaints in every section of the Union.

YEAS AND NEIGHS.—If horses could makes themselves understood in human language, they would signify by a universal "Yea," their assent to the statement that the MUSTANG LINIMENT is the best remedy extant for all these external ailments, and by a most emphatic "Neigh!" show their displeasure at every attempt to use any other preparation in its stead. Ever since its introduction at St. Louis, at the close of the Mexican War, in 1849, it has proved a signal blessing to horse and man—curing, with absolute certainty and wonderful despatch, such equine diseases as spavin, ringbone, poll evil, scratches, hoofsil, &c., and relieving and finally removing the painful affections which attack the muscles, sinews and external glands of human beings. It is a fact beyond contradiction that for all injuries or complaints of man or quadrupeds to which an external remedy is applicable, the MUSTANG LINIMENT is preferable to every other.

BEAUTY'S BEST AUXILIARY.—Ask the belle of the season what appointment of her toilet-table holds the highest place in her esteem, and she will reply, without a moment's reflection, HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM. Nothing, she is thoroughly aware, contributes so powerfully to enhance her charms and render her irresistible as that most delightful and healthy auxiliary of Beauty. By using it ladies are enabled, long after they have passed the meridian of life, to preserve the youthful bloom and purity of their complexions, and where Nature has denied that superlative attraction, the Balm fully compensates for her deficiencies.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

All the Year Round,

And in all parts of the world, the elements of disease are present in the air, the soil and the water, in a greater or less degree, and therefore the Great Vegetable Antidote to these invisible enemies of health, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is invaluable as a household medicine at all seasons and in every latitude. At no period of the year is a regulating and corrective medicine more needed than toward the close of winter, when the sun and rain are beginning to break up the winter blockade, and from the softening soil arises that terrible miasma, which wells like an incubus upon the vital machinery, and depresses the animal spirits. It is then that the seeds of intermittent and remittent fevers, of rheumatism and rheumatic gout, of obstinate stomach complaints, of disorders of the liver and bowels, and a whole host of pulmonary and nervous complaints are sown.

The best, the surest way to prevent this disastrous seeding is to invigorate and refresh the system with a course of the Bitters. If this precaution be taken now, there will be no danger of the miasmatic germs taking roots in the fluids and tissues of the body, and bringing forth terrible fruit in the spring. Now is the time for prevention. Remember that vigor is the only safeguard against the virus of disease, and that Hostetter's Bitters is the purest, the safest, the most powerful and perfect invigorant ever administered, either as protective medicine or a remedy. A change of season approaches which almost always proves more or less disastrous to persons of a weak, nervous organization. Brace up at once with the leading Tonic of the age. Purge from the blood all morbid matter, strengthen the nerves, and regulate and purify the secretions with the Vegetable Elixir, which combines the juices of the finest medicinal roots, herbs and barks, with the most wholesome of all diffusive stimulants.

HOLLOWAY'S

PILLS AND OINTMENT.

Every Man His Own Physician.

CAUTION.

THE immense demand for HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT, has tempted unprincipled parties to counterfeit these valuable medicines.

In order to protect the public and ourselves, we have issued a new "Trade Mark," consisting of an Egyptian circle of a serpent, with the letter H in the centre. Every box of genuine HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT will have this trade mark on it; none are genuine without it.

At the Temple—The Brennans.
Notice—J. B. Adams.
Washington's Birthday.

The Two And Twentieth.

If any person expects us to issue the DAILY CHRONICLE on Friday, that person laboreth under a woful delusion. This day is the anniversary of the birth day of the hero of the little hatchet. Our regard for Columbia's papa, and the remembrance that there hath been enacted a law making February 22d a legal holiday, leads us to dispense with the edition for to-morrow, and we trust our readers will observe the day with due decorum. The Navy Yard will hang up shop and twenty one cannon peals will announce at noon the joy of the nation that Wash. was born—that unto it a father was given. This is nobody's day for pleasure. Toil not, spin not—for inasmuch as ye shall toil and spin there shall be missed from your red-letter days one of the few opportunities afforded mankind for rest and recreation.

The Concert

At the Temple on Monday evening was a recherche entertainment in every particular. Mr. and Mrs. Martyn fully sustained their reputation gained at the previous concert as artists. Mrs. Martyn has, aside from her fine vocal powers, the grace of a finished actress, a combination which but few of our singers possess. "L'amour et l'oisseau" was well rendered, and "Sherman's March to the Sea" received a well merited encore. This song lacked the expression of acting which was given to it before. Mrs. Martyn throws so much expression into her music by her graceful gestures that its absence was observable. Mr. Martyn, though unwell, executed the Potpourri Mignonne with his accustomed skill. Dr. Clark, the tenor from Medford, Mass., shew a finely cultivated voice. Mr. Frank Burnham's solos on the Cornet were well executed, and that they were appreciated was evidenced by the applause they received. The fine playing by the Marine Band was not the least pleasurable part of the performance. Few Bands can show such proficiency in as few months' practice as this one. We neglected to mention in our notice of the first concert the Clarionet solo performed by Mr. John F. Shillaber of this city, the execution of which was one of the pleasant features of the evening. The continuation of these concerts, which we can almost claim as being composed of home talent, should be one of the looked for events of the season.

Firemen's Gathering.

A pleasant social gathering was held by "Three's Boys" at the Kearsarge Engine House on Tuesday evening, the company being composed of His Honor the Mayor, Judge Bufford, Aldermen Giddings and Marvin, Chief Engineer J. W. Moore, with the members of the Kearsarge's, company, Board of Engineers, Foremen and Assistants of the several engine companies of this city, and others. An excellent chowder was promptly disposed of—many seeming to have reserved their appetites for the occasion—and while the dessert (consisting of apples and cigars) was being discussed, a little talk was indulged in, the Foreman of the Kearsarge, Mr. James A. Waterhouse, leading off with a short and appropriate speech in which he alluded to the youthfulness of the organization, it having been in existence but two years and consequently had not the advantage of age to enable it to acquire a reputation or achieve a record of fame. But he remarked that the time would come when Kearsarge No. 3 would be as justly celebrated as some of its compeers. Mr. Waterhouse then called up Mayor Walker, who responded in his usual felicitous manner, after which the facetious Marvin entertained the party for about ten minutes. The City Clerk then delivered a brief historical account of the early days of the Fire Department, making many witty allusions which served to keep the party in a condition of pleasant mirthfulness throughout his fifteen-minute speech. Remarks were also made by Alderman Giddings, Chief Engineer Moore and Major Daniel J. Vaughan, Messrs. Willard Sears and James W. Nutter of Steamer Two, and some others, after which "the band played." The presence of the latter, (the Portsmouth Cornet Band,) by the way, formed a prominent as well as a pleasant feature of the occasion. No observing person can participate in the well-conducted and enjoyable reunions of our firemen without remarking the great change which has taken place in the morals of the Fire Department during the past twenty-five years. Formerly firemen were rough and uncouth, and their gatherings were scenes of rowdyism and drunkenness; now there is apparent on all such occasions a commendable pride in maintaining gentlemanly deportment; and a general endeavor to elevate still higher the reputation of the Fire Department is plainly manifested, in this city at least. May their zeal in this direction continue, until they shall succeed in making for their organization a character that shall be commensurate with the importance of the institution.

Laconics.

Fine weather now-a-days.

A gentleman who has long been a worker for the advancement of local interests, writing under the heading of "A Fine Band," says:—"Please allow me, Messrs. Chroniclers, to say a word in praise of the Naval Band of this station, under the lead of Mr. Harlow, although many of your readers are as well aware of its excellencies as myself. This Band has always been liberal in donating its services for the public good—in giving volunteer out-door concerts, and aiding fairs and charitable occasions. Their performances at Mr. Martyn's concert, Monday evening, were exceedingly fine, and would have done credit to almost any orchestra in the country. I understand this Band will give a concert themselves in a few weeks, and I feel sure our musical citizens generally will be pleased to show their appreciation of the music of this Band and their claims on the public regard."

The fourth annual Ball of Dearborn S. F. Engine Co., No. 1, on Feb. 21st, Washington's Birthday eve, was a complete success in so far as the carrying out of all proposed arrangements and securing an excellent evening's entertainment for the large company of dancers was concerned, though we doubt if the receipts were sufficient to balance the heavy expenditures. The Dearborns had announced that they would give a creditable Ball, and they did. Chandler's band, from Portland, gave splendid music and put additional life into the dancing, which was kept up until well towards morning. An excellent and abundant supper was served at the engine house on Court Street, at intermission.

The rooms of the Young People's Christian Union will be open this day and evening.

Mr. David Rodrick, recently of this city, is engaged in business at Kendall's Mills, Maine.

Dr. A. P. Stevens will deliver a lecture on "Happy Homes," at Greenland, on Friday evening, the 23d. Dr. Eben Tourjee of Boston will conduct a praise meeting at Greenland, Feb. 29, commencing at 7 o'clock P. M.

The local Democratic organ comments on an article in a recent issue of this paper, concerning the number of ratable polls in Wards One and Two, of course denying that there are enough to entitle those wards to four representatives each. It says that "competent men, who have searched every house in Ward Two," make "just 1014 ratable polls in that ward and no more;" and that Ward One has "less than 975." The census gives Ward One about three hundred more residents than Ward Two, and that the latter ward should have forty more ratable polls than the former is remarkable, — thou "competent men" must have served on the Democratic committee on unseating Republican representatives, last year. The same paper says "those Radicals make a great hullabaloo about a half-dozen or less mistakes made by the Democrats, in making up their list,"—which shows that the copperhead wire-pullers think very lightly of the venial offence of false swearing when it is done for "the party," and that if Republican Boards of Selectmen "fear the pains and penalties of perjury," as the copperhead organ says, the Democratic fuglers care as little for those "pains and penalties" as they do for the truth.

Judge Page held in the sum of $200 Mr. George A. Mitchell of Newmarket, charged with the sale of intoxicating liquors. The case will come up before the next term of the Supreme Judicial Court. We saw two drunken women on Market square, Wednesday, which leads us to suppose that some person must be violating the liquor law in Portsmouth.

W. W. Henderson & Co. are selling a lot of nice kid gloves very cheap.

Kittery Town Hall.

The location of a town hall should be as near the centre of population as possible, other things being equal. Saco, Biddeford and many other places that might be named, have their town halls or voting places and public offices thus situated, and it is evidently right. The Foreside (as it is called) in Kittery is the centre of population, and the Town hall should be located there, not only for this reason, but for another equally as good, viz., as a source of revenue to the town.

A lot should be purchased somewhere on the main street near Neal's ship yard, and a good, substantial brick building erected, with two stores on the front of the lower floor, a room in the rear for the location of a fire engine, and a lock-up for criminals. A hall should be finished in the second story sufficiently large to accommodate 800 or 1000 people, with rooms in the rear of the hall for the officers of the town, in which should be a fire proof safe for the records and other public documents. With but little additional expense the attic could be finished with Lutheran windows and rooms for the accommodation of the Masons, Odd Fellows, and Good Templars, which would be a permanent source of income. The main hall would be in almost constant demand during six months of the year, for lectures, levees, dances and exhibitions; and all together with the rent of the stores, would in five years fully pay the interest on the whole cost, and would, I have no doubt, pay three, or four per cent. up to that time.

In erecting a public building, reference should be had to the future, as well as the present wants of the community. It is therefore right that the future should bear part of the expense of such a building proposed above. The money to buy the lot and erect the structure, should be raised by issuing bonds of the town for twenty years, at six per cent., with coupons attached, payable semi-annually. A sinking fund of five hundred dollars annually, towards meeting the bonds at maturity, with the interest, would not add more than one dollar per year to each man's tax, as it is to be borne in mind that when the building is completed it will become at once a source of revenue to the town.

Morning Chronicle.

SENATOR CONKLING of New York made a great speech in the U. S. Senate, Monday, in defense of the administration. He said:—

The impression prevails that a sensational ring or cabal does exist, whose business is to furnish ammunition, not to the French, but to the Democratic party, and that men flying the Republican flag are trying to strand the Republican ship. It is believed that the business of this cabal is to malign the President of the United States, to disparage and belittle him, to assail his administration and to watch for opportunities, or, in the language of the good book, "to link privily" for an opportunity to place him in injurious and unjust positions. It is believed that the business of this cabal is to assail and to disparage the majority in this body and in Congress, and to injure those charged with the administration of public affairs. It is believed that this cabal aids to inspire that snowstorm of libels and misrepresentations which travel on wires from the capital and are published in countless newspapers; it is believed that persons connected with this cabal are inflicting wounds upon the Republican party which no Democrat has power to inflict. This impression waxes apace. It is strong, very strong just now in the State of New Hampshire. There is reason for it in New Hampshire. An election depends there, and the politicians say that whether the administration shall stand or fall is of no importance, as it shall cast light or shade upon the coming presidential nomination or election.

In the midst of this canvass in New Hampshire the speeches of this senatorial cabal command their attention, which could not be gained by all the utterances of the Democratic sages from Jefferson to my honorable friend from Missouri [Blair]. Even the Broadhead letter is not so great a favorite now as another document which I hold in my hand. [Laughter.] It is a pamphlet of twenty-four closely printed pages and it is entitled, "Plain Language of Independent Republican Senators. Thieving and Profligacy Exposed." It contains the speeches of a number of Senators. First of all that of the honorable Senator from Missouri [Schurz]. This pamphlet bears this imprimatur: "Published by the National Democratic Executive Resident Committee, Washington, D. C." These speeches appear without note or comment. There is no gilding fine gold here; no painting the lily. [Laughter.] Those who saw them thought if they let them be as the maker made them they could not be beaten. I am told 200 000 copies of this pamphlet will be sent into New Hampshire free through the mails franked by Democratic members of the House. Such proceedings as this, and that which now occupies the attention of the Senate, will not tend to dispel the belief that there does exist such a senatorial cabal. It is not exactly giving information to the enemy, but there is a sort of resemblance between the two things, which leads a great many people into error. But I am able to assure the Senator that the people of no portion of the country are being misled by these proceedings. In the State of New York many elections have been held in the last fortnight. The spring elections are progressing, and not only do the Republicans hold their own, but the elections result in unexpected and unexampled gains. In Buffalo, a Democratic city, where there is a large representation of Germans, the result is the same. The Germans cannot be misled or hoodwinked by any man, whoever he may be. They had too much to do with preserving this nationality, when it rocked in the throes of an earthquake, not to know who they were that assailed and who protected it.

Mr. Conkling discussed the sale of arms in question. The sales were made in the usual manner, and were only in fact a continuation of the sales that have been going on since 1865. No sales were made to Remington or Richardson or anybody after he was known to be an agent of the French government. Remington made five different purchases from the War department before his agency was disclosed, but none afterward. The Franco-Prussian war did not furnish the only market for arms at that time. Russia, Austria, Denmark, Sweden, England, Spain, Egypt, Turkey and South America were all arming at the same time, and Remington himself sold to at least eight different governments. But it was charged that Americans made large profits out of these arms that went to France. What of that? He wished it had been more, because the French people would have been no poorer for it. Recurring to the question of motives, he said that one object of introducing this resolution was, he felt authorized to say, to furnish the French government or its agents with materials to be used against American merchants in the city of New York, and he did not believe the Senate ought to allow itself to be used for that purpose. But the investigation must go on. This, said Mr. Conkling, is a case of collapse. Let us investigate, and let us be quick, lest the investigation change to a post-mortem examination. [Laughter.]

—Dibbs and his wife were indulging in reminiscences over their dinner nuts and raisins. "How one thing brings up another," said the lady, absorbed in pleasing retrospection. "Yes," replied Dibbs; "an emetic, for instance." He can't see why she should call him a "mean thing," and leave the table in a huff.

—Mrs. William B. Astor died Friday in her 73d year. She leaves $10,000,000 to her grandchild, Miss Ward. Mrs. Astor was a daughter of General Armstrong, President Madison's secretary of war. Her private charities were many and munificent.

CATARRH
Cannot be cured by snuffs, washes or local applications. It is a weakness of the constitution, developing itself in the nasal organ first, afterwards extending to throat and lungs, ending eventually in Consumption, if not checked by proper remedies. Pains in head, back, loins, and weakness of kidneys, are its attendant diseases. More people have Catarrh than any other disease. It is easily cured. Thousands of cases, some of twenty-five years' standing, have been entirely cured in New Hampshire the past two years by the Constitutional Catarrh Remedy. Certificates to back the above sent free upon application to LITTLEFIELD & HAYES, proprietors and druggists, Manchester, N. H. Price $1 per bottle.

A SURE CURE for this distressing complaint is now made known in a Treatise of 64 octavo pages) on Foreign and Native Herbal Preparations, published by Dr. C. P. BROWN. CURE FOR
FEMALE WEAKNESS.
The Proprietor of this valuable Medicine, while suffering from loss of health some years ago, received an Indian receipt, from which she prepared some for herself, which resulted in a cure. Many of her friends have been benefited by the same, and have urged her to equally gratifying other females with the blessings to be derived from its use. It is entirely vegetable, and will prove one of the richest blessings to female invalids. This is an internal remedy—contains no Cantharides, Pennyroyal, Savin or Cinnamon, and will not injure the most delicate constitution, but is compound in nature, as experience alone can give value to any compositions, and not used after any consideration, nor the Author of the Compound, who has found it a charm in cases, in many cases, of great suffering. Its renovating effects are extraordinary, as the following testimonials will testify. Three bottles will convince the most skeptical of its surprising properties. Its effects are wonderful in the Relief and Cure of the following Complaints:—Prolapsus Uteri, Nervous Debility, Paralysis, Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of Heart, Depression of Spirits, Irregularities, Diseases of Uterus, Whites, Leucorrhœa, Sore Throat, Ulcerations, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Bilousness, Inflammation of the Kidneys, &c. Prepared and sold by MRS. LINUS BIRD, Bloomfield, Mass. Send for Circular. Sold by all Drug-Gists, at $1.00 per bottle.

AYER'S
SARSAPARILLA,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the symptoms of the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they destroy, and where ever they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, Scrofula, Scrofulous Sores, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Dyspepsia and Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from general debilitation or ulceration, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern in the Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price—and many of these are so we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country, and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is lighter speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.
Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of these causes is to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR restores to premature lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.
As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

THE WATCH OF BOON ISLAND.

BY MRS. CELIA THAXTER.

They crossed the lonely and lamenting sea;
Its moaning seemed but singing. "Wilt thou dare,"
He asked her, "brave the loneliness with me."
"What loneliness," she said, "if thou art there?"

Afar and cold on the horizon's rim
Loomed the full lighthouse, like a ghostly sign;
They sighed not as the shore behind grew dim,
A rose of joy they bore across the brine.

They gained the barren rock, and made their home
Among the wild waves and the sea-bird's wild;
The wintry winds blew fierce across the foam,
But in each other's eyes they looked and smiled.

Aloft the lighthouse sent its warnings wide,
Fed by their faithful hands, and ships in sight
With joy beheld it, and on land men cried,
"Look, clear and steady burns Boon Island light."

And, while they trimmed the lamp with busy hands,
"Shine far and through the dark, sweet light," they cried;
"Bring safely back the sailors from all lands
To waiting love—wife, mother, sister, bride."

No tempest shook their calm, though many a storm
Tore the vexed ocean into furious spray;
No chill could find them in their Eden warm,
And gently Time lapsed onward, day by day.

Said I no chill could find them? There is one Whose awful footfalls everywhere are known
With echoing sobs, who chills the summer sun,
And turns the happy heart of youth to stone;

Inexorable Death, a silent guest
At every hearth, before whose footsteps flee
All joys, who rules the earth, and, without rest,
Roams the vast shudd'ring spaces of the sea;

Death found them; turned his face and passed by her,
But laid a finger on her lover's lips,
And there was silence. Then the storm ran high,
And tossed and troubled sore the distant ships.

Nay, who shall speak the terrors of the night,
The speechless sorrow, the supreme despair?
Still, like a ghost she trimmed the waning light,
Dragging her slow weight up the winding stair,

With more than all the saving lamps she fed,
While lashed to madness the wild sea she has heard;
She kept her awful vigil with the dead,
And God's sweet pity still she ministered.

O sailors, hailing loud the cheerful beam
Piercing so far the tumult of the dark,
A radiant star of hope, you could not dream
What misery there sat cherishing that spark!

Three times the night, too terrible to bear,
Descended, shrouded in the storm. At last
The sun rose clear and still on her despair.
And all her striving to the winds she cast.

And bowed her head and let the light die out,
For the wide sea lay calm as her dead love.
When evening fell, from the far land, in doubt,
Vainly to find that faithful star men strove.

Sailors and landsmen look, and women's eyes,
For pity ready, search in vain the night,
And wondering neighbor unto neighbor cries:
"Now what, think you, can all Boon Island light?"

Out from the coast toward her high tower they sailed;
They found her watching, silent by her dead;
A shadowy woman, who nor wept nor wailed,
But answered what they spake, till all was said.

They bore the dead and living both away,
With anguish Time seemed powerless to destroy.
She turned and backward gazed across the bay,
Lost in the sad sea lay her rose of joy.

FACES ON THE WALL.

BY HARRIET BEECHER STOWE,

AUTHOR OF "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN," "MY WIFE AND I," ETC.

Once there was a very good little girl, who, by reason of her goodness knew where to find strawberries in the winter. In the same way her perfect people, blessed by the generous fairies of memory and imagination, may sit, as I do now, in the midst of falling leaves and whistling winds, and call back the green grasses and the summer sun. I see yonder in the glen the darling of our house, the gold gleam in her brown hair, a chain of daisies in her hand and in her eyes the roguish meditation of a kitten, weary for air, instant only of its play, and thinking slyly of another spring. Thrown back upon the velvet grass, she is not resting, only pausing from her bright gambols to the tips of her tiny fingers she is wide awake.

But now the merry play is over, and our pet nestles yonder upon a sofa cushion, tired at last in earnest. Slowly the lids fall, and the lingering smile dies out; but the flush in cheek and lip remains, like the glow after sunset. The gathered buttercups and daisies are loosely held by the fair little hand; no shadows, even of dreaming, disturb the sweet brow's perfect peace. She is fast asleep.

In other words, two chromos hang upon the wall, bewitching child-heads, to which every mother sees some thing of her own dear ones, never grown old, and never lost to her, however time or death may have dealt with them.

Nothing pleases more at first sight or gives pleasure longer than poetical pictures of children. "The little child" whom Jesus sets in the midst of every family is a joy that grows not old and fades not.

"Age cannot wither, custom cannot stale
Its infinite variety."

For this reason a happy picture of a child brings an enjoyment more lasting than any other, because it is a subject of which no one ever tires.

But these pictures, besides their constant charm for grown folks, are such as children can understand and love. Our little "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," would give many a pleasant hour of companionable amusement and intercourse to the little people akin to them in age. The pictures that children's eyes rest on as they are dropping off to sleep, or as they awake in the morning, seem to them like living friends. All sorts of childish dreams and fancies make of the pictured face a real companion. Not only in the parlor and sitting-room would they be an attractive and fitting embellishment, but they are a charming pair for the adornment of a nursery.

Undoubtedly these two pictures are portraits. There is a reality to faithfulness and truth about them that forbids the idea of their being fancy heads. They will remind many parents of little ones either here or in heaven. Dickens says of his portraiture of little Nell that he has had letters from the farthest region of the earth speaking of children who resembled her—so dear, and so early taken! He who paints one child well, paints thousands, and speaks to the tenderest feelings of innumerable hearts.

Of course there is a pleasure in possessing an original painting; but when the question lies between an original at five hundred dollars and a chromo which can scarcely be distinguished from it, at ten dollars—particularly when one has not the five hundred to spare—the choice is not very difficult. As to these two exquisite chromos, only a critical examination can distinguish between the copies and the originals, which sold for many hundreds—which is certainly more than can be said of the best copies of most pictures painted by the best artists.

Blessings upon the chromo-lithography, by which the successful painting of a master can be reproduced indefinitely, and can enter thousands of homes with its educating, quickening, reforming influences!

It is not alone into the dwellings of the great and wealthy that we follow this pretty pair with anticipations of delight. We see them in the cottages of the poor, in the log cabin of the backwoodsman, brightening the toil of the hard-worked wife and mother, and receiving the almost adoring wonder of children who have never seen pictures before.

God bless the darlings—send the little comforters fast and far!

The charming pair of oil chromos, "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," of whose real beauty and attractiveness Mrs. Stowe's graceful sketch can give but an imperfect idea—so pleasing are they to all who love art or children—have always sold in the picture stores for $10, and the original publisher has never been able to supply the great demand for them even at that price. And yet, although thousands of them have been sold in America at that high rate, they are now within the reach of all, for they are to every subscriber to THE CHRISTIAN UNION, an unsectarian, literary, religious and domestic weekly newspaper, edited by HENRY WARD BEECHER.

As to the CHRISTIAN UNION, the great success of that paper has been a marvel in the history of journalism, and the scholarly and critical New York Nation calls it "not only the ablest and best, but also the most popular of American religious periodicals."

WHY?

What is the reason that the Literary, Religious, and Domestic Weekly, started two years ago, namely,

THE CHRISTIAN UNION,

should have so suddenly achieved a success that makes all newspaper men wonder?

Reasons Why!

1st. HENRY WARD BEECHER is its Editor, of whom the Chicago Interior said "Probably no man on this continent sways so many minds, or is doing so much to shape religious thought for the next half century." His vigorous pen in Editorials and Star Papers, and Mr. Ellinwood's famed verbatim reports of his helpful Lecture-Room Talk in Plymouth Church, are an attraction to thousands of readers, who always want to know what he thinks on religious themes and the topics of the times. He is also assisted by an able editorial staff.

2d. It is Unsectarian in Religion, Independent in Political Discussion, and devoted to Morals, Reform, Home and Foreign News—both of Church matters and the world at large, Literature, Science, Art, Music, Agriculture, Trade, Finance, etc., etc., with contributions from eminent writers of all denominations—in all parts of the country.

3d. IT HAS SOMETHING FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE HOUSEHOLD—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, all find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects, much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones; one of its chief attraction being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

4th. It Admits no Medical or other possibly objectionable advertisements nor anything to offend the purest and most fastidious, and is therefore a favorite family paper.

5th. ITS FORM TWENTY-FOUR PAGES. Large Quarto, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, is so convenient for reading, binding, and preservation as to be a great special merit in its favor, apart from its superior literary attraction.

6th. A superb WORK OF ART IS GIVEN AWAY TO EVERY SUBSCRIBER AND THE SUBSCRIPTION PRICE IS

A MOSAIC.

WHAT THE PRESS SAYS:

Two very good chromos are "Wide Awake" and "Fast Asleep," [1] which have few rivals in the market for attractiveness [2]—fresh, sweet and blooming child-faces [3] executed with true French skill [4]. We have rarely seen anything prettier than the two pictures, which, [5] both in color and sentiment are really beautiful [6]—worthy of a place in costly homes [7]. Unlike mine pictures out of ten that cost a good deal more, one can look at them day after day and not tire of them [8]. We have often stopped amid the bustle of Broadway to look at them, and never without feeling happier and better [1]. They cannot fail to please all who love art or children [8].

2. Enlargement and Change of Form. After the first of January, the paper will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four large quarto pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the sides,—a decided advantage in convenience for reading possessed by no other religious weekly published.

MANHOOD

IN THE

Young and Rising Generation.

The vegetable powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show their baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body, too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwardly upon themselves.

If the patient be a female the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it is fed on. The energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain. The parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

TRY HELMBOLD'S

EXTRACT BUCHU

For Weakness Arising from Excesses or Early Indiscretion,

attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such Patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for fear of themselves; no repose of matter, no earnestness, no speculation, but a hurried transition from one question to another.

THESE SYMPTOMS, IF ALLOWED TO GO ON—WHICH THIS MEDICINE INVARIABLY REMOVES — SOON FOLLOW LOSS OF POWER, FATUITY AND EPILEPTIC FITS, IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients. Reason has for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths of Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibitions appear. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute; neither mirth nor grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.

"With woful measures wan despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguile."

While we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences.

HELMBOLD'S

Fluid Extract of Buchu.

There is no tonic like it. It is an anchor of hope to the physician and patient. This is the testimony of all who have used or prescribed it.

Beware of counterfeits and these cheap decoctions called Buchu, most of which are prepared by self-styled dealers, from deleterious ingredients, and offered for sale at "less price" and "larger bottles," etc. They are unreliable and frequently injurious. Ask for Helmbold's. Take no other.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1872.

Retrospection.

From the time the Democratic party lost the opportunity of mismanaging the affairs of the nation, down to the present day, the party papers have loudly denounced the Republican management of national affairs; and just now, as they are getting well warmed up to the work of the campaign in this State, a glance over any copperhead sheet issued in New Hampshire will show that its capital is denunciation of the acts of the Republican party and appeals to the voters to put once again in power the men who will act differently.

Many of the charges brought against the Republican party and administration—most of these charges—are false, and all are exaggerated to absurdity; misrepresentation is a recognized political weapon with the Democracy. But even if the Republican management had been as bad as the copperheads represent, the record of the Democratic party shows that theirs was much worse; and in view of the loud talk of the Democrats about what they will do if they are only restored to power, it may not be amiss to glance at a few among the many evil things which that party did do when they could, and to compare their past acts with their present professions.

The Republicans have sought to influence elections by "federal bayonets;" by putting the Democratic party in power such proceedings will be obviated for the future, the Democracy being sternly opposed to anything of the kind,—so the copperheads say. But a Democratic administration did use "federal bayonets," and federal bullets and cannon, and federal soldiers' votes, too, in a desperate and bloody attempt to force a slaveholders' constitution upon the Free State men of Kansas and Nebraska; while the charge made by the copperheads against the Republicans only accused the latter of aiming the "federal bayonets" at the outrageous frauds of Tweed & Co., which the copperheads themselves now acknowledge as outrageous and plead in extenuation of the disgraceful re-election of the colossal thief on a Democratic ticket.

The Republicans have interposed the national power in State affairs; the Democrats wish only for a chance to put a stop to all such outrageous proceedings,—this is the Democratic story, now. But we have seen the streets of Boston swarming with the blue uniforms of United States soldiers and marines, and Boston court house hung in chains and guarded with shotted cannon—at the bidding of a Democratic administration, and to override all State authority which conflicted with the "national right" of the slaveholder to hold his human chattels on the soil of any State he pleased. But that was a very different affair, certainly, from the government protecting the lives of loyal citizens from the fury of ex-rebel slave-holders.

It is the same with all other "Radical villainies"—the Democrats were worse than their successors had ever been, even when the latter are viewed from a Democratic standpoint. "The Radicals have abused the franking privilege;" that same charge was proved against the Democrats by the old Whigs, who said it was wrong for a Congressman to "frank" his boots home from Washington to be half-soled, as "Pub. Docs.;" and then the old Whigs went to work with a will, franking all sorts of documents to their party friends, even as the present Democratic Congressmen from New Hampshire frank all over the State papers containing Democratic denunciations of Republican "abuse of the franking privilege."

The Democrats "will oppose the managing of navy yards in the interests of a party," and point to the recent action of a copperhead Congressman as a proof that the party is in earnest about it; but years ago, before the Republican party had grown to power and fame, we saw a leading Democrat of this city (an intimate personal friend of our own,) stand at the polls for hours with a specially prepared navy yard check list, to make sure that all the workmen "voted right" and to mark for decapitation any who refused to do so,—voting right meaning to vote the Democratic ticket.

Extravagance and corruption have marked the Republican administration of the national finances, economy that of the Democrats,—so the latter say. When James Buchanan entered upon his duties as Chief Magistrate there was in the Treasury cash amounting to $19,870,114.10. He left in the Treasury for the incoming Administration but $2,496,035.32, a debt of $64,842,287.88, and a war which has cost fearful sacrifices of blood and treasure. The expenditures of Grant's Administration for the last fiscal year were $85,163,096.61 less than those of the last year of Andrew Johnson, notwithstanding that during the year $10,661,508.10 more was paid in pensions to the widows and orphans of those who died that their country might be saved, and notwithstanding also that the purchase of Alaska, $7,200,000, which should have been paid by Johnson, was allowed to go over to be a charge upon the present Administration. The Administration of President Grant has reduced taxation, as shown by official statements, $195,655,068.88, and propose during the present year to make a further reduction of $50,000,000. It has reduced the annual expenditures of the Government $85,163,096.61. It has paid and canceled $287,235,310.51 of the public debt, and reduced the annual interest thereon $17,598,834.48, and raised the credit of United States bonds from less than 82 3-4 cents on the dollar to above par, by which their value has been enhanced to the extent of $338,017,411.50. The copperheads denounce the Republican party as being unworthy a longer continuance in power; but even were this as they say, the past record of the Democratic party shows that nothing would be gained on any point by their reinstatement.

The public lands have been given to railroads by the Republican party, and a victory for that party means oppression of the workingmen by "corporations,"—so say the Democrats, who add that the only way to undo or prevent such wickedness is to give copperheadism the victory. But the plan of encouraging railroads with land grants was largely tried by former Democratic administrations; and the State of New York, under Democratic rule, became the most corporation-ridden State in the Union—Erie and Tammany are Democratic institutions and able coworkers for that party. And that terrible engine of Radical oppression in this State, the "Lake Company," about whose evil work the copperhead press wailed so mournfully under the erroneous belief that Hon. E. A. Straw was its agent, is run by a bitter copperhead of the most malignant type.

Straws.

The Republicans of a large manufacturing town in the easterly section of the State have agreed to support the Temperance candidates for Selectmen, the Temperance men agreeing to vote for the five Republican candidates for the legislature. The town sent four Democratic Representatives last year but is safely Republican now.

The Dover Local Record, which advocates the temperance cause, says: As yet very little has been said or done in Dover with regard to the approaching election. Both parties are arming for the contest, the Democrats to hold their own, and the Republicans desiring to make a gain from last year. In Ward Three the contest will be mainly upon representatives, and the nominees of the caucus will undoubtedly be elected. The Temperance voters of the Ward do not care to endanger the safety of the Prohibitory Law now upon the statute book, by endeavoring to run a separate ticket and defeating Republican representatives, and if the caucus should select candidates known to be opposed to the repeal of the present law, there will be very little opposition to them.

THE SEVERE STORM in Minnesota, last week, was attended with numerous casualties. Near Beaver Falls a lady, in the absence of her husband, endeavored to go to the barn and care for the stock. She was accompanied by her sister, aged 17. Two children were left in the house. Three days after the husband returned and found the children upon the bed, covered with snow, nearly dead. Learning from them of the absence of the two women, he went in search. The body of the young lady he found about half a mile from the house, and that of his wife over a mile out on the prairie. There were several other cases of freezing in the vicinity of Windom.

TAMMANY'S CHARITIES.—The result of the investigations of a committee of the Union League club into the extent of the grants of the Tammany ring during the past three years, of money and lands for sectarian purposes, was announced at a public meeting as follows:—

BUSINESS NOTICES.

PRO BONO PUBLICO, is a motto "more honored in the breach than in the observance," but attached to Holloway's Pills and Ointment it is significant of their value throughout the civilized world. For the cure of asthma, coughs, colds, cutaneous eruptions, and bankrupt constitutions, they are the sheet anchor of the sick.

We understand that the whooping-cough is quite prevalent to the south as around us; but that no cases have proved fatal. Some families use nothing but Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. Our Doctor, however, says a little ipicac, to produce vomiting, would be an advantage.

There are more than one thousand different kinds of pills in the United States. Some of them are worthless and injurious, others are good and beneficial. Old Dr. Parsons invented the best anti-bilious pill we ever saw or heard of. They are now sold under the name of Parsons' Purgative Pills.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—We stand aghast at the thousands hourly hurried to a premature grave, victims of having neglected the first symptoms of disease. Whether the complaint originates in the body, or be introduced accidentally through the skin—fatal results may be warded off by a timely recourse to one or both of these medicines. 25 cents per box or pot. 183.

DON'T HAWK, HAWK, SPIT, SPIT, BLOW, BLOW, and disgust everybody with your Catarrh, and its offensive odor, when Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy will speedily destroy all odor, arrest the discharge, and cure you.

OLD PREJUDICES ARE DYING OUT.—Nostrums are killing them. The idea that invalids wrestled by disease can be relieved by prostrating them with destructive drugs, is no longer entertained except by monomaniacs. Ever since the introduction of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS it has been obvious that their regulating and invigorating properties are all-sufficient for the cure of chronic indigestion, rheumatism, constipation, diarrhœa, nervous affections, and malarious fevers, and they are now the standard remedy for these complaints in every section of the Union.

DR. TUTTER says:—"It is unnecessary for me to enumerate the diseases for which the VEGETINE should be used. I know of no disease which it will not admit of its use, with good results. Almost innumerable complaints are caused by poisonous secretions in the blood, which can be entirely expelled from the system by the use of the VEGETINE. When the blood is perfectly cleansed, the disease rapidly yields; all pains cease; heal by action is promptly restored, and the patient is cured." WaSd

TEAM AND NEIGHS.—If horses could make themselves understood in human language, they would signify by a universal "Yea," their assent to the statement that the MUSTANG LINIMENT is the best remedy extant for all these external ailments, and by a most emphatic "Neigh!" show their displeasure at every attempt to use any other preparation in its stead. Ever since its introduction at St. Louis, at the close of the Mexican War, in 1849, it has proved a signal blessing to horse and man—curing, with absolute certainty and wonderful despatch, such equine diseases as spavin, ringbone, poll evil, scratches, hoofail, &c., and relieving and finally removing the painful affections which attack the muscles, sinews and external glands of human beings. It is a fact beyond contradiction that for all injuries or complaints of man or quadrupeds to which an external remedy is applicable, the MUSTANG LINIMENT is preferable to every other.

BEAUTY'S BEST AUXILIARY.—Ask the belle of the season what appointment of her toilet-table holds the highest place in her esteem, and she will reply, without a moment's reflection, HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM. Nothing, she is thoroughly aware, contributes so powerfully to enhance her charms and render her irresistible as that most delightful and healthy auxiliary of Beauty. By using it ladies are enabled, long after they have passed the meridian of life, to preserve the youthful bloom and purity of their complexions, and where Nature has denied that superlative attraction, the Balm fully compensates for her deficiencies.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

All the Year Round,

And in all parts of the world, the elements of disease are present in the air, the soil and the water, in a greater or less degree, and therefore the Great Vegetable Antidote to these invisible enemies of health, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is invaluable as a household medicine at all seasons and in every latitude. At no period of the year is a regulating and corrective medicine more needed than toward the close of winter, when the sun and rain are beginning to break up the winter blockade, and from the softening soil arises that terrible miasma, which weighs like an incubus upon the vital machinery, and depresses the animal spirits. It is then that the seeds of intermittent and remittent fevers, of rheumatism and rheumatic gout, of obstinate stomach complaints, of disorders of the liver and bowels, and a whole host of pulmonary and nervous complaints are sown.

The best, the surest way to prevent this disastrous seeding is to invigorate and refresh the system with a course of the Bitters. If this precaution be taken now, there will be no danger of the miasmatic germs taking roots in the fluids and tissues of the body, and bringing forth terrible fruit in the spring. Now is the time for prevention. Remember that vigor is the only safeguard against the virus of disease, and that Hostetter's Bitters is the purest, the safest, the most powerful and perfect invigorant ever administered, either as protective medicine or a remedy. A change of season approaches which almost always proves more or less disastrous to persons of a weak, nervous organization. Brace up at once with the leading Tonic of the age. Purge from the blood all morbid matter, strengthen the nerves, and regulate and purify the secretions with the Vegetable Elixir, which combines the juices of the finest medicinal roots, herbs and barks, with the most wholesome of all diffusive stimulants.

A Copper Battery.

Some five or six hundred of the unterrified gathered at the Temple on Thursday evening to hear words of comfort from the lips of Hon. Eben F. Pillsbury of Maine and P. A. Collins, Esq., a young lawyer from Boston. The former led off in a speech an hour and a half in length, as prosy as it was prolix. He uttered one good joke however, just at the close of his harangue. While urging his Democratic friends not to yield to the tempter on election day by selling their votes, and warning them that for every vote purchased by the Republicans, treble the amount of the price paid would be wrung from the pocket of the individual who traded his right of suffrage, he remarked that while it grieved him to admit that there were in every community some Americans who while claiming allegiance to the Democratic party would occasionally sell their votes, still he had to learn of the first instance of an Irishman selling his vote! This we think is good. The fact that a large portion of his audience were Irishmen had nothing to do with the remark, though. O, no. The lecturer gave way at last for Mr. Collins, who, after confirming what his colleague had said and told a few stories, subsided.

Some Music.

The people have so liberally responded to the call of Mr. Martyn in his pleasing entertainments, that I feel warranted in the belief that mere mention of a musical feast which I have enjoyed will awaken in them the feeling which has prompted this brief notice.

On two occasions I have had the pleasure of hearing a private performance upon the piano, by Mr. Henry Herrman, an English gentleman, relocated in this city as a teacher. Mr. Herrman is of the German school, a pupil of the distinguished Dr. Fred. Hiller, and adds to that study the advantage of an extended Continental experience. In compliance with my request to play, he literally rained upon me Bach, Mendelssohn, Hummel, Beethoven, Mozart, Thalberg, Chopin, Gottschalk, ad infinitum; and three and a half hours' performance left him as ready to continue, as at the outset. Mr. Herrman is a sufferer by the Chicago fire, and ranks with the first families of the "burnt districts" in point of wealth. I commit the indelicacy of thus publishing him, not only without his permission, but utterly without his knowledge, with the earnest hope that the music loving people will insist upon the public appearance of an artist whose equal has not visited this city since Gottschalk and Robert Heller. E. A. T.

Police Court.

The "dangerous classes" had quite a field day before Judge Page, Monday. Three young girls named Lizzie Murphy, Annie Campbell and Mary Carey, were sent to the House of Correction for thirty days and ordered to pay costs, $5.76 each, for nightwalking. The police say these three girls have won characters about as decidedly bad as such young persons could possibly manage to do.

Eleanor Clifford and Maggie Brown, for being drunk on Saturday, were ordered to pay $8.76 each, fine and costs, which they did.

Kate Cronan, who, though somewhat given to drink is not to be classed with the five women above mentioned, and James Martin, a seaman, were each invited to hand over $8.76, with which reasonable request Mrs. Cronan promptly complied.

Laconics.

The Herald asks, "what will the Boston Grant Club do, if Grant fails of a nomination? Can it transfer its allegiance to anybody else?" We should like to know what the Greeley Club of Portsmouth will do, if Grant should be renominated?

A patriotic correspondent asks whether it was lack of respect for the memory of the Father of his country or what,—that the stars and stripes were not hoisted on the Custom House in this city, on Washington's Birthday? Ditto on the City Building, and elsewhere!

The Brennans and the Tableaux of Erin are advertised to appear at the Temple on Monday and Tuesday evenings of next week. The entertainment given by the Brennans and their company have been well patronized and highly commended in every place they have visited, including this city; and the praise they have received has been fully deserved, as their entertainments are not only extremely pleasing but entirely free from objectionable features. The Brennans are superior singers, and "Dublin Dan" is an excellent Irish character actor. Their advertisement may be found in another column.

Master Edward E. Bradbury, U. S. N., is ordered to duty at this Navy Yard.

In Board of Aldermen, Feb. 22d, the Committee on Streets reported bill of Wm. Plaisted for sprinkling public square in 1871. Voted, that the city pay $100. A petition of Police Officers was taken from the table and laid over for one week. The Committee on City Lands and Buildings reported plans for remodelling the exterior of the City Building. Voted, that the Committee be authorized to procure full plans; the subject was then laid over for one week.

Rev. Mr. Dinsmore of the Methodist Church will resume his series of discourses on the Decalogue, Sabbath morning, and will deliver the eighth from "Thou shalt not steal." "The Itinerancy" is the subject announced for the afternoon, being the first of a brief course of sermons on "The Distinctive Features of Methodism." The ladies of the Methodist Society will hold their annual festival next week, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, in Congress Hall.

Ship Calcutta, Robertson, from Calcutta via Bermuda for Boston, (before reported,) was struck by a sea on the starboard bow, Jan. 28, in a gale from west-northwest, while in latitude 35 deg. north, longitude not given; the blow caused the vessel to leak badly, and she had to be put before the wind before the pumps would free her. She put back to Bermuda, Feb. 2, and the cargo was being discharged, much damaged, on the 11th.

A Smart Boy.

A little fellow not yet five years old, was being teased in a hair dressing saloon in this city, recently, and the following colloquy in which the boy held his own ensued:

Teaser.—Little S—— can whip you.

Boy.—No he tan't.

Teaser.—Didn't you run from him yesterday?

Boy.—Ye-eh.

Teaser.—That shows he can whip you.

Boy.—Well, he tan't make me try!

The same little chap ran away from home every day for a week and went to school without the knowledge of his parents, who knew nothing of his whereabouts until he asked for a primer. He learned his A B Cs in four days.

THE AMOSKEAG VETERANS of Manchester unanimously chose Col. John B. Clarke as their Commander on Thursday. Col. Clarke declined the honor and the organization for the year was finally perfected as follows:—General Natt Head, major commanding; Wm. B. Patten, captain company A; D. A. Simmins, first lieutenant company A; A. C. Wallace, captain company D; Fred. Hayes, jr., first lieutenant company D. In the evening, Smyth's Hall was filled with fair ladies and their attendants, the occasion being the annual reunion ball.

The reception committee included Mayor P. C. Cheney, Governor James A. Weston, Ex-Governor Frederick Smyth, Hon. E. A. Straw, Hon. Moody Currier, Hon Phineas Adams and others. These names render comment needless upon the manner in which hospitalities were dispensed. At nine o'clock the opening march was performed by Hall's band of Boston. A large proportion of the gentleman present were of distinction in military, political and social circles. There was a plentiful sprinkling of gold lace among the black coats, while the elegant toilettes of the ladies contributed to make the scene one of great brilliancy. A most unique order of eighteen dances kept the assembly together until long after midnight.

SECRETARY FISH has prepared a reply to the note of Earl Granville to General Schenck. It is intimated that this important paper, which has been carefully framed since the telegraphic announcement of the note to which it is to reply, commences by cordially reciprocating the wish expressed by Earl Granville for a lasting peace between the great English speaking nations of the earth. It then briefly reviews the negotiation from the beginning, and insists that the English Government has all along plainly understood that indirect damages must necessarily enter into the case to be presented for arbitration; that for this reason it certainly could not have been a surprise to the British Government; that it was fairly stated by the Secretary of State in all the preliminary discussions, and that having gone thus far we will neither withdraw or amend our case, nor sacrifice the nation's dignity, as an assent to England's demand would imply.

The note of Lord Granville on the Alabama question is addressed to Minister Schenck. It is exceedingly amicable in tone and elaborate and profuse in expressions of the desire of the British to preserve the treaty and establish friendly relations between the two Governments.

The canvass of the town of Danville shows thirteen Republican majority. Danville sent an Assistant Democrat to the legislature last year.

THE ORANGEMEN had a parade in New York, Thursday. The police arrangements were complete, and no attempt was made to create a riot.

FOSTER, the New York murderer has again been sentenced to be hung, on the 22d of March. The case will be carried to the Court of Appeals.

Morning Chronicle.

BY THE HOUR.—The subject of hiring farm labor by the hour is beginning to attract attention as the best method of settling the number of hours that shall constitute a day's work. It makes provision for paying men for the time they are actually engaged, and nothing for rainy days and the time they are standing still. A correspondent of the Rural New Yorker has tried it, and says:

I find it pays. I keep three men—usually one by the month. The men I hire by the day usually have families to support. When I paid them by the day, without any understanding as to the length of the day, they arrived late or early, as was most convenient for them. Now that I pay by the hour, they generally want to work full as many hours as I need them; but if they do not, they know that will get paid only for the work they do; and if they do not regard my wishes somewhat, working until the work is accomplished, they feel very certain that I will hire some one who will stick by me; and I find men are more willing to accomplish all the work, regardless of the number of hours, if they are sure of being paid proportionately, as they are by the hour system. I think we shall adopt the same rule in reference to household help. It requires a little time to break in and make laborers understand it; but when they do, they like it better, and so do I.

A COURT STORY.—The Newburyport Herald relates an amusing story of an episode in the superior court last week. Mr. Ives had just finished arguing a case, when the district attorney arose to address the jury, and by way of introduction, took occasion to compliment his learned friend on the able manner in which he had conducted his case, and continued his argument until something occurred to which Mr. Ives objected. In stating his objections, he remarked that the panegyric of the district attorney reminded him of that quotation from Shakespeare:—

"Shakespeare never said so, it was Pope," said the district attorney. "It was Shakespeare," said Ives. "Pope!" shouted the attorney. "I shall leave your honor to decide the point," said Mr. Ives. Judge Putnam declined to pass upon the matter, as he should expect Mr. Ives would file exceptions to his ruling.

—At a Washington dinner party the other evening the President and his wife and daughter, Secretaries Boutwell and Robeson and Mr. Nast were among the guests. Much amusement was created by the bill of fare, which Mr. Nast placed at Miss Nelly Grant's plate, caricaturing the dishes served in the most ludicrous style. To begin with, there were oysters on the half shell and General Chipman as oyster man behind a counter dealing the dainties out to Nast himself. Chicken soup was delineated by a bowl, out of which the legs of the fowls protruded. Rock fish was a caricature of the Secretary of State in a cradle, and so on though the lists of dainties served, the most absurd of which was Roman punch, in which Nast appeared having his nose pulled by Pio Nono. Finally, on the back of the illustrated bill of fare the artist was represented being carried off the scene of action in an after-dinner state of bliss by the President (who had a cigar in his mouth) and the Secretary of State. The caricatures, it is needless to say, were inimitable, and were heartily enjoyed by all present.

—It has been judicially decided by the Supreme Court of Maine that an oyster is a fish; so that if Agassiz and other naturalists persist in their illegal and seditious utterances they will render themselves liable to commitment for contempt.

—The Austrian Reichstrath, by a two-thirds majority, has passed the compulsory electoral bill, which makes important changes in the political system of the provinces, and is intended to bind them closer to the crown.

—Major Muldon says that Schuyler Colfax is not a smiler, he is a smile. A smile in an aggregation of dimples—the loveliest, the most attractive creature the world has seen for 1872 years at least.

—A Western girl who has been Will brought up knocks down every man who is so bold as to kiss her, and she is so pretty that half the married and all the single men in town have black eyes.

New Publications.

The World Almanac, for 1872, is far in advance of any of its competitors and, barring its political sympathies, is one of the best political annuals ever published. Nowhere can such full election returns be found within two covers. The political statistics of this State, for example, are as follows: Governor vote in 1870 and 1871 by counties with the majorities in the latter year and the percentage of votes for each candidate, congressional vote in 1870, present State government and political composition of the legislature, vote of the State for President and Governor every year for twenty years, with the majorities. The statistics of other States are given with equal or even greater fullness. The other matters contained in its pages are of great value for reference and many of them cannot easily be found elsewhere. Price 25 cents.

Epilepsy or Fits.
A SURE CURE for this distressing complaint is now made known in a Treatise (of 48 octavo pages) on Foreign and Native Herbal Preparations, published by Dr. O. Phelps Brown. The prescription was discovered by him in such a providential manner that he cannot conscientiously refuse to make it known, and has cured everybody who has used it for Fits, never having failed in a single case. The ingredients may be obtained through any druggist. A copy sent free to all applicants by mail. Address Dr. O. PHELPS BROWN, 21 Grand Street, Jersey City, N. J.

CURE FOR
FEMALE WEAKNESS.
The Proprietor of this valuable Medicine, while suffering from loss of health some twenty years ago, received an Indian recipe, from which she prepared some for her own use, which restored her to a cure. Many of her friends have used it with equally gratifying success, and have urged her to introduce it to the public. She has been induced, for the relief of suffering humanity to do so, and feels confident it will prove one of the richest blessings to the sick and suffering. It is an entirely vegetable—will not injure the most delicate constitution, but is congenial to nature, and will not cost an hour's time or any considerable money for the application of Caustic. It will cradicate all Humors, which is one cause, in many cases, of great suffering. Its remarking effects are so extraordinary, without a change in diet, that it will testify. Three bottles will convince the sceptical of its surprising properties. It is most wonderful in the Relief and Cure of the following diseases:—Prolapsus Uteri, Nervous Debility, Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Palpitation of Heart, Dyspepsia, Dyspepsia, Irregularities, Change of Life, Whites, Loss of Spirits, Affections, Biliousness, Inflammatory Rheumatism, &c. Prepared and sold by Mrs. L. BELCHER, Randolph, Mass. See Circular. Sold by all Druggists, at $1.00 per bottle.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern in the Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or patent or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are so well have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds the sewing done in this country, and has the advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR.
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.
Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes it to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the glossy and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.
As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

Fashion is a capricious god in head gear, and no man is more alive to this fact than Mr. Chas. W. Birch, (senior partner of Birch & Co., and formerly senior partner of the firm of Birch & Henderson,) who makes it a point to have every novel and desirable style of goods to offer his patrons, at their pleasant rooms, 11 Summer Street.

FACES ON THE WALL.

BY HARRIET BEECHER STOWE.

AUTHOR OF "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN," "MY WIFE AND I," ETC.

Once there was a very good little girl, who, by reason of her goodness knew where to find strawberries in the winter. In the same way less perfect people, blessed by the generous fairies of memory and imagination, may sit, as I do now, in the midst of falling leaves and whistling winds, and call back the green grasses and the summer sun. I see yonder in the glen, the darling of our house, the gold g'eam in her brown hair, a chain of daisies in her hand, and in her eyes the roguish meditation of a kitten, weary for an instant only of its play, and thinking slyly of another spring. Thrown back upon the velvet grass, she almost resting, only pausing from her bright glances to the tips of her tiny fingers she is wide awake.

But now the merry play is over, and our pet nestles yonder on the sofa cushion, tired at last in earnest. Slowly the lids fall, and the lingering smile dies out; but the flush in cheek and lip remains, like the glow after sunset. The gathered buttercups and daisies are loosely held by the fair little hand; no shadows, even of dream-land, disturb the sweet brow's perfect peace. She is fast asleep.

In other words, two chromos hang upon the wall, bewitching child-heads, in which every mother sees some thing of her own dear ones, never grown old, and never lost to her, however time or death may have dealt with them.

Nothing pleases more at first sight or gives pleasure longer than poetical pictures of children. "The little child" whom Jesus sets in the midst of every family is a joy that grows not old and fades not.

"Age cannot wither, custom cannot stale
Its infinite variety."

For this reason a happy picture of a child brings an enjoyment more lasting than any other, because it is a subject of which no one ever tires.

But these pictures, besides their constant charm for grown folks, are such as children can understand and love. Our little "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," would give many a pleasant hour of companionable amusement and intercourse to the little people akin to them in age. The pictures that children's eyes rest on as they are dropping off to sleep, or as they awake in the morning, seem to them like living friends. All sorts of childish dreams and fancies make of the pictured face a real companion. Not only in the parlor and sitting-room would they be an attractive and fitting embellishment, but they are a charming pair for the adornment of a nursery.

Undoubtedly those two pictures are portraits. There is a realistic faithfulness and truth about them that forbids the idea of their being fancy heads. They will remind many parents of little ones either here or in heaven. Dickens says of his portraiture of little Nell that he has had letters from the farthest region of the earth speaking of children who resembled her—so dear, and so early taken! He who paints one child well, paints thousands, and speaks to the tenderest feelings of innumerable hearts.

Of course there is a pleasure in possessing an original painting; but when the question lies between an original at five hundred dollars and a chromo which can scarcely be distinguished from it, at ten dollars—particularly when one has not the five hundred to spare—the choice is not very difficult. As to these two exquisite chromos, only a critical examination can distinguish between the copies and the originals, which sold for many hundreds—which is certainly more than can be said of the best copies of most pictures painted by the best artists.

Blessings upon the chromo-lithography, by which the successful painting of a master can be reproduced indefinitely, and can enter thousands of homes with its educating, quickening, reforming influences!

It is not alone into the dwellings of the great and wealthy that we follow this pretty pair with satisfaction of delight. We see them in the cottages of the poor, in the log cabin of the barkwoodsman, brightening the toil of the hard-worked wife and mother, and receiving the almost adoring wonder of children who have never seen pictures before.

God bless the darlings—send the little comforters fast and far!

The charming pair of oil chromos, "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," of whose real beauty and attractiveness Mrs. Stowe's graceful sketch can give but an imperfect idea—so pleasing are they to all who love art or children—have always sold in the picture stores for $10, and the original publisher has never been able to supply the great demand for them even at that price. And yet, although thousands of them have been sold in America at that high rate, they are now within the reach of all, for they are to every subscriber to THE CHRISTIAN UNION, an unsectarian, literary, religious and domestic weekly newspaper, edited by HENRY WARD BEECHER.

The pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished to Mr. Beecher's publishers at a rate entirely exceptional. The subjects are LIFE-SIZE.

As to the CHRISTIAN UNION, the great success of that paper has been a marvel in the history of journalism, and the scholarly and critical New York Nation calls it "not only the ablest and best, but also the most popular of American religious periodicals."

This paper, hereafter will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, a decided advantage possessed by no other religious weekly published. It contains contributions from eminent writers of all denominations, and has matter of interest for every member of the household, young and old. For the year 1872, Mrs. HARRIET BEECHER STOWE will write exclusively for the CHRISTIAN UNION.

It has something for every member of the household—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, and find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles, discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects; much another of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems, Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones, one of the chief attractions being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

The terms of subscription to this paper are: For one year ONLY $3.00. This will entitle the subscriber to the paper and to the above pair of beautiful Oil Chromos, THE CHRISTIAN UNION, Illustrated Holiday Number, (28 p p.) will be sent FREE to all who now subscribe for the year 1872.

Send money in postal orders, drafts, or registered letters direct to the Publishers.

Specimen copies of the paper will be mailed FREE of postage to any address on receipt of six cents by J. B. Ford & Co., Publishers, 27 Park Place, New York. For full particulars, see advertisement in the next column, headed "Why?"

WHY?
What is the reason that the Literary, Religious, and Domestic Weekly, started two years ago, namely,
THE CHRISTIAN UNION,
should have so suddenly achieved a success that makes all newspaper men wonder?
Reasons Why!
1st. HENRY WARD BEECHER is its Editor, of whom the Chicago Interior said "Probably no man on this continent sways so many minds, or is doing so much to shape religious thought for the next half century." His vigorous pen in Editorials and Star Papers, and Mr. Ellinwood's famed verbatim reports of his helpful Lecture-Room Talk in Plymouth Church, are an attraction to thousands of readers, who always want to know what he thinks on religious themes and the topics of the times. He is also assisted by an able editorial staff.
2d. It Is Unsectarian in Religion, Independent in Political Discussion, and devoted to Morals, Reform, Home and Foreign News—both of Church matters and the world at large, Literature, Science, Art, Music, Agriculture, Trade, Finance, etc., etc., with contributions from eminent writers of all denominations—in all parts of the country.
3d. IT HAS SOMETHING FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE HOUSEHOLD—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, all find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects, much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems, Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones; one of its chief attraction being Mrs. H. A MOSAIC.
WHAT THE PRESS SAYS:
Two very good chromos are "Wide Awake" and "Fast Asleep," [1] which have few rivals in the market for attractiveness [2]—fresh, sweet and blooming child-face [3] executed with true French skill [4]. We have rarely seen anything prettier than the two pictures, which, [5] both in color and sentiment are really beautiful [6]—worthy of a place in costly homes [7]. Unlike nine pictures out of ten that cost a good deal more, one can look at them day after day and not tire of them [8]. We have often stopped amid the bustle of Broadway to look at them, and never without feeling happier and better [7]. They cannot fail to please all who love art or children [8].

MANHOOD

IN THE

Young and Rising Generation.

The vegetable powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show their baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body, too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwardly upon themselves.

If the patient be a female the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it is fed on. The energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain. The parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

TRY HELMBOLD'S
EXTRACT BUCHU

For Weakness Arising from Excesses or Early Indiscretion,

attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such Patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for fear of themselves; no repose of matter, no earnestness, no speculation, but a hurried transition from one question to another.

THESE SYMPTOMS, IF ALLOWED TO GO ON—WHICH THIS MEDICINE INVARIABLY REMOVES — SOON FOLLOW LOSS OF POWER, FATUITY AND EPILEPTIC FITS, IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients. Reason has for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths of Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibitions appear. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute; neither mirth nor grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.

"With woful measures wan despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguile."

While we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences.

HELMBOLD'S
Fluid Extract of Buchu.

There is no tonic like it. It is an anchor of hope to the physician and patient. This is the testimony of all who have used or prescribed it.

Beware of counterfeits and those cheap decoctions called Buchu, most of which are prepared by self-styled doctors, from deleterious ingredients, and offered for sale at "less price" and "larger bottles," etc. They are variable and frequently injurious. Ask for Helmbold's. Take no other.

Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Price $1.25 per Bottle, or 6 Bottles for $6.60.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1872.

Sinclair's Record.

In 1864, when the bill giving the soldiers in the field the right to vote was pending in the Legislature, Mr. John G. Sinclair, present Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, not only voted against the bill, but he stirred up such violent opposition that the speaker's authority was set at naught, and at the height of the disgraceful proceedings, Mr. Sinclair gave utterance to this revolutionary declaration:

"The Democracy of the country will never submit to the result of an election decided against them by Soldiers' votes."

And again, at the same session, when the tattered flag of the gallant Eleventh Regiment was brought into the hall of Representatives and was received by the Republicans with deafening applause, while the Democrats were as silent as the grave, Sinclair gave vent to his pent-up treason as follows:

"The flag speaks more eloquently to-day than human tongue can speak, of the carnage of hell which abolitionism has brought upon the country—the flag, until it was seized by red-handed abolitionism, floated on every sea, was respected in every land, and never trailed in the dust."

And this is the man whom the copperheads hope to send to the United States Senate!

Fraud and Falsehood.

The Democracy, in their zealous earnestness to win such a victory in this State on the 12th of March as will enable them to send to the United States Senate a bitter hater of the Union and a furious opponent of the war for its preservation, have taken the trouble—if indeed it is any trouble to them,—to spread broadcast over the State the most outrageous falsehoods concerning the Republican party and the national administration. A few weeks ago an elaborately prepared article purporting to be a list of defaulting collectors of internal revenue under President Grant's administration, was published in nearly every copperhead sheet in the State, under the heading, "A Few of the Stealings—Figures for Tax-Payers to Read." Accompanying the list was a statement that "it is a list of the defalcations of internal revenue officers as they appear on the books of the United States Treasury," the amount aggregating $16,367,477 11.

The indignation of the copperheads arose and their wrath waxed hot over this list, and their partizan press shed figurative tears over the "Radical fraud and corruption" it exposed, while urging the voters of the State to do their duty by casting their ballots on the 12th of March for the candidates of the party of honor, honesty and truth, the only pure and unadulterated copperhead party; but the list turns out to be as outrageous and brazen a lie as ever appeared even in a Democratic paper, and if it convicts any party of "fraud and corruption," it is not the Republican party. Senator Patterson has prepared a correct "list of the defalcations of internal revenue officers as they appear on the books of the United States Treasury," and the Nashua Telegraph publishes this correct official list side by side with the gigantic lie which the Democratic leaders prepared; we copy both lists that our readers may be able to judge for themselves how much regard for truth is entertained by these fellows who are so shocked by the "corruption and fraud" of the Republicans. The copperhead list was a "cunningly devised fable," names, localities and amounts being gived with a minuteness of detail that was in itself convincing; and when in addition the mendacious statement was made that it was compiled from "the books of the United States Treasury," a damaging campaign document indeed had been produced—if it had only been true or could not be proved false. But it is false, and has been easily proved so by "the books of the United States Treasury."

On the 15th of August, 1871, the First Comptroller of the Treasury transmitted to the Secretary of the Treasury a statement, which was published, showing the cash balance due at that date from all the collectors of Internal Revenue in the United States, by which it was shown that the total amount due was $2,750,126.39. Of this amount only $12,423.67 was due from officers in the New England States. Of the remainder $1,130,407.33 (nearly one-half of the total amount) was due from collectors in the state of Louisiana, appointed by Andrew Johnson and removed by the present administration, and but $135,369.92 was due from the officers appointed by the present administration. Here is the official list and the Democratic lie, side by side:

Thus showing that instead of sixteen million dollars being stolen directly from the tax-payers only a little more than one million and a half remains unaccounted for, in which New England is concerned for twelve thousand, and the present administration one hundred and thirty-five thousand dollars. As regards the alleged defalcation of officers connected with the P. O. Department, the subjoined statement is taken from an official report:—

Norton, superintendent of money department New York Post-office, $115,000. [Norton has transferred his property to a trustee for the benefit of the Postmaster at New York, who is responsible on his bond to the Government for the defalcation. The property transferred indemnifies the Postmaster in full.]

S. R. Fox, New York Post-office, charged with embezzling letters, $5,000.

Andrew Spofford, mail agent, charged with embezzling letters, $10,000.

A. E. Woodcock, Postmaster, Piedmont, West Virginia, $10,000. [Owes the government nothing.]

Major Lander, Postmaster, Salem, Mass., $6,000. [Owes the government nothing.]

P. S. Hathaway, Clerk, Post-office at Hartford, Conn., $1,600. [Paid the government in full.]

E. W. Whitaker, Postmaster at Hartford, Conn., $180,000. [No defalcation.]

A. Mortimer, Post-office Disbursing officer, a Democrat, $30,000. [Died insane. Property transferred; secures the government.]

Major Hodges, army paymaster, whose defalcation is about $500,000, is an old Democratic office-holder; and George Batchelder, secretary of Dakota Territory, and Col. Wellman, collector of customs at Savannah, Ga., set down as defaulters by the copperheads to the amount of $8,000 each, are both square in their accounts with the government.

The authors of the Democratic list of defalcations probably imagined their base falsehood would remain unrefuted long enough for it to do its work in our State campaign; but their calculations have proved incorrect, and those who have listened to the charges falsely made by them against the administration may well ask themselves if a party which deals in such wholesale misrepresentations is a reliable witness in a case of "corruption and fraud." As a close to this exposition of Democratic honor and honesty, we give the excess of expenditures over receipts for each year of Buchanan's administration, as published by the Secretary of the Treasury:

For the fiscal year 1858,	$37,932,804.43
" " 1859,	15,564,511.39
" " 1860,	7,065,990.56
" " 1861, to the close of the administration in March,	$10,954,694.50

making a total of sixty million, two hundred and sixty-five thousand, one hundred dollars and sixty-eight cents, extravagantly expended in excess of income by a Democratic administration in a time of profound peace!

SENATOR TRUMBULL made a speech in the Senate on Friday which is considered a bid direct for the Presidential nomination by the liberal republicans, and a bid indirect for a similar compliment from the democrats. Senator Morton replied in an incisive speech. He said:—

"The people generally understood that the Senator had stepped out of the republican party — stepping, however, within easy returning distance, and was standing with his back all chalked over, "Barkis is willin'." [Laughter.] If that impression was wrong, this was a good opportunity to correct it; but the Senator had not availed himself of it. The Senator from Illinois had for many years been as good a party man as any one. He had repeatedly received nominations at the republican caucuses, and chosen by the party to the highest office but one in the government. What had changed him? Was it the prospect of receiving a higher office at the hands of another party? If so, let him take care of his disposition. He has been honored with the confidence of the republican party for nearly 20 years. If he now intends to desert it let him say so; or if he intends to come forward and support the nominee of the 5th of June, now is a good time to say it. If he says that he will support that nominee it will give me much joy.

I do not want the Senator or any man to leave us, but if he intends to leave us, I want to know it. As I said the other day, I don't want my party to be cheated. Breckinridge, Toombs and Slidell, having decided to go into the rebellion, stayed behind in this chamber to betray the government and the country. I hope their example will not be followed by others. If they mean to leave us I can bid them a kind good-bye, but I am not willing they shall remain and fight us from our own camp."

Political.

Mr. Richard B. Carpenter, a native Vermonter, who carpet-bagged to South Carolina, got mad with Gen. Grant because votes enough to make him Governor of that State were not given, and has come to this State to speak for the Democracy.

It is reported that the Democrats of the town of Haverhill are counting paupers, even county paupers, as ratable polls, in order to send three representatives to the Legislature. How is that for honesty?

Governor Weston and Hon. E. A. Straw have been associated frequently in various business enterprises and are firm friends.

Somersworth has usually had four Representatives. Under the new law it will be entitled to five, and promises three hundred majority for Mr. Straw.

The Democracy make the accusation that the commission to adjust the reimbursement make too large a bill. Then why in the name of economy did they add two members to the commission without authority of law, when all they could do was to go to Concord at ten o'clock, return at three, and take two hours for dinner. The original commissioners could do the work and save nearly one half the expense. Two of the commissioners had but little more to do than smoke and hang round, because three could do all the work.

The Republicans of Strafford County promise a gain of thirteen Representatives to the legislature.

We appreciate a good joke well played. Here's one. Gen. Harriman spoke in Franklin recently to a smaller audience than was expected. Cause why; Mr. Alvah W. Sulloway, a Democratic Representative, purchased a large number of tickets to Whitmore & Clark's minstrel performance and gave them to all voters who would go. The minstrel show was crowded. The Democracy are afraid to let their men hear Republican speakers.

The Republicans of Weare have hopes of defeating Wm. H. Gove, the Labor Deformer whom the Democrats bought last year by making him Speaker of the House.

The Boston Advertiser closes an editorial on the New Hampshire election as follows:—We therfore not only congratulate the Republicans of New Hampshire on the reasonable justification of their hopes, but we beg them to strain every nerve to secure the desired result and make it as decisive as they may. There is no denying that they struggle against unusual odds in the coming contest; but they have won before against a stronger party than now opposes them, and they may do so again.

Neal Dow is mentioned for Mayor of Portland.

Horace Greeley has indicated his intention of bolting the nomination of Gen. Grant. Let all the earth rejoice! [P. S. We are sorry to see the statement contradicted by authority. Let not the earth rejoice.]

Hon. James F. Wilson of Iowa will be a candidate against Gen. Grant for the nomination for President.

Thinks Hon. Richard Hubbard, Democratic candidate for Governor of Connecticut.—"Let parties and partizans perish, if need be; but let the Republic live." You don't say so, Dick.

Judge David Davis of Illinois accepts the labor-reform nomination for the presidency.

Women were admitted as delegates to the national prohibitory convention, and the platform adopted contains a woman-suffrage plank.

Prominent Indiana republicans express great satisfaction with the State ticket nominated. They now say they want the democrats to nominate Voorhees for governor, and they will beat him by 20,000 majority.

During the Connecticut Democratic State Convention, the New York Sun reporter occupied a seat on the platform, at the side of Hon. I. H. Bromley, editor of the Hartford Post. "This is a full convention, is it not?" asked the reporter. "Yes," responded Mr. Bromley, "it is a full convention, but it'll be a great deal fuller before noon." Meeting Mr. Bromley in the afternoon, the reporter shook hands with him. when Mr. Bromley apologized for his remark in the morning, saying that it was evident, from the soberness of the convention, that the Connecticut State Democracy had changed their hours for drink.

☞ By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.

At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.

At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid-up Policy.

At the end of 15 years, - - - - - 14,000.

At the end of 20 years, - - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent Annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income of - - - - - - $173.30

Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 647.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY A Doubtful Voter.

Messrs. Editors:—The Democratic organs grow facetious in reference to men being employed on the Navy Yard before election and discharged afterward. This reminds me of an interview between some of our adopted citizens who were together recently "Well, Pat," said one, "and how do ye vote this year?" "Oh," said he, "I vote for my own interest." "How about Mr. Marcy?" continued the interrogator. "Oh, I have had enough of Marcy and his South End ship yard. They talk of building a big ship there, but it don't catch me. I worked for old Daniel one winter at seventy-five cents a day and the morning after election he came into the Yard cross as a bear. He said the Dimmecrats had been chated and the country was all going to ——, and with the high price of labor he couldn't build a ship and make anything, and he didn't want to hire me any longer. 'What,' says I, 'are you going to send me off now after working all winter at such low wages?' 'Do you suppose I was —— fool enough to keep you at work all winter except to get your vote, now?' he says,—and I up and left then, since which I have been doubtful."
OBSERVER.

Laconics.

The many friends of Mrs. H. F. Wendell will be gratified to learn that she is convalescent.

Mrs. Harding, wife of Capt. Prince Harding, fell on the ice and badly injured her ankle on Sunday while returning from church.

An examination of the Plains school took place a few days ago and was very satisfactory to the committee, who pronounce the school in an excellent condition. It is under the tutorship of Mr. Edward P. Sherburne, who evinces a peculiar ability in the management and instruction of the pupils under his charge.

There are sixty-one locomotives in use on the Eastern Railroad, the aggregate weight of which is over fifteen hundred tons. If these were all shackled together, they would reach a distance of more than half a mile.

Mr. Wallace McIntire of York, Me., has recently taken charge of the fine organ in the Congregational Church of Great Falls. Mr. McIntire is a gentleman as well as an excellent musician, and the society is fortunate in securing his services. He is a pupil of Mr. A. Pearson, who was also instructor of the present organists of the Unitarian and Universalist churches in this city.

The old engine house of the Eastern Railroad at Newburyport is being taken down, and the bricks are being put into the engine house in process of construction here.

Lieut.-Com'dr Mortimer L. Johnson, U. S. N., is ordered to the Nahant.

The Journal says "the Portsmouth Music Society have voted to take part in Gilmore's great Jubilee in Boston next June, and have reported fifty members or more for admission to the grand chorus. Frank W. Miller is President, L. V. Newell, Secretary, and E. A. Tilton Musical Director of the Society. Competent singers in this city or vicinity, who desire to join, will please report immediately to either of the officers as above, and attend the rehearsals at Mr. Tilton's music room on Market street each Wednesday evening. Portsmouth ought to send at least one hundred singers to the Jubilee. The Cornet Band was almost our only representative at the first Jubilee, and probably both this and Harlow's Band will also be engaged for the coming great concert. The proposition is, for the Music Society, with Harlow's Band, to give a Concert in this city previous to the Jubilee, the interest in which grand event will doubtless inagurate a new era in music hereabouts."

A special meeting of the Portsmouth Board of Trade is called for this evening, and we are requested to urge a full attendance of the members that some decisive action may be taken, either to revivify the institution if it is considered possible and desirable, or to give it allopathic treatment if it is moribund. See advertisement.

The Amherst Cabinet says: "The lecture before the Lyceum in this place on Monday evening by Rev. C. M. Dinsmore of Portsmouth, was listened to by a full house with the closest attention, and afforded much pleasure. The speaker substituted for the lecture announced, a new one upon 'Manhood; or, man's Aspirations, Attainments and Deeds.' It is to be hoped that the thoughts presented may be treasured and practiced by the young people of this community. Lyceums or associations looking for lecturers, will do well to give Mr. D. a call."

By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that the Portsmouth Savings Bank has made some changes in the By-Laws, having adopted the plan for dividends now in use in many of the Massachusetts Savings Banks. The changes are these:—1. Instead of the interest commencing quarterly, it now commences on the first day of each and every month; and a grace of three days is allowed, so that money deposited on the first three days of each month, goes on interest on the first day of the month. 2. The Dividend has formerly gone on interest three months after it has been declared; now it is on interest as soon as declared. 3. Dividends will be declared on the first days of January and July, instead of third Wednesdays of those months. 4. Three dollars is the smallest sum that has been on interest—now interest will be allowed on one dollar. These changes, with that made 18 months since, in advancing the rate of interest from four to five per cent., will tend to increase the usefulness of this institution, which will soon enter on its second half-century; and shows that the Trustees are determined it shall retain in age the vigor of youth.

The Brennans give one of their chaste and attractive entertainments at the Temple this evening; and all who enjoy fine scenic displays, fun, good acting and good singing without any taint of impropriety in word or manner, will do well to invest a small sum in a visit to the Brennans and the Tableax of Erin.

The Benevolent Society of Newcastle gave a levee last Thursday and Friday evenings. The refreshment tables were loaded with eatables, and the tables for fancy work were handsomely furnished. The exercises consisted of singing, reading, dialogues and charades,—all of which were highly appreciated. The receipts were $150, which will go toward painting the church.

The winter term of the Newcastle Grammar School, which has been under the charge of Mr. A. H. Morrill, closed Feb. 24th. The closing exercises were highly commendatory and showed that the term had been well improved.

—The S. B. Breed Hook and Ladder boys had a jolly time at Portsmouth last Wednesday night.—Lynn Little Giant.

Advertising.

A lady correspondent says she reads the new advertisements every day and then knows just where to go for the article she desires. Some people think that the advertising part of a newspaper is interesting only too parties furnishing the same, or to the publishers, who are paid for the insertion. Never was there greater mistake. No part of a daily paper is so eagerly sought for, or so thoroughly devoured by ladies, as the advertising columns. Therefore, does it not behoove all interested in drawing the pin-money of the weaker sex into their coffers to advertise well and attractively?

The good taste and good judgment of persons in trade are nowhere more noticeable than in their advertisements Some are so awkwardly worded that the readers decide at once that attractions are behind the scenes; others bear fraud so plainly on the face of them that they are noticed no more. A clear, concise, honest advertisement always claims attention, and always bears fruit. If you want custom, just let the public know, that they may decide from the advertisements, where is the best place to go on the morrow to buy shoes for Jacob, furs for Rachel, spectacles for themselves, and carpets for their parlors.

SMALL BUSINESS.—The lower house (Republican) of the California legislature recently passed a resolution asking Congress to pass a law allowing of the imposition of a special mining tax on Chinamen, and the Californian Senate (Democratic) passed the resolution to be engrossed. We have no idea that Congress will make a donkey of itself by granting the request; and in view of the facts that the United States not many years ago sent a naval squadron to Japan to force that country to give up its exclusiveness, and that the Japanese have thrown aside the social and political prejudices of past ages and are eagerly welcoming the civilization of Europe, this adoption by "enlightened Americans" of the cast off prejudices of the Oriental pagans seems to be mighty small business.

On the 22d, a man named George Webster was found in the barn of the North Family of Shakers, at Canterbury hanging from a beam, dead. Webster had been with the Shakers but a few days, having come there, he said, to examine into their doctrines and mode of life, with a view of joining the society. He said he was a married man, aged about forty-eight, and had a family. He is supposed to belong in Hooksett.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

We understand that the whooping-cough is quite prevalent in the towns around us; but that no cases have proved fatal. Some families use nothing but Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. Our Doctor, however, says a little ipicac, to produce vomiting, would be an advantage.

There are more than one thousand different kinds of pills in the United States. Some of them are worthless and injurious, others are good and beneficial. Old Dr. Parsons invented the best anti-bilious pill we ever saw or heard of. They are now sold under the name of Parsons' Purgative Pills.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—We stand aghast at the thousands hourly hurried to a premature grave, victims of having neglected the first symptoms of disease. Whether the complaint originates in the body, or be introduced accidentally through the skin—fatal results may be warded off by a timely recourse to one or both of these medicines. 25 cents per box or pot. 183.

OLD PREJUDICES ARE DYING OUT.—New facts are killing them. The idea that invalids weakened by disease can be relieved by prostrating them with destructive drugs, is no longer entertained except by menomaniacs. Ever since the introduction of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS it has been obvious that their regulating and invigorating properties are all-sufficient for the cure of chronic indigestion, rheumatism, constipation, diarrhœa, nervous affections, and malarious fevers, and they are now the standard remedy for these complaints in every section of the Union.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

All the Year Round,

And in all parts of the world, the elements of disease are present in the air, the soil and the water, in a greater or less degree, and therefore the Great Vegetable Antidote to these invisible enemies of health, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is invaluable as a household medicine at all seasons and in every latitude. At no period of the year is a regulating and corrective medicine more needed than toward the close of winter, when the sun and rain are beginning to break up the winter blockade, and from the softening soil arises that terrible miasma, which weighs like an incubus upon the vital machinery, and depresses the animal spirits. It is then that the seeds of intermittent and remittent fevers, of rheumatism and rheumatic gout, of obstinate stomach complaints, of disorders of the liver and bowels, and a whole host of pulmonary and nervous complaints are sown.

The best, the surest way to prevent this disastrous seeding is to invigorate and refresh the system with a course of the Bitters. If this precaution be taken now, there will be no danger of the miasmatic germs taking roots in the fluids and tissues of the body, and bringing forth terrible fruit in the spring. Now is the time for prevention. Remember that vigor is the only safeguard against the virus of disease, and that Hostetter's Bitters is the purest, the safest, the most powerful and perfect invigorant ever administered, either as protective medicine or a remedy. A change of season approaches which almost always proves more or less disastrous to persons of a weak, nervous organization. Brace up at once with the leading Tonic of the age. Purge from the blood all morbid matter, strengthen the nerves, and regulate and purify the secretions with the Vegetable Elixir, which combines the juices of the finest medicinal roots, herbs and barks, with the most wholesome of all diffusive stimulants.

Cannot be cured by snuffs, washes or local applications. LEPTANDRIN.

Epilepsy or Fits.

A SURE CURE for this distressing complaint is now made known to the public in a pamphlet of 32 octavo pages on Foreign and Native Herbal Preparations, published by Dr. O. PHELPS BROWN. The prescription was discovered by him while a psychiatrical amateur that he cannot conscientiously refuse to make it known, as it has cured everybody who has used it for Fits, never having failed in a single case. The ingredients may be obtained from any druggist. A copy sent free to all applicants by mail. Address Dr. O. PHELPS BROWN, 31 Grand Street, Jersey City, N. J.

CURE FOR FEMALE WEAKNESS.

The Proprietor of this valuable Medicine, while suffering from loss of health some twenty years ago, received an Indian recipe, from which she prepared some for her own use, which resulted in a cure. Many of her friends have used it with equally gratifying success, and have urged her to introduce it to the public. She has consented, for the relief of suffering humanity to do so, and feels confident it will prove one of the richest blessings to her sex. This is an internal remedy—entirely vegetable—will not injure the most delicate constitution, but is congenial to nature, as supporters are not used under any consideration, nor the application of Caustic, or Cauterizing in any shape, which is one cause, in many cases, of great suffering. Its renovating effects are extraordinary, without a change in diet, as hundreds will testify. Three bottles will convince the most skeptical of its surprising properties. Its effects are wonderful in the Relief and Cure of the following diseases:—Prolapsus Uteri, Nervous Debility, Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of Heart, Depression of Spirits, Irregularities, Change of Life, Whites, Tropical Affections, Biliousness, Inflammation of the Kidneys, &c. Prepared and sold by MRS. LINUS BELCHER, Randolph, Mass. Send for Circular. Sold by all Druggists, at $1.00 per bottle.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running on needles or feed or price—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds the sewing done in this country, and has more its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes it to fall off prematurely; and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has proved greatly for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and invariably restores faded and gray hair to natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we see on older heads so often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

HOW TO GET RICH.

BY WM. D. MORANGE.

Put on the airs of an eight-keyed flute,
If you're only a penny whistle;
Pass where you can for a garden rose,
If you're only a wayside thistle.

Blow, whenever you blow your horn,
So people can understand
That you may be sharp, but you won't be flat,
In society's great brass band.

Pass the plate or the hat in church,
With the usual Sabbath air.
But move with a mild, religious squeak,
That people may know you're there.

If you carry a nose six inches long,
(And a peak can scarce be longer,)
Believe it a sign of perception strong,
And the longer it is, the stronger.

But if in the order of nasal tubes
Your organ is brief in measure,
Then, brevity being the soul of wit,
Consider your pug a treasure.

Love your neighbor—but mark the force
Of the gospel rule of grace,
The more you admire yours-el', my friend,
The higher your neighbor's place.

Clink your dime in the Deacon's pan,
As if you were throwing gold,
And give with an eye to the business hope
Of reaping a hundred-fold.

Whether your reading is little or great,
Quote right, or never quote;
Polish your uppers, though down in the heel,
And never endorse a note.

Always advance best hand, best foot,
(Best hand, best foot, your own,)
And thus you may feast on the fat of the land,
While others enjoy the bone.

POLITICS.—The St. Andrews (N. B.) Standard, publishes the following:—

Sir:—During my sojourn with my friends from New York in your hospitable Town, I have had the pleasure of some very pleasant chit-chat with some of the noted men of your Dominion. As our conversation was chiefly on Religion and Politics, I find that in these particular topics that they compare admirably with our own institutions in these two branches of modern "sciences." The science of Religion is so various that 'tis not possible to describe all in this letter, but the science of Politics you may infer from the style of the politicians in your Dominon and in the United States and by reading the petition of three worthy Protestant gentlemen who were office seekers under the government where they happened to live. These gentlemen were willing to do anything that would best serve the interest of some particular individuals, that would assist them in obtaining their appointment to office. Moral—Gratitude is a keen sense of favors to come.

Yours, J. M. H.

Petition, to the Honorable Commissioners of the Excise.

The humble petition of Patrick O'Conner, Barney O'Brine and Corney McQuire, to be appointed Overlookers, vulgarly called Excisemen, for the Kingdom of Cork, in the County of Ireland, and whereas we your aforesaid petitioners will by night and by day, and all night and all day, will come and go, will walk and ride, will take and bring, will fetch and carry, and will see all, and seize all, and more than all and nothing at all, of all such goods and commodities as may be, can be, and cannot be liable to pay a duty, and we your aforesaid petitioners will at all times and times past be present and absent, be backward and forward, and behind and before, and be here and there, and everywhere and no where at all, and we your aforesaid petitioners will come and give information duly, truly, wisely and honestly, according to the matter as we know, and don't know, and we will not rob or cheat the King aney more than is now lawfully practised, and we your aforesaid petitioners are all of us Prodestants and Gintlemen of Reputation. We love the King and we will fight for him or against him, run for him or from him, and serve him or aney of his family or acquaintances as far and as much farther as lies in our power, dead or alive as long as we live.

Witness our separate and several hands in conjunction, all three of us both together,

PATRICK O'CONNER,
BARNEY O'BRINE,
CORNEY MCQUIRE.

FACES ON THE WALL.

BY HARRIET BEECHER STOWE,

AUTHOR OF "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN," "MY WIFE AND I," ETC.

Once there was a very good little girl, who, by reason of her goodness knew where to find strawberries in the winter. In the same way lose perfect people, blessed by the generous fairies of memory and imagination, may sit, as I do now, in the midst of falling leaves and whistling winds, and call back the green grasses and the summer sun. I see yonder in the glen, the darling of our house, the gold gleam in her brown hair, a chain of daisies in her hand, and in her eyes the roguish meditation of a kitten, weary for an instant only of its play, and thinking slyly of another spring. Thrown back upon the velvet grass, she is not resting, only pausing from her bright glances to the tips of her tiny fingers she is wide awake.

But now the merry play is over, and our pet nestles yonder on a sofa cushion, tired at last in earnest. Slowly the lids fall, and the lingering smile dies out; but the flush in cheek and lip remains, like the glow after sunset. The gathered buttercups and daisies are loosely held by the fair little hand; no shadows, even of dream-land, disturb the sweet brow's perfect peace. She is fast asleep.

In other words, two chromos hang upon the wall, bewitching child-heads, in which every mother sees some thing of her own dear ones, never grown old, and never lost to her, however time or death may have dealt with them.

Nothing pleases more at first sight or gives pleasure longer than pictorial pictures of children. "The little child" whom Jesus sets in the midst of every family is a joy that grows not old and fades not.

"Age cannot wither, custom cannot stale
Its infinite variety."

For this reason a happy picture of a child brings an enjoyment more lasting than any other, because it is a subject of which no one ever tires.

But these pictures, besides their constant charm for grown folks, are such as children can understand and love. Our little "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," would give many a pleasant hour of compunctionable amusement and intercourse to the little people akin to them in age. The pictures that children's eyes rest on as they are dropping off to sleep, or as they awake in the morning, seem to them like living friends. All sorts of childish dreams and fancies make of the pictured face a real companion. Not only in the parlor and sitting-room would they be an attractive and fitting embellishment, but they are a charming pair for the adornment of a nursery.

Undoubtedly these two pictures are portraits. There is a realistic faithfulness and truth about them that forbids the idea of their being fancy heads. They will remind many parents of little ones either here or in heaven. Dickens says of his portraiture of little Nell that he has had letters from the farthest region of the earth speaking of children who resembled her—so dear, and so early taken! He who paints one child well, paints thousands, and speaks to the tenderest feelings of innumerable hearts.

Of course there is a pleasure in possessing an original painting; but when the question lies between an original at five hundred dollars and a chromo which can scarcely be distinguished from it, after dollars—particularly when one has not the five hundred to spare—the choice is not very difficult. As to these two exquisite chromos, only a critical examination can distinguish between the copies and the originals, which sold for many hundreds—which is certainly more than can be said of the best copies of most pictures painted by the best artists.

Blessings upon the chrome-lithography, by which the successful painting of a master can be reproduced indefinitely, and can enter thousands of homes with its educating, quickening, reforming influences!

It is not alone into the dwellings of the great and wealthy that we follow this pretty pair with anticipations of delight. We see them in the cottages of the poor, in the log cabin of the backwoodsman, brightening the toil of the hard-worked wife and mother, and receiving the almost adoring wonder of children who have never seen pictures before.

God bless the darlings—send the little comforters fast and far!

The charming pair of oil chromos, "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," of whose real beauty and attractiveness Mrs. Stowe's graceful sketch can give but an imperfect idea—so pleasing are they to all who love art or children—have always sold in the picture stores for $10, and the original publisher has never been able to supply the great demand for them even at that price. And yet, although thousands of them have been sold in America at that high rate, they are now within the reach of all, for they are to every subscriber to THE CHRISTIAN UNION, an unsectarian, literary, religious and domestic weekly newspaper, edited by HENRY WARD BEECHER.

The pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished to Mr. Beecher's publishers at a rate entirely exceptional. The subjects are LIFE-SIZE.

As to the CHRISTIAN UNION, the great success of that paper has been a marvel in the history of journalism, and the scholarly and critical New York Nation calls it "not only the ablest and best, but also the most popular of American religious periodicals."

This paper, hereafter will be prated on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, a decided advantage possessed by no other religious weekly published. It contains contributions from eminent writers of all denominations, and has matter of interest for every member of the household, young and old. For the year 1872, MRS. HARRIET BEECHER STOWE will write exclusively for the CHRISTIAN UNION.

It has something for every member of the household—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, ALL find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles, discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects; much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems, Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones; one of its chief attraction being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

The terms of subscription to this paper are: For one year ONLY $3.00. This will entitle the subscriber to the paper and to the above pair of beautiful Oil Chromos, THE CHRISTIAN UNION, Illustrated Holiday Number, (28 p. p.) will be sent FREE to all who now subscribe for the year 1872.

Send money in postal orders, drafts, or registered letters direct to the Publishers.

SPECIMEN copies of the paper will be mailed FREE of postage to any address on receipt of six cents by J. B. Ford & Co., Publishers, 27 Park Place, New York. For full particulars, see advertisement in the next column, headed "Why?"

WHY?

What is the reason that the Literary, Religious, and Domestic Weekly, started two years ago, namely,

THE CHRISTIAN UNION,

should have so suddenly achieved a success that makes all newspaper men wonder?

Reasons Why!

1st. HENRY WARD BEECHER is its Editor, of whom the Chicago Interior said "Probably no man on this continent sways so many minds, or is doing so much to shape religious thought for the next half century." His vigorous pen in Editorials and Star Papers, and Mr. Ellinwood's famed verbatim reports of his helpful Lecture-Room Talk in Plymouth Church, are an attraction to thousands of readers, who always want to know what he thinks on religious themes and the topics of the times. He is also assisted by an able editorial staff.

2d. It Is Unsectarian in Religion, independent in Political Discussion, and devoted to Morals, Reform, Home and Foreign News—both of Church matters and the world at large, Literature, Science, Art, Music, Agriculture, Trade, Finance, etc., etc., with contributions from eminent writers of all denominations—in all parts of the country.

3d. IT HAS SOMETHING FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE HOUSEHOLD—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, all find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects, much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones; one of its chief attraction being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

4th. It Admits no Medical or other possibly objectionable advertisements nor anything to offend the purest and most fastidious, and is therefore a favorite family paper.

5th. ITS FORM TWENTY-FOUR PAGES. Large Quarto, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, is so convenient for reading, binding, and preservation as to be a great special merit in its favor, apart from its superior literary attractions.

6th. A superb WORK OF ART IS GIVEN AWAY TO EVERY SUBSCRIBER AND THE SUBSCRIPTION PRICE IS

Only Three Dollars per Year.

SPECIAL

Attractions for 1872!

GIVEN AWAY!

1. TWO CHARMING AND POPULAR WORKS OF ART.

"WIDE AWAKE & FAST ASLEEP."

Two Exquisite French Oil Chromos, the subjects of which are Life Size, and cannot fail to please all who love art or children,

Are GIVEN AWAY to every subscriber for 1872, whether it be a New Subscription or a Renewal. These Chromos are no cheap colored prints, but are splendid copies of Oil Paintings, by an eminent English artist, fully equal for their size (18x24) to any chromo ever published. The subjects are life size. The pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished at a rate entirely exceptional. So that, although thousands of them have been sold in America at $10, and still are and will be sold at that price by the picture trade generally, they can be given to subscribers.

A MOSAIC.

WHAT THE PRESS SAYS:

Two very good chromos are "Wide Awake" and "Fast Asleep," [1] which have few rivals in the market for attractiveness [2]—fresh, sweet and blooming child-face [3] executed with true French skill [4]. We have rarely seen anything prettier than the two pictures, which, [5] both in color and sentiment are really beautiful [6]—worthy of a place in costly homes [7]. Unlike nine pictures out of ten that cost a good deal more, one can look at them day after day and not tire of them [8]. We have often stopped amid the bustle of Broadway to look at them, and never without feeling happier and better [7]. They cannot fail to please all who love art or children [8].

A subscriber writes to the Publishers:

"The chromos far surpass in beauty and style anything that I expected. A Neighbor of mine bought the same Chromos in New York a few months ago, and paid ten dollars for them. Please accept my thanks for them."

2. Enlargement and Change of Form. After the first of January, the paper will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four large quarto pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the sides,—a decided advantage in convenience for reading possessed by no other religious weekly published.

3. Mrs. Harriet B. Stowe Will Write Exclusively for the CHRISTIAN UNION during the year 1872, with the exception of one short story all ready engaged for another periodical.

4. THE ILLUSTRATED HOLIDAY NUMBER —OF— The Christian Union, (28 pages) will be sent to all who NOW subscribe for the year 1872.

The Terms of Subscription ARE AS FOLLOWS:

ONE YEAR ONLY $3.00.

This will entitle the subscriber to the paper by mailand to the above pair of beautiful Oil Chromos, deliverable at the publication office. If the subscriber will add ten cents ($3.10) for expenses of wrapping, mailing, etc., the CHROMOS will be sent free, by mail; and if the subscriber prefers to send still 25 cents more, or $3.35 altogether, the copies so mailed will be strongly mounted on card-board, sized and varnished, all ready for framing. This is the method we recommended as the most satisfactory and the one which nearly all our subscribers order.

Send money in postal orders, drafts, or registered letters, direct to the Publishers, and you will receive your papers immediately and regularly. The Chromos will be mailed as rapidly as possible to subscribers in the order of their names on the subscription list.

MANHOOD

IN THE

Young and Rising Generation.

The vegetable powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show their baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body, too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwardly upon themselves.

If the patient be a female the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it is fed on. The energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is cooked for in vain. The parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

TRY HELMBOLD'S

EXTRACT BUCHU

For Weakness Arising from Excesses or Early Indiscretion,

attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such Patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for fear of themselves; no repose of matter, no earnestness, no speculation, but a hurried transition from one question to another.

THESE SYMPTOMS, IF ALLOWED TO GO ON—WHICH THIS MEDICINE INVARIABLY REMOVES — SOON FOLLOW LOSS OF POWER, FATUITY AND EPILEPTIC FITS, IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients. Reason has for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths of Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibitions appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute; neither mirth nor grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.

"With woful measures wan despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguile."

While we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1872.

The Outlook.

The political campaign is progressing to the satisfaction of the republicans of the State, and there seems to be very little doubt that the result will justify the confident predictions of the sanguine members of that party. There is an enthusiasm on the part of the people such as has not been witnessed since the close of the war, and the republican meetings are invariably crowded gatherings. Hon. J. W. Patterson, United States Senator, from New Hampshire, will deliver his first address of the campaign in this city to-morrow evening, and great interest is felt in what he will say, as it is understood that he will discuss the alleged frauds in the public service that some have attempted to fasten upon the administration. Senator Patterson is a speaker of rare eloquence, and in former years he did most excellent service on the stump in this State.

As to the result of the election there is, of course, a wide difference of opinion. Yesterday I heard a prominent democrat declare that there could be no doubt of Mr. Weston's election by the popular vote, while last evening's Monitor, which is supposed to speak "by authority," expresses the opinion that Mr. Straw will triumph over all opposition, and be elected governor by the vote of the people. My own opinion is that the real truth lies between these two extremes. To my mind it is absolutely certain that Mr. Weston will neither be elected by the people or the legislature, and, on the other hand, I have grave fears that the prohibitionists and labor reformers will secure a sufficient following to throw the election into the house of representatives. Fortunately in this event there is not the slightest possibility of the defeat of the republican candidate, as the legislature will undoubtedly be differently constituted from that of last year, having a good working majority for the republicans.

The management of the campaign on the part of the republicans is all that could be desired, and Hon. E. H. Rollins, chairman of the State central committee, is gaining fresh laurels for the energy and enthusiasm that he has succeeded in awakening throughout the State. Thus far the democracy have dispensed with public meetings, relying on their old trick of secret circulars to reach the masses of the people. I have seen it stated that they propose to have a series of public meetings, but from present indications they do not intend to rely largely upon that instrumentality for success.

The labor reform vote will be very light, and mostly from the democratic ranks, while the indications are that the vote for the prohibition candidate will be in excess of what Dr. Barrows, their candidate of two years ago, received, which was about one thousand. Even admitting that they will receive fifteen hundred votes (which is a very liberal estimate,) more than three-fourths of which will come from the republican rank, there will still be a positility of Mr. Straw's election by the people; and notwithstanding I am compelled to regard that matter as problematical, you need not be surprised if it occurs, as the republicans of the State are desperately in earnest, and thoroughly determined, to completely wipe out the disgrace of last year's campaign, and with such a man as Mr. Rollins at the head of the host the most decisive results may be anticipated.—Concord Cor. Boston Advertiser.

MR. BELL ON FRANKING.—It has been said that Mr. Bell will not exercise his right to frank political documents. But it is a fact that hundreds of letters sent out by the Democratic State Committee give the lie to the assertion. A few weeks ago documents by the bushel went through the mails under covers bearing his frank. He did not, we think, frank the free trade chart, for he does not believe, with Hibbard and Parker, that his real estate in this city will be more valuable under the free trade than it is under the protection of the tariff, and for this reason, we shall find Mr. Bell more likely to record his name among the Republicans on this question than with his colleagues. Now, will not the Democrats who have confidence in Mr. Bell's judgment see the folly of taking a free trade dose, mixed up by the New York Free Trade League, and administered by the Democratic Committee!—Manchester Mirror.

HEAVY DISCOUNT.—The Newport Argus says of the bill which devotes the public lands to the purpose of popular education: "It is consoling to know that this infamous measure did not receive the support of our delegation in the House. All of them voted against it, and Messrs. Hibbard and Parker voted against it." The Argus will have to abate one third of its consolation, as Mr. Bell voted for the "infamous measure.—Monitor."

State News.

As a ton of hay will buy twenty-eight bushels of corn, farmers in and about Gorham are selling hay and feeding corn and meal.

On the 23d, Rev. Robert Laird Collier arrived in Manchester to deliver a lecture on his desolated home, Chicago. In due time he proceeded to a hall to speak and found an audience assembled. The platform was occupied and Mr. C. proceeded to it, slipping his notes into a handy place on the speakers' stand. Presently a man stepped forward and introduced Judge Richard B. Carpenter of South Carolina. On this gentleman's opening, Mr. Collier seized his notes and slid, meeting a committee of inquiry on the steps. He was wanted at Smyth's Hall, instead of at a Democratic meeting.

The house of Mr. Tyler Thomas in Hudson was burned on Thursday.

The first shingles were sawed in the State at Effingham Falls, in 1824.

Newport has voted $16,500 for a new town-hall and court-house, the building to be sufficiently capacious to contain all the county offices, post-offices, etc.

The Nashua council has voted unanimously to allow the Nashua, Acton and Boston Railroad to passed through the South Common in that city.

James McCallum was instantly killed in Brookfield on Thursday by a piece of frozen earth falling upon him while at work on a railroad. His age was 35 years.

Political.

B. F. Trevelick of Michigan addressed the labor reformers at Nashua, Thursday evening. But very little enthusiasm was manifested.

Senator Patterson addressed a large audience at Concord, Saturday evening.

Secretaries Boutwell and Robeson will speak in this State before election.

Senator Wilson spoke to a crowded audience at Dover on Friday evening.

It is currently reported that Frank Jones, on Wednesday last, made a promise to send fifty barrels of ale to the Democrats of this city, as an electioneering agent. It will go through the hands of his agent here. Better save it till the day after election; the Democrats will all be ailing then!—Manchester Mirror.

Kittery.

The closing lecture of the People's Lyceum was delivered Friday evening, Feb. 23, by Dr. Geo. B. Loring of Salem, Mass., on "American Society." In commencing the speaker paid a high compliment to the scholarly ability of James Russell Lowell, who once asserted that American Society was a "phenomenon," to which Dr. Loring took exceptions and proceeded to consider the circumstances which gave birth to our American Society, whose characteristics he regarded as permanent as the granite hills of New Hampshire. Referring to the Pilgrim Fathers he paid a high tribute of praise to their liberality, zeal and industry. From such solid qualities have sprung our civil and social rights, which have extended from Plymouth, throughout the length and breadth of the continent, and our Republican system of government, which has excited the wonder and respect of all other nations, is but a consequence. And labor would guard its sacred interests, against any attempts to overthrow the established principles which underlie American Society. Such was the satisfaction of the audience with the lecture that steps will be taken to induce the lecturer to visit this place again and favor us with another discourse. The Lyceum course this season has been eminently successful.

The people of this town are setting a good example by donating liberally to all needy families; the last donation was given to a worthy family on Friday evening last, when a horse team might have been seen going from house to house, gathering up the things which were in readiness to be loaded on the conveyance.

The propriety of erecting a Town Hall will be discussed at the Debating Society on Wednesday evening, February 28.

Chaplain Thomas G. Salter, attached to the Charlestown Navy Yard, was found lying insensible on the floor of his room Sunday morning. He was placed upon his bed and medical aid summoned. He recovered consciousness so far as to recognize intimate friends, but soon relapsed and remained insensible until his death, which took place Sunday afternoon. Chaplain Salter was 62 years of age and a native of Connecticut. He entered the service of the United States in 1861, being appointed from this State. He was on board of the Minnesota at the time she came near being destroyed by a torpedo off the Southern coast during the late war, and he experienced a severe shock which it is thought unsettled his system.

TEMPLE PLACE, BOSTON, within a few years has become a favorite shopping ground for ladies. Its central location, elegant stores and varied business commend it to all. Cromack & Co., 26 Temple Place, where our readers will be sure to find all that is newest and most elegant in the line of goods offered—such as Millinery, Ribbons, Fine Bonnets, Feathers, Jet Ornaments, &c.,—and can be assured of courteous treatment and the most liberal terms.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Many persons suffer with sick headache and nervous headache, usually produced by costiveness, indigestion, &c. Such persons will find relief if not cure, by keeping the bowels open with small doses of Parsons' Purgative Pills.

Have you inflammatory sore throat, stiff joints, or lameness from any cause whatever? Have you rheumatic or other pains in any part of the body? If so, use Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. Our word for it, it is the best pain killer in this country.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—We stand aghast at the thousands hourly hurried to a premature grave, victims of having neglected the first symptoms of disease. Whether the complaint originates in the body, or be introduced accidentally through the skin—fatal results may be warded off by a timely recourse to one or both of these medicines. 25 cents per box or pot. 183.

OLD PREJUDICES ARE DYING OUT.—New facts are killing them. The idea that invalids weakened by disease can be relieved by prostrating them with destructive drugs, is no longer entertained except by mesmerists. Ever since the introduction of Dr. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS it has been obvious that their regulating and invigorating properties are all-sufficient for the cure of chronic indigestion, rheumatism, constipation, diarrhœa, nervous affections, and malarious fevers, and they are now the standard remedy for these complaints in every section of the Union.

ON EVERYBODY'S TONGUE.—Eulogiums of the great National Regenerator of Health, PLANTATION BITTERS, are on everybody's tongue. This gratuitous free race advertising is better than all the paid-for puffing to which the owners of home bitters are obliged to resort. It has a spontaneous heartiness about it which carries conviction to the mind of the auditor. But it is a well-known fact that the proprietors of the PLANTATION BITTERS have never relied upon newspaper bolstering to establish the success of a preparation which owes its astonishing popularity mainly to the oral testimony of the thousands who have either experienced or been eye-witnesses of the immense physical good it has wrought throughout the length and breadth of the land.

YEAS AND NEIGHS.—If horses could make themselves understood in human language, they would signify by a universal "Yea," their assent to the statement that the MUSTANG LINIMENT is the best remedy extant for all these external ailments, and by a most emphatic "Neigh!" show their displeasure at every attempt to use any other preparation in its stead. Ever since its introduction at St. Louis, at the close of the Mexican War, in 1849, it has proved a signal blessing to horse and man—curing, with absolute certainty and wonderful despatch, such equine diseases as spavin, ringbone, poll evil, scratches, hoofail, &c., and relieving and finally removing the painful affections which attack the muscles, sinews and tendons of human beings. It is a fact beyond contradiction that for all injuries or complaints of man or quadrupeds to which an external remedy is applicable, the MUSTANG LINIMENT is preferable to every other.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Aggravated Indigestion.

Persons who are predisposed to dyspepsia, find their sufferings from this cause greatly aggravated by damp weather, easterly winds, and sudden changes from a mild to a chilling atmosphere. In the spring, therefore, the pangs of indigestion are seriously augmented by the atmospheric variations peculiar to the season, and it is incumbent upon all who desire to pass through the ordeal of its cold mists and insalubrious gales with easy stomachs, and untormented by the indescribable torments which accompany dyspepsia, to tone and strengthen the digestive organs with a healthful and effective vegetable invigorant; and no one at all familiar with the medical record of the age, can question for one moment that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is the Tonic best adapted to this purpose.

The credentials of the Great Restorative are unequalled in number and character by those of any other advertised medicine in the world. If ever there was a preparation to rank as a National Remedy, this wonderful specific has a fair claim to title. For a period of twenty years it has literally been the Champion Tonic and Alterative on this side of the Atlantic. No medicine, in fact, never been appreciated by any of its would-be competitors, and its annual sales are so far in advance of those of any other medicine of its class, that comparison would be ridiculous. One of two conclusions is inevitable. Either the American people are deficient in common sense, and incapable of rational discrimination, or Hostetter's Bitters is the best preventive remedy for indigestion, fever and ague, bilious remittent fever, constipation, rheumatism, nervous complaints, and all maladies of an epidemic or endemic type. The reader will judge for himself which of the two conclusions is most consistent with fact and reason.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them dispose it to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to be hold. DR. AYER'S compound still has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to locks and gray hair its natural color, with the glow and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on other heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, sadness and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

☞ By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid-up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent Annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income of - - - - - $173.30
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 647.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,

Consulting Actuary.

☞ Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. Documents, giving full particulars of the rules of the Company with regard to the issue of the above Savings Fund policy, extended tables of rates, and other interesting matter, may be obtained by application to the

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

A Musical Treat.

Messrs. Editors:—I desire to express the pleasure I experienced at Newington on Friday evening last, in listening to the music of the "DeRochemont quartette." I have long participated in the belief that "the country" produced but crude singers, and that the larger towns and cities alone possessed the advantages which afford a positive direction in the progress of any accomplishment. In this case I confess to an overwhelming surprise. The Misses DeRochemont are not only endowed by nature with fine musical capacities, but they have acquired a refinement in the matter of singing which I venture to predict, will if continued make them famous. Both voices are mezzo-soprano, somewhat different in their shading, both remarkably clear in quality and well-defined in timbre. The tenor and bass displayed fine natural abilities, but less method than their sisters, no doubt business interfering with application to study. The parties devoted themselves to a programme numbering twenty-five pieces, a task for which double entrance fee would have been too small and a risk that fine voices should never undertake. The accompaniments were well rendered upon a fine piano; the name of the pianist has, I regret, escaped me. PORTSMOUTH.

Shade Trees.

Messrs. Editors:—In one of your late papers there is an expression of regret that there is no law for the protection of shade trees, and for general information I copy the following extracts from the General Statutes of the edition of 1867—namely, chap. 263, sect. 3, page 526. "If any person shall wilfully and maliciously commit any act whereby the real or personal estate of another shall be injured, he shall be imprisoned from thirty days to one year, or fined not exceeding one hundred dollars, or both."

Sec. 4. "Any person who shall fasten or hitch any animal to any shade or ornamental tree standing on any common, square, street, lane, or avenue, except such as may have a hook or ring in it for the purpose of a public or private hitching place, shall be fined from one to five dollars." And in confirmation of the above, a case is recited in the New Hampshire Reports, vol. 4, page 258, Graves V. Shattuck, as follows:—"Adjoining land owners may lawfully use the space between the carriage path and such sidewalks for the growth of trees for ornament or use; and trees thus situated are in no sense nuisances, but private property, specially protected by statute; and if they are injured or unreasonably endangered by a building that is being moved through the highway, their owners are justified in employing sufficient force to protect them from actual or impending destruction."

Other similar decisions might be cited, but the above is sufficient to show the stringency of the law in regard to shade trees. PROTECTION.

The Other Side.

Believing always in fair play, we publish a letter from Hon. Daniel Marcy in answer to a communication we printed on Monday, sent us by a prominent citizen and signed "Observer."

PORTSMOUTH, Feb. 26th, 1872.

Messrs. Editors:—My attention has been called to a false and scandalous communication in the Chronicle, relating to my treatment of adopted citizens. I wish to say that never since I have built ships have I employed any able-bodied man or mechanic at so low a rate as seventy-five cents a day. Republicans as well as Democrats in this city can testify that I have always paid workingmen liberally, and have given them employment without asking them in regard to their politics or trying to intimidate them at the polls.

I have received the labor of men and they have received my money, and thus far we are equal; and I will here say that if our government will remove the shackles that now bind the shipbuilding interests, I will lay a keel within a week. By this I mean that our ship yards can all be alive with work if Congress will give us a reasonable tariff, a tariff for revenue alone, and not one that puts millions into the pockets of monopolists in iron, copper, lumber and other articles used in the construction of ships. Give us a just tariff and in five years every one of our ship yards will be as busy as they ever were.

I defy the writer in the Chronicle to produce any man—adopted citizen or native born—who will tell any such story as he has related. It is a poor, baseless falsehood, gotten up by some of the clique of office-holders or their tools, who run about this city trying to get poor men to sell their votes for a "job." In company with other gentlemen I propose to build a large ship here during the present year, although we know well that by building it just across the line, in British Provinces, we could save thousands of dollars.

DANIEL MARCY.

Will "Observer" please explain?

Laconics.

A heavy gale commenced blowing from the northwest Sunday night, continuing through Monday.

Thanks to Senator Patterson for various public documents and to Charles Main, Esq., for late files of California papers.

The copperheads fear defeat in this State because 113 men from Maine and New Hampshire have been recently employed at the Navy Yard.

The Brennans give their last entertainment here for the present, this evening at the Temple. See advt.

The Republicans are to listen to speeches from Senator Patterson and Gen. Daniel E Sickles on Tuesday evening of next week. Hon. Geo. M. Robeson, Secretary of the Navy, Gen. Kilpatrick and Gen. Harriman will also speak here before election.

It is an encouraging fact, that our young business men are of late years coming more and more generally to own their places of business and residence, as was the case in the early and flourishing days of Portsmouth. Every family should at least possess its own home, though until recently, even many who could well afford it, have had no ambition so to do.

We learn that Mr. John Stokell has purchased the store adjoining that of Stokell & Co., now occupied by Uriah Blaisdell, and will greatly enlarge and improve the grocery and provision accommodations of the firm. Also that Mr. Blaisdell will remove his store business to the store of Mr. Dupray, opposite on Bow Street.

Seeing that Republicans have long regretted that the Democrats should derive so much strength from the votes of employes on the railroads here—it looks strange that any calling themselves Republicans, should aid or desire the election of a prominent and bitter Democratic partizan to the position of Director. But "just before he did, he did not" get there; and so the various offices he promised or designed for his friends, probably they may not get.

It was very difficult to induce the citizens of Portsmouth to purchase a Town Farm, thirty years ago; and it appears to be no less difficult now to induce their descendants to sell at least a portion of the land—although those best informed upon the subject feel sure that its possession tends only to increase taxation, and benefits nobody.

There is a movement on foot to organize a party to go from this city to Exeter, to attend the concert given by Mr. Martyn on Wednesday evening, the 28th. It will be a pleasant affair, and parties desirous of going can obtain full particulars by calling upon Dr. Preston, at his store. The Marine Band will accompany the party and give moonlight serenades en route.

Conductor Philbrick's train, which left this city Monday morning at quarter past six o'clock, for Boston, when about two miles out passed a man lying close beside the track, apparently dead. On reaching North Hampton Mr. Philbrick telegraphed back to this city, and Mr. Chas. Wentworth, telegraph operator at the Eastern depot, accompanied by another man, at once started out in a hand-car and brought in Michael Carrigg, who was dead drunk and very nearly dead from cold. He was taken to the station house and revived, though he came very near paying for his drunk with his life.

Patrick McCarthy, a marine, was on Saturday fined $5 and costs, in all amounting to $8.76, for being drunk,—which he paid.

Messrs. William H. Y. Hackett of this city and Josiah H. Benton, Jr., of Lancaster, will address the Republicans of Newcastle next Monday evening.

By invitation of Mr. E. A. Tilton, a number of ladies and gentlemen met at his room on Sunday evening to listen to the piano playing of Mr. Henry Herrman, a pianist who has but lately arrived in this city. Mr. Herrman comes among us unheralded, and hopes by his merits to secure the patronage of the public. As a musician he excels, and it was evident by his performances that he is an artist. He carried his audience into the dream-land of "Reveries," exhibited the "Passion of Romance" and for history gave Thalberg's "Moses in Egypt." The entertainment was highly creditable to Mr. Herrman and one of pleasure to his friends.

Newburyporters had a dance of ghosts, ghosties, ghostesses and ghostessences on the evening of the 22d, at which the Marine Band of this city furnished most acceptable music. On unmasking a prominent city official found he had been squeezing his wife's hand—which he had a right to do, you know.

EAST LESSONS FROM HARD LIVES.—No man ever died a more natural death than James Fisk, Jr., excepting, perhaps, Judas Iscariot. When the devil entered into the swine, and they ran violently down a steep place into the sea, it was only the going down that was violent. The death that came was natural enough. When a man pushes his personality so far to the front of impertinent schemes of iniquity as Fisk did, it is the most natural thing in the world for him to run against something that will hurt him, for dangers stand thick as malice and revenge can plant them in the path of godlessness and brutality. The captain of a piratical ship who undertakes, in addition to the duties of his office, to serve as the figure-head of his own vessel, will receive, naturally, the first blow when she drives upon the rocks.

Yet we join in the general sorrow that Mr. Fisk is dead, for it is possible that the lesson of his life may fail to be impressed upon Young America as it ought to be, in consequence of the sympathy awakened by the manner of his taking off. It is not to be denied that a pretty universal execration of this man's memory has been saved to him through the bloody mercy of a murder. Yes, people talk of his fund of humor, his geniality, his generosity, etc., etc. If that kind of talk is a source of satisfaction to anybody, of course he will indulge in it; but Fisk's loss is the better for having been killed. He was a bad man—bold and shameless and vulgar in his badness—with whom no gentleman could come in contact on terms of familiar intercourse without a sense of degradation.

Fisk had his geniality, that was as natural as his death. A cow that has spent the night in a neighbor's cornfield, and stands whisking her tail and ruminating in the morning sun, is one of the most genial creatures living. More than this, she does not care particularly who drinks the milk she has won; and so we suppose the cow, too, is generous as well as genial!

Ah! we forgot about Mr. Tweed. It was Mr. Tweed who was a great man a year ago, was it not? Mr. Tweed had power in his hands and patronage at his disposal, and had thousands to come at his beck and go at his bidding. His name was a tower of strength on a great many Boards of Directors. The legislature elected by the State managed the State, and he managed the legislature. He had considerates in iniquity; but he was "The Boss" and his will was imperative and imperial. Intrenched behind laws that were the product of corruption, ballots that could be increased or diminished at will, and wealth that came to him in dark and mysterious ways, he dictated the administration of the government of the first city of the new world, and shaped the policy of the proudest State of the Union. His path was strewn with luxuries for himself and largess for his friends. He lived a right royal life, and the power-worshiping multitude and the vulgar seekers for place hung around him with abject and obsequious fawning.

Where and what is Mr. Tweed now? Where and what are his confrères? All, from the Boss down to the meanest menial of the Ring, are writhing and shriveling under the heat of a great popular indignation. Their deeds of darkness are uncovered, their shameless betrayals of trust are exposed, their power is passed and is passing from their hands, and a great city, which once felt helpless in their grasp, has risen in its might and determined there shall be no end but that of their utter overthrow. Every man who was a participator in the power and plunder of the Ring, shakes in his shoes wherever he walks, or stands, or skulks, and shows what it is to have a fearful looking for of judgment. Good men everywhere breathe freer for this revolution, and the republic and the world have won new hope.

The overthrow of these men—sudden, awful, complete—brings home to young men a much-needed lesson. One year ago there were thousands of young men regarding with an eager, curious gaze the careers which have terminated and are terminating so tragically. It was a question to many, alas! if honesty was the best of policy—whether virtue paid—whether, after all that the preachers and the teachers might say, the rascality which received such magnificent rewards at the hands of the people was not the best investment for a young man cherishing a desire for wealth and power. Who can begin to measure the effects of these pernicious examples on American blood? Let every man who wields pen or has audience with the public do what he can to counteract them, by calling popular attention to the fact that these men have simply met the natural and inevitable fate of eminent rascality. Honesty is the best policy. Virtue does pay. Purity is profitable. Truthfulness and trustworthiness are infinitely better than basely won gold. A good conscience is a choicer possession than power. When a man sacrifices personal probity and honor, he loses everything that makes any earthly possession sweet. When these men were dazzling the multitude with their shows and splendors, they knew the world they lived in was unsubstantial; and we have no question that they expected and constantly dreaded the discovery and retribution. We do not believe that rascality ever paid them for a day, even when it seemed to be most triumphantly successful.

The storm which has wrecked these men has cleared the sky. The air is purer, and has tone and inspiration in it. Honesty is at a premium again, and honest men stand before rogues unabashed. The lesson of one day is one which teaches young men that lying and stealing and committing adultery are unprofitable sins, against which Nature as well as Revelation protests. It has not come too soon. We hope that it may not be learned too late.—Dr. J. G. Holland, in Scribner's for March.

LEPTANDRIN.

Epilepsy or Fits.
A SURE CURE for this distressing complaint is now made known in a Treatise (of 64 pages) on Epilepsy or Fits, which remedies are prepared by Dr. O. PHELPS BROWN, 21 Grand Street, Jersey City, N. J.

CURE FOR
FEMALE WEAKNESS.
The Proprietor of this valuable Medicine, while suffering from loss of health some twenty years ago, received an Indian recipe, from which she prepared some for her own use, which restored to a cure. Many of her friends have used it with equally gratifying success, and have urged her to introduce it to the public. She has consented, for the relief of suffering humanity to do so, and feels confident it will prove one of the richest blessings to the sick. This is an herbal remedy—entirely vegetable—will not injure the most delicate constitution, but is congenial to nature, as experience has proved under any consideration, nor the application of Caustic. It will cure all kinds of Humors, which is one cause, in many cases, of great suffering. Its renovating effects are extraordinary, without a change in diet. It has a soothing effect upon the nerves. Three bottles will convince the most skeptical of its surprising properties. Its effects are wonderful in the Relief and Cure of the following diseases:—Prolapsus Uteri, Nervous Debility, Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of Heart, Depression of Spirits, Irregularities, Change of Life, Whites, Dropsical Affections, Biliousness, Inflammation of the Kidneys, &c. Prepared and sold by MRS. LINUS BELCHER, Randolph, Mass. Send for Circular. Sold by all Drug gists, at $1.00 per bottle.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price—and many of these are so we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds the sewing done in this country, and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is really kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is lighter speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

AYER'S
SARSAPARILLA,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cures in a series of obstinate, severe, and always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the blood, which undermine health, and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When these are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Toward midnight he awoke, rolled off the table with his ghastly companions, and made such a racket that the porter was frightened out of the building, believing that the ghost of some "subject" was about to wreak vengeance on him. The student was not scared, but it cost him something to settle the thing.

—Newspaper rivalry is at its height in Osceola; so the editor of the Osceola Democrat conceived of a plan whereby he should utterly annihilate his antagonist and secure an important item for the exclusive use of the readers of the Democrat. He engaged a man to attempt his assassination just before his paper went to press, intending to make some journalistic capital. But unfortunately his accomplice did not aim badly enough, and he gave the editor such a dose of shot that he was too much hurt to write up the affair, and so the opposition paper had the item, with "full particulars," exclusively. The wrong man now hangs "his diminished head," and, more yet, he has only himself to blame.

FACES ON THE WALL.

BY HARRIET BEECHER STOWE,

AUTHOR OF "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN," "MY WIFE AND I," ETC.

Once there was a very good little girl, who, by reason of her goodness knew where to find strawberries in the winter. In the same way lose perfect people, blessed by the generous fairies of memory and imagination, may sit, as I do now, in the midst of falling leaves and whistling winds, and call back the green grasses and the summer sun. I see yonder in the glen, the darling of our house, the gold gleam in her brown hair, a chain of daisies in her hand, and in her eyes the roguish meditation of a kitten, weary for an instant only of its play, and thinking slyly at another spring. Thrown back upon the velvet grass, she is not resting, only pausing from her bright glances to the tips of her tiny fingers she is wide awake.

But now the merry play is over, and our pet sees her yonder on a sofa cushion, tired at last in earnest. Slowly the lids fall, and the lingering smile dies out; but the flush in cheek and lip remains like the glow after sunset. The gathered buttercups and daisies are loosely held by the fair little hand; no shadows, even of dream-land, disturb the sweet brow's perfect peace. She is fast asleep.

In other words, two chromos hang upon the wall, bewitching child-heads, in which every mother sees some thing of her own dear ones, never grown old, and never lost to her, however time or death may have dealt with them.

Nothing pleases more at first sight or gives pleasure longer than poetical pictures of children. "The little child" whom Jesus sets in the midst of every family is a joy that grows not old and fades not.

"Age cannot wither, custom cannot stale
Its infinite variety."

For this reason a happy picture of a child brings an enjoyment more lasting than any other, because it is a subject of which no one ever tires.

But these pictures, besides their constant charm for grown folks, are such as children can understand and love. Our little "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," would give many a pleasant hour of companionable amusement and intercourse to the little people akin to them in age. The pictures that children's eyes rest on as they are dropping off to sleep, or as they awake in the morning, seem to them like living friends. All sorts of childish dreams and fancies make of the pictured face a real companion. Not only in the parlor and sitting-room would they be an attractive and fitting embellishment, but they are a charming pair for the adornment of a nursery.

Undoubtedly these two pictures are portraits. There is a realistic faithfulness and truth about them that forbids the idea of their being fancy heads. They will remind many parents of little ones either here or in heaven. Dickens says of his paintaire of little Nell that he has had letters from the farthest region of the earth speaking of children who resembled her—so dear, and so early taken! He who paints one child well, paints thousands, and speaks to the tenderest feelings of innumerable hearts.

Of course there is a pleasure in possessing an original painting; but when the question lies between an original at five hundred dollars and a chromo which can scarcely be distinguished from it, at ten dollars—particularly when one has not the five hundred to spare—the choice is not very difficult. As to these two exquisite chromos, only a critical examination can distinguish between the copies and the originals, which sold for many hundreds—which is certainly more than can be said of the best copies of most pictures painted by the best artists.

Blessings upon the chromo-lithography, by which the successful painting of a master can be reproduced indefinitely, and can enter thousands of homes with its educating, quickening, reforming influences!

It is not alone into the dwellings of the great and wealthy that we follow this pretty pair with anticipations of delight. We see them in the cottages of the poor, in the log cabin of the backwoodsman, brightening the toil of the hard-worked wife and mother, and receiving the almost adoring wonder of children who have never seen pictures before.

God bless the darlings—send the little comforters fast and far!

The charming pair of oil chromos, "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," of whose real beauty and attractiveness Mrs. Stowe's graceful sketch can give but an imperfect idea—so pleasing are they to all who love art or children—have always sold in the picture stores for $10, and the original publisher has never been able to supply the great demand for them even at that price. And yet, although thousands of them have been sold in America at that high rate, they are now within the reach of all, for they are to every subscriber to THE CHRISTIAN UNION, an unsectarian, literary, religious and domestic weekly newspaper, edited by HENRY WARD BEECHER.

The pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished to Mr. Beecher's publishers at a rate entirely exceptional. The subjects are LIFE-SIZE.

As to the CHRISTIAN UNION, the great success of that paper has been a marvel in the history of journalism, and the scholarly and critical New York Nation calls it "not only the ablest and best, but also the most popular of American religious periodicals."

This paper, hereafter will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, a decided advantage possessed by no other religious weekly published. It contains contributions from eminent writers of all denominations, and has matter of interest for every member of the household, young and old. For the year 1872, Mrs. HARRIET BEECHER STOWE will write exclusively for the CHRISTIAN UNION.

It has something for every member of the household—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, all find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles, discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects; much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems, Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones, one of the chief attractions being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

The terms of subscription to this paper are: For one year ONLY $3.00. This will entitle the subscriber to the paper and to the above pair of beautiful Oil Chromos, THE CHRISTIAN UNION, Illustrated Holiday Number, (88 p. p.) will be sent FREE to all who now subscribe for the year 1872.

WHY?

What is the reason that the Literary, Religious, and Domestic Weekly, started two years ago, namely,

THE CHRISTIAN UNION,

should have so suddenly achieved a success that makes all newspaper men wonder?

Reasons Why!

1st. HENRY WARD BEECHER is its Editor, of whom the Chicago Interior said "Probably no man on this continent sways so many minds, or is doing so much to shape religious thought for the next half century." His vigorous pen in Editorials and Star Papers, and Mr. Ellinwood's famed verbatim reports of his helpful Lecture-Room Talk in Plymouth Church, are an attraction to thousands of readers, who always want to know what he thinks on religious themes and the topics of the times. He is also assisted by an able editorial staff.

2d. It Is Unsectarian in Religion, Independent in Political Discussion, and devoted to Morals, Reform, Home and Foreign News—both of Church matters and the world at large, Literature, Science, Art, Music, Agriculture, Trade, Finance, etc., etc., with contributions from eminent writers of all denominations—in all parts of the country.

3d. IT HAS SOMETHING FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE HOUSEHOLD—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, all find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects, much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems Household Stories and Chat for the little ones; one of its chief attraction being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

4th. It Admits no Medical or other possibly objectionable advertisements nor anything to offend the purest and most fastidious, and is therefore a favorite family paper.

5th. ITS FORM TWENTY-FOUR PAGES. Large Quarto, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, is so convenient for reading, binding, and preservation as to be a great special merit in its favor, apart from its superior literary attraction.

6th. A superb WORK OF ART IS GIVEN AWAY TO EVERY SUBSCRIBER AND THE SUBSCRIPTION PRICE IS

Only Three Dollars per Year.

SPECIAL

Attractions for 1872!

MANHOOD

IN THE

Young and Rising Generation.

The vegetable powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show their baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body, too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwardly upon themselves.

If the patient be a female the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it is fed on. The energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain. The parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

TRY HELMBOLD'S

EXTRACT BUCHU

For Weakness Arising from Excesses or Early Indiscretion,

attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such Patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for fear of themselves; no repose of matter, no earnestness, no speculation, but a hurried transition from one question to another.

THESE SYMPTOMS, IF ALLOWED TO GO ON—WHICH THIS MEDICINE INVARIABLY REMOVES — SOON FOLLOW LOSS OF POWER, FATUITY AND EPILEPTIC FITS, IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients. Reason has for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths of Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibitions appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute; neither mirth nor grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.

"With woful measures wan despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguile."

While we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences.

Political.

An anti-passive editor out in Indiana relieves his mind thus: "We desire to know from some passive policy organ, when they expect that idea to—as the boy said about his vaccination—take. Is it to commence this spring in the township elections? If so, would it not be a good idea for the various Democratic committees to be hunting up disaffected Radicals for Democrats to vote for?"

The new collector, Compey, of Philadelphia, is a retired merchant, and president of the commercial exchange of that city. President Grant first met him at Colonel Forney's dinner last Thursday, and the appointment is represented as highly acceptable to the Philadelphia merchants and importers. Neither Senator Cameron nor Colonel Forney is believed to have any special claim upon the new collector.

A grand political arrangement was discovered on Thursday, by overhearing certain parties. It is this, that a well-known Democrat, living in Massachusetts, will hire eight or ten poor Republicans to go to his place about the 8th of March. Agents are looking up the men, but they will have work for only about three days. Look out for them.—Mirror.

PRESIDENT GRANT, on learning the abuses committed under the General Order system, directed that it should be at once broken up, and Secretary Boutwell has since been in communication with Collector Arthur as to what system to substitute for it. It has been finally decided to divide the port of New York into districts, five on North river, two in Brooklyn and three in Jersey City, in each one of which a bonded warehouse shall be established. This will not make it necessary to cart goods any great distance, and it is thought the plan will remedy the extortionate charges so justly complained of.

A PUBLIC FAIR, in aid of the Massachusetts Homœopathic Hospital, will be held in the Music Hall, Boston, commencing on Monday, April 15, and continuing till Saturday, April 27. Information concerning it can be obtained by application to the President, Col Henry S. Russell, Boston. Contributions, subscriptions, or donations may be sent to F. W. Andrews, Esq., 61 State Street, Boston.

THE COLLECTOR OF CUSTOMS at Matamoras threatens to sink an American river steamer, now at Brownville, Texas, laden with goods for Camaro, which is now in the possession of the revolutionists, if she clears for the latter place. The United States collector at Brownsville refuses to give clearance papers until he gets instructions from Washington.

MR. ROLLINS NOT POPULAR WITH THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.—The most amusing thing witnessed in this canvass is the spite and malignity of the leaders of the Democratic party toward Mr. E. H. Rollins, the Chairman of the Republican State Committee. They all seem to be "mad as March hares" with him. The newspapers of that party are mostly filled at present with abuse and detraction levelled at him. Surely this is the highest compliment that the Democratic leaders can pay Mr. Rollins. It is the best proof in the world that he is doing, and will do, more than any other one to overthrow and defeat that party. If he would keep quiet and let that party elect their Governor and the Legislature and the rest of the ticket, he would be the purest and wisest man in the world. How very unkind in Mr. Rollins not to do this. John G. Sinclair has more than once said in years past that if E. H. Rollins was off, and out of the way, the Democratic party could beat.

The Democratic press so far in this canvass has not been sparing in its misrepresentation and calumny toward the Republican party. It has dealt in little else. There is a saying that, "those that live in glass houses should not throw stones."

Who, and what is the Democratic party to-day, and what are its principles and platform and record, and who are its leaders and representative men? There is one man who stands out in bold relief and towers above all others. He is the chief,—the idol,—the representative man of that party to-day. That man is Jefferson Davis. A man who is guilty of treason and crimes blacker and more damning than history records for a whole century. A man who is false to his country, to humanity, and God, and if justice had been done him, would, ere this, have forfeited his life on the gallows. Yet to-day Jefferson Davis is the best and truest living representative of the Democratic party, and his record is the truest and the best record extant for the last fifteen years.

What a glorious party! How honest, pure, and patriotic! Yet Mr. Rollins and the Republican party are opposed to it and doing what they can to defeat it. They surely deserve all the abuse that can be heaped upon them.—Lake Village Times.

Religious Items.

The Congregationalists in Maine number about 240 churches, more than half of which are not self-sustaining, but have help from the Mission Society. Fifty or sixty have settled pastors, and a large number stated supplies, but many are vacant. The membership is about 16,000.

The Congregationalists in New Hampshire number about 19,000.

Bates College in Lewiston, Me., has 88 students, and the Free Baptist Theological Department connected with it, 21: Total, 106. Of the college students the following are from this State: Gay of Sandwich, Brown of Bridgewater, Frost of Manchester, Goodnow of Franconia, Marston of Effingham, E. G. Smith and F. P. Smith of Ashland, Maxfield of Chichester, Durgin of Sanbornton, Evans of Alton, Giles of Sanbornton, Hutchins of Dover, Washburn of Ashland, and one lady, Miss E. H. Haley of Tuftonboro', in Theological Department, Jones of Gilmanton, Boynton of Canaan, and Hanson of New Hampton.

Dea. W. G. Brown of Campton, Agent of the N. H. Bible Society, has canvassed Dover. The number of families was found to be 1812, and 12 Protestant families were destitute of the Bible. He received about one hundred and fifty dollars in aid of the Bible Society.

Rev. M. C. Brittain, pastor of the Methodist Church in Dover, has resigned and left. There was dissatisfaction with him because he was not a temperance man.

Rev. L. J. Hall, but a few years ago a Methodist preacher in this State and having some of the important places, has been deposed in Waltham, Mass., on the charge of violating the Seventh Commandant.

Rev. C. E. Hardy, pastor of the Free Baptist Church at Strafford Centre, professed being robbed of $1000 and his watch in Boston, lately. It has been found that no such thing took place, and he does not preach now. J.

CARD OF THANKS.

The members of S. B. Breed Hook and Ladder Co., No. 1, of Lynn, desire to return our thanks to the Dearborn Steam Fire Engine Co., No. 1, of Portsmouth, for our cordial reception and general good time at the ball of the latter, in their city on the evening of Feb. 21. We shall ever remember this event with pleasure, and hope for a speedy return of their courtesies. To the ladies who by their cheerful presence and hearty co-operation made the affair one of the most brilliant in the remembrance of our company, we return the sincerest thanks. The kind and gentlemanly proprietor of the Parker House, who spared no effort to make our visit pleasant and agreeable, we cannot speak too highly of. We would make the enquiry as to whether the one-wheeled cab has yet been redeemed, and gaily sing as we think of this never-to-be-forgotten trip, "Rolling Home in the Morning, Boys." Llimkrabehtotkcitsewdeer BBS, will ever be our watchword, and may we all live to enjoy many such reunions. To the citizens of Portsmouth generally, we are greatly indebted, and look upon their action in our behalf with the utmost gratefulness.—Lynn Little Giant.

A CONTRACTOR of the Boston and Maine Railroad in York county has suddenly disappeared, leaving a large number of bills unsettled, in the town of Wells.

WHAT IT WILL COME TO.—Trumbull,—'rumble,—and 'umble—when Lyman fails to receive a nomination for President.

MAYOR HALL of New York is on trial for malfeasance in office. The Stokes trial is again postponed.

—At General McIntosh's camp on the St. Joseph and Denver Railroad, near Fairburg, Kansas, two or three days ago, a desperado called Kentucky Jack killed two men, one McIntosh's clerk and the other his cook. The inmates of the camp tied the murderer to a stake and were about burning him alive when he was rescued by the authorities.

—The Union Pacific Railroad was again blockaded by snow on Sunday. The western-bound train was seventeen hours late at Salt Lake City. The storm is likely to close communication for some time.

—The ice-boat Qui-vive won the twenty-mile race on the Hudson on Saturday, competing with four boats of New Hamburg. Time—47 minutes. The wind was light.

—A boy fell from the fifth story to the cellar through the hatchway of a building in Louisville, recently, but as he landed on a pile of ashes he escaped without fatal injury.

BASE BALL.—The Athletics, Bostons, and Haymakers are regarded as the three most prominent competitors for the whip pennant in 1872. The two latter clubs have completed their nines, but the Athletics have not yet completed theirs. McBride, Malone, Fisler, Cuthbert, Treacy and Meyerle will play on the nine, and the other players will be selected from Reach, Sensenderfer, McGeary, Mack and Anson, five very strong players, both at the bat and in the field. The Haymaker nine for the coming season will be transferred in 1873 to Chicago, with the exception of Cuthbert and Treacy in place of McAtee and King, and will then be known as the White Stockings. The object of Wood in selecting Troy as his stamping-ground for the season is to give the future Chicago nine plenty of training, as managers of no other professional club would take their services for only one year.

—The reported death of General Diaz, in Mexico, is confirmed.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Many persons suffer with sick headache and nervous headache, usually produced by costiveness, indigestion, &c. Such persons will find relief if not cure, by keeping the bowels open with small doses of Parsons' Purgative Pills.

Have you inflammatory sore throat, stiff joints, or lameness from any cause whatever? Have you rheumatic or other pains in any part of the body? If so, use Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. Our word for it, it is the best pain killer in this country.

"VEGETINE," says a Boston physician, "has no equal as a blood purifier. Hearing of its many wonderful cures, after all other remedies had failed, I visited the laboratory and convinced myself of its genuine merit. It is prepared from barks, roots, and herbs, each of which is highly effective, and they are compounded in such a manner as to produce astonishing results." d

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—We stand aghast at the thousands hourly buried to a premature grave, victims of hurrying neglected the first symptoms of disease. Whether the complaint originates in the body, or be introduced accidentally through the skin—fatal results may be warded off by a timely recourse to one or both of these medicines. 25 cents per box or pot. 183.

DR TU-SEE says:—"It is unnecessary for me to enumerate the diseases for which the VEGETINE should be used. I know of no disease which will not admit of its use, with good results. Almost innumerable complaints are caused by poisonous secretions in the blood, which can be entirely expelled from the system by the use of the VEGETINE. When the blood is perfectly cleansed, the disease rapidly yields; all pains cease; healthy action is promptly restored, and the patient is cured." WeSd

OLD PREJUDICES ARE DYING OUT.—New facts are killing them. The idea that invalids weakened by disease can be relieved by prostrating them with destructive drugs, is no longer entertained except by mercenaries. Ever since the introduction of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS it has been obvious that their regulating and invigorating properties are all-sufficient for the cure of chronic indigestion, rheumatism, constipation, diarrhœa, nervous affections, and malarious fevers, and they are now the standard remedy for these complaints in every section of the Union.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Aggravated Indigestion.

Persons who are predisposed to dyspepsia, find their sufferings from this cause greatly aggravated by damp weather, easterly winds, and sudden changes from a mild to a chilling atmosphere. In the spring, therefore, the pangs of indigestion are seriously augmented by the atmospheric variations peculiar to the season, and it is incumbent upon all who desire to pass through the ordeal of its cold winds and unhealthorous gales with easy stomachs, and unmoleested by the indescribable torments which accompany dyspepsia, to tone and strengthen the digestive organs with a healthful and effective vegetable invigorant; and no one at all familiar with the medical record of the age, can question for one moment that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is the Tonic best adapted to this purpose.

The credentials of the Great Restorative are unequalled in number and character by those of any other advertised medicine in the world. If ever there was a preparation to rank as a National Remedy, this wonderful specific has a fair claim to the title. For a period of twenty years it has literally been the Champion Tonic and Alterative on this side of the Atlantic. In popularity it has never been approached by any of its would-be competitors, and its annual sales are so far in advance of those of any other medicine of its class, that comparisons would be ridiculous. One of two conclusions is inevitable. Either the American people are deficient in common sense, and incapable of rational discrimination, or Hostetter's Bitters is the best preventive remedy for indigestion, fever and ague, bilious remittent fever, constipation, rheumatism, nervous complaints, and all maladies of an epidemic or endemic type. The reader will judge for himself which of the two conclusions is most consistent with fact and reason.

OF EVERYBODY'S TONGUE.—Eulogiums of the great National Regenerator of Health, PLANTATION BITTERS, are on everybody's tongue. This gratuitous news race advertising is better than all the paid-for puffing to which the owners of bogus bitters are obliged to resort. It has a spontaneous heartiness about it which carries conviction to the mind of the auditor. But it is a well-known fact that the proprietors of the PLANTATION BITTERS have neither relied upon newspaper puffery to establish the success of a preparation which owes its astonishing popularity mainly to the oral testimony of the thousands who have either experienced or been eye-witnesses of the immense physical good it has wrought throughout the length and breadth of the land.

YEAS AND NEIGHS.—If horses could make themselves understood in human language, they would signify by a universal "Yea," their assent to the statement that the MUSTANG LINIMENT is the best remedy extant for all these external ailments, and by a most emphatic "Neigh!" show their displeasure at every attempt to use any other preparation in its stead. Ever since its introduction at St. Louis, at the close of the Mexican War, in 1849, it has proved a signal blessing to horse and man—curing, with absolute certainty and wonderful despatch, such equine diseases as spavin, ringbone, pull evil, scratches, hoofail, &c., and relieving and finally removing the painful affections which attack the muscles, sinews and external glands of human beings. It is a fact beyond contradiction that for all injuries or complaints of man or quadrupeds to which an external remedy is applicable, the MUSTANG LINIMENT is preferable to every other.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Board of Trade.

The Portsmouth Board of Trade held a meeting at the rooms of the Common Council on Tuesday evening, to speculate upon and discuss its chances of lingering a while longer as a mere empty name. The meeting was made interesting by a sufficient amount of lingual sparring to keep our reporter awake, and impress upon him the fact that two such institutions as the Public Library (in prospect) and the Board of Trade cannot flourish together in this city. In order for the reader to know what connection the former institution has with the latter we must report the doings of the gathering aforesaid.

Mr. Thomas S. Nowell, the President, after calling the meeting to order, apologized for summoning the members by saying that all that is needed to give Portsmouth new life is the development of some one or more manufacturing interests. Stores are increasing in numbers in our midst, while trade is diminishing, and sooner or later many of them must go under, unless some new enterprise of manufacture implanted itself among us and thereby opened new resources for our traders. He asserted that organizations such as the present Board were sufficient to accomplish the work of introducing into our community manufactures and commerce, and suggested the printing of circulars setting forth the peculiar advantages which our city presents to ship builders, shoemakers and other manufacturers, and send them (the circulars) abroad over New England, to induce wealth to come hither and make Portsmouth hum with busy-bodies.

An inquiry was made in relation to the amount of funds in the hands of the Treasurer of the Board. The custodian of the finances being absent, the precise amount was not made known, but the presiding officer informed the interrogator that the organization numbered fifty members who had each made a deposit of five dollars in conformity with the by-laws. In order to test the sense of the meeting, Mr. C. H. Meudum moved that the funds of the Board be transferred to the Public Library. This motion proved to be the gentle invigorating tonic that was essential to give the meeting the animation and interest to which we have before alluded. Messrs. Butler, Nowell and others spoke against the motion, while Mr. John Sise and some others favored it. Mr. Sise took occasion to explain the status of the Public Library, which is in process of incubation. He came to the present meeting of the Board with the design of inducing the members to dissolve the organization and donate the accrued funds to the Library. As one of the Trustees of said Library he felt justified in making an appeal in its behalf, and remarked that sons of Portsmouth resident in Boston had promised him the balance needed to make up the $10,000 if he would come up among them with a subscription paper. But the speaker did not want to do this, in the face of the fact that many wealthy Portsmouth residents had failed to contribute anything, and the speaker's pride would not allow him to accept of donations from those abroad, who would never share in the benefits of the institution, while those at home well able to give, and who, directly or indirectly, would realize all the advantages inhering therefrom, subscribed not a cent.

William H. Hackett, Esq., thought that the Board of Trade could contribute its present fund to the Public Library and yet continue its existence. He then proceeded to descant upon the peculiar advantages of such institutions. Had made the subject a study. Stopped in Ipswich Tuesday and spent a considerable portion of the time in looking over the Library of that little, thriving place. The speaker (Mr. H.) eulogised the English as great readers; noticed that fact particularly in his experience in Public Libraries. [Mr. Hackett's residence is not in Ward One, so he cannot be charged with any selfish motive in thus alluding to the English people.]

Mr. Butler moved that an assessment of five dollars be levied on each individual member of the Board of Trade, and the sum thus raised, in connection with the money on hand, be turned over to the P. L.

Mr. Frank W. Miller inquired if the exact amount of the funds on hand was known by any one present, and if not, whether it would not be advisable to adjourn for one week to get the report of the Treasurer. A motion to adjourn for one week was then made, which on being put was carried by a vote of 10 to 7.

Laconics.

The plan procured by the Aldermanic committee, for altering and improving the exterior of the Jefferson Market or City Building, is very neat and appropriate; and should the Board decide to adopt and construct the same, the building will be an ornament to the city and our principal Square instead of a blemish and public disgrace as now. The interior of the building,—the City Offices, Marshal's quarters, etc., will remain unchanged; while with the entrance as now a fine store can be constructed below, with entrance at the other western corner, front and also on the northern side. The plan is drawn with two low and square towers on the front corners, with the gable roof hipped back between; and a handsome ornamental window in front, with circular-tipped doors and windows at the sides. The Aldermen authorized the Committee on City Lands and Buildings to procure working plans of the same, and every citizen of public spirit and good taste will hope for its speedy adoption and completion. Even those who hope for a City Hall should not object to it, for this lot is not large enough for such a building, unless the passage ways around it be filled up.

Chief Constructor Isaiah Hanscom, U. S. N., was in town on Tuesday and visited the Navy Yard.

A large party will leave this city for Exeter in teams this evening at 6 o'clock to attend the Martyn concert. Harlow's Band will make the trip lively.

Will the City Fathers give heed to the demand for a fire alarm bell at Cabot Street School House?

We venture to say that there was more intemperance of speech last Sunday evening among pedestrains than for the six days previous. The side-walks were slippery and sloppy and darkness prevailed, yet the gas was not lighted because it was time for the moon to shine. Clouds intervened and darkness was visible. The streets should be lighted every evening when it is dark, for the convenience of the public. The extra cost to the city would be trifling compared to the benefit.

We are informed that the books of the Jubilee music are received from Mr. Tourjee, and will be used at the rehearsal this evening, at Mr. Tilton's room. All singers competent to read church music, are invited.

Assistant Constructor Hichborn is detached from this Station and ordered to the Pensacola Navy Yard.

Several vessels in the lower harbor were blown from their moorings and went ashore on Tuesday. U. S. S. Speedwell went to their assistance.

Dr. Eben Tourjee, of Boston, will conduct a praise meeting at Greenland on Thursday, Feb. 29, at which Harlow's Band will assist. Exercises will commence at 7 o'clock, P. M.

The local Democratic editor does not like our publication of a correct list of the defalcations of U. S. Internal Revenue collectors, side by side with the incorrect one which the copperhead papers of this State have been howling over and which they falsely claimed to be honestly compiled from the records of the U. S. Treasury. The editor says that if the Democrats did place the internal revenue defalcations at more than ten times the actual amount it does not matter, as the other stealings would make the sum up to six hundred million dollars—which is very moderate for him, as he not long ago made the Radicals steal one hundred thousand millions, about three times the value of all the estate—real, personal and mixed—in all the States and Territories. We are surprised that he should now be satisfied with such a miserable pittance as six hundred millions, when he has such boundless capacity for "startling statistics."

Jonas Speaketh Aloud.

THIS CITY, 27th.

Messrs. Editors:—Gorrifus! I'm a political enemy of your'n and a firm personal friend. One of my other friends wants an office, but I shan't vote for him unless he turns to and builds a boat to launch day after 'lection. He paid me 87 1-2 cts. a day in old times but that won't keep my vote for him now. He says he can build vessels cheaper by half if he can buy material 50 per cent. cheaper. But he can't use me for free trade if it reduces my pay from 87 1-2 to 43 3-4 cts. a day.

New Publications.

Harpers' Monthly has five fully illustrated papers; the first giving an interesting history of the United States Treasury Department; the second, on "Northern Bolivia," by Col. Church, now engaged in railroading engineering in that country; the third on "Naval Architecture," by an officer in our navy; the fourth, a sketch of Munich, by Col. Conway; the fifth, a sketch of "Negro Life in Jamaica." There are besides several poems of not more than average merit, four short stories, the continuation of Trollop's serial and the usual admirable editorial departments. The "Easy Chair" discourses seriously and sharply concerning the exaltation of bad men after their death; it gives also an enthusiastic critique of Longfellow's "Divine Tragedy," calling it the greatest work in American poetry. For sale by E. G. Adams.

The Radical for March contains a paper on Theism by Samuel Longfellow. The most noteworthy article in the number is the lecture by A. Jayrum, a young Hindoo, on The State of Scientific Thought in England. Mr. Conway contributes one of his discourses, entitled Prayers by Telegraph. Francis Gerry Fairfield, George S. Burleigh and N. R. Waters are among the writers for this number.

The Lady's Friend for March has a steel plate, "The Tambourine Girl" There is a handsome Colored Fashion Plate. Music—"We'd Better Bide a Wee." The illustrations of fashions look stylish, and there are patterns for fancy work in variety. The literary matter keeps up the high reputation of this magazine. "Queen Coquetta" continues to be a fascinating serial, and Mrs. Wood's novel grows exceedingly interesting. $2 a year. Deacon & Peterson, Publishers, Phila., Pa.

The Westminster Review, (Am. rep.) for January, contains, Greek Tragedy and Euripides; The Geographical Distribution of Animals and Plants; The Political Disabilities of Women; The First Earl of Shaftesbury; The Government and the Education Act; A Theory of Wages and Contemporary Literature. Leonard Scott Pub. Co., 140 Fulton Street, New York; $4 per year.

CURIOUS HISTORICAL DISCOVERY.—A St. John's, Newfoundland, letter to the Boston Traveller says:

Our local papers have published a letter addressed to Rev. M. Harvey of this place, by Charles W. Tuttle, Esq., counselor-at-law, of Boston, in reference to a historical discovery which Mr. Tuttle has recently made, and in which Newfoundland is especially interested. It appears from his letter that in investigating the history of Captain John Mason, the founder of New Hampshire, Mr. Tuttle discovered that he had been for a time governor of a plantation in Newfoundland,—that in which Lord Bacon had a share—and that he published in 1650 a description of Newfoundland, accompanied by a map of the island. It has been Mr. Tuttle's good fortune to discover a copy of these, only two of which are know to be in existence; and he is about to publish both in his forthcoming "Life of Mason." It is curious that no historian of Newfoundland mentions Mason, nor was the existence of a description of the island known till Mr. Tuttle brought it to light. It will be a document of great interest for us, and will no doubt throw light on the condition of the colony at that early period. Hardly anything is known of the "Plantation" in Conception Bay, with which Mason was connected.

—The custom of saying "God bless you!" when a person sneezes, dates from Jacob. The rabbis say that, before the time that Jacob lived, men sneezed once, and that was the end of them—the shock slew them; but the patriarch, by his intercession, obtained a relaxation of this law, subject to the condition that, in all nations, a sneeze should be consecrated by a sacred aspiration.

—An Illinois German practiced his habit of getting drunk and turning his wife and children out of doors on cold nights recently. After he had gone to bed four stalwart young men pulled off the clothes, but instead of cruelly turning him out into the cold they gave him so generous a warming with birch twigs that he repented and promised to reform.

—A young woman in Indianapolis excused herself from attending her sister's funeral, by saying that her wedding was to take place in the evening of the same day, and it would incapacitate her for that occasion; besides, she had no time to spare.

—It is related of Senator Carl Schurz, that when he stood on the floor of the United States Senate eighteen years ago, hardly comprehending the language spoken around him, he wrote to his wife, "Some day I shall stand here and speak in English."

—A man blew out the gas in a Kansas city hotel, and then wanted to know if "that hotel was a glue factory."

—Mr. Shin was secretary of a meeting which indorsed Congressman Shanks at Hartford City, Indiana, recently.

CATARRH
Cannot be cured by snuffs, washes or local applications. It is a weakness of the constitution, developing itself in the nasal organ first, afterwards extending to throat and lungs, ending generally in consumption, if not checked by proper remedies. Pains in head, back, loins, and weakness of kidneys, are its attendant diseases. More people have Catarrh than any other disease. It is easily cured. Thousands of cases, some of twenty-five years' standing, have been entirely cured in New Hampshire the past two years by the Constitutional Catarrh Remedy. Certificates to back the above sent free upon application to LITTLEFIELD & HAYES, proprietors and druggists, Manchester, N. H. Price $1 per bottle.

FEMALE WEAKNESS.
The Proprietor of this valuable Medicine, while suffering from loss of health some twenty years ago, re ceived an Indian receipt, from which she prepared some for her own use, which resulted in a cure. Many of her friends have used it with equally perfect success, and have urged her to introduce it to the public. She has consented, for the relief of suffering humanity to do so, and feels confident that it will prove one of the richest blessings to her sex. This is an internal remedy—entirely vegetable—will not injure the most delicate constitution, but is speedy in its effects. No supporters are not used under any consideration, nor the application of Caustic. It will eradicate all Fibroid tumors, Uterine Obstructions, Ulceration, or great suffering. Its removing effects are extraordinary, without a change in diet, as hundreds will testify. Three bottles will convince the most skeptical of its surprising properties. Its effects are wonderful in the Relief and Cure of the following diseases—Prolapsus Uteri, Nervous Debility, Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of Heart, Depression of Spirits, Irregularities, Change of Life, Whites, Painful Affections, Bilousness, Inflammation of the Kidneys, &c. Prepared and sold by MRS. LINUS WILCHER, Randolph, Mass. Send for Circular. Sold by all Druggists, at $1.50 per bottle.

CAUTION.

THE immense demand for HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT, has tempted unprincipled parties to counterfeit these valuable medicines.

In order to protect the public and ourselves, we have issued a new "Trade Mark," consisting of an Egyptian circle and a serpent, with the letter H in the centre. Every box of genuine HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT will have this trade mark on it; none are genuine without it.

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or texture or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

AYER'S
SARSAPARILLA,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhoea arising from interal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their attendant health returns.

WHAT WAS FOUND AT THE BOTTOM OF A LAKE.—Mr. Samuel Jones, near New Amsterdam, Harrison County, Ind., gives an account of having drained a lake on his place, covering over seventy acres, which has probably existed there for hundreds of years. The work was of great labor and considerable expense, but restores to use a fine body of land. He says that after the draining had been completed he found evidences that the bed of the lake had at one time been occupied by an Indian camping ground, probably the site of one their villages. As evidence of this, he states that in digging a cellar large quantities of bear and deer bones were thrown up. At other points on the place, on digging holes to set potatoes, bones of Indians were found. Several Indian graves have been found on the place, which appears to have been covered with muscle shells, taken from the bed of some of the neighboring creeks, or the Ohio River. Indian implements of various kinds have also been found on the place, and in the immediate neighborhood. From the statement of Mr. Jones there can be no doubt that the locality was at one time the home of a large tribe of North American Indians, every trace of which has disappeared, except the relics thus accidentally discovered. This is an interesting field for the investigations of archæologists, and may enable them to gather some valuable information in regard to the aborigines of the country.

CHASED BY A SAW LOG.—A Canadian who was engaged last week on the brow of a hill, near Pittsfield, Mass., in cutting timber and rolling it to the bottom, endeavored to manipulate a log for a safe descent, but discovered it was getting the better of him. He was on the under side, and it would not do to let it slide, so he screamed for help. But no help came. His strength was surely and rapidly failing, and there was nothing to do but to run for it; and run he did—a fearful race. The natural philosophers say that a log gains in rapidity as it descends. It is otherwise with human legs on the run, even when as in this case, the descent is steep and icy. There was no turning out, and the log gained with terrible rapidity on the frightended Canuck, and was just on his heels, when luckily he spied a hollow in his path into which he pooped with a bound, and had barely time to huddle himself into his hole, when crash! crash! the log thundered over him, and left him safe, but about the most badly scared man that ever hallooed.

QUEER TASTE IN A CAT.—A Portland firm, dealers in flour, produce, etc., have in their store a large cat which is a great pet and has been allowed to run all over their building. The firm deal largely in eggs, and have been much annoyed lately on opening the store in the morning, to find a dozen or so of the eggs in each box or basket broken and the contents gone. They supposed for some time that the smashing was done by accident, or perhaps by rats, but finally suspected the cat. A watch was set on her actions, when it was discovered that Miss Puss would take a flying jump upon the eggs, smashing as many as possible, and then lick up all the contents that she could, repeating the proceeding until her appetite was satisfied. The firm have come to the conclusion that Tabby's tastes are too expensive, and now carefully cover up the egg-baskets nights.

—The Cleveland Plaindealer says the reason Mrs. Scott Siddons is unable to fulfill her lyceum engagement in this country the present season is, that her husband died in jail, for debt, in Cork.

—The San Francisco boys play with slings made of rubber and wire, with which a buckshot can be driven through a half inch-plank.

FACES ON THE WALL.

BY HARRIET BEECHER STOWE.

AUTHOR OF "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN," "MY WIFE AND I," ETC.

Once there was a very good little girl, who, by reason of her goodness knew where to find strawberries in the winter. In the same way less perfect people, blessed by the generous fairies of memory and imagination, may sit, as I do now, in the midst of falling leaves and whistling winds, and call back the green grasses and the summer sun. I see yonder in the glen the darling of our house, the gold g'eam in her brown hair, a chain of daisies in her hand, and in her eyes the roguish meditation of a kitten, weary for an instant only of its play, and thinking slyly of another spring. Thrown back upon the velvet grass, she is not resting, only pausing from her bright glances to the tips of her tiny fingers she is wide awake.

But now the merry play is over, and our pet nestles yonder on the sofa cushion, tired at last in earnest. Slowly the lids fall, and the lingering smile dies out; but the flush in cheek and lip remains, like the glow after sunset. The gathered buttercups and daisies are loosely held by the fair little hand; no shadows, even of dream-land, disturb the sweet brow's perfect peace. She is fast asleep.

In other words, two chromos hang upon the wall, bewitching child-heads, in which every mother sees some thing of her own dear ones, never grown old, and never lost to her, however time or death may have dealt with them.

Nothing pleases more at first sight or gives pleasure longer than poetical pictures of children. "The little child" whom Jesus sets in the midst of every family is a joy that grows not old and fades not.

"Age cannot wither, custom cannot stale
Its infinite variety."

For this reason a happy picture of a child brings an enjoyment more lasting than any other, because it is a subject of which no one ever tires.

But these pictures, besides their constant charm for grown folks, are such as children can understand and love. Our little "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," would give many a pleasant hour of compationable amusement and intercourse to the little people akin to them in age. The photucos that children's eyes rest on as they are dropping off to sleep, or as they awake in the morning, seem to them like living friends. All sorts of childish dreams and fancies make of the pictured face a real companion. Not only in the parlor and sitting-room would they be an attractive and fitting embellishment, but they are a charming pair for the adornment of a nursery.

Undoubtedly these two pictures are portraits. There is a realistic faithfulness and truth about them that forbids the idea of their being fancy heads. They will remind many parents of little ones either here or in heaven. Dickens says of his portraiture of little Nell that he has had letters from the farthest region of the earth speaking of children who resembled her—so dear, and so early taken! He who paints one child well, paints thousands, and speaks to the tenderest feelings of innumerable hearts.

Of course there is a pleasure in possessing an original painting; but when the question lies between an original at five hundred dollars and a chromo which can scarcely be distinguished from it, at ten dollars—particularly when one has not the five hundred to spare—the choice is not very difficult. As to these two exquisite chromos, only a critical examination can distinguish between the copies and the originals, which sold for many hundreds—which is certainly more than can be said of the best copies of most pictures painted by the best artists.

Blessings upon the chromo-lithography, by which the successful painting of a master can be reproduced indefinitely and can enter thousands of homes with its educating, quickening, reforming influences!

It is not alone into the dwellings of the great and wealthy that we follow this pretty pair with anticipations of delight. We see them in the cottages of the poor, in the log cabin of the barkwoodsman, brightening the toil of the hard-worked wife and mother, and receiving the almost adoring wonder of children who have never seen pictures before.

God bless the darlings—send the little comforters fast and far!

The charming pair of oil chromos, "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," of whose real beauty and attractiveness Mrs. Stowe's graceful sketch can give but an imperfect idea—so pleasing are they to all who love art or children—have always sold in the picture stores for $10, and the original publisher has never been able to supply the great demand for them even at that price. And yet, although thousands of them have been sold in America at that high rate, they are now within the reach of all, for they are

WHY?

What is the reason that the Literary, Religious, and Domestic Weekly, started two years ago, namely,

THE CHRISTIAN UNION,

should have so suddenly achieved a success that makes all newspaper men wonder?

Reasons Why!

1st. HENRY WARD BEECHER is its Editor, of whom the Chicago Interior said "Probably no man on this continent sways so many minds, or is doing so much to shape religious thought for the next half century." His vigorous pen in Editorials and Star Papers, and Mr. Ellinwood's famed verbatim reports of his helpful Lecture-Room Talks in Plymouth Church, are an attraction to thousands of readers, who always want to know what he thinks on religious themes and the topics of the times. He is also assisted by an able editorial staff.

2d. IT IS UNSECTARIAN IN RELIGION, Independent in Political Discussion, and devoted to Morals, Reform, Home and Foreign News—both of Church matters and the world at large, Literature, Science, Art, Music, Agriculture, Trade, Finance, etc., etc., with contributions from eminent writers of all denominations—in all parts of the country.

3d. IT HAS SOMETHING FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE HOUSEHOLD—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, all find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects, much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones; one of its chief attraction being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

4th. IT Admits no Medical or other possibly objectionable advertisements nor anything to offend the purest and most fastidious, and is therefore a favorite family paper.

5th. ITS FORM TWENTY-FOUR PAGES. Large Quarto, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, is so convenient for reading, binding, and preservation as to be a great special merit in its favor, apart from its superior literary attraction.

6th. A superb WORK OF ART IS GIVEN AWAY TO EVERY SUBSCRIBER AND THE SUBSCRIPTION PRICE IS

Only Three Dollars per Year.

MANHOOD

IN THE

Young and Rising Generation.

The vegetable powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show their baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body, too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwardly upon themselves.

If the patient be a female the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it is fed on. The energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain. The parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

TRY HELMBOLD'S

EXTRACT BUCHU

For Weakness Arising from Excesses or Early Indiscretion,

attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspepsia Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such Patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for fear of themselves; no repose of matter, no earnestness, no speculation, but a hurried transition from one question to another.

THESE SYMPTOMS, IF ALLOWED TO GO ON—WHICH THIS MEDICINE INVARIABLY REMOVES — SOON FOLLOW LOSS OF POWER, FATUITY AND EPILEPTIC FITS, IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients. Reason has for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths of Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibitions appear. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute; neither mirth nor grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.

"With woful measures wan despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguile."

While we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences.

The Daily Chronicle,

Portsmouth, N. H.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 29, 1872.

Political.

In a speech in the Senate on the 27th, Senator Schurz denied that he intended going over to the Democrats.

Connecticut Republicans anticipate another grand victory in April.

The Washington Chronicle has been purchased for $45,000. It is to be run in opposition to the renomination of President Grant.

The House judiciary committee have agreed to report formally Mr. Willard's supplemental apportionment bill, which will give New Hampshire, Vermont and seven others States each an additional member, making a House of 292. The action of the committee is an agreeable surprise to the advocates of the bill, who, when it was introduced, had no great faith in success.

The New York assembly has passed the bill for a new city charter for New York, with the cumulative-voting feature and all the other points to which strong objections have been raised. The debate previous to the vote was long and able. Notwithstanding this action the chances are believed to be against the measure in the senate.

Rev. Robert Collyer, who recently got into the wrong hall to deliver a lyceum lecture at Manchester and found himself in a Democratic assemblage, says the audience looked at him, thinking he was somebody. He looked at them and thought it the most remarkable lyceum audience he ever saw. The female portion looked as if they were natives of Ireland, and the men looked likewise and kept their hats on. The astounded lecturer left hastily when the speaker introduced a carpet-bagger from South Carolina.

The New York Times' Washington correspondent says the claim put forth that Judge R. B. Carpenter of South Carolina, now stumping in New Hampshire, is a conservative Republican opposed to President Grant's renomination, is a false one. The writer says: "He is not a Republican and has no relations with the party; he was the Democratic Reform candidate for Governor in 1870, and was beaten by 34,000 majority, notwithstanding he had the vote of every Ku-Klux in the State, and all the Democrats save those who declined to vote for a carpet-bagger of his calibre. He got no Republican votes, and has no business to represent himself as such."

THE COMMERCE REVIVAL BILL.—The House committee on commerce has made prompt work with Mr. Shellabarger's bill for the encouragement of American commerce, and decided by an almost unanimous vote to report it to the House at the first opportunity. Provision is made for a line of steamers from New Orleans, in addition to those previously specified. The benefits of the act are extended to vessels constructed upon the Gulf of Mexico and the Ohio river, and the Gulf ports are included among those from which sailing vessels in the foreign trade may receive bounties. The principle of the bill is substantially that presented by Secretary Boutwell in his recent hearing before the committee, with several important additions to the details. All the divers interests connected with the revival of American commerce, which are represented in the House, except a single one, are believed to be in favor of this measure, and its friends are hopeful of its ultimate success. No provision is made for the relief of the fisheries, or for bounties to fishing vessels, but that subject has precedence in the business of the House, and will very probably be disposed of before the commerce bill is reached.

THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH in Leominster, Mass., was burned on the 27th. The society had sold the building at auction preparatory to erecting a new edifice on the same spot; but the deeds were not signed, and they will probably receive from the insurance companies a much larger sum than the church sold for. Some of the contents were saved; but the organ, on which there was an insurance, was burned. Mr. Ball, the pastor, saved most of his furniture. The fire caught from the furnace.

A BLOCKING SNOW-STORM in New Brunswick has seriously interrupted travel on the European & North American Railroad and other roads in the province. The Grand Trunk Railroad in Maine is also blockaded.

THE CUSTOMS COLLECTOR at Brownsville, Texas, has cleared the American steamer for Camargo. It is stated that the attitude assumed by the American commander will prevent interference by the Mexican authorities.

State News

The barn of Mr. Frederick Bell of Goffstown was burned on the 26th. Several tons of hay and three cattle were also burned. Loss about $1000.

The stores of Messrs. Chapman & Sherman and Hulert, at Dover Plains, were burned on the 25th. Loss $35,000.

Mr. Stevens, a private of the United States signal corps, stationed at Mt. Washington, died of paralysis on the 26th. He had been sick several days, and died before medical assistance arrived.

The farm buildings of Mr. J. W. Herlihy in Milford were burned on the 26th. Three cows and a large quantity of hay were also burned.

The dwelling house of the Misses Morrison in Tilton was burned on the 26th. Loss about $700; insured for $400.

Mr. Jackson Greenwood, a pensioner of the war of 1812, died at Dublin, February 11, aged 75 years and 9 months.

Capt. William H. Fernald of Meredith Village died on the 27th, aged 39 years. He served through the war as captain in the 12th Regiment, and was held in high esteem by his fellow-townsmen. He represented the town in the legislature, and was postmaster at the time of his death.

Mr. Thomas Ryder, 65 years of age, fell at the Squamscott Machine Works at South Newmarket on the 27th and died of his injuries.

THE ALABAMA CLAIMS.—Hon. Reverdy Johnson made a speech at Baltimore on the 28th favoring the withdrawal of our claims for indirect damages before the arbitrators. The administration takes opposite ground.

In the House of Representatives on the 28th, Mr. Townsend of New York offered a resolution that it is the sense of the House that the United States should withdraw its indirect claims. Objections were made from all parts of the House and the resolution went over. Sir Edward Thornton has indicated to the State Department that the case at Geneva cannot proceed, and if this should prove to be true the President will at once send to Congress a message which he has already prepared recommending the payment of the Alabama claims by our own government, and calling upon Great Britain to refund the money.

THROUGHOUT GREAT BRITAIN on the 27th, a great demonstration and show of thanksgiving at the recovery of the Prince of Wales was made. In London there was a great display. The streets and buildings were elaborately decorated, salutes were fired and bells rung. A procession, in which the Queen, the convalescent Prince and the members of the royal household had places, went from Buckingham palace to St. Paul and back again, passing over a seven-mile route. In the evening London was illuminated. There was an immense gathering of people and several accidents are reported.

ALEXIS and the Russian fleet arrived at Havana on the 27th. Salutes were fired from the men-of-war in the harbor.

A HEALTHY PROGRESS.—The Travelers Insurance Company, of Hartford, in addition to its extensive business in accident insurance, issues full life and endowment policies, on the all-cash, low-premium stock plan. The plan is evidently growing in popular favor, and appears to be the most equitable and economical system in life insurance. In its life department, the Travellers issued 2,745 policies last year, making a net increase of 1,371 policies, and has written 13,326 in all, up to Jan. 1. The growth in this department has been steady and satisfactory.

—Lexington has a phenomenon at last. The panes of glass in one of the store windows are large and fine solid plate. The frost was very heavy upon them one day last week. The frozen moisture on the inside offered an inducement to a clerk of an artistic turn, and taking his scissors he cut through the thin coating of ice on the glass and traced out a railroad bridge with cars. The etching remained for a day or two, perhaps more, the sun shining full upon it every morning. A thaw came and the frost disappeared. The window was thoroughly cleaned by the store porter several times after the disappearance of the frost; and yet, when the frost re-appeared on the window a day or two ago,—more than a week after the first sketch was made,—there was the bridge as plain and as clearly outlined on the glass as the first day. Let those who can, explain. There is no mark whatever on the glass, and the etching was done with a smooth pointed instrument.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

—A sharp Memphisian desirous of seeing Alexis, took off his coat, put a big Saratoga trunk on his shoulder, and walked up stairs, evading the police, who were instructed to keep everybody out of the Peabody House. He carried a two hundred pound trunk up two flights, didn't see the Grand Duke, and had his coat stolen.

—The waters of the Frith and river Tay, in Scotland, have overflowed their banks, washing away the railroad between Perth and Dundee, and doing great damage to the warehouses and other buildings in the latter city.

—The American Iron Works in Pittsburg, Pa., the most extensive in the country, were partially destroyed by fire on the 24th. The loss is estimated from $200,000 to $300,000. Twenty-five hundred hands were employed there.

—A reckless little scamp of Franklin, Ky., recently got on the track in front of a locomotive as it moved through that city, and tried to run a race with it. He stumbled and fell, but almost miraculously the cowcatcher lifted him by one of his legs as he struggled, and threw him off the track safely.

—One of the best of many excellent features of the Louisville Courier-Journal is a daily epitome of news of local interest throughout Kentucky and the southern States.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Many persons suffer with sick headache and nervous headache, usually produced by costiveness, indigestion, &c. Such persons will find relief if not cure, by keeping the bowels open with small doses of Parsons' Purgative Pills.

Have you inflammatory sore throat, stiff joints, or lameness from any cause whatever? Have you rheumatic or other pains in any part of the body? If so, use Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. Our word for it, it is the best pain killer in this country.

"VEGETINE," says a Boston physician, "has no equal as a blood purifier. Hearing of its many wonderful cures, after all other remedies had failed, I visited the laboratory and convinced myself of its genuine merit. It is prepared from barks, roots, and herbs, each of which is highly effective, and they are compounded in such a manner as to produce astonishing results." d

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—We stand sghast at the thousands hourly hurried to a premature grave, victims of having neglected the first symptoms of disease. Whether the complaint originates in the body, or be introduced accidentally through the skin—fatal results may be warded off by a timely recourse to one or both of these medicicines. 25 cents per box or pot. 183.

ON EVERYBODY'S TONGUE.—Eulogiums of the great National Regenerator of Health, PLANTATION BITTERS, are on everybody's tongue. This gratuitous free race advertising is better than all the paid-for puffing to which the owners of bogus bitters are obliged to resort. It has a spontaneous heartiness about it which carries conviction to the mind of the auditor. But it is a well-known fact that the proprietors of the PLANTATION BITTERS have never relied upon newspaper bolstering to establish the success of a preparation which owes its astonishing popularity mainly to the oral testimony of the thousands who have either experienced or been eye-witnesses of the immense physical good it has wrought throughout the length and breadth of the land.

OLD PREJUDICES ARE DYING OUT.—New facts are killing them. The idea that invalids weakened by disease can be relieved by prostrating them with destructive drugs, is no longer entertained except by mesmerists. Ever since the introduction of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS it has been obvious that their regulating and invigorating properties are all-sufficient for the cure of chronic indigestion, rheumatism, constipation, diarrhœa, nervous affections, and malarious fevers, and they are now the standard remedy for these complaints in every section of the Union.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Aggravated Indigestion.

Persons who are predisposed to dyspepsia, find their sufferings from this cause greatly aggravated by damp weather, easterly winds, and sudden changes from a mild to a chilling atmosphere. In the spring, therefore, the pangs of indigestion are seriously augmented by the atmospheric variations peculiar to the season, and it is incumbent on all who desire to pass through the ordeal of its cold mists and insalubrious gales with easy stomachs, and untormented by the indescribable torments which accompany dyspepsia, to tone and strengthen the digestive organs with a healthful and effective vegetable invigorant; and no one at all familiar with the medical record of the age, can question for one moment that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is the Tonic best adapted to this purpose.

The credentials of the Great Restorative are unequaled in number and character by those of any other advertised medicine in the world. If ever there was a preparation to rank as a National Remedy, this wonderful specific has a fair claim to the title. For a period of twenty years it has literally been the Champion Tonic and Alterative on this side of the Atlantic. In popularity it has never been approached by any of its would-be competitors, and its annual sales are so far in advance of those of any other medicine of its class, that comparison would be ridiculous. One of two conclusions is inevitable. Either the American people are deficient in common sense, and incapable of rational discrimination, or Hostetter's Bitters is the best preventive remedy for indigestion, fever and ague, bilious remittent fever, constipation, rheumatism, nervous complaints, and all maladies of an epidemic or endemic type. The reader will judge for himself which of the two conclusions is most consistent with fact and reason.

Mr. Albert H. Fernald, the popular pianist and composer, has dedicated his latest song, entitled "Shall I Win Her if I Woo Her," to Miss Emma Reignolds. Mr. Fernald's "Rays of Sunight Galop," also new, is a bright little gem. For sale at the music stores.

The concerts by the DeRochement Family and Miss Jennie DeRochemont's singing class, at the church in Newington, last week, are spoken of as very creditable and successful performances, by competent judges who attended from this city.

Among other "Temperance" party nominations, so called, we are informed that one Leander Frost of Hampstead will be run in opposition to Mr. Frank W. Miller of Portsmouth, for County Commissioner. This Frost may be a good enough temperance man, but he is far more of a copperhead; and every vote thrown for him, is directly in opposition to the party of real temperance. Mr. Miller is well-known in this vicinity as a life-long worker, writer and voter in favor of temperance.

The Portsmouth Music Society is entered as No. 96 on the list of the Jubilee chorus, and doubtless will give good report of themselves on the occasion, which will be one of the grandest and most enjoyable the world ever saw. Mr. Tourjee enjoins the most careful preparation and rehearsal of the choruses, and states that the arrangements will be the most complete possible, and expenses kept at the lowest point for the visiting singers. The number of members of the Portsmouth Society is reported at 56, with privilege of increasing to 100.

Boatswain Charles E. Hawkins is ordered to duty on board U. S. R. S. Vandalia, at this naval station.

A correspondent of Zion's Herald, writing from Greenland, says: "the lecture season has been one of especial interest here. Rev. C. M. Dinsmore, of Portsmouth, gave us 'an hour with the old philosophers,' a rich and instructive production, delivered in his usual happy and mirthful manner. Rev. Mr. Martyn, formerly of St. Louis, gave the best thing we ever heard on the Pilgrim Fathers. Rev. T. L. Flood, in his usual happy style, gave us a most excellent lecture upon 'The Spirit of the Times.' Many other eminent public men have graced the occasion,—Jas. P. Bartlett, Esq., of Portsmouth, and Dr. J. W. Parsons, an eminently, scholarly gentleman, as well as an eminent physician." Mr. Dinsmore lectured some weeks since in the courses at South Newmarket and Derry, and was so well received that he is invited to speak again in the same courses.

If you want good "help" consult our advertising columns, to-day.

Our low-cull Democratic neighbor says that Secretary Robeson was worth a few thousand dollars when he took charge of the Navy Department and that he is now worth millions. Billy estimates the character of other people by his own and makes the most absurd charges without any attempt at proof. He judges other people by himself and so thinks every office-holder must be a "fraud." If he were really worth two cents and should be elevated to an office where a good chance to make money was afforded, we do not doubt he would soon be worth "millions." He thinks other people do as he would under similar circumstances—but is liable to mistake.

The Navy Department has requested the managers of the Portland, Saco & Portsmouth Railroad to so locate the new line recently chartered by them, as to enable them to build a span from the main line to the navy yard, through Kittery.

—Samuel Harriman, of St. Croix, Wis., retired from military life with a brevet brigadiership. "Good-bye, general," were the parting words of his old comrades in the army. "How are you, colonel?" was the salutation on reaching Wisconsin. As he approached home this began to come down to "How d'ye do, captain?" and finally, when he came among the boys at home, he was greeted with "Hallo, Sam; got back again?"

OLD TIME CHRONICLES, No. 47.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

Settlement at Dover.—The coast of New Hampshire was discovered by Capt. John Smith in 1614. He saw the Isles of Shoals at the same time, and for a period after they were called Smith's Isles. Nine years later, in 1623, the settlement of what is now the State commenced. A small number of people came over in the spring and landed at Little Harbor, two miles south of what is at present the center of business in Portsmouth. The leading men were a Mr. Thompson and two Hiltons. The Hiltons did not like the place, and with a part of the company, moved eight miles up the river and commenced a settlement on a neck of land between Belany and Piscataqua rivers. The place was named Northam, and afterwards Dover. The locality remains a part of Dover, but is about six miles from what is now the compact part of the town.

The settlers came in the interests of the "Company of Laconia," in England. The company held the title of a considerable territory of land. The object of the settlers was pecuniary benefit in the fishing business. The land in which they planted themselves is a pleasant swell, but it was covered by the primeval forests, and for years they made but little account of it. Small clearings were made, principally for humble dwellings and the planting of beans, and a little later corn and pumpkins. In 1631, eight years after the first operations, there were but three dwellings, and the number of people might have been fifteen or twenty; but in that year several families came over and joined them. Fishing was still the principal business, but some gave attention to agriculture. Forests were cut down, the woodman's axe and falling trees started the wild beasts, and they gave indications of retreating before civilization. The desert began to bud and blossom as the rose.

With these last settlers came the first minister of the place and of the State. His name was William Leveridge. He was educated at college in England, and was an able and pious man; but he continued less than two years. It was during his ministry that a meeting-house was erected, the first in the State, on Dover Neck. The spot is pointed out and we have stood on it. A description of this house would be interesting; probably it was built of logs and its dimensions small. The people were called together on Sabbath days by the beating of a drum.

The preachers who followed Leveridge were George Bundett, Hansend Knolbys and Thomas Larkham. The first and last named were detected in pernicious conduct, and religious affairs wore a gloomy appearance. The church was formed in 1638, while Knolbys was preacher, and is the oldest in the State, except that at Hampton.

The next minister was Daniel Maud, in 1642. Under his good ministry, in 1653, the first meeting house gave place to a new one, 40 feet by 26, and posts 16 feet. Fourteen years later, in 1667, for fear of the Indians the meeting house was surrounded by a fortification of earthworks, with logs on the top. There were projections at opposite corners. The remains of this fortification were visible when we there a few years ago, and probably are now.

Dover Neck was the seat of business for more than three-quarters of a century, but the trade having changed to the centre at the falls, the next meeting house was built near the south part of Dover Village, in 1714. The Quakers came to Dover in 1662, built a meeting house at the Neck in 1700, and their present large house in 1770.

The first census of Dover, in 1767, showed a population of 1614; in 1870 it was 9012. It is the fourth town in the State as to population, Manchester, Nashua and Portsmouth being greater.

—An Illinois minister reproved a party of lads who were playing cards in church by some timely remarks regarding the last trump.

Morning Chronicle.

"JOHN."—There is one of the best female seminaries here in the State. I visited it. The boss schoolmaster showed me round, and the the sweetest lot of lasses I ever saw were these lasses. They beat lasses candy. It was like looking at a big patch of ripe strawberries, all of 'em sweet, but here and there one of 'em a little bigger than the rest, and somehow I liked the biggest ones best. I told the boss I didn't think this could be a good school.

Says he, "Why?"

Said I, "There are too many misses here for correct lessons."

Then he called up a lovely girl in green merino, with a yellow silk string round her neck, and she stepped up to a nice clean black board and took a piece of chalk and daubed it all up. Then the boss exclaimed, "What do you think of that?"

I told him that you fool could make white marks on to black board with a piece of chalk. "Give her a piece of charcoal," says I, "and if she makes them white marks with that, then she will be smart."

Then he said it was from memory.

"No," said I, "you don't say that is from memory; what in thunder is the thing any how?" It looked like a specimen of kalsomining.

"Why, said he, "that is the map of Asia."

"Drawn by a minor," said I, "that makes it Asia Minor."

Then he asked me what I took it for, and I told him I took it for a skating pond. That ended the geography exercises, and we went to mathematics. The boss told me to give 'em asolve. I did, and I don't think they have solved it yet. I got up and I said:

"My dear young ladies, I propose to you the following problem, and I'll give you ten minutes to stick your fingers in your ears, and rock to and fro to solve it. If it takes one hundred years for a hard shell clam to hop one mile on one foot, avoirdupois measure, how long will it take a locomotive going forty miles an hour to reach its destination, apothecaries' weight?"

They couldn't one of 'em do it. One wanted to know how old the clam was, another where the destination; in fact they wanted me to do the sum for 'em, and I got disgusted and left.

* —Mr. W. F. Rae is writing a memoir of M. Taine, for the translation of the brilliant Frenchman's "Notes upon England." I assume that not very much will be said in this sk-tch of M. Taine's experience at Oxford,—his lectures to the members of the university having failed to excite the interest they deserved. When stopping at one of the colleges lately, I was told a good story of M. Taine, which is literally true and which has never appeared in print. Max Muller went into the dining room of an hotel in Oxford and there saw Taine sitting with a dish of roast beef and vast quantities of buttered toast. The learned German was surprised at the combination and at the huge quantity of the toast. "Is that a French dish?" he asked. "No," said Taine, but they keep on bringing it to me in spite of all I can say to the contrary." "What did you ask for?" observed his friend. "Why," replied Taine, "I keep telling them to bring 'pollar-tos,' and each time they bring me a fresh dish of toast!" Mr. Taine's pronunciation of "potatoes" was so much like "buttered toast" that the astonished waiter could not be blamed.

—The Washington Capital says that while the narrator of the story was seated in the gallery of the Senate looking down on the "assembled wisdom," a page entered and gave to Hon. Roscoe Conkling, Senator from New York, a square-enveloped letter that spoke the valentine at once. The beholder borrowed an opera-glass from a lady and brought it to bear on the Senator and his missive, and saw the look of astonishment as Roscoe opened the letter with his Senatorial air, which always seems as if he were unfolding somebody's death warrant where deaths are common. This look broke out about his chin and worked gradually up his intellectual face until it covered the entire expanse, lingered for a second, and seemed to disappear in that region where the one lock, like some promontory, wanders out into a sea of brain. The look was more like that of a disgusted owl caught out in daylight by a jay.

GUEST.—'How comes this dead fly in my soup?' Waiter—'In fact, sir, I have no positive idea how the poor thing came to its death. Perhaps it had not taken any food for a long time, dashed upon the soup, ate so much of it, contracted an inflammation of the stomach that brought on death. The fly must have a very weak constitution, for when I served the soup he was dancing merrily on the surface. Perhaps—and the idea presents itself only at this moment—it endeavored to swallow too large a piece of vegetable; this remaining in his throat, caused a choking in the windpipe. This is the only reason I could give for the death of the insect.'

A MADAGASCAR STATESMAN.—A venerable Madgascar Chief has made a wonderful discovery. "What," he has asked his countrymen, "do the Vagah (Europeans) want of india-rubber? Why, to make big ships! When they have get plenty they will make great india-rubber ships, and come to Madagascar to take it, and when our soldiers at Tamatave fire guns at them, the balls will strike the rubber ships, and rebound and kill our own men. We are fools to sell them the rubber; and this, I say to you all, don't do it."

—An aristocratic ladies' club has been established, with club-house and all complete, in London.

CURE FOR
FEMALE WEAKNESS.
The Proprietor of this valuable Medicine, while suffering from loss of health some twenty years ago, received an Indian recipe, from which she prepared some for her own use, which resulted in a cure. Many of her friends have used it with equally gratifying success, and have urged her to introduce it to the public. She has consented for the relief of suffering humanity to do so, and feels confident it will prove one of the richest blessings to the sex. This is an internal remedy—entirely vegetable—will not injure the most delicate constitution, but is congenial to nature, supported by the best medical testimony, and is entirely vegetable. The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price—and many of those are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert curiously the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country, and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

AYER'S
SARSAPARILLA,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cures of the complaints with which we are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which, when aroused by disease, will settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

THE DETECTIVE IN THE GRAND JURY ROOM.—The detective officer shines brilliantly before the Grand Jury. There was now and then a man of this profession who was quiet and unpretending, but he formed an exception to the rule. The detective had generally done wonderful things in the discovery of crimes already committed, or in the prevention of crimes contemplated or progressing. Some detectives told their stories with admirable directness, while others were evidently desirous of giving condensed histories of their professional careers. "Did you arrest John Jones?" asks the foreman when a detective is called in. "Yes, sir," is the reply. "Why did you arrest him?" "Because I heard he had robbed Brown's store." "Did you find anything in his possession?" "Yes, sir." "What did you find?" "The articles named in the complaint." "That will do, officer; you can go;" and the officer bows and departs.

This is all that the jury wants to know from the officer in regard to the performance of John Jones, who is charged on complaint of Brown with burglary in the first degree. But the probabilities are two to one that when the foreman asks: "Did you arrest John Jones?" the officer will say: "I was walking along Broadway and saw Brown, who looked as if he had been robbed; I went to his store, and saw the mark of a chisel near the lock, and asked Brown if he had lost anything; Brown told me he had, but did not know who had robbed him; I looked at the chisel mark, and thought it was Jones's work; then I went down Canal-street, and saw Jones standing talking with two men, one of whom I remembered seeing seven years ago at the California State Prison, when I took the great stage robber Smith up there for robbing the Petaluma mail, and frightening a lady so that she died next week, and left two girls, three boys, and one husband; Jones looked so innocent that I knew he was guilty, and so I followed him all the afternoon, and arrested him when I saw him go into a house on the Bowery; I searched the house, and found Brown's goods concealed where it was not likely anybody could find them; and there was a lot of other goods that I recognized as coming from a store on Broadway that was robbed six weeks before."

And so he goes on, in a way calculated to impress his hearers with the belief that he is man of genius and perfectly at home among thieves. He knows all the movements of the gentry that one does not like to be intimate with, and when he finishes his narrative, you contemplate him (to use the language of a certain celebrated orator about another) as the East Indian contemplates his favorite idol; you know he is ugly, but you feel that he is great. The story of a detective will frequently convey the idea that the movements and actions of professional thieves can be studied, like those of the robin or the beaver, and I have sometimes thought that the burglar and pickpocket should occupy places in natural history along with the birds, beasts, and reptiles that inhabit the earth and make things lively.

One officer, who was a witness in several cases, was a favorite with the jury, for the reason that he always gave his testimony in the clearest and most direct manner. I doubt if he used a dozen superfluous words in any instance, and I could almost say that he did not use a dozen of them altogether. His statements were short, sharp, and decisive, and it is my impression that he is more efficient in the service than some of his professional brethren who would occupy fifteen minutes to tell a story that he could tell in sixty seconds, and have time to spare.—Col. T. W. Knox, in Scribner's Magazine.

WALTZING.—I have done a good deal of looking on while waltzing was in progress. I have noted three varieties of waltzers: 1, Those to whom the business is a hard and painful necessity, to which they are preordained and commanded. About nineteen out of twenty of the waltzing couples I have seen served their generation in this variety of service—sad, serious and sorry, but brave. 2, There are those to whom the dance is a fine art, who enter upon it as artists, glad to carry out perfectly a system of invention which, because it is existing in society, it is well for them to sustain absolutely well. These people do not have the agonizing look of the first class; they are pleased with themselves, which is something, and are worth study, as illustrating one more form of harmony cast in action. The third variety—mostly Germans by nationality—are people who are thoroughly happy, unconscious and at ease. They dance as the thistle down floats, which we boys used to call a zephyr. When you see their unconsciousness and really childish simplicity in the matter, it is hard to frown at waltzing, or to find any wrong in it.—E. E. Hale in Old and New.

—Mr. John M. Hill has been re-elected Chief Engineer of the Fire Department of Concord, N. H. He is capable in everything he either undertakes or has assigned him as a duty.—Boston Times.

That's a fact.

FACES ON THE WALL.

BY HARRIET BEECHER STOWE.

AUTHOR OF "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN," "MY WIFE AND I," ETC.

Once there was a very good little girl, who, by reason of her goodness knew where to find strawberries in the winter. In the same way less perfect people, blessed by the generous fairies of memory and imagination, may sit, as I do now, in the midst of falling leaves and whistling winds, and call back the green grasses and the summer sun. I see yonder in the glen, the dwelling of our house, the gold g'eam in her brown hair, a chain of daisies in her hand, and in her eyes the roguish meditation of a kitten, weary for an instant only of its play, and thinking slyly of another spring. Thrown back upon the velvet grass, she is not resting, only pausing from her bright glances to the tips of her tiny fingers she is wide awake.

But now the merry play is over, and our pet ness ties yonder on t o a soft cushion, tired at last in earnest. Slowly the lids fall, and the lingering smile dies out; but the flush in cheek and lip remains, like the glow after sunset. The gathered buttercups and daisies are loosely hold by the fair little hand; no shadows, even of dream-land, disturb the sweet brow's perfect peace. She is fast asleep.

In other words, two chromos hang upon the wall, bewitching child-heads, in which every mother sees something of her own dear ones, never grown old, and never lost to her, however time or death may have dealt with them.

Nothing pleases more at first sight or gives pleasure longer than poetical pictures of children. "The little child" whom Jesus sets in the midst of every family is a joy that grows not old and fades not.

"Age cannot wither, custom cannot stale
Its infinite variety."

For this reason a happy picture of a child brings an enjoyment more lasting than any other, because it is a subject of which no one ever tires.

But these pictures, besides their constant charm for grown folks, are such as children can understand and love. Our little "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," would give many a pleasant hour of companionable amusement and intercourse to the little people akin to them in age. The pictures that children's eyes rest on as they are dropping off to sleep, or as they awake in the morning, seem to them like living friends. All sorts of childish dreams and fancies make of the pictured face a real companion. Not only in the parlor and sitting-room would they be an attractive and fitting embellishment, but they are a charming pair for the adornment of a nursery.

Undoubtedly these two pictures are portraits. There is a realistic faithfulness and truth about them that forbids the idea of their being fancy heads. They will remind many parents of little ones either here or in heaven. Dickens says of his portraiture of little Nell that he has had letters from the farthest region of the earth speaking of children who resembled her—so dear, and so early taken! He who paints one child well, paints thousands, and speaks to the tenderest feelings of innumerable hearts.

Of course there is a pleasure in possessing an original painting; but when the question lies between an original at five hundred dollars and a chromo which can scarcely be distinguished from it, at ten dollars—particularly when one has not the five hundred to spare—the choice is not very difficult. As to these two exquisite chromos, only a critical examination can distinguish between the copies and the originals, which sold for many hundreds—which is certainly more than can be said of the best copies of most pictures painted by the best artists.

Blessings upon the chromo-lithography, by which the successful painting of a master can be reproduced indefinitely, and can enter thousands of homes with its educating, quickening, reforming influences!

It is not alone into the dwellings of the great and wealthy that we follow this pretty pair with anticipations of delight. We see them in the cottages of the poor, in the log cabin of the barkwoodsman, brightening the toil of the hard-worked wife and mother, and receiving the almost adoring wonder of children who have never seen pictures before.

God bless the darlings—send the little comforters fast and far!

The charming pair of oil chromos, "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," of whose real beauty and attractiveness Mrs. Stowe's graceful sketch can give but an imperfect idea—so pleasing are they to all who love art or children—have always sold in the picture stores for $10, and the original publisher has never been able to supply the great demand for them even at that price. And yet, although thousands of them have been sold in America at that high rate, they are now within the reach of all, for they are to every subscriber to THE CHRISTIAN UNION, an unsectarian, literary, religious and domestic weekly newspaper, edited by HENRY WARD BEECHER.

The pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished to Mr. Beecher's publishers at a rate entirely exceptional. The subjects are LIFE-SIZE.

As to the CHRISTIAN UNION, the great success of that paper has been a marvel in the history of journalism, and the scholarly and critical New York Nation calls it "not only the ablest and best, but also the most popular of American religious periodicals."

This paper, hereafter will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, a decided advantage possessed by no other religious weekly published. It contains contributions from eminent writers of all denominations, and has matter of interest for every member of the household, young and old. For the year 1872, Mrs. HARRIET BEECHER STOWE will write exclusively for the CHRISTIAN UNION.

It has something for every member of the household—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, ALL find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles, discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects; much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems, Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones, one of the chief attractions being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

The terms of subscription to this paper are: For one year ONLY $3.00. This will entitle the subscriber to the paper and to the above pair of beautiful Oil Chromos, THE CHRISTIAN UNION, Illustrated Holiday Number, (28 p. p.) will be sent FREE to all who now subscribe for the year 1872.

Send money in postal orders, drafts, or registered letters direct to the Publishers.

SPECIMEN COPIES of the paper will be mailed FREE of postage to any address on receipt of six cents by J. B. Ford & Co., Publishers, 27 Park Place, New York. For full particulars, See advertisement in the next column, headed "Why?"

WHY?

What is the reason that the Literary, Religious, and Domestic Weekly, started two years ago, namely,

THE CHRISTIAN UNION,

should have so suddenly achieved a success that makes all newspaper men wonder?

Reasons Why!

1st. HENRY WARD BEECHER is its Editor, of whom the Chicago Interior said "Probably no man on this continent sways so many minds, or is doing so much to shape religious thought for the next half century." His vigorous pen in Editorials and Star Papers, and Mr. Ellinwood's famed verbatim reports of his helpful Lecture-Room Talk in Plymouth Church, are an attraction to thousands of readers, who always want to know what he thinks on religious themes and the topics of the times. He is also assisted by an able editorial staff.

2d. IT IS UNSECTARIAN in Religion, Independent in Political Discussion, and devoted to Morals, Reform, Home and Foreign News—both of Church matters and the world at large, Literature, Science, Art, Music, Agriculture, Trade, Finance, etc., etc., with contributions from eminent writers of all denominations—in all parts of the country.

3d. IT HAS SOMETHING FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE HOUSEHOLD—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, all find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects, much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones; one of its chief attraction being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

4th. IT ADMITS NO Medical or other possibly objectionable advertisements nor anything to offend the purest and most fastidious, and is therefore a favorite family paper.

5th. ITS FORM TWENTY-FOUR PAGES. Large Quarto, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, is so convenient for reading, binding, and preservation as to be a great special merit in its favor, apart from its superior literary attraction.

6th. A superb WORK OF ART IS GIVEN AWAY TO EVERY SUBSCRIBER AND THE SUBSCRIPTION PRICE IS

Only Three Dollars per Year.

SPECIAL Attractions for 1872!

GIVEN AWAY!

1. TWO CHARMING AND POPULAR WORKS OF ART.

"WIDE AWAKE & FAST ASLEEP."

Two Exquisite French Oil Chromos, the subjects of which are Life Size, and cannot fail to please all who love art or children,

Are GIVEN AWAY to every subscriber for 1872, whether it be a New Subscription or a Renewal! These Chromos are no cheap colored prints, but are splendid copies of Oil Paintings, by an eminent English artist, fully equal for their size (13x19½) to any chromo ever published. The subjects are life size. The pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished at a rate entirely exceptional. So that, although thousands of them have been sold in America at $10, and still are and will be sold at that price by the picture trade generally, they can be given to subscribers.

A MOSAIC.

WHAT THE PRESS SAYS:

Two very good chromos are "Wide Awake" and "Fast Asleep," [1] which have few rivals in the market for attractiveness [2]—fresh, sweet and blooming child-face [3] executed with true French skill [4]. We have rarely seen anything prettier than the two pictures, which, [5] both in color and sentiment are really beautiful [6]—worthy of a place in costly homes [7]. Unlike nine pictures out of ten that cost a good deal more, one can look at them day after day and not tire of them [8]. We have often stopped amid the bustle of Broadway to look at them, and never without feeling happier and better [7]. They cannot fail to please all who love art or children [8].

MANHOOD

IN THE

Young and Rising Generation.

The vegetable powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show their baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body, too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwardly upon themselves.

If the patient be a female the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it is fed on. The energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain. The parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

TRY HELMBOLD'S

EXTRACT BUCHU

For Weakness Arising from Excesses or Early Indiscretion,

attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such Patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for fear of themselves; no repose of matter, no earnestness, no speculation, but a hurried transition from one question to another.

THESE SYMPTOMS, IF ALLOWED TO GO ON—WHICH THIS MEDICINE INVARIABLY REMOVES — SOON FOLLOW LOSS OF POWER, FATUITY AND EPILEPTIC FITS, IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients. Reason has for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths of Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibitions appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute; neither mirth nor grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.

"With woful measures wan despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguile."

While we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences.

There is no toxic like it. It is an anchor of hope to the physician and patient. This is the testimony of all who have used or prescribed it.

FRIDAY, MARCH 1, 1872.

Railroads and Public Lands.

One of the loudest war cries of the New Hampshire copperheads in the present campaign is "No more land grants to Railroads," and the copperhead press is not lacking in spread-eagle appeals to the voters of this State to elect the copperhead ticket and thus administer a deserved rebuke to the party which they pretend has basely betrayed its trust in giving the public lands to aid in the construction of railroads. The Concord People publishes the following, with abundance of italics and capital letters to "mark the points," in its last issue:—

Remember that while the platform of the New Hampshire Radical Convention professes opposition to land grabbing, the Radical Senate, which is under the absolute control of Grant's henchmen, Morton and Conkling, has just voted voted away a million acres of the public lands for the ben-fit of a railroad corporation! A vote for Straw is a vote to endorse this swindle.

Without either defending or denouncing land grants to railroads, we may remark that copperhead indignation against such grants is a little misplaced when it is directed solely against the Republican party; for the largest land grant ever made by Congress, that to the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, was engineered through the House of Representatives by a Democrat, Mr. Eldridge of Wisconsin, then (as now) an acknowledged leader of his party in the northwest! And on Wednesday, Feb. 28, during the discussion in the House on the Senate bill extending the time for completing a railroad from Lake St. Croix to Lake Superior, which bill was opposed as "making virtually a new grant of two million acres of the public lands, the old grant having expired two or three years ago,"—Mr. Beck of Kentucky, one of the ablest Democratic members and leaders of the House, advocated the bill and stated that in common with all the democrats of the House but six, he had voted on a similar bill some sessions ago, to extend the time of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company! And this bills also, is under the able management of the Democratic "engineer" and leader, Chas. A. Eldridge of Wisconsin. We may use the People's statement, slightly modified, and say "a vote for Weston is a vote to endorse this swindle"—if swindle it is—and a vote for Hon. E. A. Straw is a vote to endorse the devoting of the public lands to the advancement of education in all the States instead of the building of railroads in a few of them.

DEMOCRATIC "PRINCIPLES" IN 1866. The Bedford (Penn.) Gazette, one of the leading organs of the Democratic party in Pennsylvania in 1866, published the following eulogy on Wilkes Booth in September of that year:

A meeting of the true and tried Democracy was held in the Court house in Bedford, on the evening of Saturday, Sept. 22, 1866. That firm and reliable Democrat, Col. Joseph W. Tate, was unanimously chosen President of the meeting. After several able and eloquent addresses had been delivered, on motion of Hon. Benjamin F. Myers, editor of the Bedford Gazette, and present Democratic candidate for Senator in that District, Col. Tate was called upon to address the meeting. The Colonel responded in his usual able and eloquent manner. After discussing the issues of the day, the Colonel eloquently exclaimed:

"I believe that Providence had a hand in the removal of Abraham Lincoln. I believe that the name of J. Wilkes Booth will live; that he laid down his life for his county, like Winkelreid and her William Tell; Scotland had her Robert Bruce, and America her Booth. The time is coming when there will be a monument erected to Booth higher than the spire of Lincoln, who sleeps beneath the sod of Illinois."

The "principles" of the Democratic party are not sectional, and never can change, being "founded on the eternal principles of justice and right;" we wonder if Sinclair & Co. are now as ready to canonize Wilkes Booth as they were to shout "revolution!" when the proposition was made to allow the men who were imperilling their lives for their country to have a voice in its councils?

THE JUBILEE.— Among the applicants for a place in the great jubilee chorus is the Philharmonic society of Fort Scott, Kansas. Out of the whole number of societies thus far reported 91 belong to Massachusetts, 17 to New Hampshire, 8 to Maine, 5 to Vermont, 5 to Connecticut, 3 to New York, and 1 each to New Brunswick, Illinois, California and Maryland. One of the societies on the Cape sends word by its secretary that it can "whale any chorus you can send us within thirty minutes, either from Handel, Haydn or most of the oratories, with a few exceptions."

Political.

Arkansas journalism is peculiar. The Fort Smith Patriot nails its colors to the mast in this way: "For President of the United States, U. S. Grant. For Governor of Arkansas, not Jo Brooks, by a —— sight."

The House committee on civil service reform will soon take up the constitutional amendment proposed early in the session by Mr. McCrary of Iowa, authorizing Congress to enact laws by which postmasters and other minor and local officers may be elected by the people. The idea has been favorably received by members of the House, and the resolution, perhaps modified and enlarged, is quite likely to be favorably acted upon by the committee.

The election committee of the Senate have reported adversely upon giving a seat in the Senate to Mr. Abbott of North Carolina. If the report is sustained, Ransom's claim to the seat will be contested on the ground that his election did not occur at the time appointed by law.

The Democrats of Kentucky have evidently not much idea of proportional representation. The Republican vote in that State last autumn was over 40 per cent. of the entire number. The congressional apportionment proposed gives the Republicans one district only out of eleven.

State News.

Mr. Thomas J. Rider, who was killed by being caught by a belt and carried over a shaft in the Swampscot Machine Co.'s works at South Newmarket on Tuesday, Feb. 27, was a man of excellent character and belonged in Thomaston, Me. After being carried over the shaft he fell a distance of twenty feet to the floor, and lived but about three hours after.

The jury in the case of the State against Sanborn, who was charged with the forgery of the name of one Hights, of Portland, Me., on a note of $1000 in favor of George F. Nutter of Farmington, come into court Feb. 28 with a verdict of not guilty. He is still under bonds of $6000, on three other indictments.

THE ANNUAL MEETING of the Maine Central Railroad Company was held in Waterville, Me., Feb. 28. The attendance was very large, but the proceedings were all harmonious. The leases of the Belfast and Moosehead Lake Railroad and of the Androscoggin Railroad, with the assigned lease of the Leeds and Farmington road, were ratified. The recent act of the Maine legislature authorizing the Maine Central to make a consolidated loan by mortgage of its entire owned and leased line was accepted, and the directors were authorized to issue such bonds of the company to an amount sufficient to cover the entire indebtedness of the company,—thus converting all its debts into a debt of one class. The reelection of the old board of directors by a unanimous vote completed the business of the meeting.

THE FRENCH ARMS BUSINESS.—Remington & Sons publish a card in the New York Times, pronouncing the articles and documents regarding the French arms business published in La France newspaper at the investigation of Mr. Place, the late French consul-general, and reprinted in American papers, as untrue in every particular and in their whole scope and meaning.

THE JAPANESE EMBASSY having expressed a desire to meet the merchants, manufacturers and business men of Boston, the executive committee of the board of trade has taken the matter in hand, and is now making arrangements to have a banquet upon a scale befitting the high character of the embassy and the hospitality of Boston.

AN ACCOMPLISHED WHALE.—London papers relate curious stories of the blunders made by Oxford under-graduates in the Scripture examination which they have to pass before taking their degrees. It is told of one that when asked who was the first King of Israel, he was so fortunate as to stumble upon the name of Saul. He saw that he had hit the mark, and wishing to show the examiners how intimate his knowledge of the Scripture was, he added confidently "Saul—also called Paul." Another was called upon to mention "the two instances recorded in Scripture of the lower animals speaking." The under-graduate thought for a moment, and replied, "Balaam's ass." "This is one case, sir. What is the other?" Under-graduate paused in earnest thought. At last a gleam of recollection lit up his face as he replied: "The Whale! The whale said unto Jonah, 'Almost thou persuaded me to be a Christian!'"

—There are now in the State of Alabama six cotton factories. Two are a short distance north of Florence, running 5000 spindles each; the Bell factory at Huntsville, 4000 spindles; two at Prattville, 2000 and 8000 spindles; one at Tuscaloosa of 600, and the Tallahassee factory of 18,500. The factories named consume 20,000 bales of cotton annually.

CHIVALRY.—Geo. Webb was killed and James Aid and David Hamilton were wounded on Saturday, Feb. 24, in an affray at Salem Church, five miles from Independence, Mo. A bitter family feud existed between the Webb and Aid families.

John Foley was killed by two brothers named Wilkins, in a fight at Hurdtown, N. J., on Sunday, Feb. 25, and one of the Wilkins brothers is dying. The other Wilkins escaped. Eight roughs in New York, who nearly murdered Officer Tully on Sunday, are held for trial. One of them named Clemens is heir to fifty thousand dollars' worth of real estate, but his mother declined to go bail for him. The officer is in a dangerous condition. The wife of George Winant, a sick depot-master at Hempstead, L. I., beat him with a beefsteak and a stick so brutally on Sunday, that he died on Tuesday. The virago has been arrested.

William Walsh has been arrested for robbing Mrs. Cunningham's house in Brooklyn, N. Y., on Tuesday night, Feb. 27; then stabbing and beating her and fatally wounding her with two shots from a revolver. Richard D. Cook, door-keeper of Military Hall on the Bowery, New York, shot John Donahue, a drunken rough, while assaulting him on Tuesday night. John M. Boyd, a shoe manufacturer, was brutally beaten in New York on Tuesday evening by striking Crispins, they mistaking him for a non-society man. He is in a dangerous condition.

—A New Orleans paper says that a young widow in that city, who writes well, "is training herself for an editor." Who is the editor she is training for?

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. Price $2 a year; single copies 5 cents,—in wrappers for mailing, if desired. Six copies for $10 per year, to Clubs—per mail or city carrier.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Many persons suffer with sick headache and nervous headache, usually produced by costiveness, indigestion, &c. Such persons will find relief if not cure, by keeping the bowels open with small doses of Parsons' Purgative Pills.

Have you inflammatory sore throat, stiff joints, or lameness from any cause whatever? Have you rheumatic or other pains in any part of the body? If so, use Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. Our word for it, it is the best pain killer in this country.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—We stand aghast at the thousands hourly hurried to a premature grave, victims of having neglected the first symptoms of disease. Whether the complaint originates in the body, or be introduced accidentally through the skin—fatal results may be warded off by a timely recourse to one or both of these medicinces. 25 cents per box or pot. 183.

OLD PREJUDICES ARE DYING OUT.—New facts are killing them. The idea that invalids weakened by disease can be relieved by prostrating them with destructive drugs, is no longer entertained except by quacks and fools. Ever since the introduction of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS it has been obvious that their regulating and invigorating properties are all-sufficient for the cure of chronic indigestion, rheumatism, constipation, diarrhœa, nervous affections, and malarious fevers, and they are now the standard remedy for these complaints in every section of the Union.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Aggravated Indigestion.

Persons who are predisposed to dyspepsia, find their sufferings from this cause greatly aggravated by damp weather, easterly winds, and sudden changes from a mild to a chilling atmosphere. In the spring, therefore, the pangs of indigestion are seriously augmented by the atmospheric variations peculiar to the season, and it is incumbent upon all who desire to pass through the ordeal of its cold nights and insalubrious gales with easy stomachs, and untormented by the indescribable torments which accompany dyspepsia, to tone and strengthen the digestive organs with a healthful and effective vegetable invigorant; and no one at all familiar with the medical record of the age, can question for one moment that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is the Tonic best adapted to this purpose.

The credentials of the Great Restorative are unequalled in number and character by those of any other advertised medicine in the world. If ever there was a preparation to rank as a National Remedy, this wonderful specific has a fair claim to the title. For a period of twenty years it has literally been the Champion Tonic and Alterative on this side of the Atlantic. In popularity it has never been approached by any of its would-be competitors, and its annual sales are so far in advance of those of any other medicine of its class, that comparisons would be ridiculous. One of two conclusions is inevitable. Either the American people are deficient in common sense, and incapable of rational discrimination, or Hostetter's Bitters is the best preventive remedy for indigestion, fever and ague, bilious remittent fever, constipation, rheumatism, nervous complaints, and all maladies of an epidemic or endemic type. The reader will judge for himself which of the two conclusions is most consistent with fact and reason.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes it to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER's consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the glow and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

SLATE COATING,

Patented August, 1871.

In offering this article to the public, we supply a want which has long been felt. It is especially adapted to

Shingle and Tin Roofs. (Old or New.)

IT IS FIRE & WATER-PROOF AND PREVENTS DECAY.

Not affected by Heat or Cold; is durable and beautiful, with colors permanently set, varying from a dark blue slate color to purple, and even higher shades, as fancy dictates. It will not wash or scale, and is Extremely Cheap.

Will stop and prevent Leaks; superior to any cement now in use. New Shingles covered with this article warranted to last fifty years and for a Slate Coating over Shingles (Old or New) it has been found unequalled. It is also an excellent coating for School Black-Boards.

☞ By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid-up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent Annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income of - - - - - - $173.30
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 647.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,

Consulting Actuary.

☞ Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. Documents, giving full particulars of the rules of the Company with regard to the issue of the above Savings Fund policy, extended tables of rates, and other interesting matter, may be obtained by application to the

The Boston "Globe," the first issue of which will appear on Monday, March 4th, will be for sale by Newman & Co. "Newman" is one of our established institutions, and has distributed papers among our citizens from a time in the ages past beyond which the memory of man (unless he is a very old man) runneth not back; apparently he isn't a day older now than he was twenty years ago, and he still keeps squarely up with the times in promptly supplying his patrons with the latest news, as published in all the leading papers of the day.

Capt. Heman Eldredge, who has been very ill at his home in Massachusetts, is reported recovering.

The Martyn concert at Exeter on the evening of the 28th ult. was an occasion of enjoyment to the audience.

"Old Probabilities" predicts snow from the northeast.

A gentleman of Portsmouth hired a special train to carry him to Boston on business, a few days since, for the sum of $75. When the train reached Newburyport a clergyman from some other city got on the train, as did several other people, all supposing it to be a regular train. The gentleman who hired the train made no comments on the matter, but very quietly allowed all who wished, to ride with him, but still, being on "his own plantation," so to speak, he lit a cigar and commenced smoking. There were several ladies in the car, with some of whom our smoker was acquainted, and of whom he asked permission to "fume" a little. The minister was highly incensed thereat and after reading a long homily on the effects of tobacco, branched off on the impoliteness to his "feller men and wimming" in thus smoking in a public conveyance. The smoker said nothing, but kept a most aggravating silence, when the minister became enraged and started for the depot-master, Mr. Goodwin, who coming in, told the occupants of the car that it had been hired by the gentleman who was using the weed, and looking on the scene with not a little enjoyment. If the gentleman wished to smoke, think, chew or stand on his his head the whole journey he could do so, and if the people in the car did not like his style they could wait for the regular train which was coming on behind. The depot-master then retired amid not a few expressions of surprise and the entire discomfiture of the officious minister. The clergyman had the good sense to apologize for his seeming obtrusion, the amende honorable being pleasantly accepted.—Boston Traveller.

A FARCE.—"Barleigh," of the Boston Journal, writes as follows:—

We have had the tragic side of the Stokes-Fisk tragedy. We have had the romantic side. The present phase of the case is decidedly comic. Its parallel is that of the celebrated Western case, in which the Judge turned the plaintiff and defendant out of court, and saddled the cost on to the constable. The Grand Jury found an indictment against Stokes for shooting Col. Fisk. Then a petit jury was summoned to try the Grand Jury for finding the indictment. That trial is now going on, and when it will end no prophet has arisen to inform us. The Judges who are trying this important matter are themselves to be put on trial, and are threatened with impeachment. Their own organ, the World, in a triple headed leader, advises the Judges to resign at once, and not stand on the order of their going. Nothing will be left but the verdict of the coroner's inquest. But then the coroner is threatened with trial and impeachment for illegally constituting his jury. Mr. Field, who smuggled himself into the jury; who acted as counsel for Fisk; who handed in the verdict carefully drawn before the jury had held any consultation; has already been put on the stand, and scorchingly examined. The sheltering arm of the District Attorney alone saved him, for that time.

Served 'em right. If these New York judges and jurors have not yet learned that New York laws are for the protection of criminals against honest men, it is time they were taught something.

EXPLOSION OF A MINCE PIE.—The Shakopee (Minn.) Mirror of the 28th ult. says: "On Monday last, Dr. Overholt buried his eldest child, a boy of about three years. We learn that the child's death was caused by the bursting of a mince pie, which its mother was conveying from the oven. The pie being surcharged with steam—having no vent in the crust—exploded, throwing a considerable quantity of the scalding contents about the little unfortunate's face and neck, burning it so badly as to throw it into convulsions, resulting in death."

—Of the United States army officers who were present at the evacuation of Fort Sumpter five are dead,—namely, General Anderson, died at Nice, and Lieutenants Talbott, Schneider, Meade and Hall; and the five living are General J. C. Davis, now colonel of the twenty-third infantry; General Crawford, colonel of the second infantry; General Doubleday, colonel of the twenty-fifth infantry (colored); General J. G. Foster, lieutenant-colonel of engineers; and General Truman, major of artillery.

NOVEL FEATURES IN LIFE ASSURANCE.—The "Tontine Savings Fund Policy" is a novelty in the business of life assurance well worthy of the careful attention of all classes of the public. Its distinctive features are easily understood, capable of the simplest demonstration and entitled to command the confidence and respect of the most skeptical.

One of the chief advantages of this method is its small cost, whereby for the same premium required on ordinary whole life assurances, the principal benefits of an endowment policy are secured. Another is that a grace of thirty days is allowed upon all payments of premium, thus favoring the assured by an extension when desired, and decreasing the liability to lapse.

But the most prominent and attractive feature of this plan is the rapid and certain accumulation of "profits" upon policies on selected lives in the three fixed classes of the scheme. A word of explanation will suffice to make this fully understood. The classes are named respectively "ten-year class," "fifteen-year-class," and "twenty-year class," as selected by the applicant, who stipulates that during the period of ten, fifteen or twenty years, the dividends on his policy shall accumulate, to be, with other items of profit belonging to his class, distributed at the end of such period among the surviving policies of such class. The "profits," as to each policy, consist of dividends accumulated thereon, a proportion of all premiums on policies in its class which are allowed to lapse before the time for distribution arrives, and a like proportion of all dividends accumulated on policies terminated by death before the time for such distribution arrives; such policies being paid in full but without profits. This surplus of savings-fund, which belongs, not to the company, but to the policy-holders in the respective classes, is invested by the company to the greatest possible advantage, and distributed with its earnings among the surviving policies of each class as the time for distribution arrives, as stipulated in the contract of assurance.

Connected with the great advantages to be derived from this method of assurance, are the three distinct modes of applying the accumulated profits, viz: 1st, By a sale of the policy to the company for cash; 2d, By the purchase of a paid up policy for a larger amount than by any other plan; and 3d, By the purchase of an annuity which will pay subsequent premiums, and yield a handsome income in addition.

This new and really beautiful application of the Tontine principle of survivorship to ordinary whole-life policies, meets a want which has long been felt by insurance companies and the general public, as it entirely does away with the two greatest and most frequently urged objections to life assurance, viz: that it is more profitable to those dying early than to the long-lived, and that money invested in it cannot at any time be withdrawn without serious loss. We think few will fail, upon a fair examination of the new plan of investment, to acknowledge its simplicity, fairness and general utility, and we are confident that it will meet with the success and favor which it deserves. The fact that it is heartily and unreservedly endorsed by the eminent actuary, Mr. Sheppard Homans, and that it is being introduced by the "Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States," are sufficient in themselves to guarantee the most favorable results from its introduction. To the indefatigable officers of the "Equitable," (one of the staunchest, largest, most prosperous and best managed companies in the world,) the public are indebted for the "Tontine Savings Fund Assurance."

We refer the reader to the advertisement of the Equitable and to the agent of the Society, from whom all information, documents, tables, &c., can be procured.

Morning Chronicle.

A PLEA FOR NIGHT AIR.—But in Heaven's name what air, as Miss Nightingale says, can we breathe at night except night air? The choice lies between pure night air from without and foul night air from within; most people prefer the latter, it is true, but it is night air all the same, though they may not be aware of the fact.

Did you ever test these two kinds of air by going early in the morning into the room of a person brought up to sleep with closed windows, and immediately afterward into one where the sash has been lowered six inches from the top, and raised six from the bottom? Well, what did you find? In one, however pretty and well arranged, however healthy, neat, and well-bred its occupant, a smell of bed-clothes, of damp towels, of dust, of carpet—all slight, but all indicative of that used-up condition of the atmosphere which is so fatal to a sleeper. In the other, no better situated or furnished, an elastic feel, a perfume of freshness which made breathing pleasant. Was it not so?

Or did you ever compare your own sensations after sleeping in fresh air with those produced after sleeping in foul? How many of the failures, the mischances of life, the morning dullness which hindered this or that, the refusal of the brain to work at a critical moment, the apathy, the blindness of perception, date back to that unaired bed-room which sent us forth unrefreshed to our work, and ushered in a depressing and discouraged day.

But it is useless to contend with so deeply-rooted a prejudice. Let us go back to our exiled friend, who certainly has a day-time claim, though he be denied a nightly one, to our sufferance.

How few of us recognize, as the long winter creeps away, and, shrinking from the outward chill, we cower into fire-side corners and warm wraps, how day by day we are insensibly contenting ourselves with the same breathed-over air which, scarcely renovated since, supplied our lungs yesterday and the day before. "Open the windows, indeed," we cry; "why, it's all we can do to exist with them tightly shut!"

Yes, but, paradox as it seems, there is warmth in the very cold which an open window would admit. That is, the oxygen of the purer air, quickening the circulation and bringing the temperature of head, hands, and feet into proper balance, will of itself induce a glow which helps the fire to re-warm the room after its airing. And with the equipoise of circulation good-humor comes, and the capacity to be amused. How we lose these things—how dull we grow sitting over registers, or before anthracite-burning stoves. The winter seems to get into us—our wits stiffen and freeze; we don't laugh or enjoy, we simply endure life and with desperate longing sit waiting for the spring.—Scribner's Magazine.

"STANDING TREAT."—No American custom, a cotemporary very truly says, excites more surprise and amusement among travelling foreigners than that which is known in our drinking saloons as "treating," and which consists in the reciprocal payment, by each member of a convivial party in turn, for the "refreshments" consumed by the "crowd." The writer might have added with equal truth, that no custom more surely contributes to swell the catalogue of excessive indulgence and promote the vice of intemperance, than the senseless and arbitrary imposition of this system of reciprocal obligation in the matter of drinking at public bars or houses of entertainment. It is senseless, because there is no reason or good fellowship in its observance.

The chance meeting of one man with another in a tavern is the signal for the invitation to "take something," and so far this may be rational, since it is probable that this taking of something was a common object of both in visiting the shop. But when A, having imbibed at B's expense, holds B bound to repeat the dose on his right to demand a similar reciprocity on the part of A, and so the glasses are filled and emptied, and refilled and re-emptied again and again, in order to satisfy this supreme sensitive point of honor of the friendly rivals at the bar, the thing not only degenerates into a farce, but too frequently ends in a melancholy drama or even a tragedy.

"If there is anything more absurd than this habit of 'treating,'" continues the sensible writer before alluded to, "we are unable to put our finger upon it. Men do not 'treat' one another to car tickets because they happen to meet on the same seat. We never saw a man take out his pocket-book on encountering an acquaintance and say, 'Ah George! Delighted to see you! Do take a few postage stamps! It's my treat.' A traveller may go all over the continent of Europe, of Asia, and of Africa without seeing any man except a Yankee offer to 'treat.'"

The sooner the folly—and worse than folly—of this custom is recognized by decent people and shunned accordingly, the better it will be for the cause of true temperance in this country; for there is little doubt the abolition of "treating" in the taverns, bar-rooms and other drinking places in this country would have more practical effect in diminishing the vice of drunkenness than all the prohibitory laws that were ever, or ever will be, enacted for that purpose.

Epilepsy or Fits.
A SURE CURE for this distressing complaint is now known in Herb Decoction. Twenty years' ago received an Indian recipe, from which she prepared some for her own use, which resulted in a cure. Many of her friends have used it with equally gratifying success, and have urged her to introduce it to the public. She has consented, for the relief of suffering humanity to do so, and feels confident it will prove one of the richest blessings to her sex. This is an internal remedy—entirely vegetable—will not injure the most delicate constitution, but is compound to surmount the opposition of most medical men, regardless of consideration NOVEL SURGICAL OPERATION.—Yesterday afternoon, during the progress of a trial in the Municipal Criminal Court, a physician was placed upon the stand to explain the nature of a wound inflicted by the defendant upon the complainant. In giving his testimony he described a novel mode of extracting bullets. He said: "The bullet entered the right side, a little above the hip, and in probing the wound I discovered where the bullet lay. I was compelled to enlarge the orifice of the wound in order to introduce the forceps, and had just got that instrument on the bullet, when the wounded man, who was consid rably under the influence of liquor, struck me a powerful blow on the side of the head, which caused me to fall to the floor. He then ran away; and when I recovered my self I found my forceps in one corner of the room, and near the instrument was the bullet, which had been extracted by the force of the blow." The doctor also stated that as a surgical operation it was a complete success, but he did not wish to perform one in the manner described every day in the week.—San Francisco Call.

A NEW COMET.—A decidly new sensation is promised to us on the 12th of August next. The famous M. Plantamour, professor of astronomy at Geneva, has discovered a new comet which, it is declared, exceeds in size any similar meteor hitherto known of. By the elaborate calculations of this learned observer, the new comet is darting directly toward our globe with prodigious velocity, and will come into collision with it the 12th of August, as aforesaid. The approach of this terrific object will be heralded by an extraordinary degree of heat; and the catastrophe cannot possibly be avoided unless a deflection, not now to be prognosticated, be produced by the comet impinging on the attractive scope of some other heavenly body. We believe that this alarming prophecy corresponds with one of Dr. Cumming's more recent announcements; and, if so, science and religion—or one eccentric representative of it—will for once and unequivocally be in accord. The inhabitants of the earth will have at least one consolation, that after the Plantamour comet comes within the range of telescopic observation, and becomes visible to the naked eye, there will be a long time for them to set their houses in order and prepare for the "eternal smash" that must ensue.—N. Y. Times.

FACES ON THE WALL.

BY HARRIET BEECHER STOWE,

AUTHOR OF "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN," "MY WIFE AND I," ETC.

Once there was a very good little girl, who, by reason of her goodness knew where to find strawberries in the winter. In the same way lear perfect people, blessed by the generous fairies of memory and imagination, may sit, as I do now, in the midst of falling leaves and whistling winds, and call back the green grasses and the summer sun. I see yonder in the glen the darling of our house, the gold g'eam in her brown hair, a chain of daisies in her hand and in her eyes the roguish meditation of a kiten, weary for an instant only of its play, and thinking slyly of another spring. Thrown back upon the velvet grass, she is not resting, only pausing from her bright glances to the tips of her tiny fingers she is wide awake.

But now the merry play is over, and our pet nes tles yonder on a soft cushion, tired at last in earnest. Slowly the lids fall, and the lingering smile dies out; but the flush in cheek and lip remains like the glow after sunset. The gathered buttercups and daisies are loosely held by the fair little hand; no shadows, even of dream-land, disturb the sweet brow's perfect peace. She is fast asleep.

In other words, two chromos hung upon the wall, bewitching child-heads, in which every mother sees some blog of her own dear ones, never grown old, and never lost to her, however time or death may have dealt with them.

Nothing pleases more at first sight or gives pleasure longer than poetical pictures of children. "The little child" whom Jesus sets in the midst of every family is a joy that grows not old and fades not.

"Age cannot wither, custom cannot stale
Its infinite variety."

For this reason a happy picture of a child brings an enjoyment more lasting than any other, because it is a subject of which no one ever tires.

But these pictures, besides their constant charm for grown folks, are such as children can understand and love. Our little "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," would give many a pleasant hour of companionable amusement and intercourse to the little people akin to them in age. The pictures that children's eyes rest on as they are dropping off to sleep, or as they awake in the morning, seem to them like living friends. All sorts of childish dreams and fancies make of the pictured face a real companion. Not only in the parlor and sitting-room would they be an attractive and fitting embellishment, but they are a charming pair for the adornment of a nursery.

Undoubtedly these two pictures are portraits. There is a realistic faithfulness and truth about them that forbids the idea of their being fancy heads. They will remind many parents of little ones either here or in heaven. Dickens says of his portraiture of little Nell that he has had letters from the farthest region of the earth speaking of children who resembled her—so dear, and so early taken! He who paints one child well, paints thousands, and speaks to the tenderest feelings of innumerable hearts.

Of course there is a pleasure in possessing an original painting; but when the question lies between an original at five hundred dollars and a chromo which can scarcely be distinguished from it, at ten dollars—particularly when one has not the five hundred to spare—the choice is not very difficult. As to these two exquisite chromos, only a critical examination can distinguish between the copies and the originals, which sold for many hundreds—which is certainly more than can be said of the best copies of most pictures painted by the best artists.

Blessings upon the chromo-lithography, by which the successful painting of a master can be reproduced indefinitely and can enier thousands of homes with its educating, quickening, reforming influences!

It is not alone into the dwellings of the great and wealthy that we follow this pretty pair with anticipations of delight. We see them in the cottages of the poor, in the log cabin of the barkwoodsman, brightening the toil of the hard-worked wife and mother, and receiving the almost adoring wonder of children who have never seen pictures before.

God bless the darlings—send the little comforters fast and far!

The charming pair of oil chromos, "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," of whose real beauty and attractiveness Mrs. Stowe's graceful sketch can give but an imperfect idea—so pleasing are they to all who love art or children—have always sold in the picture stores for $10, and the original publisher has never been able to supply the great demand for them even at that price. And yet, although thousands of them have been sold in America at that high rate, they are now within the reach of all, for they are to every subscriber to THE CHRISTIAN UNION, an unsectarian, literary, religious and domestic weekly newspaper, edited by HENRY WARD BEECHER.

The pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished to Mr. Beecher's publishers at a rate entirely exceptional. The subjects are LIFE-SIZE.

As to the CHRISTIAN UNION, the great success of that paper has been a marvel in the history of journalism, and the scholarly and critical New York Nation calls it "not only the ablest and best, but also the most popular of American religious periodicals."

This paper, hereafter will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, a decided advantage possessed by no other religious weekly published. It contains contributions from eminent writers of all denominations, and has matter of interest for every member of the household, young and old. For the year 1872, Mrs. HARRIET BEECHER STOWE will write exclusively for the CHRISTIAN UNION.

It has something for every member of the household—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, all find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles, discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects; much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems, Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones, one of the chief attractions being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

The terms of subscription to this paper are: For one year ONLY $3.00. This will entitle the subscriber to the paper and to the above pair of beautiful Oil Chromos, THE CHRISTIAN UNION, Illustrated Holiday Number, (28 p. p.) will be sent FREE to all who now subscribe for the year 1872.

Send money in postal orders, drafts, or registered letters direct to the Publishers.

SPECIMEN COPIES of the paper will be mailed FREE of postage to any address on receipt of six cents by J. B. Ford & Co., Publishers, 27 Park Place, New York. For full particulars, See advertisement in the next column, headed "Why?"

WHY?

What is the reason that the Literary, Religious, and Domestic Weekly, started two years ago, namely,

THE CHRISTIAN UNION,

should have so suddenly achieved a success that makes all newspaper men wonder?

Reasons Why!

1st. HENRY WARD BEECHER is its Editor, of whom the Chicago Interior said "Probably no man on this continent sways so many minds, or is doing so much to shape religious thought for the next half century." His vigorous pen in Editorials and Star Papers, and Mr. Ellinwood's famed verbatim reports of his helpful Lecture-Room Talk in Plymouth Church, are an attraction to thousands of readers, who always want to know what he thinks on religious themes and the topics of the times. He is also assisted by an able editorial staff.

2d. It Is Unsectarian in Religion, Independent in Political Discussion, and devoted to Morals, Reform, Home and Foreign News—both of Church matters and the world at large, Literature, Science, Art, Music, Agriculture, Trade, Finance, etc., etc., with contributions from eminent writers of all denominations—in all parts of the country.

3d. IT HAS SOMETHING FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE HOUSEHOLD—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women; all find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects, much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones; one of its chief attraction being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

4th. It Admits no Medical or other possibly objectionable advertisements nor anything to offend the purest and most fastidious, and is therefore a favorite family paper.

5th. ITS FORM TWENTY-FOUR PAGES. Large Quarto, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, is so convenient for reading, binding, and preservation as to be a great special merit in its favor, apart from its superior literary attraction.

6th. A superb WORK OF ART IS GIVEN AWAY TO EVERY SUBSCRIBER AND THE SUBSCRIPTION PRICE IS

Only Three Dollars per Year.

SPECIAL

Attractions for 1872!

GIVEN AWAY!

1. TWO CHARMING AND POPULAR WORKS OF ART.

"WIDE AWAKE & FAST ASLEEP."

Two Exquisite French Oil Chromos, the subjects of which are Life Size, and cannot fail to please all who love art or children,

ARE GIVEN AWAY to every subscriber for 1872, whether it be a New Subscription or a Renewal! These Chromos are no cheap colored prints, but are splendid copies of Oil Paintings, by an eminent English artist, fully equal for their size (13½x12½) to any chromo ever published. The subjects are life size. The pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished at a rate entirely exceptional. So that, although thousands of them have been sold in America at $10, and still are and will be sold at that price by the picture trade generally, they can be given to subscribers.

A MOSAIC.

WHAT THE PRESS SAYS:

Two very good chromos are "Wide Awake" and "Fast Asleep," [1] which have few rivals in the market for attractiveness [2]—fresh, sweet and blooming child-face [3] executed with true French skill [4]. We have rarely seen anything prettier than the two pictures, which, [5] both in color and sentiment are really beautiful [6]—worthy of a place in costly homes [7]. Unlike nine pictures out of ten that cost a good deal more, one can look at them day after day and not tire of them [8]. We have often stopped amid the bustle of Broadway to look at them, and never without feeling happier and better [7]. They cannot fail to please all who love art or children [8].

[1] Independent, N. Y. [2] Evening Mail, N. Y. [3] Albany, N. Y. [4] Springfield Republican. [5] Advance, Chicago. [6] Harper's Weekly, N. Y. [7] Illustrated Christian Weekly, N. Y. [8] Christian at Work, N. Y.

A subscriber writes to the Publishers:

"The chromos far surpass in beauty and style anything that I expected. A Neighbor of mine bought the same Chromos in New York a few months ago, and paid ten dollars for them. Please accept my thanks for them."

2. Enlargement and Change of Form. After the first of January, the paper will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four large quarto pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the sides,—a decided advantage in convenience for reading possessed by no other religious weekly published.

BUCHU

[From Dispensatory of the United States.]

DIOSMA CRENATA — BUCHU LEAVES.

PROPERTIES.—Their odor is strong, diffusive and somewhat aromatic; their taste bitterish and analogous to mint.

They are given in complaints of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Urethra, Disease of the Prostrate Gland, and Retention or Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. The remedy has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections and Dropsy.

In affections peculiar to Females, the Extract Buchu is unequalled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus.

DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL AND DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.—This medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the Absorbents into healthy action, by which the Watery or Calcareous depositions and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pains and Inflammation.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given. Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostrate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick-Dust Deposit and Mucous or Milky Discharges, and for enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes, attended with the following ing symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Diseases, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, etc.

MANHOOD

IN THE

Young and Rising Generation.

The vegetable powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show their baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body, too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwardly upon themselves.

If the patient be a female the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it is fed on. The energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain. The parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

TRY HELMBOLD'S

EXTRACT BUCHU

For Weakness Arising from Excesses or Early Indiscretion,

attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such Patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for fear of themselves; no repose of matter, no earnestness, no speculation, but a hurried transition from one question to another.

THESE SYMPTOMS, IF ALLOWED TO GO ON—WHICH THIS MEDICINE INVARIABLY REMOVES — SOON FOLLOW LOSS OF POWER, FATUITY AND EPILEPTIC FITS, IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients. Reason has for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by these direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths of Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibitions appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute; neither mirth nor grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.

"With woful measures wan despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguile."

While we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences.

HELMBOLD'S

Fluid Extract of Buchu.

There is no tonic like it. It is an anchor of hope to the physician and patient. This is the testimony of all who have used or prescribed it.

Beware of counterfeits and those cheap decoctions called Buchu, most of which are prepared by self-styled doctors, from deleterious ingredients, and offered for sale at "less price" and "larger bottles," etc. They are miserable and frequently injurious. Ask for Helmbold's. Take no other.

Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

SATURDAY, MARCH 2, 1872.

The Public Debt

Was reduced TWELVE MILLION DOLLARS last month.

Democratic Desperation.

We have been aware that the Democracy have been better organized in the present campaign than ever before and that they are doing a great amount of silent work. Individual labor for the success of their candidates has been a marked plan of operations. Even with all the appliances in their possession they see their grasp on the State loosening surely and in their extremity they are adopting the most desperate means to achieve their purposes. Law books are ransacked, each voter's status canvassed in hope of blocking the way and preventing a Republican victory. The present campaign is most desperately conducted under the lead of that unscrupulous rebel-sympathizer, John G. Sinclair, who sees that a Democratic victory would result in his elevation to a seat in the U. S. Senate. For this prize, Sinclair stakes all. His busy brain furnishes schemes for his followers to carry out.

Seeing the hopelessness of his cause in case of an honest vote, the last dodge of desperation is adopted, INTIMIDATION OF VOTERS. We speak advisedly. The Democrats have no hopes of carrying the State or legislature if the Republican citizens honestly entitled to vote appear at the polls on the 12th. That they do intend to appear is evident. To prevent their so doing, trumped up charges are made to frighten all whose right of suffrage has been questioned.

Here is a case in point. John M. Davis, Esq., has represented the First Ward of this city in the legislature and been otherwise honored by his constituents. Last June he held the office of jailer, had leased his residence in the Ward for a term of years and was residing at the jailer's house on Islington Street. With the appointment of a Democratic Sheriff came an order for his removal from the house within forty-eight hours. Being unable to return to his own house and failing to obtain a house in that Ward, he moved into a house on Union Street in the Second Ward, and still resides there and will continue to reside there until he can obtain a house in the First Ward. Having notified the Selectmen that he was temporarily absent and should return to the Ward at the earliest opportunity, Mr. Davis voted there last November and intends to vote there again at the coming election, as he has a legal right to do.

The desperate Democracy with their usual low cunning attempted to intimidate Mr. Davis and other Republicans similarly situated, and secured his attendance at the Police Court, on Friday, where he was charged with illegal voting. In defence, Mr. Davis stated the case to Judge Page, who ordered Mr. Davis' immediate discharge, much to the disgust of his fellow Democrats, who hoped the Judge would stoop to their level for partizan purposes. The action of Judge Page is endorsed by sensible men of all parties.

The result of this attempt to intimidate voters is demoralizing to the Democracy, who swear roundly over the defeat of the scheme. Some of them, however, would have felt the heavy weight of the law had Judge Page's decision been otherwise, and one prominent Democrat would have been called to court for illegally voting in the Second Ward, his residence in the First Ward temporarily being in doubt while the case of Mr. Davis was not at all doubtful. Gnash your teeth, Democratic tricksters. Your well laid schemes are thwarted; your foul attempts to intimidate men who have the right to vote, are foiled; "weep, little children, weep."

A FOOLISH FELLOW, named Alfred O'Connor, a Fenian, rushed up to Queen Victoria's carriage on the 29th ult., and struck the Queen on the breast with an unloaded pistol, at the same time presenting a petition for amnesty to Fenians, exclaiming, "Sign or die!" Prince Arthur, who was seated in the carriage with the Queen, knocked the man down. O'Connor was seized and conveyed to prison. When O'Connor was questioned he said his design was to frighten the Queen into doing justice to Ireland.

ACCIDENT.—A tenement building at Frankfort, Ky., fell on Saturday. Fourteen dead bodies have been taken from the ruins.

—The French assembly has resolved to adjourn March 20.

—The Maine legislature has adjourned sine die.

Political.

A few days more only remain in which to work for a Republican victory. The reports from all sections are cheering. A full Republican vote everywhere is all that is necessary to secure an old fashioned Republican victory. Let that vote be cast. The organization in every town should be so perfect that no man who will vote the Republican ticket should fail to have the Moderator's check placed against his name on the day of election. The Democracy are making the most desperate efforts to maintain the position which they accidentally gained last year. They will all have to be met at the polls, but they can be met and out-voted if every Republican does his duty.

Gen. Sickles will speak at Exeter next Thursday evening.

Ex-Governor Harriman and Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett address the republicans of Hampton on Friday next."

Newton will not probably send a Representative to the legislature this year, as Labor Reformers hold the balance of power.

There were in Newton, in 1842, 148 ratable polls; in 1852, 164; in 1862, 183; the present year, the check list will contain the names of over 260 legal voters. Its population is about 900.

State News.

The lumber business of Derry is active.

White & Horne have purchased of Wm. H. Shepard, the tract of woodland south of Beaver Pond in Derry, known as the Ministerial Lot,—a section of land devoted 150 years ago to the support of the preached gospel,—which they propose to work up this season. The same parties have purchased of N. H. Brown a lot of about 300,000 of large timber, some of the trees scaling nearly 3,000 feet each. D. M. Emery and others are clearing the wood and timber from the almshouse farm, and H. R. Underhill is cutting out 600,000 at his mill in the village.

The M. E. Church at South Newmarket is out of debt.

An Auburn man says: I planted my beans with my corn, and from one stalk I picked one hundred and twenty pods, and from another one hundred, which averaged seven beans to the pod, making eight hundred and forty from one bean and seven hundred from the other. They were of the blue pod variety.

A petition with a long list of subscribers has been forwarded, to the Postmaster General, at Washington, praying for the establishment of a post office at Newmarket Junction.

The question is being agitated of having a new road from the Junction around by the Bayside farm-houses to Newmarket village; J. J. Robinson & Son, surveyors, ran the line the past week, and the matter will be voted upon at town meeting.

During the recent gale in the lumber region, trees were torn up by the roots and spruce trees two feet through were snapped off. There was such a constant fall of trees and limbs that it was dangerous to remain in the woods, and most of the lumbermen left.

Mr. N. P. Weeks of Woolstock has already secured over 6,000,000 feet of lumber.

The city library building at Manchester, completed last summer, cost $29,222.39. The late Oliver Dean gave the trustees of the library $5000, the income of which is to be applied to the purchase of books.

Mr. Abram Whitney of Jaffrey, while descending his cellar stairs recently, was thrown across a board, striking on his bowels, and causing internal injuries from which he died the following day. He was about sixty years of age.

The house and barn of Mr. T. C. Powers in Croydon were burned recently. Two horses belonging to G. W. Bunnington, perished in the flames. Mr. Power's loss is about $4000, on which there was no insurance, the policy having recently expired.

Hon. Henry Wilson was in Farmington last Friday, and gave $100 each to the Congregational and Freewill Baptist Sunday-school libraries. Mr. Wilson is a native of that town; and when he was a boy books were not so plenty as now. He once travelled twenty-eight miles to borrow and return one book.

WASHINGTON MATTERS.—The Senate has passed a bill to exempt cured fish, preserves, mustard, etc., from internal-revenue tax.

Senator Sumner closed the debate on the French arms resolution on the 29th ult. The preamble was tabled by a vote 40 to 1, and the resolution was adopted, 52 to 1.

The Japanese embassy will remain in Washington about a month.

Secretary Belknap testified before the House investigating committee in regard to the sale of arms to the French, on Friday.

—The New England Shoe & Leather Association have voted to call the attention of the Japanese embassy to the manufacture of boots and shoes in this country.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Many persons suffer with sick headache and nervous headache, usually produced by costiveness, indigestion, &c. Such persons will find relief if not cure, by keeping the bowels open with small doses of Parsons' Purgative Pills.

Have you inflammatory sore throat, stiff joints, or lameness from any cause whatever? Have you rheumatic or other pains in any part of the body? If so, use Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. One word for it, it is the best pain killer in this country.

"VEGETINE," says a Boston physician, "has no equal as a blood purifier. Hearing of its many wonderful cures, after all other remedies had failed, I visited the laboratory and convinced myself of its genuine merit. It is prepared from barks, roots, and herbs, each of which is highly effective, and they are compounded in such a manner as to produce astonishing results." d

OLD PREJUDICES ARE DYING OUT.—New facts are rolling in from them. The idea that invalids weakened by disease can be relieved by prostrating them with destructive drugs, is no longer entertained except by monomaniacs. Ever since the introduction of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS it has been obvious that their regulating and invigorating properties are all-sufficient for the cure of chronic indigestion, rheumatism, constipation, diarrhœa, nervous affections, and malarious fevers, and they are now the standard remedy for these complaints in every section of the Union.

DURING OUR INTERVIEW, the American Consul at Bankok, presented the King an elegant assortment of his medicines from Dr. J. C. Ayer, of Lowell, Mass., for the use of the Court. He explained to his majesty their origin from the great chemist and their uses. The Cherry Pectoral for coughs—the Sarsaparilla for eruptive diseases, and the Ague Cure for the fevers that are so fatal in this hot country. The dangerous condition of a favorite wife in the palace with one of the disorders these medicines cure, gave him special interest in these products of medical skill; indeed, the medical marvels interested him more in our country than all the other attentions we had shown him.—Letters from a Lady in Siam.

ON EVERYBODY'S TONGUE.—Eulogiums of the great Natural Regenerator of Health, PLANTATION BITTERS, are on everybody's tongue. This gratuitous even voce advertising is better than all the paid-for puffing to which the owners of bogus bitters are obliged to resort. It has a spontaneous heartiness about it which carries conviction to the mind of the auditor. But it is a well-known fact that the proprietors of the PLANTATION BITTERS have never relied upon newspaper advertising to establish the success of a preparation which owes its astonishing popularity mainly to the oral testimony of the thousands who have either experienced or been eye-witnesses of the immense physical good it has wrought throughout the length and breadth of the land.

"G. M. D."—Don't stand aghast with awe and fear, eyes wide open, hair on end, and fingers tightly clinched with the idea that these mysterious symbols are cabalistic signs and represent some secret organization of masked demons, who carry terror and dismay with their midnight prowlings and disperse on the dawn of morning. No! They are only the initials of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, that pleasant medicine which has acquired a National reputation and proven so efficacious in Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Consumption and kindred diseases. For these complaints it has no equal. Sold by all druggists. 579.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—The blood is the very essence of health and life. It furnishes the components of flesh, bone, muscle, nerve and integument. The stomach is the apparatus—the arteries the distributors, and the intestines the channels by which the waste matter is carried off. Upon the stomach and bowels, these medicines act simultaneously. 25 cents per box or pot.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Aggravated Indigestion.

Persons who are predisposed to dyspepsia, find their sufferings from this cause greatly aggravated by damp weather, easterly winds, and sudden changes from a mild to a chilling atmosphere. In the spring, therefore, the pangs of indigestion are seriously augmented by the atmospheric variations peculiar to the season, and it is incumbent upon all who desire to pass through the ordeal of its cold mists and insalubrious gales with easy stomachs, and untormented by the indescribable torments which accompany dyspepsia, to tone and invigorate the digestive organs with a healthful and effective vegetable invigorant; and no one at all familiar with the medical record of the age, can question for one moment that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is the Tonic best adapted to this purpose.

The credentials of the Great Restorative are unequalled in number and character by those of any other advertised medicine in the world. If ever there was a preparation to rank as a National Remedy, this wonderful specific has a fair claim to the title. For a period of twenty years it has literally been the household and family medicine on this side of the Atlantic. In popularity it has never been approached by any of its would-be competitors, and its annual sales are so far in advance of those of any other medicine of its class, that comparisons would be ridiculous. One of two conclusions is inevitable. Either the American people are deficient in common sense, and incapable of rational discrimination, or Hostetter's Bitters is the best preventive remedy for indigestion, fever and ague, bilious remittent fever, constipation, rheumatism, nervous complaints, and all maladies of an epidemic or endemic type. The reader will judge for himself which of the two conclusions is most consistent with fact and reason.

SLATE COATING,

Patented August, 1871.

In offering this article to the public, we supply a need which has long been felt. It is especially adapted to

Shingle and Tin Roofs. (Old or New.)

IT IS FIRE & WATER-PROOF AND PREVENTS DECAY.

Not affected by Heat or Cold; is durable and beautiful, with colors permanently set, varying from a dark blue slate color to purple, and even higher shades, as fancy dictates. It will not wash or scale, and is Extremely Cheap.

Will stop and prevent Leaks; superior to any cement now in use. New Shingles covered with this article warranted for ten years, and for a Slate Coating over Shingles (Old or New) it has been found unequalled. It is also an excellent coating for School Black-Boards.

By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.

At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.

At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid-up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - - $7,000.

At the end of 15 years, - - - - - 14,000.

At the end of 20 years, - - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent Annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income of - - - - - - $173.30

Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 647.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,

A Card.

As there are one or two individuals in this community aspiring to the name of musicians, who are disturbing themselves and others with regard to my future movements, I take this method of informing such that by calling at my rooms in the Rockingham House they may obtain from myself authentic information of my plans, so far as I may choose to impart them. To my friends I would say that I have no intention of leaving Portsmouth with any present engagements unfulfilled, and hope with the blessing of Providence to obtain such a measure of patronage as to enable me to establish myself here permanently. FRANK L. MARTYN.

Progress.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, the following preamble and joint resolution, presented by Alderman Giddings and amended by the Board, was passed:—

Whereas, the General Court of the State of New Hampshire by an act approved July 7th, 1871, authorized any town or city to exempt from taxation for a term not exceeding ten years, any establishment therein or proposed to be erected therein, and the capital used in operating the same, for the manufacture of fabrics of cotton, wool, wood, iron, or any other material; and

Whereas, the City of Portsmouth possesses unsurpassed advantages for many such manufactures; and

Whereas, the City Councils of said city desire that such advantages should be developed and that manufactures of every kind should be established within said city; therefore,

Voted by the City Councils of the City of Portsmouth, that manufacturers of fabrics of cotton, wool, wood, iron or any other material are invited to put into operation within this City establishments for carrying on such manufactures; and that this City will vote to exempt from taxation for a term of years any such establishment, and the capital used in operating the same, which may be so put into operation prior to the first day of January, 1877, application being first made to the Board of Aldermen and their approval obtained.

The joint resolution was sent to the Common Council for concurrence.

Copper Thunder.

An audience of about six hundred persons, many of whom were women and boys, gathered at the Temple on Thursday evening to listen to Hon. C. P. Kimball, another defeated Democratic aspirant for Gubernatorial honors, from Maine. Mr. Kimball brought with him a Col. Bradbury, who is said to have won distinguished honors in the late war, a statement which we can readily believe if he tried his hand at stump oratory, as it is easy to conceive how such a tiresome speaker could in a very short time, put a whole army to flight. The gallant officer's theme was the decay of American shipbuilding, a very good topic to discuss; but he wore the subject threadbare and then talked a full half hour after he had got through, making it tedious for even the most patient of his Democratic auditors.

Mr. Kimball followed him with a much better speech, held his audience well for upwards of an hour, and knew enough to stop when he had done. His remarks consisted of the stale repetitions of fraud, corruption, bribery and taxation and predicting general ruin if the present party remains in power and a general millenium should the honest Democratic party again get the helm. We are somewhat surprised at the limited attendance at these Democratic displays of oratory and buncombe, but suppose it is all owing to the corrupt Navy Yard, which every Democrat fears so much and yet loves so well.

Laconics.

A large party of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Osgood assembled at their residence on Washington St. on Monday evening, Feb. 26, to celebrate the tenth anniversary of the marriage of the couple, by a Crystal Wedding. The evening was pleasantly passed in social mirth and the interchange of expressions of renewed friendship among the guests and their entertainers, and the visitors departed at a late hour,—carrying with them pleasant recollections and leaving equally pleasant memories with Mr. and Mrs. Osgood.

John Stokell & Co. have received four buffaloes (killed by Alexis, of course,) from which they are cutting prime steaks.

The Exeter News Letter says the concert by Mr. and Mrs. Martyn there was a brilliant affair and "was much enjoyed and appreciated by the goodly number who were so fortunate as to be present. Under the skilful touch of Mr. Martyn, that wonderful instrument, the pianoforte, was made to roll forth sounds of melodious and thrilling power. His rendering of the most difficult music proved him, by nature and practice, an uncommon performer. Mr. F. Burnham's cornet playing gave a pleasing variety to the entertainment. His skilful handling of that instrument gave evidence of a genius yet to develop and to win enthusiastic and popular plaudits. The Band in itself was a grand card, and should have been heard by a crowded house. We may well envy our Portsmouth neighbors the possession of so skilled and so talented a musical institution; and we trust it may be the pleasure of our people to often hear the Marine Band of Portsmouth, singly or as accessory to other concerts. But the wonder and the admiration of the audience, the brilliant star of the galaxy, was Mrs. Martyn. Her voice was of great volume and power; and her dramatic action exhibited a natural charm of manner that elicited earnest and abundant applause. The enthusiasm of the audience was throughout intense,—manifesting a due appreciation of the musical talent that honored us with so choice an entertainment."

A Maine bridegroom, just across the river, stepped out of the cars at a station to telegraph his friends the fact of his marriage, but failed to get on again when the train started, and the bride was obliged to make a portion of her wedding tour alone, while her husband followed in the next train.

The Marine Band assisted at the concert of Mr. Martyn at Exeter on Wednesday evening, to the great pleasure of all hearers. The Band at a later hour serenaded one of Exeter's prominent citizens, and made the night pleasant by their harmonious strains.

The Democrats are sparing no effort to win at the coming election. Among other things, — besides their leading, prominent men generally giving a great deal more attention to political matters, at all times, than the Republicans do—the Democrats have been promising to "doubtful" men a lot of railroad offices which they never should and we trust never will have control of, seeing that the Republican policy and mainly Republican money built and that Republicans mainly own the road referred to; and now they have promised to remit or abate the State tax of Gosport for fifteen years, if the town will send a Democratic Representative to General Court this year. As the amount is about $160 per year, we advise our friends at the Isles of Shoals to insist on cash in advance, should the trade be made, instead of the notes proposed to be given. And as the Republican Legislature did actually abate the poor Shoalers' tax, when they had the power in 1870, while the Democrats refused to do as much for them last year—we guess the hunkers may as well tell their stories and make their offers to the marines, for sailors are not green enough to believe them.

Mr. Robert L. Harris, the eminent civil engineer of this city, who has been engaged in railroad surveys in California for several years, is at home again.

A large number of persons will visit Boston on Monday, and witness the astonishing feat of issuing the "Globe" from the "hub of the universe." This latest Boston notion is to be repeated, daily, (Sundays excepted) for the benefit of all creation. The "Globe" will be for sale at the periodical stores in this city on Monday.

Judge Page held Mr. John E. Batchelder in the sum of $100 to appear before the S. J. Court on a charge of illegally voting in the 1st Ward, last November.

The city accounts for 1871 having been printed and bound, will be distributed in a day or two by Mr. William H. Gardiner.

Mr. Charles W. Roberts has been appointed special policeman at the Eastern Railroad, without pay. Mr. Daniel H. Spinney has also been appointed special policeman without pay.

Messrs. John W. Fernald, William Bodge and William A. Vaughan have been appointed to make the annual enrolment for the present year and to collect statistics of births and deaths for 1871.

Schooner Amelia, blown ashore on Gerrish's I-land during the recent gale, cannot be floated. The vessel is badly injured. Her cargo of lime will probably be saved.

Service will be held in St. John's Church to-morrow evening, (being the first Sunday in the month) commencing at 7 o'clock.

The annual Masonic Ball is to take place on Wednesday evening, March 13, in Congress Hall. The management is substantially the same as last year, when one of the most brilliant Balls ever given here resulted from their efforts; and from the interest taken in the coming one by the fair beings whose husbands or sweethearts are members of the Order, we think it safe to predict that this year's Ball will be not a whit behind any that have preceded it.

There are 69 locomotives on the Eastern Railroad. It is said that twenty more passenger cars are to be built.

...The next lecture of the interesting series on the Holy Land is to be given by Rev. W. H. Alden at the Middle st. Baptist church Sunday evening.

A NEW PAPER.—On Monday next, there will be issued in Boston, a large fifty-six column commercial newspaper, upon a very elaborate and complete plan, and embracing much talent upon its editorial staff. Though announced as independent of all political bias, it is still to be devoted to liberal discussion of the political and social questions of the day. It is to be called The Boston Daily Globe, and though larger than any of the Boston dailies, will be sold at the same price,—that is, four cents per copy.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING.—We have made great additions to our jobbing facilities—a magnificent Hand Press (the largest in Portsmouth,) new Display Type, Borders of various styles, &c.—and are prepared to execute with neatness and dispatch, Circulars for FUNERAL SERVICES, DATE SLIPS, PAMPHLETS, SERMONS, ADDRESSES, AUCTION BILLS, CONSTITUTIONS, BY LAWS, PROGRAMMES, TICKETS, CIRCULARS, ORDERS, DANCES, BLANKS, BILL HEADS, RECEIPTS, TICKETS, BUSINESS, MARRIAGE, ADDRESS AND VISITING CARDS, LABELS, TAGS, and in fact PRINTING OF ANY DESCRIPTION, at SATISFACTORY PRICES. Orders received by mail, express, or at the CHRONICLE OFFICE will be promptly filled.

Morning Chronicle.

Correspondence.

BOSTON, March 1.

There are two sensations in Boston at present. The first is the World's Peace Jubilee, which with 135 musical societies already entered, the books for the guaranty fund closed (enough being already subscribed), and the pile driving begun, may be considered an fait accompli. The two bridges necessary to accommodate the public will be built at once by the city at an expense of $175,000. Mr. Gilmore may well be proud of his success with officials at home and abroad in furtherance of his great musical undertaking.

The second sensation is the new daily paper, "The Globe," which is to be emphatically a newspaper, something which Boston has long lacked, and for which (I am assured by those in the business,) a better opening exists in Boston to-day than ever before. With abundant capital, with energetic managers, and with a liberal independent course, the Globe can hardly fail a success. Next Monday will see its first issue, which is waited with interest by all who have the prosperity of our city at heart.

Happening in at 11 Arch Street, a day or two since, I was surprised at the fine display of choice woolen goods made by the Fernald Brothers. Like most of the Portsmouth boys, Messrs. Fernald are determined to do nothing unless what they do well. Their specialty is fine goods, and everything choice or "nobby" may be found in their stock. Wide stripes are going out of fashion, and the most popular lines now are Diagonals, Straights, (which are in great favor,) Hair Line Coatings and Stripes, and French, English and Scotch mixtures. The Lastings and Trimmings are also made a special matter with this firm, whose close buying and fair dealing are a credit to the old town on the Piscataqua from whence they hail.

From cloths to those who make the same into garments is but a short jump, and I can personally recommend the excellent work of Edward W. Collins & Co., 37 Temple Place, two Portsmouth boys who have won a name for good fits and good work that many an older house would be proud to have attained.

The latest thing in ladies' headgear is a sort of coronet, imitation jet or gilt, held by an elastic. It gives a pretty finish to a rich coiffure and relieves a barren one. Messrs. Cromack & Co., who advertise in your Boston list will supply all varieties of such goods.

Now isn't that a nice for a fashion report from an amateur? I have found out one or two popular fallacies. One is that a bar-room is like a theatrical costumer's shop, because "tights" are sold there. There's a knack in cracking walnuts, but every one fancies that he (or she) can do it a little better than any one else. M.

GREENLAND.—Dr. A. P. Stevens delivered the seventh lecture in the Lyceum course on Friday evening, the 23d on "Happy Homes." It was said to be a fine production and was listened to by a large audience.

—The jury to try Mayor Hall of New York is filled.

—Our minds are like ill-hung vehicles, when they have little to carry they raise a prodigious clatter, when heavily laden they neither creak nor rumble.

—The St. John Paris has challenged any four-oared crew in England or the United States, to row three miles and return, at Halifax, in June or July, for $1000 or $2000 a side, expenses allowed and neither boat to carry a coxswain.

—The German government will accept the anticipatory payment of war indemnity, with a discount of five per cent., and France will thereby save twenty million francs. M. Fourrier has been nominated as French minister to Rome.

CATARRH

Cannot be cured by snuffs, washes or local applications. It is a weakness of the constitution, developing itself in the nasal organ first, afterwards extending to throat and lungs, ending generally in Consumption, if not checked by proper remedies. Pains in head, back, loins, and weakness of kidneys, are its attendant diseases. More people have catarrh than any other disease. It is easily cured. Thousands of cases, some of twenty-five years' standing, have been entirely cured in New Hampshire the past two years by the Constitutional Catarrh Remedy. Certificates to back the above sent free upon application to LITTLEFIELD & HAYES, proprietors and druggists, Manchester, N. H. Price, $1 per bottle

LEPTANDRIN.

Epilepsy or Fits.

A SURE CURE for this distressing complaint is now made known in a Treatise (of 48 octavo pages) on Foreign and Native Herbal Preparations, published by Dr. O. PRESTON SANDS. The prescription was discovered by him in a providential manner that he cannot conscientiously refuse to make it known, as it has cured everybody who has used it for Fits, never failed in a single case. The ingredients may be obtained from any druggist. A copy sent free to all applicants by mail. Address Dr. O. PRESTON SANDS, BROWN, 21 Grand Street, Jersey City, N. J.

CURE FOR FEMALE WEAKNESS.

The Proprietor of this valuable Medicine, while suffering from loss of health for some twenty years ago, received an Indian Receipt, from which she prepared some for her own use, which resulted in a cure. Many of her friends have used it with equally gratifying success, and have urged her to make it known, as it is adapted to the relief of suffering humanity to do so, and she feels confident it will prove one of the richest blessings to the sex. This is an internal remedy—entirely vegetable—will not injure the most delicate constitution, but is compatible to nature, as supporters are not used under any consideration. Beware of Caustic. It will eradicate all Humors, which is one cause of many cases, of great suffering. Its renovating effects are extraordinary. Without a change in diet, as hundreds will testify. Three bottles will convince the most skeptical of its surprising properties. Its effects are wonderful in the Relief and Cure of the following Diseases:—Prolapsus Uteri, Nervous Debility, Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of Heart, Depression of Spirits, Irregularities, Change of Life, Whites, Dropsical Affections, Biliousness, Inflammation of the Kidneys, &c. Prepared and sold by MRS. LINUS BELCHER, Randolph, Mass. Send for Circular. Sold by all Druggists, at $1.00 per bottle.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds the sewing done in this country, and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

GOOD ON BUTLER.—A rather amusing story is in circulation at the expense of the eminent gentleman from Massachusetts, commonly called 'Old Strabismus.' At the President's levee which was densely crowded, an old lady from the interior somewhere, in a fainting condition, requested her husband to get her an ice.

'Can't be did,' responded 'hub' in some irritation; 'there ain't no refreshments here.'

'Don't believe it. Didn't we get plenty at Belknap's the other night?' Said the good woman angrily; 'now go and get me an ice and some lemonade.'

'I tell you, now don't be a fool; there ain't no refreshments; everybody says so,' grunted the lord and master.

'You are quite mistaken,' said Hon. S. S. Cox, who happened to be near, and never loses an opportunity to put in a joke. 'The President always provides substantially. There is his butler, whose business it is to show ladies to the supper room,' and the Hon. little jester pointed to Gen. Butler. 'You will find him a little stuck up and cross, but you mustn't mind that; tell him to get you terrapins.'

This was said so gravely that the two struggled through the crowd to where Gen. Butler stood talking with some ladies.

'I say mister, I am told you are the butler,' said the man.

'I am Gen. Butler,' replied old Strabismus, pleasantly, thinking the two were country people filled with the admiration of his greatness.

'I don't care whether you are a general butler or not, but my wife wants some terrapins and lemonade.'

'Sir,' snorted old B. in amazement and disgust.

'Oh! don't take on airs, old cock. Come now, hurry up them terrapins.'

'You must be drunk, sir! you must be drunk.'

'No he ain't,' screamed the wife, 'he's a Knight Templar; he ain't drunk, but I guess you are.'

Roars of laughter greeted this, in which S. S. Cox was forced to join. Gen. Butler reddened in the face and began puffing his cheeks out in the most violent manner.

'I don't understand this extraordinary conduct. What do you want sir—what do you want?'

'Terrapins, I tell you!'

'What do you take me for, you cussed fool?' roared Benjamin.

'You call me a cussed fool and I'll hit you on the snout,' screamed the man.

At this juncture an officer of the police seized the belligerent husband and led him away mid laughter. Butler turning suddenly, saw the mischief maker.

'I say, Cox, did you do that?'

'Well, yes, I'm afraid I did.'

'Well, I owe the terrapins, and I'll pay you, mind that—I'll pay you.'

And the two walked lovingly away.

—An Irishman, being annoyed by a howling dog in the night, jumped out of bed to dislodge the offender. It was in the month of January, when the snow was three feet deep. He not returning, his wife ran out to see what was the matter. She found her husband in his night suit, his teeth chattering and his whole body nearly paralyzed with the cold, holding the struggling dog in the snow. "Houly mother, Pat," said she, "what wud ye be after doin'?" "Hush," said he, "don't ye see, I'm thrying to fraze the baste!"

—Miss Maggie Cunningham of Terre Haute, Ind., determined to take advantage of the privilege supposed to belong to leap year, and invited her friends to her wedding before she consoled the young man whose name she had concluded to take. The wedding party proceeded to the residence of the gentle youth and found him in bed, but he, recognizing the situation, gathered his raiment about him and silently stole away. The rest of the girls are discouraged.

FACES ON THE WALL.

BY HARRIET BEECHER STOWE.

AUTHOR OF "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN," "MY WIFE AND I," ETC.

Once there was a very good little girl, who, by reason of her goodness knew where to find strawberries in the winter. In the same way lese perfect people, blessed by the generous fairies of memory and imagination, may sit, as I do now, in the midst of rustling leaves and whistling winds, and call back the green grasses and the summer sun. I see yonder in the green the dividing of our house, the gold g'eam in her brown hair, a chain of daisies in her hand and in her eyes the roguish meditation of a kitten, weary for an instant only of its play, and thinking slyly of another spring. Thrown back upon the velvet grass, she is not resting, only pausing from her bright glances to the tips of her tiny fingers she is wide awake.

But now the merry play is over, and our pet sits yonder on the sofa cushion, tired at last in earnest. Slowly the lids fail, and the lingering smile dies out; but the flush in cheek and lip remains like the glow after sunset. The gathered buttercups and daisies are loosely held by the fair little hand; no shadows, even of dream-land, disturb the sweet brow's perfect peace. She is fast asleep.

In other words, two chromos hang upon the wall, bewitching child-heads, in which every mother sees some blog of her own dear ones, never grown old, and never lost to her, however time or death may have dealt with them.

Nothing pleases more at first sight or gives pleasure longer than poetical pictures of children. "The little child" whom Jesus sets in the midst of every family is a joy that grows not old and fades not.

"Age cannot wither, custom cannot stale
Its infinite variety."

For this reason a happy picture of a child brings an enjoyment more lasting than any other, because it is a subject of which no one ever tires.

But these pictures, besides their constant charm for grown folks, are such as children can understand and love. Our little "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," would give many a pleasant hour of compunctionable amusement and interrogatory to the little people akin to them in age. The pictures that children's eyes rest on as they are dropping off to sleep, or as they awake in the morning, seem to them like living friends. All sorts of childish dreams and fancies make of the pictured face a real companion. Not only in the parlor and sitting-room would they be an attractive and fitting embellishment, but they are a charming pair for the adornment of a nursery.

Undoubtedly these two pictures are portraits. There is a realistic faithfulness and truth about them that forbids the idea of their being fancy heads. They will remind many parents of little ones either here or in heaven. Dickens says of his portraiture of little Nell that he has had letters from the farthest region of the earth speaking of children who resembled her—so dear, and so early taken! He who paints one child well, paints thousands, and speaks to the tenderest feelings of innumerable hearts.

Of course there is a pleasure in possessing an original painting; but when the question lies between an original at five hundred dollars and a chromo which can scarcely be distinguished from it, at ten dollars—particularly when one has not the five hundred to spare—the choice is not very difficult. As to these two exquisite chromos, only a critical examination can distinguish between the copies and the originals, which sold for many hundreds—which is certainly more than can be said of the best copies of most pictures painted by the best artists.

Blessings upon the chromo-lithography, by which the successful painting of a master can be reproduced indefinitely, and can enter thousands of homes with its educating, quickening, reforming influences!

It is not alone into the dwellings of the great and wealthy that we follow this pretty pair with anticipations of delight. We see them in the cottages of the poor, in the log cabin of the barkwoodsman, brightening the toil of the hard-worked wife and mother, and receiving the almost adoring wonder of children who have never seen pictures before.

God bless the darlings—lend the little comforters fast and far!

The charming pair of oil chromos, "Wide Awake" and "Fast Asleep," of whose real beauty and attractiveness Mrs. Stowe's grace ul sketch can give but an imperfect idea—so pleasing are they to all who love art or children—have always sold in the picture stores for $10, and the original publishers have been able to supply the great demand for them even at that price. And yet, although thousands of them have been sold in America at that high rate, they are now within the reach of all, for they are to every subscriber to THE CHRISTIAN UNION, an unsectarian, literary, religious and domestic weekly newspaper, edited by HENRY WARD BEECHER.

GIVEN AWAY

The pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished to Mr. Beecher's publishers at a rate entirely exceptional. The subjects are LIFE-SIZE.

As to the CHRISTIAN UNION, the great success of that paper has been a marvel in the history of journalism, and the scholarly and critical New York Nation calls it "not only the ablest and best, but also the most popular of American religious periodicals."

This paper, hereafter will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, a decided advantage possessed by no other religious weekly published. It contains contributions from eminent writers of all denominations, and has matter of interest for every member of the household, young and old. For the year 1872, Mrs. HARRIET BEECHER STOWE will write exclusively for the CHRISTIAN UNION.

It has something for every member of the household—father, mother, boys and girls, youngmen and young women, ALL find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles, discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects; much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems, Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones, one of the chief attractions being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

The terms of subscription to this paper are: For one year ONLY $3.00. This will entitle the subscriber to the paper and to the above pair of beautiful Oil Chromos, THE CHRISTIAN UNION, Illustrated Holiday Number, (28 p p.) will be sent FREE to all who now subscribe for the year 1873.

WHY?

What is the reason that the Literary, Religious, and Domestic Weekly, started two years ago, namely,

THE CHRISTIAN UNION,

should have so suddenly achieved a success that makes all newspaper men wonder?

Reasons Why!

1st. HENRY WARD BEECHER is its Editor, of whom the Chicago Interior said "Probably no man on this continent sways so many minds, or is doing so much to shape religious thought for the next half century." His vigorous pen in Editorials and Star Papers, and Mr. Ellinwood's famed verbatim reports of his helpful Lecture-Room Talk in Plymouth Church, are an attraction to thousands of readers, who always want to know what he thinks on religious themes and the topics of the times. He is also assisted by an able editorial staff.

2d. IT IS Unsectarian in Religion, Independent in Political Discussion, and devoted to Morals, Reform, Home and Foreign News—both of Church matters and the world at large, Literature, Science, Art, Music, Agriculture, Trade, Finance, etc., etc., with contributions from eminent writers of all denominations—in all parts of the country.

3d. IT HAS SOMETHING FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE HOUSEHOLD—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, all find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects, much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones; one of its chief attraction being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

4th. IT IS Admits no Medical or other possibly objectionable advertisements nor anything to offend the purest and most fastidious, and is therefore a favorite family paper.

5th. ITS FORM TWENTY-FOUR PAGES. Large Quarto, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, is so convenient for reading, binding, and preservation as to be a great special merit in its favor, apart from its superior literary attraction.

6th. A superb WORK OF ART IS GIVEN AWAY TO EVERY SUBSCRIBER AND THE SUBSCRIPTION PRICE IS

Only Three Dollars per Year.

A MOSAIC.

WHAT THE PRESS SAYS:

Two very good chromos are "Wide Awake" and "Fast Asleep," [1] which have few rivals in the market for attractiveness [2]—fresh, sweet and blooming child-face [3] executed with true French skill [4]. We have rarely seen anything prettier than the two pictures, which, [5] both in color and sentiment are really beautiful [6]—worthy of a place in costly homes [7]. Unlike nine pictures out of ten that cost a good deal more, one can look at them day after day and not tire of them [8]. We have often stopped amid the bustle of Broadway to look at them, and never without feeling happier and better [7]. They cannot fail to please all who love art or children [8].

A subscriber writes to the Publishers:

"The chromos far surpass in beauty and style anything that I expected. A Neighbor of mine bought the same Chromos in New York a few months ago, and paid ten dollars for them. Please accept my thanks for them."

2. Enlargement and Change of Form. After the first of January, the paper will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four large quarto pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the sides,—a decided advantage in convenience for reading possessed by no other religious weekly published.

3. Mrs. Harriet B. Stowe Will Write Exclusively for the CHRISTIAN UNION during the year 1872, with the exception of one short story all ready engaged for another periodical.

MANHOOD

IN THE

Young and Rising Generation.

The vegetable powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show their baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body, too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwardly upon themselves.

If the patient be a female the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it is fed on. The energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain. The parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

TRY HELMBOLD'S

EXTRACT BUCHU

For Weakness Arising from Excesses or Early Indiscretion,

attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System; Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such Patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for fear of themselves; no repose of matter, no earnestness, no speculation, but a hurried transition from one question to another.

THESE SYMPTOMS, IF ALLOWED TO GO ON—WHICH THIS MEDICINE INVARIABLY REMOVES — SOON FOLLOW LOSS OF POWER, FATUITY AND EPILEPTIC FITS, IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients. Reason has for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths of Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibitions appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute; neither mirth nor grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.

"With woful measures wan despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguile."

While we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequence.

HELMBOLD'S

Fluid Extract of Buchu.

There is no some like it. It is an anchor of hope to the physician and patient. This is the testimony of all who have used or prescribed it.

Beware of counterfeits and those cheap decoctions called Buchu, most of which are prepared by self-styled doctors, from deleterious ingredients, and offered for sale at "less price" and "larger bottles," etc. They are miserable and frequently injurious. Ask for Helmbold's. Take no other.

Correcting the Check-Lists.

There can be no reasonable doubt, from the information we have received from Manchester and various parts of the State, that Harry Bingham, John G. Sinclair, Lewis W. Clark, Clinton W. Stanley, Henry H. Huse, and the other reckless men who control the Democratic State Committee, have devised, arranged, and issued secret orders to carry out a systematic plan to defeat the election of the Republican candidate for Governor and secure a Democratic majority in the Council, the Senate, and the House of Representatives, by fraudulently excluding the names of Republican voters from the check-lists, and fraudulently inserting thereon the names of Democrats not legally entitled to vote, in those towns where the check-lists are in the hands of Democratic selectmen. In view of this contemplated fraud upon the rights of our citizens and upon free institutions, we call the attention of our readers to the plain and positive provisions of the laws of the State in relation to the correction of check-lists, and urge them to insist upon it that those laws be faithfully executed by selectmen everywhere.

By the provisions of chapter 27th of the General Statutes, every native or naturalized male citizen of the United States, more than twenty-one years of age, except paupers and persons excused from paying taxes at their own request, who shall have had his home or legal domicile in any town or place six months next preceding the day of any election, is entitled to vote at that election in such town or place.

By chapter 28th of the General Statutes, the selectmen of every town are required to lodge with the town clerk, and cause to be posted in one or more public places therein, fourteen days at least prior to every election, an alphabetical list of all the legal voters in such town. They are further required to be in session, for the purpose of correcting the list thus lodged and posted, for so long a time as necessary, in towns containing more than six hundred voters, within seven days, and in smaller towns within three days, next preceding the day of election, and for two hours at least on the day and before the opening of the meeting in every town; notice of the times and places of their sessions for this purpose being given upon this list when posted. At those sessions, "they shall insert the name of every legal voter omitted, and erase the name of every person not a legal voter; and when any name has been placed on said list, it shall not be stricken therefrom except in open session." The vote of no person whose name is upon said list at the opening of the meeting can be rejected, nor can any person whose name is not upon said list at the opening of the meeting, be permitted to vote, unless within the knowledge of the selectmen his residence has been in town during the entire year, next preceding said election.

The penal provision for compelling selectmen to execute the laws in relation to the correction of the check-lists with fidelity and in good faith, is contained in section 11th of chapter 33d of the General Statutes, which we copy entire:

"SEC. 11. If any selectmen, at any session holden for the correction of the list of voters, on receiving satisfactory evidence that any person whose name is on said list is not a legal voter, shall neglect or refuse to erase such name from the list, or shall neglect or refuse to insert on said list the name of any person who is a legal voter, having satisfactory evidence thereof, or shall neglect or refuse to hear or examine any evidence offered for such purpose in either of the cases aforesaid, or shall at any time insert on said list the name of any person not a legal voter, knowing such to be the case, or shall knowingly erase therefrom or omit to insert the name of any legal voter, he shall be fined not more than fifty dollars for each offence."

Such are the statutes in reference to correcting check-lists. Let our friends determine that these statutes shall be faithfully and fairly enforced by Democratic selectmen, and carry out that determination by persistent, determined attendance with witnesses and arguments at the sessions of the board. Furnish full and satisfactory evidence on every point, and then demand and insist upon your rights as citizens and freemen.

Astounding Discoveries!

It is useless to say that the Democratic party, proved to be a party of fraud, of corruption and villainy, will adopt the most desperate measures to accomplish a victory.

Lying is no adequate term for the declarations they make.

Fraud is no synonym for their management of check lists.

Their recklessness has no English word of sufficient significance to indicate it.

The most infamous act of the Democratic State Committee that has yet come to light is that requiring Democratic selectmen to manage the check list and the ballot-boxes so as to make gains for the party. The word has gone forth, as we have several times said, for the thoroughly Democratic towns to make immense gains, so matter whether legally or not. WIN is the word, and the selectment under Sinclair's lash must do it.

The Democracy have a canvass at their head-quarters, which shows them to lack hundreds—aye, more than a thousand votes, of electing their ticket, or even of defeating our candidate for Governor. This we know from a man who is in the secret of the Democracy, is claimed by them, but will not vote for them. They won't find him out, but he has found them out, and declares that he will not be disgraced by them. To make up for this deficiency, the order has been given—obscurely in print, clearly and directly in spoken words, that certain Democratic towns must make a gain of 10, others 20, and so on, 40 and 50, until enough have been secured to balance the majority for Mr. Straw and defeat an election. The numbers have been designated for each town, and the managers are to respond to the requirement. This means they will win by money, by intimidation, by assaults even, and if a deficiency exists in the quota required, the selectmen are to supply it by counting votes not cast.

Was ever anything in New Hampshire so desperate? Was ever such crime perpetrated or attempted among the honest sons of toil in the Granite State? We assure our readers this is not a fiction got up as an election scarecrow, but reality. WE KNOW IT.

We shall have more to say on the subject. Our advices are too many for to-day's issue. Prepare for more exposures, for there are honest Democrats, and their consciences will not let them be silent. They will expose the scheme of these agents of the great enemy of Honor, Justice and Humanity.—Manchester Mirror.

Gen. Grant's Expectations.

Col. Forney who edited the Washington Chronicle in 1868 went it was in favor of one presidential term and tried to give the country the impression that Gen. Grant also believed in that principle, has just published an article giving the secret history of Grant's first nomination and exposing his own deception in advocating one term while believing that Grant would not accept the nomination unless sure of the office for two terms. Col. Forney says that meeting Justice Carter and Senator Thayer in 1867, he was not surprised when they said; "Why can we not make Gen. Grant the Republican candidate for the Presidency? Everybody is for him; he star is the star of victory. There are two things necessary—his own consent and an approved Republican record. Now, will you not apply yourself to a thorough examination into the political declarations of Grant since he left Galena as a volunteer against the Rebellion?" This Forney consented to do, and prepared a five-column article, which appeared in the Washington Chronicle and the Philadelphia Press of Nov. 7, 1867. He continues:

After it was in type Senator Thayer and myself called upon John A. Rawlins, Chief of Gen. Grant's Staff, and read it to him. He instantly advised that it should appear the very next day, but I answered that Gen. Grant was not a candidate for President, and did not desire to be, and, if I printed it without authority, there was little doubt that some super-serviceable politician would call upon him and ask him if he had been made a candidate with his sanction. He will, of course, reply that he never saw the article till it was in print, and so all your schemes to make him President will "gang agley." Then Rawlins took it in to Gen. Grant, and stayed quite a long time. When he returned, he said, "Gen. Grant is quite pleased with your statement of his political record, and surprised that he proves to be so good a Republican." Upon this hint I printed it, but the correspondent of the Boston Post pretended to deny, on the authority of Gen. Grant himself, that he had authorized the publication of the article, and I immediately telegraphed to Washington and got an authorized denial of the despatch to the Boston Post.

When Rawlins came back from Gen. Grant with the editorial, he told us, with great emphasis, "Gen. Grant does not want to be President. He thinks the Republican party may need him, and he believes, as their candidate, he can be elected and re-elected; but," said Rawlins, "What is to become of him after his second Presidential term? What, indeed, during his Administration? He is receiving from seventeen to twenty thousand dollars a year as General of the Armies of the Republic—a life salary. To go into the Presidency, at $25,-000 a year, for eight years, is, perhaps, to gain more fame, but what is to become of him at the end of his Presidency? He is not a politician. He does not aspire to the place. Eight years from the 4th of March, 1869, he will be about 56 years old. Of course, he must spend his salary as President. England, with her Wellington, her Nelson, and her other heroes on land and sea, has never hesitated to enrich and ennoble them through all their posterity. Such a policy is in accordance with the character of the English Government; but in our country, the man who fights for and saves the Republic, would be a beggar if he depended upon political office; and mark it, if Grant takes anything from the rich, whose vast fortunes he has saved, after he is President, he will be accused as the willing recipient of gifts."

Just now, when Gen. Grant is struggling out of his first term of the Presidency and struggling into his second, it may not be out of place to revive this incident. Thus it will be seen that Gen. Grant not only desired to remain President for two terms, but that it was only on the assurance of his friends that he should be re-elected that he accepted the office at all.

Fraud.

The Republicans of Nashua have discovered that the Democrats have placed upon the Ward Five check list in that city nearly one hundred names of persons who are not residents of the city, are dead, or otherwise disqualified, thus swelling the list to a sufficient number to entitle them to two Representatives.

WASHINGTON MATTERS.—The ways means committee have agreed to reduce the duty on pig iron to five dollars a ton.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Many persons suffer with sick headache and nervous headache, usually produced by costiveness, indigestion, &c. Such persons will find relief if not cure, by keeping the bowels open with small doses of Parsons' Purgative Pills.

Have you inflammatory sore throat, stiff joints, or lameness from any cause whatever? Have you rheumatic or other pains in any part of the body? If so, use Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. Our word for it, it is the best pain killer in this country.

OLD PREJUDICES ARE DYING OUT.—New facts are killing them. The idea that invalids weakened by disease can be relieved by prostrating them with destructive drugs, is no longer entertained except by mononomaniacs. Ever since the introduction of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS it has been obvious that their regulating and invigorating properties are all-sufficient for the cure of chronic indigestion, rheumatism, constipation, diarrhœa, nervous affections, and malarious fevers, and they are now the standard remedy for these complaints in every section of the Union.

DURING OUR INTERVIEW, the American Consul at Bankok, presented the King an elegant assortment of his medicines from Dr. J. C. Ayer, of Lowell, Mass., for the use of the Court. He explained to his majesty their origin from the great chemist and their uses. The Cherry Pectoral for coughs—the Sarsaparilla for eruptive diseases, and the Ague Cure for the fevers that are so fatal in this hot country. The dangerous condition of a favorite wife in the palace with one of the disorders these medicines cure, gave him special interest in these products of medical skill; indeed, the medical marvels interested him more in our country than all the other attentions we had shown him.—Letters from a Lady in Siam.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—The blood is the very essence of health and life. It furnishes the components of flesh, bone, muscle, nerve and integument. The stomach is the apparatus—the arteries the distributors, and the intestines the channels by which the waste matter is carried off. Upon the stomach and bowels, these medicines act simultaneously. 25 cents per box or pot.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Aggravated Indigestion.

Persons who are predisposed to dyspepsia, find their sufferings from this cause greatly aggravated by damp weather, easterly winds, and sudden changes from a mild to a chilling atmosphere. In the spring, therefore, the pangs of indigestion are seriously augmented by the atmospheric variations peculiar to the season, and it is incumbent upon all who desire to pass through the ordeal of its cold mists and insalubrious gales with easy stomachs, and untormented by the indescribable torments which accompany dyspepsia, to tone and strengthen the digestive organs with a healthful and effective vegetable invigorant; and no one at all familiar with the medical record of the age, can question for one moment that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is the Tonic best adapted to this purpose.

The credentials of the Great Restorative are unequalled in number and character by those of any other advertised medicine in the world. If ever there was a preparation to rank as a National Remedy, this wonderful specific has a fair claim to the title. For a period of twenty years it has literally been the Champion Tonic and Alterative on this side of the Atlantic. In popularity it has never been approached by any of its would-be competitors, and its annual sales are so far in advance of those of any other medicine of its class, that comparisons would be ridiculous. One of two conclusions is inevitable. Either the American people are deficient in common sense, and incapable of rational discrimination, or Hostetter's Bitters is the best preventive remedy for indigestion, fever and ague, bilious remittent fever, constipation, rheumatism, nervous complaints, and all maladies of an epidemic or endemic type. The reader will judge for himself which of the two conclusions is most consistent with fact and reason.

Quite a delegation of Portsmouth Republicans have signified their intention of attending the meeting, and carriages will leave Republican headquarters, near the corner of Daniel and Market Streets at six o'clock. All persons desiring transportation are requested to be on hand promptly.

A jury in Middlesex, England, has found out that sixty pigs kept near a highway and fed with animal refuse from which arose unwholesome stenches which caused fevers in the neighborhood, the pig-pens being aided by the foul smells arising from the cooking of dead horses in open pans, was not a nuisance. This British jury is behind the times, (but then England was always conservative) for a Rockingham County jury rendered a similar verdict in the court in Portsmouth several years ago, on the ground that such oders were healthy!

The Rock Island (Ill.) Union says that a Portsmouth lady has crossed the new bridge from Rock Island to Davenport, being the first and only lady who has thus far made the transit. The open nature of the flooring together with the hurricanes indigenous to that locality render the crossing at present somewhat perilous and require considerable nerve to effect it.

During the recent "blow" a lady whose pannier was composed of a bundle of newspapers securely fastened, had the literature exposed to the public gaze by the relentless fury of the cruel wind, despite the frantic efforts of the mortified lady to keep it concealed. The sight suggested to us the wonderful economy of woman and we would take occasion to inform our readers that such a bundle of newspapers can be obtained at this office at the rate of thirty-five cents per hundred.

For the following items we are indebted to the Journal:—

....Stupid squirrels have remained out all winter, which, farmers say, is a true indication of an early spring.

....These are days of progress, when our house-keepers can buy nice meat in cans prepared for pies, and corned beef boiled and pressed.

....The harbor appropriation bill just passed makes no provision for the defense of this harbor. The amount appropriated forts up nearly $2,000,000.

....Ship Frolic, in charge of Capt. John C. Bush, of this city, which arrived at San Francisco on the 7th of February from Newcastle, N. S., reports 4th ult. lat. 4 S, carried away foretopgallantmast in a heavy squall.

....Messrs Came Brothers of this city, have received a letter from P. T. Barnum desiring to purchase for his museum the Calcophalus virtulinus, or North American Hair Seal, which was caught some weeks since at York. The seal has become quite tame during his tour of exhibition.

....Messrs Came Brothers are doing an immense business at present in preparation for the Spring trade. We understand that they have on hand at their depositories nearly one hundred and fifty new carriages of different kinds, all of their own make. Early purchasers will have a grand chance for selections.

....Everybody but the defendant will be pleased that Mr. Henry C. Barnabee, the singer, who does many kindly acts in a professional way for the deserving, has recovered fifty dollars in a suit against another concert giver who employed him at a complimentary entertainment May 5, 1871, in Music Hall, Boston, and then sought to deprive him of his pay on the ground that his services were a gratuity.

....Hon. J. B. Adams of this city, has exhibited to us this week, some curious looking relics of the late Chicago fire, consisting of several pieces of petrified wood, the veins clearly perceptible; a singular looking square of what was once a paper of tacks which had become fused together, each tack clearly defined; pieces of china ware bent and cemented together, all these caused by the action of the intense heat; also a little sweet toned bell made from the metal of the great City Hall bell, tiny enough for a lady's chain.

....The Eastern railroad are laying the foundation at the Creek for a building to be used as a repair shop, and a manufactory of the patent switches now adopted by this road, said structure also to contain rooms for the convenience of the employes of the road who are obliged to remain here a part of the time. The building will measure 110 by 36 feet, and will be of brick. The new water house now in process of construction with facilities for the accommodation of 15 engines, is to be supplied with water from the Dover street reservoir through three inch pipe.

....On the occasion of the 80th birthday of Dea. Samuel Cleaves Feb. 20th, he was pleasantly surprised by the presentation of a gold headed cane from a few of his friends. The wish was expressed that while it reminded him of the sympathy, confidence and affection of his friends, it might be to him an emblem of that "strong Rod"—that polished and beautiful staff—Jesus Christ, upon which he had so confidently leaned for more than half a century, and enable him to say, "Though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death I will fear no evil, for thou art with me." Mrs. Cleaves was presented with a silver fruit basket.

....The American clipper ship Swallow of 1239 tons register, in ballast, in command of Captain William Lester, of this city, recently made the passage from San Francisco to Newcastle, Australia, in 38 days, the quickest trip on record, being nearly up to the mail steamers. Captain Lester left San Francisco on the 31st of October, his vessel and the Allahabad of 1200 tons getting their anchors almost together, as, when he passed the latter vessel she was heaving short. He fell in with her again on the 20th ult., and she remained in sight daily until the 30th, when she was last seen from the masthead, edging away to the southward. The Allahabad arrived at Sydney, Australia, (only a short distance from Newcastle,) one day later. Capt. Lester is one of the shrewdest and most careful of seamen, and thoroughly understands the "ropes." The Swallow will load with over 2000 tons of coal, and return to San Francisco direct.

BEAUTIFUL OIL PAINTINGS.—It affords us pleasure to learn that the productions of Mr. T. P. Moses' versatile brush are being known, appreciated, and in some degree supported by liberal purchasers abroad.

The matchless cross and wreath of flowers in oil, from his hand, recently on exhibition at Mr. Burleigh's store with other views, are all disposed of.

The "Cross" was bought at first sight for the price marked $37, by Col. C. A. Stevens of N. York city. Also a fine Landscape by the same brush, was taken up at sight for the figure marked, $40, by Mr. Wm. C. Ellis of Worcester, Mass. The "first ship" at St. Salvador is purchased by Mr. J. S. Peirce of the Rockingham House, to be sent to a friend at Panama. The artist has several other pictures at his studio on sale. He is fast completing two extra large, and pronounced elegant marine pictures for the halls of the recent addition to the western end of the Rockingham House. We wish all success to our talented fellow-townsman, one of the most industrious of men. He is deserving of a much greater recompense than a meager sustenance for taste and talents so rare in the line of the beautiful and of course the useful.

THE BOSTON DAILY GLOBE, the new paper issued this morning as advertised, is to be in quarto form of eight pages, similar to the New York dailies, and no effort or expense has been spared to produce a first-class metropolitan newspaper. Morning Chronicle.

Political.

The Washington Chronicle, referring to the President's course, says "it has been shrewd, eloquent and forcible, recalling to us crises the olden days. As a result, we believe the Administration has won a complete victory. The whole nation corresponds, in our judgment, the sturdy political object of the site opt, and its utter failure."

Seven more votes in the Maine House of Representatives would have sent to the Governor for his signature a bill conferring the right of suffrage on women in the Presidential election, the same having passed the Senate by a large majority. Forty-one members of the House voted for the measure.

The New York assembly has decided the contested election case from New York in favor of Kilian, throwing out Aleck Frear, the Tammany candidate.

MAKING THINGS LIVELY.—One of those lively little affairs that vary the monotony of life at the South recently occurred in Georgia. The parties were Clinton Digby and brother on one side, and Seaborn Kelly and two brothers on the other—all farmers. They met at Monticello, at the election of ordinary. A dispute arose between Clinton Digby's brother and the three Kellys. Young Digby drew his pistol but before he could use it one of the Kellys seized his arm and held it up while the other two Kelleys pounded away sledge hammer fashion on Digby. At this juncture Clinton Digby came up to the assistance of his overpowered brother. As he approached, one of the Kellys shot him in the leg. Nothing daunted, he fired, killed the Kelly that held his brother; then turning quickly, shot down another of the Kellys, who died in about an hour. Then mounting a horse he rode furiously over fences and through the woods, and made his escape.

Epilepsy or Fits.

A SURE CURE for this distressing complaint is now made known in a Treatise of 48 octavo pages, on Epilepsy and Nervous Debility, published by Dr. O. PHELPS BROWN. The prescription was discovered by him in such providential manner that he cannot conscientiously refuse to make it known, as it has cured every body who has used it for Fits, never having failed in a single case. The ingredients may be obtained from any drugg st. A copy sent free to all applicants by mail. Address Dr. O. PHELPS BROWN, 21 Grand Street, Jersey City, N. J.

CURE FOR

FEMALE WEAKNESS.

The Proprietor of this valuable Medicine, while suffering from loss of health some twenty years ago, received an Indian recipe, from which he prepared some for his own use, which resulted in a cure. Many of her friends have used it with equally astonishing success, and have urged her to introduce it to the public. She has consented, for the relief of suffering humanity to do so, and feels confident it will prove one of the richest blessings to her sex. This is an internal remedy—entirely vegetable—will not injure the most delicate constitution, but is easy and pleasant, as supporters are not used on any consideration, nor the application of Caustic. It will eradicate all Humors, which is one cause, in many instances, of great suffering. Its renovating effects are extraordinary, without a change in diet, as hundreds will testify. Three bottles will convince the most skeptical of its surprising properties. Its effects are wonderful in the Relief and Cure of the following diseases:—Prolapsus Uteri, Nervous Debility, Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of Heart, Depression of Spirits, Irregularities, Change of Life, Whites, Painful Affections, Biliousness, Inflammation of the Kidneys, &c. Prepared and sold by MRS. LINUS BELCHER, Kingsbury, Mass. Send for Circular. Sold by all Druggists, at $1.50 per bottle.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price—and many of these are so we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the DOG STORIES.— A Paris paper tells this extravagant story of a faithful dog: Some dogs possess a singular knack of hunting out any thing that has recently been in the possession of their masters. A gentleman made a bet that a dog would indentify a franc that he had thrown down upon the Boulvards. Before the dog had discovered the money, a passenger had picked it up. Presently, the dog caught the scent, followed the stranger to his hotel, remained with him all day, and attended him to bed, to the great delight of his newly constituted master, who was extremely flattered by its sudden attachment. But the moment the gentleman pulled off his pantaloons, in the pocket of which he had placed the franc, the dog barked at the door, as if desirous to get out. The door was opened, the dog caught up the vestment, and rushed away to his rightful owner.

A storekeeper at Quincy, Mich., having a pup that habitually upset the paint cans in the rear end of the store, rubbed the dog's nose in the spilled paint as a reminder that he must not do so again. Last week the animal again spilled the paint, and, observing that his master was engaged in waiting on a customer, the docile pup rubbed his nose in the mixture and ran howling out the back way.

A dog at Grand Haven, who has friends at Johnsonville, frequently jumps aboard the train at Grand Haven station, lies quietly under one of the seats in the passenger car, and when he reaches Johnsonville he jumps off. He visits his friends and comes back to Grand Haven by the return train.

DR. HOLMES ON HIS OWN PORTRAIT.— It is well for the "Poet of the Breakfast Table" that he can enjoy a joke at his own expense as well as a sharp hit at others. Otherwise he would have brought suit for libel against the publishers of Every Saturday, for inserting a frightful caricature, calling it a likeness. It would have answered better for a civilized Hottentot, or one of the late Tunisian ambassadors than for the genial "Autocrat."

But he has evidently chuckled over it as one of the best jokes of the season, and, in the March number of the Atlantic, punishes the publishers in a good-natured way. He says:

"I wonder how my portrait would look if anybody should take it now! I hope not quite so badly as the one I saw the other day, which I took for the end man of the Ethiopian Serenaders, or some travellers who had been exploring the sources of the Niger, until I read the name at the bottom, and found it was a face I knew as well as my own."

—To keep away mosquitoes, we would recommend the following: A few drops of carbolic acid dropped on cotton rags and placed in three or four parts of the room. If in the open air, place the preparation near yourself and the mosquitoes will leave.

And if in a close room you will probably leave yourself, pretty soon after following the above directions.

—A lecturer recently made a point in illustrating the power of heat by saying that the iron track of the Central Railroad is 1,000 feet shorter to-day than on the 4th of July last.

—A Jersey girl died while jumping rope.

FACES ON THE WALL.

BY HARRIET BEECHER STOWE.

AUTHOR OF "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN," "MY WIFE AND I," ETC.

Once there was a very good little girl, who, by reason of her goodness, knew where to find strawberries in the winter. In the same way lost perfect people, blessed by the generous fairies of memory and imagination, may sit, as I do now, in the midst of falling leaves and whistling winds, and call back the green grasses and the summer sun. I see yonder in the glen, the darling of our house, the gold gleam in her brown hair, a chain of daisies in her hand and in her eyes the roguish meditation of a kitten, weary for an instant only of its play, and thinking slyly of another spring. Thrown back upon the velvet grass, she is not resting, only pausing from her bright glances to the tips of her tiny fingers she is wide awake.

But now the merry play is over, and our pet nestles yonder on a soft cushion, tired at last in earnest. Slowly the lids fall, and the lingering smile dies out; but the flush in cheek and lip remains like the glow after sunset. The gathered buttercups and daisies are loosely held by the fair little hand; no shadows, even of dream-land, disturb the sweet brow's perfect peace. She is fast asleep.

In other words, two chromos hang upon the wall, bewitching childhoods, in which every mother sees some king of her own dear ones, never grown old, and never lost to her, however time or death may have dealt with them.

Nothing pleases more at first sight or gives pleasure longer than pastoral pictures of children. "The little child" whom Jesus sets in the midst of every family is a joy that grows not old and fades not.

"Age cannot wither, custom cannot stale
Its infinite variety."

For this reason a happy picture of a child brings an enjoyment more lasting than any other, because it is a subject of which no one ever tires.

But these pictures, besides their constant charm for grown folks, are such as children can understand and love. Our little "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," would give many a pleasant hour of companionable amusement and intercourse to the little people akin to them in age. The pictures that children's eyes rest on as they are dropping off to sleep, or as they awake in the morning, seem to them like living friends. All sorts of childish dreams and fancies make of the pictured face a real companion. Not only in the parlor and sitting-room would they be an attractive and fitting embellishment, but they are a charming pair for the adornment of a nursery.

Undoubtedly these two pictures are portraits. There is a realistic faithfulness and truth about them that forbids the idea of their being fancy heads. They will remind many parents of little ones either here or in heaven. Dickens says of his portraiture of little Nell that he has had letters from the farthest region of the earth speaking of children who resembled her—so dear, and so early taken! He who paints one child well, paints thousands, and speaks to the tenderest feelings of innumerable hearts.

Of course there is a pleasure in possessing an original painting; but when the question lies between an original at five hundred dollars and a chromo which can scarcely be distinguished from it, at one dollar—particularly when one has not the five hundred to spare—the choice is not very difficult to make. To these two exquisite chromos, only a critical examination can distinguish between the copies and the originals, which sold for many hundreds—which is certainly more than can be sold of the best copies of most pictures painted by the best artists.

Blessings upon the chromo-lithography, by which the successful painting of a master can be reproduced indefinitely, and can enter thousands of homes with its educating, quickening, reforming influences!

It is not alone into the dwellings of the great and wealthy that we follow this pretty pair with anticipations of delight. We see them in the cottages of the poor, in the log cabin of the backwoodsman, brightening the toil of the hard-worked wife and mother, and receiving the almost adoring wonder of children who have never seen pictures before.

God bless the darlings—send the little comforters fast and far!

The charming pair of oil chromos, "Wide Awake," and "Fast Asleep," of whose real beauty and attractiveness Mrs. Stowe's grace of sketch can give but an imperfect idea—so pleasing are they to all who love art or children—have always sold in the picture stores for $10, and the original publisher has never been able to supply the great demand for them even at that price. And yet, although thousands of them have been sold in America at that high rate, they are now within the reach of all, for they are to every subscriber to THE CHRISTIAN UNION, an unsectarian, literary, religious and domestic weekly newspaper, edited by HENRY WARD BEECHER.

The pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished to Mr. Beecher's paper at a rate entirely exceptional. The subjects are LIFE-SIZE.

As to the CHRISTIAN UNION, the great success of that paper has been a marvel in the history of journalism, and the scholarly and critical New York Nation calls it "not only the ablest and best, but also the most popular of American religious periodicals."

This paper, hereafter will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, a decided advantage possessed by no other religious weekly published. It contains contributions from eminent writers of all denominations, and has matter of interest for every member of the household, young and old. For the year 1872, Mrs. HARRIET BEECHER STOWE will write exclusively for the CHRISTIAN UNION.

It has something for every member of the household—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, ALL find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles, discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects; much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems, Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones, one of the chief attractions being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

WHY?

What is the reason that the Literary, Religious, and Domestic Weekly, started two years ago, namely,

THE CHRISTIAN UNION,

should have so suddenly achieved a success that makes all newspaper men wonder?

Reasons Why!

1st. HENRY WARD BEECHER is its Editor, of whom the Chicago Interior said "Probably no man on this continent reaches so many minds, or is doing so much to shape religious thought for the next half century." His vigorous pen in Editorials and Star Papers, and Mr. Ellinwood's famed verbatim reports of his helpful Lecture-Room Talk in Plymouth Church, are an attraction to thousands of readers, who always want to know what he thinks on religious themes and the topics of the times. He is also assisted by an able editorial staff.

2d. It is Unsectarian in Religion, but independent in Political Discussion, and devoted to Morals, Reform, Home and Foreign News—both of Church matters and the world at large, Literature, Science, Art, Music, Agriculture, Trade, Finance, etc., etc., with contributions from eminent writers of all denominations—in all parts of the country.

3d. IT HAS SOMETHING FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE HOUSEHOLD—father, mother, boys and girls, young men and young women, all find something of interest. Admirable contributed and editorial articles discussing all the great topics of the day; fresh information on unhackneyed subjects, much matter of a high and pure religious tone; a Domestic Department, choice Poems Household Stories, and Chat for the little ones; one of its chief attraction being Mrs. H. B. Stowe's fascinating Tales.

4th. It Admits no Medical or other possibly objectionable advertisements nor anything to offend the purest and most fastidious, and is therefore a favorite family paper.

5th. ITS FORM TWENTY-FOUR PAGES. Large Quarto, pasted at the back and trimmed at the edges, is so convenient for reading, binding, and preservation as to be a great special merit in its favor, apart from its superior literary attraction.

6th. A superb WORK OF ART IS GIVEN AWAY TO EVERY SUBSCRIBER AND THE SUBSCRIPTION PRICE IS

Only Three Dollars per Year.

SPECIAL

Attractions for 1872!

GIVEN AWAY!

1. TWO CHARMING AND POPULAR WORKS OF ART.

"WIDE AWAKE & FAST ASLEEP,"

Two Exquisite French Oil Chromos, the subjects of which are Life Size, and cannot fail to please all who love art or children,

Are GIVEN AWAY to every subscriber for 1872, whether it be a New Subscription or a Renewal! These Chromos are no cheap colored prints, but are splendid copies of Oil Paintings, by an eminent English artist, fully equal for their size (13x17½) to any chromos ever published. The subjects are life size. The pair, by a fortunate arrangement which one of the partners of this house was able to make in Paris during the late siege, with the proprietors of the pictures, are furnished at a rate entirely exceptional. So that, although thousands of them have been sold in America at $10, and still are and will be sold at that price by the picture trade generally, they can be given to subscribers.

A MOSAIC.

WHAT THE PRESS SAYS:

Two very good chromos are "Wide Awake" and "Fast Asleep," [1] which have few rivals in the market for attractiveness [2]—fresh, sweet and blooming child-face [3] executed with true French skill [4]. We have rarely seen anything prettier than the two pictures, which, [5] both in color and sentiment are really beautiful [6]—worthy of a place in costly homes [7]. Unlike nine pictures out of ten that cost a good deal more, one can look at them day after day and not tire of them [8]. We have often stopped amid the bustle of Broadway to look at them, and never without feeling happier and better [7]. They cannot fail to please all who love art or children [8].

[1] Independent, N. Y. [2] Evening Mail, N. Y. [3] Bulletin, N. Y. [4] Springfield Republican. [5] Advance, Chicago. [6] Harper's Weekly, N. Y. [7] Illustrated Christian Weekly, N. Y. [8] Christian at Work, N. Y.

A subscriber writes to the Publishers:

"The chromos far surpass in beauty and style anything that I expected. A neighbor of mine bought the same Chromos in New York a few months ago, and paid ten dollars for them. Please accept my thanks for them."

2. Enlargement and Change of Form. After the first of January, the paper will be printed on a still larger sheet, folded in twenty-four large quarto pages, pasted at the back and trimmed at the sides,—a decided advantage in convenience for reading possessed by no other religious weekly published.

3. Mrs. Harriet B. Stowe
Will Write Exclusively for the CHRISTIAN UNION during the year 1872, with the exception of one short story all ready engaged for another periodical.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR.
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes it to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to be hold. Dr. Ayer's consummate skill has produced an antidote for those deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of this art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

The Daily Chronicle,

Portsmouth, N. H.

TUESDAY, MARCH 5, 1872.

Republicans of Newcastle,

Do not let the enemy steal a march on you at your town election to-day. Be on hand to check all their movements. Turn out early and elect your Moderator and Selectmen. Retain the check list by rallying at the opening of and staying at the polls until victory is achieved. The Democracy are unscrupulous. They want to gain a Representative to the legislature next week. The surest way to prevent it is to defeat them to-day. They have money in their possession to use if opportunity is afforded. Be vigilant and you will be victorious.

Republicans of Greenland,

Though deprived of your rights, rally every man next Tuesday. Look sharply after the check list. Your town is fairly Republican by a good majority. Bring out every Republican voter in town whose name is on the check list and appeal to the legislature for redress if the selectmen do not accord you fair play. Now is the time to show your strength. Abandon nothing, concede nothing. Throw every honest vote you can for every candidate on your ticket. Let no device of the enemy deceive you. Now is the time for earnest, effective work.

Republicans of Hampton,

Remember that personal feeling tends to defeat principles. Let not quarrels on trivial matters defeat your Representative to the legislature. The importance of his vote cannot be over-estimated. The next legislature will have duties of vast importance before it Democratic schemers hope by your divisions to prevent Hampton from being represented in the legislature. Work earnestly; work with a will. Sink all personal differences. Remember the cause you support. Bring out every Republican voter and help rejoice in the victory. Let your response to Sinclair's desire to represent you in the U. S. Senate be a decided "No."

Republicans of Stratham,

The result of your Representative election may decide the contest. You have one week in which to work. Nominate your best man, forget all feuds and rally to his support. Remember that in case of the non-election of Hon. E. A. Straw for Governor by the people the legislature will be called on to elect. The possession of the House of Representatives is all important. Last year, Stratham with a Republican majority sent a copperhead to the legislature. Let the experiment not be repeated. The canvass shows a handsome Republican majority this year. Act in a manner to help defeat John G. Sinclair, who aspires to a seat in the U. S. Senate. Remember if the Democracy control the legislature they will bind us hand and foot, so that with a numerical majority of the popular vote we shall be unable to control the legislature. Remember that the Democracy will re-district the State for Senators and Councillors if they get possession of the legislature. Let not your action tend towards their triumph. Give their hopes a crushing defeat next Tuesday.

Why Support the Democracy?

The copperhead leaders seek to divert attention from their rascally record, and offer all manner of promises for the future. But action speaks louder than words, and by their action in the past should their future movements be understood. Voters of New Hampshire, they ask for your votes for these reasons:—

Because they maintained the doctrine that slavery was right and just;

Because they applauded the most infamous decision that ever disgraced a judicial tribunal and a nation, given by a Democratic Chief Justice of the United States, that "a black man has no rights which a white man is bound to respect;"

Because they sustained the Fugitive Slave Law and brought an armed force to New England that a slave might be carried back to slavery;

Because they shamed every free man in America by so doing;

Because their rulers, the Southern wing of the party, whose behests they obeyed, could rule no longer;

Because the Democratic leaders of the North were in open and expressed sympathy with the rebels;

Because they rejoiced at Union defeats and regretted Union victories;

Because they endeavored to defeat the proposition to allow absent Union soldiers to vote, crying "Revolution! Revolution!" under the lead of John G. Sinclair et als. in the New Hampshire House of Representatives;

Because they strove to paralyze all efforts for the suppression of the rebellion by cowardly attacks in the rear;

Because they mourned at the surrender of Lee and rejoiced at the assassination of Abraham Lincoln;

Because they are allies of the Ku-Klux;

Because they stole many millions from the New York city treasury and used the money for controlling the States of New York, Connecticut and New Hampshire;

Because among their ranks in New York city train thousands of villains who have made life insecure and property less valuable;

Because they desire free trade, which will reduce the price of free labor;

Because Congressmen Hibbard and Parker voted against removing the duty on tea and coffee;

Because they secured control of this State by buying so-called Labor Reformers with a price;

Because they endeavored to browbeat Senator Smith, an old man of seventy years, because he would not abandon his life-long principles of honor;

Because they increased the expenses of the State by keeping the legislature in session in the vain hope that Senator Smith would die or be frightened into their support;

Because they deprived honest citizens of representation, as a case of political necessity, not of right.

Because they neglected to legislate for the interests of the State and found time only for the presentation of political schemes with the purpose of outraging the rights of the people;

Because they disfranchised students, as the more intelligent a man is the less inclined he is to be a devotee of fraud and corruption;

Because they repealed the tax on pigs.

Such is their true record, reaching back nearly a score of years. What claims have the Democracy for the support of men of honor, intelligence and progression?

Who Is Carpenter?

This question has hitherto remained unanswered, but the Sumter (South Carolina, News, an anti-Republican paper, goes after the "Reform" hero thus:— "Judge R. B. Carpenter, the 'Reform' candidate for Governor of this State at the last election, is on his way to New Hampshire, to stump the State in behalf of Democracy. We sincerely trust that New Hampshire will retain the distinguished carpet-bagger in her borders. He is a wonderful Reformer. If he does as good a part by that State as he and General Butler did by South Carolina, he will set her back about twenty years in her political career. Please give him employment, gentlemen of the North. If he should ever come reforming here again, we would be past praying for. It will be many a year before we get through undoing his fancy patchwork. New Hampshire must be hard up for public speakers, and very easily pleased, when Carpenter can give them satisfaction."

A Resurrection.

There is going to be a grand resurrection one week from next Tuesday.—Foster's Democrat, March 2.

No doubt of it; the Democracy have always been famous for post-mortem voting; and we do not question that many men whose bodies have long lain in church-yards will come from their long homes on election day to vote the Democratic ticket, in towns and wards where the check-lists are in Democratic hands. Corpse-voting is recognized as one of the legitimate "secrets of carrying elections" by the Democrats, as much so as double-barrelled voting and counting of votes by living copperheads. But Joshua is a trifle indiscreet in boasting that the dead men will throw votes enough to carry the State against the Republican majority, as the boast may result in some of the spectral ballots not being cast. Republican voters in Democratic towns, look out for the "resurrectionists" and their dead men's votes! Vigilance and determination on your part will force the Democracy to "let the dead rest;" supineness or overconfidence in the honesty of copperhead Selectmen will encourage the Nashua Fifth Ward plan of making up check-lists by your unscrupulous opponents. Look out for them!

Rousing Meetings.

Telegrams to the Boston Advertiser from Concord say that at all points the meetings are largely attended and enthusiastic and assurances are pouring in to the effect that the Republican prospects are brightening every day. Among the speakers announced by the Republicans for this week is Mrs. M. A. Livermore, who is engaged to speak in Eagle Hall in Concord, on Thursday evening, and as the Concord Democrats are to have Hon. Daniel W. Voorhees of Indiana, Hon. C. P. Kimball of Maine and Mr. Fitzgerald of Boston, on that day, lively times are anticipated, the general impression being that Mrs. Livermore will prove at least equal to her three antagonists.

They Give It Up.

The Washington Sunday Herald, a Democratic paper, gives up all hope of Democratic success in New Hampshire and says:

It has been decided by leading members of the Democratic party to make no special exertion to carry the elections in New Hampshire and Connecticut, but to leave the Democracy of New England to control their own affairs, reserving united action for the Presidential campaign. Indeed it is believed that a Democratic victory in these States at this time would have an injurious effect on the fortunes of the party in the greater contest now pending, as it would inspire a feeling of confidence in the result which would tend largely to disarm the Democracy, while it would incite the radicals to redoubled exertions.

Political.

The Labor Reformers who so fiercely denounce capitalists, have nominated two rich lawyers, both millionaires, for President and Vice President.

Senator Cragin has arrived home and will take part in the canvass.

An enthusiastic Connecticutter hurrahs for Colfax and Hawley.

The case in a nutshell was stated recently by Mr. Nye, of Nevada, in the Senate, in these few words:—"Formerly everybody thought General Grant a great and good man, but that was before he had removed anybody's relations from office."

Hon. William E. Chandler has left Washington to take part in the campaign.

Dr. J. H. Gallinger, a prominent temperance man, presided at a great Republican meeting in Concord on Saturday evening. Gen. McKee of Kentucky and Hon. James F. Wilson of Iowa spoke. Mr. Wilson's speech was one of the most powerful of the campaign.

FISHING.—The Newburyport wherry fishermen brought in ten tons of codfish on Friday.

A large finback whale, forty feet in length, got aground on the flats near the light-house at Wellfleet Mass., Wednesday, by the fall of the tide, and he was killed by cutting a hole in him and then using an oar as a spade.

An exchange says: "A fisherman at Alton, Ill., recently took a wagon load of fish in the following manner: He cut two holes in the ice, some distance apart, and pumped the water from one hole and ran the current into the other. This created a vaccum at the first opening, and an artificial current in the water under the ice, setting toward the hole where the pump was in operation. The fish in the lake were so benumbed by the cold as to be powerless to resist the current, hence they were floated directly into the opening of the ice, where they were scooped out by the thousand."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Periodic Disorders,

The paroxysmal maladies which are characterized by heat and cold, prevail extensively at this season, and it is a curious fact that in many parts of the country where they are prevalent, other diseases, that bear no general resemblance to fever and ague, or remittent fever, assume a periodic type. Thus, in many sections infested with chills and fever, rheumatism, neuralgia, hysteria, diarrhœa, etc., sometimes become intermittent, thereby indicating that they have been engendered by the same poisonous exhalations which produce the first named disease.

In all these masked cases o'ague—for such they are—as well as in the regular intermittents, the most safe and reliable remedy that can be administered is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Neither quinine nor arsenic are needed. Both are in the highest degree dangerous, and are sure to leave sad traces of their poisonous action in the system, whether they arrest the paroxysms or not. In many instances all the so-called specifics of the "regular" materia medica utterly fail to "break up" intermittent and remittent disorders. But the great vegetable Tonic never fails. The spasm of the minute blood-vessels which causes the chill, is the result of nervous weakness, produced by the debilitating operation of an unwholesome atmosphere, and the tone and vigor given to the nervous system by the Bitters, enable it to throw off the diseases. The wiser policy, however, is anticipate attacks of this nature, by arousing all the latent energies of the body at the commencement of the moist and chilly season, with this incomparable antidote. By pursuing this course, intermittents, remittents, rheumatism, colic, biliousness, dyspepsia and pulmonary affections may always be prevented.

Grand Rally.

The opening Republican meeting of the campaign here will take place at the Temple this evening. Ex-Gov. Ichabod Goodwin is expected to preside. Hon. James W. Patterson, U. S. Senator, whom our citizens always delight to honor and listen to, and Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, whose former visit here was made an ovation, are to speak. All parties are invited to be present and listen to these eloquent gentlemen. The central sections of the parquette and balcony will be reserved for ladies and their attendants. We advise all who wish to obtain good seats to go early. Speaking will commence at half past 7 o'clock.

The Baptist Church.

Last Sabbath morning Rev. Wm. H. Alden, pastor of the Middle Street Baptist Society, preached his fourth anniversary sermon, having entered upon the fifth year of his ministry with his people. In the course of some remarks supplementing the sermon he alluded to the early days of the Baptist church in this city, stating that the present Society was formed in 1826 by a handful of zealous workers in the cause, under great discouragements, holding their first meeting in the Assembly House on Vaughan Street. Of the original founders it was stated that only one survives, Deacon Samuel Cleaves, whose 80th birthday was celebrated a few days since. We are not surprised at the well-known success and steady prosperity of the Church alluded to if the balance of the charter members were as eminently noted for uprightness of character and honesty of dealing as Mr. Cleaves, whose name is a synonyn of integrity. With such men as he in such an undertaking (even though their number be few) "there is no such word as fail."

To the genial and yet wide-awake pastor of the Middle Street church is due much of its present unity and prosperity. Since the commencement of his labors among them the members of the Society have enlarged and beautified their church, bought a fine organ, and to-day stand free from debt with a surplus fund in the treasury. These facts alone are sufficient to indicate the ability and deserved popularity of the leader.

Laconics.

See that your name is on the check list. The selectmen of the first and second wards meet at the Ward Rooms from 10 to 12, o'clock to-day.

One man is so thoroughly temperate in Portsmouth that he never eats vinegar on beans and discards pickles entirely. He also refuses tea because he thinks it too "steep." He favors the destruction of apple trees, that cider may not be pressed from the fruit, and, will not vote the Democratic ticket because there are lots of Republicans who do not agree with him.

The Seal which was caught in York River a few weeks ago and bought by the Came Brothers of this city, has been sold by them to the proprietors of the Philadelphia Museum for $150. The investment netted $120 to the Came Brothers.

Every member of the Portsmouth Board of Trade should attend the adjourned meeting this (Tuesday) evening, at the Common Council Room, at half-past 7 o'clock.

The Six Jolly Associates give their last entertainment for this season at Irving Hall, this (Tuesday) evening,—a select Ball with music by a full quadrille band. Grand march at quarter past 8 o'clock, prompt.

The ladies of the Methodist Society hold their annual Festival on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, Feb. 6 and 7, in Congress Hall. Instrumental and vocal music will enliven the proceedings. Admission — adults 15 cents; children 10 cents.

The Republicans of Newcastle had a meeting at the Town Hall, Monday evening, at which John Albee, Esq., presided. Able and stirring speeches were delivered by Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett of this city, and Prof. Moses T. Brown of Tufts College. The meeting was enthusiastic and lively. The town election comes off to-day.

Kittery

The Sheriff Enforcement Act having passed the Maine legislature, steps will at once be taken to rid this town of the several saloons which have been a blight on its morals for the past ten years. Wine and cider are included among intoxicating liquors and consequently the sale of them is prohibited. Boarding at $4 per week, eating saloons paying exorbitant rents, and suspicious fish markets will soon pass into oblivion. S.

The Christian Society of this place closed a very successful Levee on the evening of Feb. 29; and it was the first one ever held in our town that was not disgraced by some form of gambling. There was not a lottery scheme, raffle, fish-pond or grab-bag, and of course no importuning to "take a ticket" in this or that "pious fraud;" but there was excellent singing by ladies and gentlemen from Portsmouth, a solo and duet by two ten-year-old girls of Kittery, Fanny Adams and Augusta Jenkins, and the attracals by Chas. Grant and others—a temperance drama showing the close connection between the liquor-glass and the gallows, and full of "hits" and "points."

'Tis settled that we are to have a Town Hall,—the "Debating Club" so decided after an evening's discussion. The club adjourned sine die, on the evening of Wednesday, Feb. 27, the school having closed. The discussions during the winter have been interesting and the club has been useful in offering to our young men a chance to exercise their brains in argument, rather than to muddle their reasons with strong drink in the saloons. THE BOSTON GLOBE made its appearance on Monday and is a credit to the "Hub." Its editorials are ably written, independent in tone and will be eagerly read for the purpose of deciding the position the new daily will take in public matters. The Globe is neat in its make-up and opens its career with a great press of advertising. Its various departments bear evidence of faithful attention. It is high time that Boston had a paper worthy a large city and we hope the Globe will be sustained from the start.

JUDGE CARDOZO charged the jury in the Stokes case on Saturday, ordering a verdict for the people in accordance with the request of the district attorney. This legalizes the action of the grand jury and sustains the indictment against Stokes. The judge, however, consented to grant a stay of proceedings against Stokes for twenty days, to allow counsel to bring the matter before appellate tribunals. Stokes' counsel excepted to all the findings of the court.

JUDGE MCARTHUR of the Washington, D. C., district court set aside the recent outrageous verdict of $3000 damages against the Evening Star newspaper of that city in a libel suit, and ordered a new trial. He said that the jury had either misunderstood or utterly disregarded his rulings, and that he was astonished at the verdict.

JOHN FULLER of Centreville, Mass., who had parted from his wife and was trying to effect a reconciliation, shot John Murphy of Sheffield while mad with jealousy, at Pittsfield on Saturday afternoon. The ball entered Murphy's right side, and the wound will probably prove fatal.

THE JAPANESE EMBASSY paid a former visit to the President, March 4. The chief Ambassador read his address to the President in Japanese, and the President replied in English. Neither understood the other, and the utmost harmony prevailed.

THREE THOUSAND PERSONS in Lynn ask the city government to stop liquor selling in the city; the petition was referred to the committee on police, and the city marshal was directed to report the number of grog shops.

MAYOR KINGSBURY of Portland was re-elected on Monday, by 100 majority over the copperhead "Citizens'" candidate.

—A suit was brought recently in the Warren (Kentucky) Circuit Court to recover the value of a negro whom the defendant procured in 1864 as a substitute in the federal army. The verdict was for the defendant.

—The Central Pacific Railroad Company's steamers are carrying passengers from Sacramento to San Francisco in the cabin for $1, and on deck for fifty cents.

—California-bred horses, it is claimed, are proving superior in speed, endurance and general good qualities to the best raised in the Atlantic States or Europe.

—Max Judd, the Clevelander who is beating everybody for the chess championship of Ohio, is but twenty years old.

SLATE COATING,
Patented August, 1871.

In offering this article to the public, we supply a need which has long been felt. It is especially adapted to

Shingle and Tin Roofs, (Old or New.)
IT IS FIRE & WATER-PROOF AND PREVENTS DECAY.

Not affected by Heat or Cold; is durable and beautiful, with colors permanently varying from a dark blue slate color to purple, and even higher shades, as fancy dictates. It will not wash or scale, and is Extremely Cheap.

Will stop and prevent Leaks; superior to any cement now in us. New Shingles covered with this article warranted to last fifty years, and for a Slate Coating over Shingles (Old or New) it has been found unequalled. It is also an excellent coating for School Black-Boards.

Morning Chronicle.

THE MODEL HUSBAND.—He walks out with his wife on a week-day, and is not afraid of a milliner's shop. He even has "change" when asked for it, and never alludes to it afterward. He is not above carrying a large bundle or a cotton umbrella, or even holding the baby in his lap in an omnibus. He runs on first to knock at the door when it is raining. He goes outside if the carriage is full. He goes to bed first in cold weather. He gets up in the night to rock the cradle or answer the door-bell. He believes in hysterics, and is melted instantly by a tear. He patches up a quarrel with a velvet gown, and drives away the sulks by a trip to Central Park. He never flies out about his buttons, or brings home friends to supper. His clothes never smell of tobacco. He respects the curtains, and never smokes in the house. He never invades the kitchen, and would no more think of "blowing up" the servants than of ordering the dinner. He is innocent of a latch-key. He lets the family go out of town once every year, while he remains at home with one knife and fork, sits on a brown Holland chair, sleeps on a curtainless bed, and has a char-woman to wait on him. He is very easy and affectionate, keeping the wedding anniversary punctually.

THAD STEVENS' WIT.—Mr. Stevens was rarely excelled in repartee. He was always ready, and his satire was sharper than bayonets. The people of Lancaster never tire of repeating his sayings. He tried a case before a judge not celebrated for his great wisdom. The judge gave a ruling that disgusted Mr. Stevens, as his face clearly indicated. "Does the Court understand the counsel to express contempt for its ruling?" said the judge. "No, may it please your Honor, I was trying to suppress contempt." When the rebels burned his iron foundry and property at Gettysburg—which they did with a relish—Mr. Stevens remarked: "Had Lee burnt up my liabilities at the same time I would have been much obliged to him." When Keitt of South Carolina attacked Mr. Stevens and told about a pious deacon he had on his plantation, Mr. Stevens asked what the price of deacons was in his district, and how much more a negro would bring than a deacon. A Lutheran minister left the pulpit and became a Democratic politician. He met Mr. Stevens soon after, and inquiring about his health, received an answer: "I'm very well. I take care of my system, and above all things keep my conscience pure. I suppose you have heard that I have abandoned politics and am studying for the ministry." In his last sickness the doctor said to him one day: "Mr. Stevens, I think your appearance is better to-day." "It is not my appearance that troubles me," he said, "but my dis-appearance."

—Bath foots up a claim for about $300,000 on account of extra insurance on shipping during the war, and these are part of the "indirect damages" claimed at Geneva.—Bath Times.

—The snow-storm of Saturday was very severe in the South.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

There are probably a hundred or more persons in this and neighboring towns, who daily suffer from the distressing effects of kidney troubles, who do not know that Holmes's Lithodyne Liniment is almost a certain cure. In severe cases, great relief may be obtained, if not a perfect cure.

We notice that the Agricultural papers all over the country recommend the use of Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders.—Exchange.

Farmers and others in this section have long known and appreciated the advantage of these powders over all others.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—The blood is the very essence of health and life. It furnishes the components of flesh, bone, muscle, nerve and integument. The stomach is the appetizer—the arteries the distributors, and the intestines the channels by which the waste matter is carried off. Upon the stomach and bowels, these medicines act similarly and powerfully. 25 cents per box or pot.

DEAD MEN TELL NO TALES; they did, anathemas against the depleting lancet, the drastic purge, and the terrible secrets of the materia medica, would arise from every graveyard. The motto of modern medical science is "Preserve and Regulate," not destroy," and no remedy of our day is so generally known to be a friend to humanity with this philanthropic logic as Dr. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS. In this powerful, yet harmless restorative, dyspepsia, bilious complaints, and all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and nerves, encounter an irresistible antidote. m5 4w

DURING OUR INTERVIEW, the American Consul at Bankok, presented the King an elegant assortment of his medicines from Dr. J. C. Ayer, of Lowell, Mass., for the use of the Court. He explained to his majesty their origin from the great chemist and their uses. The Cherry Pectoral for coughs—the Sarsaparilla for eruptive diseases, and the Ague Cure for the fevers that are so fatal in this hot country. The dangerous condition of a favorite wife in the palace with one of the disorders these medicines cure, gave him special interest in these products of medical skill; indeed, the medical marvels interested him more in our country than all the other attentions we had shown him.—Letters from a Lady in Siam.

VITALIZE THE HAIR.—Why does the hair become harsh and dry—why does it fall out—why does it become gray? Simply because the life has gone out of it. The fibers draw sustenance from the scalp as the grass draws aliment from the soil, and when the supply of nutriment is cut off in either case the product withers and dies. At the first symptom of decay, therefore, the unfed or half-fed roots of the hair should be refreshed and reinforced with LYON'S KATHAIRON, the only preparation which will nourish the filaments and keep them in a vigorous condition after they have begun to suffer from a deficiency of their natural stimulant. As long as the Kathairon is faithfully used, with a proper degree of friction, morning and evening, so long will it be impossible for the hair to whiten or fall out from the scalp.

CATARRH
Cannot be cured by snuffs, washes or local applications. It is a constitutional disease, developing itself in the nasal organs first, afterwards extending to throat and lungs, ending generally in Consumption, if not checked by proper remedies. Pain in head, back, loins, and weakness of kidneys, are its attendant diseases. More people have Catarrh than any other disease. It is rarely cured. Thousands of cases, some of twenty-five years' standing, have been entirely cured in New Hampshire the past two years by the Constitutional Catarrh Remedy. Certificates to back the above sent free upon application to LITTLEFIELD & HAYES, proprietors and druggists, Manchester, N. LEPTANDRIN.
Epilepsy or Fits.
A SURE CURE for this distressing complaint is now made known in a treatise of 48 octavo pages, received from Indian Priests, from which she prepared some for her own use, which resulted in a cure. Many of her friends have used it with equally gratifying success, and have urged her to introduce it to the public. She has commenced for the relief of her fellow beings, and feels confident that it will prove one of the richest blessings to her afflicted fellow-creatures. This is no internal remedy—it does not injure the most delicate constitution, but is compound in nature, as our supporters are aware, and must be used in connection with Hunter's Solution of Cassetic. It will eradicate at once the most distressing effects, in many cases, of great suffering, which is done cause, in many cases, of ordinary, without a change in diet, as hundreds will testify. Three bottles will convince the most skeptical of the surprising powers of this remedy. Its effects are powerful in the Relief and Cure of the following diseases:—Prolapsus Uteri, Nervous Debility, Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of Heart, Depression of Spirits, Affections, Biliousness, Inflammation of the Kidneys, &c. Prepared and sold by MRS. LINUS PELCHER, Randolph, Mass. Send for Circular. Sold by all Druggists, at $1.00 per bottle.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or durables or feed or price—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country, and has great advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is lighter speed and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.
N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,
For all the purposes of a Family Physic,
CURING
Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood.
Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole frame. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent chemists, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures per-onnel and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

$6 per Year, in Advance. | PORTSMOUTH, N. H., TUESDAY, MARCH 5, 1872. | 3 Cts. Per Copy.

The Chronicle.

GENERAL PORTER was examined by the New York custom house investigation committee on Monday. The examination occupied nearly four hours, and was searching and critical as the keenest democratic ingenuity could make it. The facts disclosed were not in any way startling or remarkable, the most important being that the President, so far from aiding Colonel Leet to obtain the general-order business, had urged him repeatedly not to have anything to do with the New York custom-house, and for nearly a year he was in entire ignorance of Leet's connection with the warehouse business.

DISASTER AT SEA.—Schooner Clara Bell, of Rockland, Me., struck on Cape Cod, at 2 A. M., of Tuesday. The crew made a desperate but unfortunate effort to reach the shore. Out of the seven persons comprising the officers and crew, only one man succeeded in the attempt. All the others, including Captain Amesbury and the mate, perished in the sea. The seaman who was saved hardly escaped with his life, being badly frozen. The vessel, which was bound from New York to Boston with a cargo of coal, will be a total loss

OUR READERS will hardly fail to notice in the list of Boston cards, in our paper, the announcement of the Cable Screw Wire Boots and Shoes. The exceeding merit of this method of fastening the soles to the upper has become so apparent after a thorough trial, that in many cases large manufacturers have abandoned all other modes in its favor and are still unable to supply the calls from their customers, so rapid has been its growth in popularity with dealers and consumers. Beside furnishing a more elastic, durable, and economical boot than any other method, fastening with Cable Screw Wire affords one more nearly waterproof than can otherwise be made with the same material.

☞ By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid-up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent Annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income of - - - - - $173.30
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 647.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,
Consulting Actuary.

☞ Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this now plan with care. Documents, giving full particulars of the rules of the Company with regard to the issue of the above Savings Fund policy, extended tables of rates, and other interesting matter, may be obtained by application to the
